§ 582-103. Eligibility for a de facto parent to file for a judgment of parentage. (a) In a proceeding to adjudicate parentage of a person who claims to be a de facto parent of the child, if there is only one other person who is a parent or has a claim to parentage of the child, the court shall adjudicate the petitioner to be a parent of the child if the person demonstrates by clear and convincing evidence that:

- (1) The person resided with the child as a regular member of the child's household from the child's birth, or for at least one year, unless the court finds good cause to accept a shorter period of residence as a regular member of the child's household;
- (2) The person engaged in consistent caretaking of the child which may include regularly caring for the child's needs and making day-to-day decisions regarding the child individually or cooperatively with another legal parent;
- (3) The person undertook full and permanent responsibilities of a parent of the child without expectation of financial compensation;
 - (4) The person held out the child as their own;
 - (5) Another person consented to, and fostered, the petitioner's formation and establishment of a parent-like relationship with the child;
- (6) The person established a bonded and dependent relationship with the child that is parental in nature; and
- (7) Continuing the relationship between the person and the child is in the best interest of the child.
- (b) In a proceeding to adjudicate parentage of a person who claims to be a de facto parent of the child, if there is more than one other person who is a parent or has a claim to parentage of the child and the court determines that the requirements of this section and section 582-106 of this article are satisfied, the court shall award parentage to the person claiming to be a de facto parent, provided the adjudication of a person as a parent under this section shall not disestablish the parentage of any other parent, nor limit any other parent's rights pursuant to any other law of the state.
- (c) An existing parent of the child may use evidence of duress, coercion or threat of harm to contest an allegation that the person seeking to be adjudicated as a parent fostered or supported a bonded and dependent relationship as described in this section. Such evidence may include:
- (1) Whether within a ten-year period preceding the date of the proceeding, the person seeking to be adjudicated as a de facto parent:
- (i) has been convicted of domestic assault, sexual assault or sexual exploitation of the child or a parent of the child;
- (ii) has been convicted of a family violence crime, as defined by title O of the penal law, and is or has been subject to an order of 44 protection issued by a family court; or
- 45 (iii) was found by a court to have committed abuse against the child 46 or a parent of the child;
 - (2) A sworn affidavit from a domestic violence counselor or sexual assault counselor, provided the person who had confidential communications with the domestic violence counselor or sexual assault counselor has waived the privilege; or
- (3) Other credible evidence of abuse against the parent of the child 51 52 or the child, including, but not limited to, the parent's or child's sworn affidavit or an affidavit from a social services provider, health 53 care provider, clergy person, attorney, or other professional from whom 54 the parent or child sought assistance regarding the abuse. 55

§ 582-104. Procedure for a de facto parent to file for a judgment of parentage. (a) A proceeding to establish parentage of a child pursuant to this article may be commenced by a person who:

- (1) Is alive when the proceeding is commenced; and
- (2) Claims to be a de facto parent of the child; or
- (3) Claims to be the child of a de facto parent.
- 7 (b) A person seeking to be adjudicated as a parent of a child shall 8 file a petition with the court before the child reaches eighteen years 9 of age. The child is required to be alive at the time of the filing. 10 The petition shall include a verified affidavit alleging facts to 11 support the existence of a de facto parent relationship with the child. 12 The petition and affidavit shall be served on the following: all parents of the child; the child; the child's legal guardian if the child is 13 14 under eighteen years of age; and, any other necessary party to the 15 proceeding.
- 16 (c) An adverse party, parent or legal guardian may file a pleading and 17 verified affidavit in response to the petition that shall be served on 18 all parties to the proceeding.
 - (d) The court shall determine on the basis of the pleadings and affidavits whether the person seeking to be adjudicated a parent has presented prima facie evidence of the criteria for parentage pursuant to subdivision (a) of section 582-103 of this part and, therefore, has standing to proceed with a parentage action. The court, in its sole discretion, may hold a hearing to determine disputed facts that are necessary and material to the issue of standing.
 - (e) If the child for whom the person is seeking to be adjudicated a parent has two parents at the time the petition is filed and there is litigation pending between the parents at the time the petition is filed regarding custody or visitation with respect to the child, a parent may introduce evidence that the de facto parent action is being brought to interfere improperly in the pending litigation. Based on such evidence, the court may determine that allowing the de facto parent's petition for judgment of parentage to proceed would not be in the best interests of the child and may dismiss the petition without prejudice.
- 35 (f) The court may enter an interim order concerning contact between 36 the child and a person with standing seeking adjudication under section 37 582-103 of this part as a parent of the child.
 - (g) Any person adjudicated to be a de facto parent of a child under this section shall have all the legal rights and responsibilities of parentage under New York law, including the obligation to support the child.

PART 3

582-106. Judgment of parentage for a child with multiple parents.

- § 582-105. Adjudicating competing claims of parentage. (a) In a proceeding to adjudicate competing claims of parentage of a child by two or more individuals, the court shall adjudicate parentage in the best interest of the child, based on:
 - (1) the age of the child;
- 52 (2) the length of time during which each individual assumed the role 53 of parent of the child;
- 54 (3) the nature of the relationship between the child and each individ-55 ual;

(4) the harm to the child if the relationship between the child and each individual is not recognized;

- (5) the basis for each individual's claim to parentage of the child; and
- (6) other equitable factors arising from the disruption of the relationship between the child and each individual or the likelihood of other harm to the child.
- (b) The interest that a child may have in forming a relationship with a genetic parent shall not be given conclusive weight in adjudicating competing claims of parentage, particularly when there is no preexisting substantial relationship between the genetic parent and the child.
- (c) In a proceeding to adjudicate parentage of a person who claims to be a de facto parent of the child, if there is more than one other person who is a parent or has a claim to parentage of the child and the court determines that the requirements of this section and section 582-103 of this article are satisfied, the court shall award parentage to the person claiming to be a de facto parent, provided the adjudication of a person as a parent under this section shall not disestablish the parentage of any other parent, nor limit any other parent's rights under the laws of this state.
- § 582-106. Judgment of parentage for a child with multiple parents. The court may adjudicate a child to have more than two parents if the court finds that failure to recognize more than two parents would be detrimental to the child. A finding of detriment to the child shall not require a finding of unfitness of any parent or person seeking an adjudication of parentage. In determining detriment to the child, the court shall consider all relevant factors, including:
- (a) The harm if the child is removed from a stable placement with a person who has fulfilled the child's physical needs and psychological needs for care and affection and has assumed the role since the child's birth or for a substantial period;
- (b) The harm if the child is separated from a person the child understands to be their parent; and
- (c) The intention of all parents to raise a child together, including a pre-conception agreement to parent or agreement to parent at any other point in the child's life.
- § 4. Subdivision (a) of section 70 of the domestic relations law, amended by chapter 457 of the laws of 1988, is amended to read as follows:
- (a) Where a minor child is residing within this state, [either] any parent may apply to the supreme court for a writ of habeas corpus to have such minor child brought before such court; and on the return thereof, the court, on due consideration, may award the natural quardianship, charge and custody of such child to [either] any parent for such time, under such regulations and restrictions, and with such provisions and directions, as the case may require, and may at any time thereafter vacate or modify such order. In all cases there shall be no prima facie right to the custody of the child in [either] any parent, but the court shall determine solely what is for the best interest of the child, and what will best promote its welfare and happiness, and make award accord-50 Where a court deems it to be in the child's best interest, the ingly. court may award custody to more than two parents.
- 53 § 5. Subparagraphs 2 and 4 of paragraph (a), clause (vi) of subparagraph 5 of paragraph (c), subparagraphs 6 and 7 of paragraph (f) and paragraphs (g), (i) and (j) of subdivision 1 and paragraph a and the 55 56 opening paragraph and subparagraph 1 of paragraph b of subdivision 3 of

- (2) "Child support" shall mean a sum to be paid pursuant to court order or decree by [either or both parents] one or more parent or pursuant to a valid agreement between the parties for care, maintenance and education of any unemancipated child under the age of twenty-one years.
- (4) "Combined parental income" shall mean the sum of the income of [both] all parents.
- (vi) Upon proof by [either] any party that cash medical support pursuant to clause (ii), (iii), (iv) or (v) of this subparagraph would be unjust or inappropriate pursuant to paragraph (f) of $\underline{\text{this}}$ subdivision [one of this section], the court shall:
 - (6) The educational needs of [either] any parent;
- (7) A determination that the gross income of one or more parent is substantially less than [the other] one or more of another parent's gross income;
- (g) Where the court finds that the non-custodial parent's pro rata share of the basic child support obligation is unjust or inappropriate, the court shall order the non-custodial parent to pay such amount of child support as the court finds just and appropriate, and the court shall set forth, in a written order, the factors it considered; the amount of each party's pro rata share of the basic child support obligation; and the reasons that the court did not order the basic child support obligation. Such written order may not be waived by [either] any party or counsel; provided, however, and notwithstanding any other provision of law, including but not limited to section four hundred fifteen of this part, the court shall not find that the non-custodial parent's pro rata share of such obligation is unjust or inappropriate on the basis that such share exceeds the portion of a public assistance grant which is attributable to a child or children. Where the non-custodial parent's income is less than or equal to the poverty income guidelines amount for a single person as reported by the federal department of health and human services, unpaid child support arrears in excess of five hundred dollars shall not accrue.
- Where [either or both] any of the parties are unrepresented, the court shall not enter an order or judgment other than a temporary order pursuant to section two hundred thirty-seven of the domestic relations law, that includes a provision for child support unless the unrepresented party or parties have received a copy of the child support standchart promulgated by the commissioner of the office of temporary and disability assistance pursuant to subdivision two of section one hundred eleven-i of the social services law. Where [either] any party is in receipt of child support enforcement services through the local social services district, the local social services district child support enforcement unit shall advise such party of the amount derived from application of the child support percentage and that such amount serves as a starting point for the determination of the child support award, and shall provide such party with a copy of the child support 56 standards chart.

- (j) In addition to financial disclosure required in section four hundred twenty-four-a of this article, the court may require that the income and/or expenses of [either] any party be verified with documentation including, but not limited to, past and present income tax returns, employer statements, pay stubs, corporate, business, or partnership books and records, corporate and business tax returns, and receipts for expenses or such other means of verification as the court determines appropriate. Nothing herein shall affect any party's right to pursue discovery pursuant to this chapter, the civil practice law and rules, or the family court act.
- a. One-time adjustment of child support orders issued prior to September fifteenth, nineteen hundred eighty-nine. Any party to a child support order issued prior to September fifteenth, nineteen hundred eighty-nine on the behalf of a child in receipt of public assistance or child support services pursuant to section one hundred eleven-g of the social services law may request that the support collection unit undertake one review of the order for adjustment purposes pursuant to section one hundred eleven-h of the social services law. A hearing on the adjustment of such order shall be granted upon the objection of [either] any party pursuant to the provisions of this section. An order shall be adjusted if as of the date of the support collection unit's review of the correct amount of child support as calculated pursuant to the provisions of this section would deviate by at least ten percent from the child support ordered in the last permanent support order of the court. Additionally, a new support order shall be issued upon a showing that the current order of support does not provide for the health care needs of the child through insurance or otherwise. Eligibility of the child for medical assistance shall not relieve any obligation the parties otherwise have to provide for the health care needs of the child. The support collection unit's review of a child support order shall be made on notice to all parties to the current support order and shall be subject to the provisions of section four hundred twenty-four-a this article. Nothing herein shall be deemed in any way to limit, restrict, expand or impair the rights of any party to file for a modification of a child support order as is otherwise provided by law.

Upon receipt of an adjustment finding and where appropriate a proposed order in conformity with such finding filed by [either] any party or by the support collection unit, a party shall have thirty-five days from the date of mailing of the adjustment finding and proposed adjusted order, if any, to submit to the court identified thereon specific written objections to such finding and proposed order.

- (1) If specific written objections are submitted by [either] any party or by the support collection unit, a hearing shall be scheduled by the court on notice to the parties and the support collection unit, who shall have the right to be heard by the court and to offer evidence in support of or in opposition to adjustment of the support order.
- § 6. This act shall take effect on the ninetieth day after it shall have become a law. Effective immediately, the addition, amendment and/or repeal of any rule or regulation necessary for the implementation of this act on its effective date are authorized to be made and completed on or before such effective date.
