AN ACT to amend the education law and the social services law, in relation to the practice of school psychology

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

1 Section 1. Legislative intent and findings. The legislature finds
2 that the ever-growing social and emotional needs of children and youth
3 have only been intensified by the COVID-19 pandemic. The legislature
4 acknowledges that the U.S. Surgeon General has declared a national emer-5 gency in relation to children's mental health, and that parents and 6 professionals are calling for greater access to mental health services 7 for children. The legislature therefore intends, as we emerge from the 8 pandemic, that we ensure services are available for children, youth, and 9 their parents to seek the help they need by allowing school psychol-10 ogists to assist these individuals outside of a traditional setting. The 11 legislature finds that increasing the number of trained professionals 12 who are able to provide mental health services outside of an educational 13 setting will be positive for the children, parents, school, and society.
14 School psychologists are trained and educated in psychopathology, the 15 psychology of learning, motivation and human development in order to 16 address the many factors influencing their adjustment in school and 17 life. Accordingly, these factors may include trauma, social and 18 emotional adjustment, inequitable and historically marginalized communi-19 ty conditions, school climate, and home/school/community collaboration.
20 The legislature therefore declares that by addressing the needs of children through prevention services, assessments and/or counseling, school psychologists can contribute to their future success. It is important that school psychologists are held to specific standards and requirements that will ensure competent services.
