The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. The labor law is amended by adding a new section 211-b to read as follows:

§ 211-b. Contracts; certain provisions prohibited. 1. A provision in any contract waiving any substantive or procedural right or remedy relating to a claim of discrimination, non-payment of wages or benefits, retaliation, harassment or violation of public policy in employment shall be deemed unconscionable, void and unenforceable, with respect to any such claim arising after the waiver is made. No right or remedy arising under this section, this chapter, common law, any other provision of law or rule of procedure or the constitution shall be prospectively waived. This section shall not render void or unenforceable the remainder of the contract or agreement. The provisions of this subdivision shall not apply to the terms of any collective bargaining agreement between an employer and the bona fide collective bargaining representative of that employer's employees.

2. A provision in any contract or agreement which has the purpose or effect of concealing the details relating to a claim of discrimination, non-payment of wages or benefits, retaliation, harassment or violation of public policy in employment, including claims that are submitted to arbitration, shall be deemed unconscionable, void and unenforceable. The provisions of this subdivision shall not apply to the terms and conditions of an award issued by an arbitrator pursuant to article seventy-five of the civil practice law and rules or the amount of any monetary consideration provided in a settlement.
