IN ASSEMBLY

March 28, 2022

Introduced by M. of A. ZEBROWSKI -- read once and referred to the Committee on Economic Development

AN ACT to amend the economic development law, in relation to establishing the Supply Chain Transparency Assistance Program

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

1 Section 1. Legislative findings. The Legislature finds and declares
2 the following:

1. The climate crisis is an immediate and urgent threat, and New York 3 4 State is and must continue to be a leader in addressing it. New York has 5 a statutory goal of achieving net-zero greenhouse gas emissions econo-6 my-wide by 2050. However, that goal does not include greenhouse gas 7 emissions created outside of New York in the extraction, production, and transport of the goods we purchase. Currently, eight global supply chains - food, construction, fashion, fast-moving consumer goods, elec-8 9 10 tronics, automobiles, professional services, and freight - account for 11 over half of greenhouse gas emissions annually. Increasing supply chain 12 transparency and traceability is an important part of fighting climate change and moving global production toward more environmentally sustain-13 14 able practices.

15 2. The International Labor Organization estimates that over 25 million 16 people are currently caught in forced labor, 4 million of whom are chil-17 dren. Over 160 million children between the ages of five to seventeen are engaged in child labor in 2021, and about 79 million of those are 18 estimated to be engaged in hazardous labor. Across the United States, 19 Canada and the European Union there are estimated to be 1.5 million 20 people trapped in forced labor, while millions of other people live 21 22 trapped in forced labor across the Asia-Pacific region, Africa, Latin 23 America and the Middle East. The fruit of such forced labor, as well as 24 additional health and safety risks and other impacts from substandard 25 labor practices, can potentially be found in many of the goods we 26 consume, making it incumbent on businesses to take action to ensure 27 ethical labor practices throughout their supply chains.

EXPLANATION--Matter in italics (underscored) is new; matter in brackets [-] is old law to be omitted.

3. Businesses throughout the United States and across the world are 1 increasingly engaged in efforts to ensure their supply chains are trans-2 3 parent, traceable, ethical, and environmentally sound, whether in 4 reaction to consumer pressure or government regulation, or out of an of corporate social responsibility. Businesses that 5 understanding 6 achieve ethical and sustainable supply chains may also be able to 7 increase their appeal with certain consumers, charge premium prices, or 8 access previously untapped markets as a result of their efforts. In 9 order to remain competitive, New York businesses, particularly small and 10 medium-sized businesses and minority- and women-owned businesses, must 11 be able to take advantage of and stay ahead of this socially responsible 12 and beneficial trend. 4. It is therefore the intent of the Legislature to create a Supply 13 14 Chain Transparency Assistance Program to encourage the shifting of the 15 state's economy toward more ethical and sustainable supply chains, while ensuring New York businesses have the tools they need to compete in the 16 17 national and global marketplace. § 2. The economic development law is amended by adding a new article 18 19 26 to read as follows: 20 ARTICLE 26 21 SUPPLY CHAIN TRANSPARENCY ASSISTANCE PROGRAM 22 Section 480. Definitions. 23 481.
