Introduced by M. of A. L. ROSENTHAL -- read once and referred to the Committee on Agriculture

AN ACT to amend the agriculture and markets law and the environmental conservation law, in relation to prohibiting the use of primates in entertainment acts

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Short title. This act shall be known and may be cited as the "primate protection act".

§ 2. Legislative findings. The legislature hereby finds that:

a. primate abuse is a matter of worldwide concern, and the state as a recognized environmental leader should help assure the protection and welfare of primates;

b. it is widely recognized that primates used for entertainment purposes ("entertainment primates") suffer physical and psychological harm due to the living conditions and treatment to which they are subjected, resulting in increased mortality with life spans only one-half as long as wild primates;

c. entertainment primates live in conditions that are in no way similar to their natural habitat, including an unnatural diet, restricted movement, inappropriate housing and a hostile climate;

d. entertainment primates are subjected to confinement and social isolation, leading to physiological, behavioral and psychological impairments;

e. entertainment primates transported into the state spend a significant portion of their lives inside trucks, trains or trailers, enduring additional physical restrictions and social isolation;

f. the use of primates in entertainment provides a false and inaccurate educational experience for children and adults, often including performance tricks that are never executed by primates in the wild and that are stressful or harmful to the animal; and

EXPLANATION--Matter in italics (underscored) is new; matter in brackets [-] is old law to be omitted.
