Introduced by Sen. BIAGGI -- read twice and ordered printed, and when printed to be committed to the Committee on Women's Issues

AN ACT to establish a task force on missing women and girls who are black, indigenous and people of color; and providing for the repeal of such provisions upon expiration thereof

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

1 Section 1. Legislative findings and intent. The legislature finds 2 that:

- a. According to a 2020 report by the Women's Media Center there are 64,000-75,000 missing black women and girls across the United States.
- b. Cases involving black women and girls often do not receive the attention they need and there are often barriers to families reporting a loved one, such as mistrust of police, and racial disparities in how law enforcement treat disappearances.
- 9 c. The tens of thousands of black women and girls who are missing 10 include abductees, sex trafficking victims, and runaways. Black women 11 and girls exist at the intersection of racism and sexism, and often face 12 worse health, wealth, housing, education, and employment outcomes.

- d. Black girls comprise over 40% of domestic sex trafficking victims in the United States.
- e. Law enforcement often categorize missing black girls as runaways and fail to treat their cases with urgency.
- f. According to a 2020 report by the Sovereign Bodies Institute, a nonprofit, indigenous-led research organization, at least 2,306 missing Native American women and girls have gone missing in the last 40 years in the United States, about 1,800 of whom were killed or vanished.
- g. Families of Native American women and girls who have gone missing report a lack of cultural awareness by law enforcement and express frustration that their cases are not pursued.
