IN SENATE

March 6, 2023

Introduced by Sens. JACKSON, COMRIE, SALAZAR -- read twice and ordered printed, and when printed to be committed to the Committee on Labor

AN ACT to amend the labor law, in relation to enacting the safeguarding employees and accountability for termination act

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

1	Section 1. The labor law is amended by adding a new article 20-D to
2	read as follows:
3	ARTICLE 20-D
4	SAFEGUARDING EMPLOYEES AND ACCOUNTABILITY FOR TERMINATION ACT
5	Section 745. Short title.
б	746. Definitions.
7	747. Elements of wrongful discharge.
8	748. Remedies.
9	749. Probationary period.
10	750. Limitation of actions.
11	751. Exemptions.
12	752. Arbitration.
13	753. Effect of rejection of offer to arbitrate.
14	§ 745. Short title. This act shall be known and may be cited as the
15	"safeguarding employees and accountability for termination act" or "the
16	SEAT act".
17	§ 746. Definitions. When used in this article, the term:
18	1. "Constructive discharge" means the voluntary termination of employ-
19	ment by an employee because of a situation created by an act or omission
20	of the employer which a reasonable person would find so intolerable that
21	voluntary termination is the only reasonable alternative. Constructive
22	discharge does not mean voluntary termination because of an employer's
23	refusal to promote the employee or improve wages, responsibilities or
24	other terms and conditions of employment.

EXPLANATION--Matter in italics (underscored) is new; matter in brackets [-] is old law to be omitted.

1	2. "Discharge" includes a constructive discharge as defined in subdi-
2	vision one of this section and any other termination of employment,
3	including resignation, elimination of the job, failure to recall or
4	rehire and any other cutback in the number of employees for a legitimate
5	business reason.
6	3. "Fringe benefits" means the value of any employer-paid vacation
7	leave, sick leave, medical insurance plan, disability insurance plan,
8	and life insurance plan in force on the date of the termination.
9	4. "Good cause" means any reasonable job-related grounds for an

13	engaging in concerted activity;
$14^{13}$	(c) the employee's material or repeated violation of an express
15	provision of the employer's written policies; or
16	(d) other legitimate business reasons determined by the employer while exercising the employer's reasonable business judgment. The legal use of
18	a consumable product by an employee off the employer's premises during

20	that this paragraph shall not apply to:

22	employee's ability to perform job-related employment responsibilities or
23	the safety of other employees;
24	(ii) an employee who, on a personal basis, has a professional service
25	contract with an employer and the unique nature of the services provided
26	authorizes the employer, as part of the service contract, to limit the

not to exceed four years from the date of discharge, together with 1 interest on the lost wages and fringe benefits. The employee's interim 2 3 earnings, derived from any new kind, nature, or type of work, hire, 4 contractor status or employment that did not exist at the time of 5 discharge, including amounts the employee could have earned with reason-6 able diligence from the work, hire, contractor status or employment, 7 shall be deducted from the amount awarded for lost wages. Before inter-8 im earnings are deducted from lost wages, there shall be deducted from 9 the interim earnings any reasonable amounts expended by the employee in 10 searching for, obtaining, or relocating to new employment. 11 2. Following any verdict or award in favor of the discharged employee, 12 a court of competent jurisdiction shall consider any monetary payments, compensation or benefits the employee received arising from or related 13 14 the discharge, including unemployment compensation or benefits, and to 15 shall deduct those payments, compensation and benefits from the amount 16 awarded for lost wages before entering judgment. 17 § 749. Probationary period. 1. If an employer does not establish a specific probationary period or provide that there is no probationary 18 period prior to or at the time the employee begins work, there is a 19 20 probationary period of one month commencing on the date the employee 21 begins work. 22 2. An employer may extend a probationary period prior to the expira-23 tion of a probationary period, but the original probationary period together with any periods of extension shall not exceed six months. The 24 probationary period shall not be extended or restarted by discharging an 25 employee during the probationary period and rehiring the employee within 26 27 three months after such discharge. 28 3. If an employee has one or more leaves of absence during the 29 original probationary period or any extension of the probationary peri-30 od, the time of each leave of absence shall not be a part of the probationary period unless the employer affirmatively elects to include each 31 32 leave of absence as part of the probationary period with the affirmative 33 written consent of the employee. 34 § 750. Limitation of actions. 1. An action under this article shall be filed within six years after the date of discharge. 35 36 2. If an employer maintains written internal procedures, other than 37 those specified in section seven hundred fifty-one of this article, under which an employee may appeal a discharge within the organizational 38 39 structure of the employer, the employee shall first exhaust those procedures prior to filing an action under this article. The employee's fail-40 ure to initiate or exhaust available internal procedures is a defense to 41 42 an action brought under this article. If the employer's internal proce-43 dures are not completed within ninety days from the date the employee 44 initiates the internal procedures, the employee may file an action under 45 this article and for purposes of this subdivision the employer's inter-46 nal procedures are considered exhausted. The statute of limitations in 47 subdivision one of this section is tolled until the procedures are exhausted. In no case may the provisions of the employer's internal 48 procedures extend the limitation period in subdivision one of this 49 50 section more than one hundred twenty days. 51 3. If the employer maintains written internal procedures under which 52 an employee may appeal a discharge within the organizational structure of the employer, the employer shall within fourteen days of the date of 53 the discharge notify the discharged employee in writing or electron-54 ically of the existence of the internal procedures. The timeframe for 55

56 the employee to initiate the procedures, if any, begins to run from the date the employer sends or provides a copy of the internal procedures in 1 writing or electronically. A copy of the procedures shall be considered 2 3 provided to the employee, if the employer sends a copy of the procedures 4 to the employee's last-known postal mailing address and electronic mail-5 ing address, if provided, or the employee's attorney. If the employer 6 fails to comply with this subdivision, the discharged employee need not 7 comply with subdivision two of this section. 4. If a plaintiff commences a civil action for wrongful discharge 8 9 under this article, the plaintiff shall make service of process pursuant 10 to section three hundred six-b of the civil practice law and rules after 11 filing the complaint. If the plaintiff fails to make service of process, 12 the court, on motion or on its own initiative, shall dismiss the action without prejudice as to a defendant unless that defendant has made an 13 appearance in the civil action. If the plaintiff fails to make service 14 15 of process, the remaining six-year statute of limitations for a civil action under this article resumes regardless of whether the civil action 16 17 is dismissed. § 751. Exemptions. 1. This article does not apply to a discharge: 18 (a) that is subject to any other state or federal statute that 19 20 provides a procedure or remedy for contesting the dispute.
