Introduced by M. of A. ABINANTI -- read once and referred to the Committee on Judiciary

AN ACT to amend the mental hygiene law, in relation to due process procedures for all adults with developmental disabilities

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

1 Section 1. This act shall be known and may be cited as the "protection 2 of adults with developmental disabilities act".

3 § 2. Legislative findings and intent. Certain federal and state laws 4 and regulations currently provide various due process protections for 5 certain categories of persons with developmental disabilities. For 6 example, the federal Individuals with Disabilities Education Act
7 provides a child or parents of a child with a disability important due 8 process protections, including the right to an impartial hearing to 9 challenge a determination regarding the appropriate setting for a child 10 with a disability. New York state also provides substantial due process 11 protections for the parents of a child with a disability who needs resi-12 dential care while this child is in school.

13 However, when a developmentally disabled individual reaches the age of 14 twenty-one, their due process protections become significantly dimin-
15 ished or, in some cases, end completely. Specifically, those develop-16 mentally disabled adults in transitional care who reach the age of twen-
17 ty-one on or before June 30, 1996 have minimal due process protections 18 pursuant to section 13.38 of the mental hygiene law, and those who 19 reached age twenty-one on or after July 1, 1996 receive no due process
20 protections. Some of New York's most vulnerable adult populations, 21 including those who remain continuously disabled and continuously in 22 need of residential or other forms of care, thus lose important due 23 process protections simply because of their age.

24 The legislature recognizes that inappropriate or ineffective place-25 ments and/or services for persons with developmental disabilities can

1 have devastating effects for those persons impacted, including abuse,
2 self-harm, improper medication or even death. Additionally, the legis-3 lature recognizes the harm a person with developmental disabilities can 4 suffer from the disruption to his/her current treatment needs, home life 5 and familiar surroundings that an inappropriate change in placement, or 6 an improper change in services, entails. Moreover, it is increasingly 7 the policy of the state of New York to afford persons with disabilities 8 the opportunity to participate in their treatment and residential place-9 ment decisions, and to obtain their or their guardian's consent prior to 10 any changes of placement.

11 The legislature hereby finds that New York state must ensure that all 12 developmentally disabled adults are afforded necessary and basic due 13 process protections, and fair and meaningful due process proceedings, 14 relating to proposed changes in placement, or proposed changes in 15 services rendered, to those developmentally disabled adults under the 16 care of New York state agencies to ensure that appropriate, effective 17 treatment and placements are provided for this highly vulnerable adult 18 population.

19 In order to ensure that New York state is providing the most appropri-20 ate setting and services for all persons with developmental disabili-
21 ties, the legislature hereby finds that it is incumbent upon New York 22 state to institute uniform minimum due process protections for all 23 persons with developmental disabilities age twenty-one and older. These 24 protections provide, in part, for fair and meaningful due process 25 proceedings relating to a proposed change of placement or a proposed 26 change in services by the offices of the department of mental hygiene, 27 and are intended to supplement and strengthen the patchwork of various 28 protections for adults with developmental disabilities in place under 29 existing laws.

30 § 3. The mental hygiene law is amended by adding a new section 13.36 31 to read as follows:

32 § 13.36 Protection of adults with developmental disabilities.

33 1. Definitions. As used in this section, unless otherwise expressly 34 stated or unless the context otherwise requires:

35 (a) "Adults with developmental disabilities" means all persons with a 36 mental disability, as that term is defined in section 1.03 of this chap-
37 ter, and who are twenty-one years old or older, or the guardian or guar-38 dians or representative or representatives of any such person, if any 39 exist.

40 (b) "Services" means any and all care and treatment rendered to adults 41 with developmental disabilities (i) who are under the care, authority, 42 jurisdiction, supervision or control of the various offices of the 43 department, and/or (ii) which are funded in any part by any office of 44 the department. As used in this section, "services" includes, but is not 45 limited to, "services for the developmentally disabled" as that term is 46 defined in section 1.03 of this chapter, as well as any other treatment 47 of any form or type.

48 (c) "Triggering event" means any proposed action, or denial, by the 49 department or any of its offices, as described in subparagraph (i) of 50 paragraph (a) or subparagraph (i) of paragraph (b) of subdivision two of 51 this section.

52 2. Role of department; triggering events. The department, through its 53 various offices and in conjunction with any other necessary state agency 54 or office, where applicable, shall develop, implement, and ensure a 55 system of meaningful due process protections for adults with develop-56 mental disabilities, and shall develop and promulgate regulations, policies and procedures necessary to resolve objections by or on behalf of adults with developmental disabilities in conformance with this section. Such due process protections shall be afforded to adults with developmental disabilities when:

(a) any office of the department initiates a proposal which may result in:

(i) a change in placement for an adult with developmental disabilities, including any proposed discharge or relocation from a facility where services are being provided; or

(ii) a reduction, suspension or termination of specific services or funding which is being provided to an adult with developmental disabilities pursuant to an individualized treatment plan, including an individualized services plan; and,

(iii) a timely objection to such proposal or proposals and a request for an administrative appeal is made by or on behalf of an adult with developmental disabilities; or,

(b) any office of the department:

(i) denies an adult with developmental disabilities specific services or a specific placement which is recommended for that individual pursuant to an individualized treatment plan, including an individualized services plan; and,

(ii) a timely objection to such denial or denials and a request for an administrative appeal is made by or on behalf of an adult with developmental disabilities.

3. Minimum due process protections. Due process protections for adults with developmental disabilities implemented by the department and its offices shall include, at a minimum, the rights of adults with developmental disabilities:

(a) to be provided with advance written notice by the relevant office of the department of any triggering event, whether it be a proposed action or a denial by such office of the department, which notice shall set forth all reasons and documentation, if any, in support of the determination by the relevant office of the department, and which shall specifically advise an adult with developmental disabilities as to his or her right to formally object in writing and to request an administrative hearing within thirty days of receipt of notice of the triggering event, and as to their other rights as provided within this section;

(b) to be represented in any proceedings before the relevant office of the department by any person including, but not limited to, a parent, guardian, correspondent, advocate, legal representative, themselves, or any other person or representative;

(c) to request, and to be provided with, an opportunity to present, in a meaningful fashion and at a reasonable time not less than fourteen days from the date a written request for an administrative hearing is made, any objection to a triggering event by the relevant office of the department to an impartial decision maker in the context of an evidentiary hearing;

(d) to discover and obtain, and have a meaningful opportunity to review in advance of the evidentiary hearing, any documents to be used by the relevant office of the department in support of its determination at such hearing;

(e) to present and elicit evidence and witnesses, and confront and cross-examine evidence and witnesses at such evidentiary hearing;

(f) to obtain a reasonably prompt written determination by the impartial hearing officer, which shall be based on the evidence and testimony introduced and rendered at the hearing, and in which it is determined

1 whether the triggering event taken or proposed by the relevant office of 2 the department, if ultimately allowed, would be (i) in the overall best,
3 individual interests of the adult with developmental disabilities, (ii) 4 result in appropriate, effective services and/or placement for such 5 individual, and (iii) so as to best enable their personal development;

6 (g) to appeal, if necessary, the written determination rendered by the 7 impartial hearing officer to the commissioner of the relevant office of 8 the department, who may remand the matter to the hearing officer for 9 further review or findings, if necessary, and who shall, after review of 10 the matter, issue a further written determination which shall be binding 11 on the relevant office of the department as its final administrative 12 determination;

13 (h) to appeal, if necessary, the final written determination rendered 14 by the commissioner on behalf of the relevant office of the department 15 by way of a proceeding pursuant to article seventy-eight of the civil 16 practice law and rules; and

17 (i) to continued services, programming, funding and placement by the 18 relevant office of the department, of the same level and type as that 19 provided by such office prior to the triggering event, during the period 20 that an objection by an adult with developmental disabilities is under-21 going administrative and/or appellate review, unless as otherwise agreed 22 to by such office and such adult with developmental disabilities or his 23 or her guardian or representative.

24 4. Nothing in this section shall prevent the department and its 25 offices from designing and implementing dispute resolution mechanisms 26 which are not inconsistent with the due process protections for adults 27 with developmental disabilities set forth by this section, including 28 expedited, or informal (non-binding), dispute resolution mechanisms that 29 may be agreed to by the relevant office of the department and such adult 30 with developmental disabilities or his or her guardian or represen-31 tative.

32 5. The minimum due process protections for adults with developmental 33 disabilities set forth within this section shall serve to supplement and 34 reinforce any and all other laws or authorities which provide for 35 certain rights for the developmentally disabled adult population, 36 including the state administrative procedure act or applicable federal 37 requirements, if any, pertaining to due process protections for such 38 individuals. In the absence of regulations, the provisions of the state 39 administrative procedure act shall control the hearing process where not 40 inconsistent with the provisions of this section. The department, 41 through its offices, shall take all actions necessary to ensure the 42 continued compliance with any applicable federal authorities to the 43 extent that any provision of this section may be deemed to conflict with 44 such authorities.

45 § 4. This act shall take effect immediately.
