2 adding a new paragraph (f) to read as follows:

3 (f) (i) Where any contract as defined by this section seeks to engage

5 a feasibility study must be conducted first to determine whether such 6 project labor agreement will further its interest in obtaining the best 7 work at the lowest possible price, preventing favoritism, fraud and 8 corruption. The feasibility study shall take into account the impact the 9 project labor agreement will have on competition and the impact the 10 project labor agreement will have on opportunities for minority, women 11 and service-disabled veteran owned business enterprises.

12 (ii) Such feasibility study shall, in its entirety and unredacted, be 13 provided to the public for review and comment prior to inclusion in any 14 bidding and contract documents. Where, taking those factors into 15 account, the feasibility study concludes there is no net advantage to 16 the public or that there will be a negative impact on opportunities for 17 minority, women or service-disabled veteran owned business enterprises, 18 such project labor agreement shall not be authorized.

1 governmental entity which is to be a direct or indirect party to such 2 contract may require that any contractors and subcontractors have, prior 3 to entering into such contract, apprenticeship agreements appropriate 4 for the type and scope of work to be performed, that have been regis-
5 tered with, and approved by, the commissioner pursuant to the require-6 ments found in this article. Whenever utilizing this requirement, the 7 governmental entity may, in addition to whatever considerations are 8 required by law, consider the degree to which career opportunities in 9 apprenticeship training programs approved by the commissioner may be 10 provided. Prior to requiring any contractors and subcontractors to have, 11 prior to entering into any construction contract, apprenticeship agree-12 ments as defined in section eight hundred sixteen of this article, the 13 government entity must conduct an analysis of the impact such a require-14 ment would have on competition and on opportunities for minority, women
15 and service-disabled veteran owned business enterprises. Such unredacted 16 complete analysis shall be provided to the public for review and comment 17 prior to implementation.

18 § 3. This act shall take effect immediately.
