421-a Standard Rider Fact Sheet

Any housing unit that receives tax benefits under section 421-a of the New York State Real Property Law will remain affordable for a period of time depending on a variety of factors, including the location of the unit, the commencement of construction and the affordability in the project. Failure to provide the initial standardized rider may result in the unit remaining rent stabilized for the duration of the tenancy. Specific details related to your unit are listed on the next sheet. While your unit receives 421-a tax benefits, it will be subject to rent stabilization. New York State's rent regulation laws provide tenants in rent-stabilized apartments with a variety of legal rights and protections. The owner of your building must provide you with a rent-stabilized lease when you first move in and also each time you renew your lease for your choice of either a one or two year term, for as long as your apartment remains stabilized.

You are entitled to continuous lease renewals while your apartment is rent stabilized. When you renew your lease, your rent may only be increased by an amount determined by New York State's rent regulation laws, which may be found by visiting <https://rentguidelinesboard.cityofnewyork.us/resources/rent-regulation-laws/>, and permitted by applicable tax benefit laws.

Rent increases for rent-stabilized tenants are determined by the New York City Rent Guidelines Board, and may only increase by a specified amount within a one-year or two-year lease term. For more information, please visit <https://rentguidelinesboard.cityofnewyork.us/> or call 311. Rent-stabilized tenants are also entitled to petition the New York State Homes and Community Renewal by visiting <https://hcr.ny.gov/> or calling (212) 480-6238.
