52 issue an order that, pending trial, the individual shall either be 53 released on his or her own recognizance, released on conditions of 54 release as set forth by the judge, or detained under subdivision three 55 of this section. The individual shall be released unless the judge 56 determines that releasing the principal on his or her own recognizance

1 will endanger the community safety and well-being of any other person in 2 the state but does not find by clear and convincing evidence that no
3 conditions of release will reasonably ensure the community safety and 4 well-being of any other person in the state, the judge shall order the 5 pretrial release of the principal:

6 (i) subject to the condition that the person not commit a federal, 7 state or local crime during the period of release; and

8 (ii) subject to the least restrictive further condition, or combina-9 tion of conditions, that such judge determines will reasonably ensure 10 the community safety and well-being of any other person in the state 11 that the principal:

12 (A) remain in the custody of a designated person, who agrees to assume 13 supervision and to report any violation of a release condition to the 33 specified institution if required for that purpose;

34 (K) return to custody for specified hours following release for 35 employment, schooling, or other limited purposes;

36 (L) satisfy any other condition that is reasonably necessary to ensure 37 the appearance of the person as required and to ensure the safety and 38 well-being of any other person and the community; and

39 (M) participates in a community corrections program under the depart-40 ment of corrections and community supervision, provided, however, that 41 the principal shall not participate in such program without his or her 42 consent to such participation.

43 (b) The judge shall not impose a financial condition that results in 44 the pretrial detention of the person under this section.

45 (c) The judge may at any time amend the order to impose additional or 46 different conditions of release.

47 3. There shall be a rebuttable presumption of release on recognizance
48 for every principal brought before the court. If, after a hearing pursu-49 ant to the provisions of subdivision four of this section, the district 50 or supreme court judge finds by clear and convincing evidence that no 51 conditions of release will reasonably ensure the community safety and 52 well-being of any other person in the state, said judge shall order the 53 detention of the principal prior to trial. A principal detained under 54 this subdivision shall be brought to a trial as soon as reasonably 55 possible, but in absence of extraordinary circumstances, such principal 56 shall not be detained for a period exceeding one hundred twenty days by

1 the district court or for a period exceeding one hundred eighty days by 2 the supreme court.

3 4. (a) When a principal is held under arrest for an offense listed in 4 subdivision one of this section and upon a motion by the people, the 5 judge shall hold a hearing to determine whether conditions of release 6 will reasonably ensure the community safety and well-being of any other 7 person in the state. A principal shall be offered the appropriate mental 8 health services while being held under arrest for an offense listed in 9 subdivision one of this section.

10 (b) The hearing shall be held immediately upon the principal's first 11 appearance before the court unless such principal or the people seek a 12 continuance. Except for good cause, a continuance on motion of the prin-13 cipal shall not exceed seven days and a continuance on motion of the 14 people shall not exceed three business days. During a continuance, the 15 principal shall be detained upon a showing that there existed probable 16 cause to arrest the principal or that without detention the principal 17 would result in serious harm to himself, herself, or others, as defined 18 in paragraph one or two of subdivision (a) of section 9.39 of the mental 19 hygiene law. At the hearing, such principal shall have the right to be 20 represented by counsel, and, if financially unable to retain adequate 21 representation, to have counsel appointed. The principal shall be 22 afforded an opportunity to testify, to present witnesses, to cross-exa-23 mine witnesses who appear at the hearing, and to present information.
24 Prior to the summons of an alleged victim, or a member of the alleged 25 victim's family, to appear as a witness at the hearing, the principal 26 shall demonstrate to the court a good faith basis for the principal's 27 reasonable belief that the testimony from the witness will be material 28 and relevant to support a conclusion that there are conditions of 29 release that will reasonably ensure the community safety and well-being 30 of any other person in the state. The rules concerning admissibility of 31 evidence in criminal trials shall not apply to the presentation and 32 consideration of information at the hearing and the judge shall consider 33 hearsay contained in a police report, the statement of an alleged victim 34 or witness, and shall have access to any mental health evaluation the 35 principal has undergone prior to hearing. The facts the judge uses to 36 support findings pursuant to subdivision three of this section, that no 37 conditions will reasonably ensure the community safety and well-being of 38 any other person in the state, shall be supported by clear and convinc-39 ing evidence. In a detention order issued pursuant to the provisions of 40 subdivision three of this section the judge shall: (i) include written 41 findings of fact and a written statement of the reasons for the 42 detention; (ii) direct that the principal be committed to custody or 43 confinement in a corrections facility separate, to the extent practica-44 ble, from principals awaiting or serving sentence or being held in 45 custody pending appeal or a community treatment center; and (iii) direct 46 that the principal be afforded reasonable opportunity for private 47 consultation with his or her counsel. The principal may be detained 48 pending completion of the hearing. The hearing may be reopened by the 49 judge, at any time before trial, or upon a motion of the people or the 50 principal detained if the judge finds that: (A) information exists that 51 was not known at the time of the hearing or that there has been a change
52 in circumstances; and (B) that such information or change in circum-53 stances has a material bearing on the issue of whether there are condi-54 tions of release that will reasonably ensure the community safety and 55 well-being of any other person in the state.

1 5. In his or her determination as to whether there are conditions of
2 release that will reasonably ensure the community safety and well-being 3 of any other person in the state, said judge shall, on the basis of any 4 information which he or she can reasonably obtain, take into account the 5 nature and seriousness of the danger posed to any other person or the 6 community that would result by the principal's release, the nature and 7 circumstances of the offense charged, the potential penalty the princi-8 pal faces, the principal's family ties, employment record, history of 9 mental illness, and reputation, the risk that the principal will 10 obstruct or attempt to obstruct the judge or threaten, injure or intim-11 idate or attempt to threaten, injure or intimidate a prospective witness 12 or juror, his or her record of convictions, if any, any illegal drug 13 distribution or present drug dependency, and whether the principal is 14 released pending adjudication of a prior charge.

15 6. Nothing in this section shall be construed as modifying or limiting 16 the presumption of innocence.

17 7. (a) A principal aggrieved by the denial of a district court judge 18 to release him or her on his or her own recognizance with or without 19 surety or condition may petition the supreme court for a review of the 20 order of the recognizance and the judge of the district court shall 21 thereupon immediately notify such principal of his or her right to file
22 a petition for review in the supreme court. When a petition for review 23 is filed in the district court or with the detaining authority subse-24 quent to the petitioner's district court appearance, the clerk of the 25 district court or the detaining authority, as the case may be, shall 26 immediately notify by telephone, the clerk and probation officer of the 27 district court, the district attorney for the district in which the 28 district court is located, the prosecuting officer, the petitioner's 29 counsel, if any, and the clerk of courts of the county to which the 30 petition is to be transmitted. The clerk of the district court, upon the 31 filing of a petition for review, either in the district court or with 32 the detaining authority, shall forthwith transmit the petition for 33 review, a copy of the complaint and the record of the court, including 34 the appearance of the attorney, if any is entered, and a summary of the 35 court's reasons for denying the release of the principal on his or her 36 own recognizance with or without surety or condition to the supreme 37 court for the county in which the district court is located, if a judge 38 thereof is then sitting, or to the supreme court of the nearest county
39 in which a judge is then sitting. The probation officer of the district 40 court shall transmit forthwith to the probation officer of the supreme 41 court, copies of all records of the probation office of said district 42 court pertaining to the petitioner, including the petitioner's record of 43 prior convictions, if any, as currently verified by inquiry of the 44 commissioner. The district court or the detaining authority, as the case 45 may be, shall cause any petitioner in its custody to be brought before 46 said supreme court within two business days of the petition having been 47 filed. The district court is authorized to order any officer authorized 48 to execute criminal process to transfer the petitioner and any papers 49 herein above described from the district court or the detaining authori-50 ty to the supreme court, and to coordinate the transfer of the petition-51 er and the papers by such officer. The petition for review shall 52 constitute authority in the person or officer having custody of the 53 petitioner to transport the petitioner to said supreme court without the 54 issuance of any writ or other legal process; provided, however, that any 55 district or supreme court is authorized to issue a writ of habeas corpus 56 for the appearance forthwith of the petitioner before the supreme court.

(b) The supreme court shall hear the petition for review as speedily as practicable and in any event within five business days of the filing of the petition. The supreme court judge hearing the review may consider the record below which the people and the principal may supplement. The judge of the supreme court may, after a hearing on the petition for review, order that the petitioner be released on his or her own recognizance without surety or condition, or, in his or her discretion, to reasonably ensure the effective administration of justice, make any other order of bail or recognizance or remand the petitioner in accordance with the terms of the process by which he or she was ordered committed by the district court.
