Introduced by M. of A. STECK, McDONALD -- read once and referred to the

AN ACT to establish the "recovery ready workplace act"

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

1 Section 1. Short title. This act shall be known and may be cited as
2 the "recovery ready workplace act".

3 § 2. Legislative findings and purpose. The legislature finds that:

4 1. Recovery ready workplace (RRW) programs have been initiated around
5 the country as important interventions in the opioid use disorder (OUD)
6 and substance use disorder (SUD) crisis.

7 2. The goal of RRW programs is to provide outreach, training, and
8 certification to employers in cooperation with government officials,
9 workers, labor unions, and communities to:

10 (a) prevent initiation of new cases of misuse and addiction related to 11 workplace injury and stress through primary prevention of exposure to 12 job hazards and stressors;

13 (b) support employees who are struggling and retain employees by 14 providing access to treatment and pathways to return to work;

15 (c) provide healthy, gainful employment for people in recovery; and

16 (d) reduce absenteeism, presenteeism, and lost productivity among 17 employees with substance use disorder.

18 3. Workers with painful injuries have frequently been overprescribed
19 opioids, resulting in as many as twenty-five percent of workers develop-
20 ing opioid dependence and OUD or SUD.

21 4. RRW programs address the prevention of addiction related to work-
22 place injury and stress while also providing support for workers who are
23 struggling and opportunities for people in recovery to reenter the work-
24 force.

25 5. Between 2009 to 2015, an estimated 225,000 New York workers were
26 lost from the labor market due to opioids. New York's economy cumula-
27 tively lost $179.4 billion dollars in real economic output, which trans-
28 lates to the state's annual real GDP growth rate slowing by 0.8 percent-
29 age points.

EXPLANATION--Matter in italics (underscored) is new; matter in brackets
[-] is old law to be omitted.

6. Employers who establish RRW programs have saved money due to reduced absenteeism, healthier work environment, greater productivity, lower healthcare costs, greater workplace safety, employee retention, and reduced recruitment and hiring costs.

7. Employees in recovery save their employers an average of $8,500 dollars annually, with $8,175 dollars attributable to avoiding turnover, replacement, and healthcare costs.

8. There is an urgent need to establish resources and standards for RRWs in New York state as a key component of the state's response to the opioid crisis.
