- 3 The fact that conduct violates this article shall not be an inde-4 pendent basis for enforcement of any other law of this state, or the 5 denial, revocation, suspension, or withholding of any right or privilege conferred by the law of this state or a political subdivision, or a 7 threat to do the same, by the state, a political subdivision, a district 8 or county or city attorney, or an executive or administrative officer or 9 employee of the state or a political subdivision, or a board, commis-10 sion, or similar body assigned authority to do so under law, against any 11 person, except as provided in section eight hundred ninety-eight-n of 12 this article. For avoidance of doubt, the rights and privileges described by this subdivision 16 17 include, but are not limited to, any business licenses and permits issued pursuant to this chapter or any licenses issued pursuant to arti-18 cle four hundred of the penal law. - 3. Notwithstanding subdivision two of this section, a court shall not award relief under this section in response to a violation of this article if the defendant demonstrates that such defendant previously paid the full amount of any monetary award under subdivision two of this section in a previous action for each machine-gun, assault weapon, disguised gun, ghost gun, or unfinished frame or receiver as to which the defendant violated, or aided or abetted a violation of, section eight hundred ninety-eight-k of this article.
- 4. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, a cause of action under this section shall be extinguished unless the action is brought not later than four years after such cause of action accrues.
 - 5. An act or omission in violation of section eight hundred ninety-eight-k of this article shall be deemed an injury in fact to all residents of, and visitors to, this state, and any such person shall have standing to bring a civil action pursuant to this section.
 - 6. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, none of the following is a defense to an action brought under this section:
 - (a) A defendant's ignorance or mistake of law.
 - (b) A defendant's belief that the requirements of this article are unconstitutional or were unconstitutional.
 - (c) A defendant's reliance on any court decision that has been overruled on appeal or by a subsequent court, even if that court decision had not been overruled when the defendant engaged in conduct that violates this article.
 - (d) A defendant's reliance on any state or federal court decision that is not binding on the court in which the action has been brought.
 - (e) Nonmutual issue preclusion or nonmutual claim preclusion.
- 31 (f) Any claim that the enforcement of this article or the imposition
 32 of civil liability against the defendant will violate a constitutional

 - (h) Any claim that the machine-gun, assault weapon, disguised gun, ghost gun, or unfinished frame or receiver at issue was not misused, or was not intended to be misused, in a criminal or unlawful manner.
- 41 7. (a) Both of the following are affirmative defenses to an action
 42 brought under this section:
- (i) A person sued under paragraph (b) of subdivision one of this section reasonably believed, after conducting a reasonable investigation, that the person aided or abetted was complying with this article.
 - (ii) A person sued under paragraph (c) of subdivision one of this section reasonably believed, after conducting a reasonable investigation, that the person was complying with this article or was aiding or abetting another who was complying with this article.
- 51 (b) The defendant has the burden of proving an affirmative defense 52 under this subdivision by a preponderance of the evidence.
- 8. This section shall not be construed to impose liability on any speech or conduct protected by the First Amendment to the United States Constitution, as made applicable to the states through the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution, or by Section 8 of Article 2 I of the New York Constitution.

- 9. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the state, a state official, or a district, county, or city attorney shall not intervene in an action brought under this section. However, this subdivision does not prohibit a person described by this subdivision from filing an amicus curiae brief in the action.
- 8 10. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, a 9 court shall not award attorney's fees or costs to a defendant in an 10 action brought under this section.
- 11. An action pursuant to this section shall not be brought against a 12 federal government, state, political subdivision, or an employee of a federal government, state, or political subdivision on the basis of acts or omissions in the course of discharge of official duties.
 - § 898-o. Defenses. 1. A defendant against whom an action is brought under section eight hundred ninety-eight-n of this article does not have standing to assert the right of another individual to keep and bear arms under the Second Amendment to the United States Constitution as a defense to liability under such section unless either of the following is true:
 - (a) The United States supreme court holds that the courts of this state must confer standing on that defendant to assert the third-party rights of other individuals in state court as a matter of federal constitutional law; or
 - (b) The defendant has standing to assert the rights of other individuals under the tests for third-party standing established by the United States supreme court.
 - 2. A defendant in an action brought under section eight hundred ninety-eight-n of this article may assert an affirmative defense to liability under this section if both of the following are true:
 - (a) The defendant has standing to assert the third-party right of an individual to keep and bear arms in accordance with subdivision one of this section; and
 - (b) The defendant demonstrates that the relief sought by the claimant will violate a third-party's rights under the Second Amendment to the United States Constitution right as defined by clearly established case law of the United States supreme court.
- 3. Nothing in this section shall in any way limit or preclude a defendant from asserting the defendant's personal constitutional rights as a defense to liability under section eight hundred ninety-eight-n of 40 41 this article, and a court shall not award relief under such section if 42 the conduct for which the defendant has been sued was an exercise of a state or federal constitutional right that personally belongs to the 44 defendant.
- 45 § 898-p. Construction. This article shall not be construed to do any 46 of the following:
 - 1. Authorize the initiation of a cause of action under this article against a person purchasing, obtaining, or attempting to purchase or obtain a machine-gun, assault weapon, disguised gun, ghost gun, or unfinished frame or receiver from a person acting in violation of this article.
- 52 2. Wholly or partly repeal, either expressly or by implication, any other statute that regulates or prohibits any conduct relating to 53 machine-guns, assault weapons, disquised guns, ghost guns, or unfinished 54 55 frames or receivers.

3. Restrict a political subdivision from regulating or prohibiting conduct relating to machine-quns, assault weapons, disquised quns, ghost guns, or unfinished frames or receivers in a manner that is at least as stringent as the laws of this state.

- § 898-q. Venue. 1. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, a civil action brought under section eight hundred ninetyeight-n of this article shall be brought in any of the following:
- (a) The county in which all or a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claim occurred;
- (b) The county of residence for any one of the natural person defendants at the time the cause of action accrued;
- (c) The county of the principal office in this state of any one of the defendants that is not a natural person; or
- (d) The county of residence for the claimant if the claimant is a natural person residing in the state.
- 2. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, if a civil action is brought under section eight hundred ninety-eight-n of this article in one of the venues described by subdivision one of this section, such action shall not be transferred to a different venue without the written consent of all parties.
- § 898-r. Sovereign immunity. 1. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the state has sovereign immunity, a political subdivision has governmental immunity, and each officer and employee of the state or a political subdivision has official immunity in any action, claim, or counterclaim or any type of legal or equitable action that challenges the validity of any provision or application of this article, on constitutional grounds or otherwise.
- 2. A provision of state law shall not be construed to waive or abrogate an immunity described by subdivision one of this section unless it expressly waives immunity under this section.
- § 898-s. Severability. 1. It is the intent of the legislature that every provision, section, subdivision, sentence, clause, phrase, and word in this chapter, and every application of the provisions in this article, are severable from each other.
- 2. If any application of any provision in this article to any person, 35 36 group of persons, or circumstances is found by a court to be invalid or 37 unconstitutional, the remaining applications of that provision to all other persons and circumstances shall be severed and shall not be 38 39 affected. All constitutionally valid applications of this article shall be severed from any applications that a court finds to be invalid, leav-40 ing the valid applications in force, because it is the legislature's 41 intent and priority that the valid applications be allowed to stand 42 43 alone. Even if a reviewing court finds a provision of this article to 44 impose an unconstitutional burden in a large or substantial fraction of 45 relevant cases, the applications that do not present an unconstitutional 46 burden shall be severed from the remaining applications and shall remain 47 in force, and shall be treated as if the legislature had enacted a stat-48 ute limited to the persons, group of persons, or circumstances for which the statute's application does not present an unconstitutional burden. 49 If any court declares or finds a provision of this article facially 50 unconstitutional, when discrete applications of that provision can be 51 52 enforced against a person, group of persons, or circumstances without 53 violating the United States Constitution and the state constitution, 54 such applications shall be severed from all remaining applications of the provision, and the provision shall be interpreted as if the legisla-55 ture had enacted a provision limited to the persons, group of persons, or circumstances for which the provision's application will not violate 1 2 the United States Constitution and the state constitution.

- 3. The legislature further declares that it would have enacted this article, and each provision, section, subdivision, sentence, clause, phrase, and word, and all constitutional applications of this article, irrespective of the fact that any provision, section, subdivision, sentence, clause, phrase, or word, or application of this article, were to be declared unconstitutional or to represent an unconstitutional burden.
- 10 4. If any provision of this article is found by any court to be uncon-11 stitutionally vaque, then the applications of that provision that do not 12 present constitutional vaqueness problems shall be severed and remain in 13 force.
 - 5. A court shall not decline to enforce the severability requirements of this section on the ground that severance would rewrite the statute or involve the court in legislative or lawmaking activity. A court that declines to enforce or enjoins a state official from enforcing a statutory provision of this article does not rewrite a statute, as the statute continues to contain the same words as before the court's decision. Each of the following is true about a judicial injunction or declaration of unconstitutionality of a provision of this article:
 - (a) It is nothing more than an edict prohibiting enforcement that may subsequently be vacated by a later court if that court has a different understanding of the requirements of the state constitution or the United States Constitution.
 - (b) It is not a formal amendment of the language in a statute.
 - (c) It no more rewrites a statute than a decision by the executive not to enforce a duly-enacted statute in a limited and defined set of circumstances.
- 30 § 2. Paragraph (b) of subdivision 2 of section 898-n of the general business law, as added by section one of this act, is amended to read as 31 32
 - (b) Statutory damages in an appropriate amount [of not less than ten thousand dollars for each machine-gun, assault weapon, disguised gun, ghost gun, or unfinished frame or receiver as to which the defendant violated section eight hundred ninety-eight-k of this article, and for each machine-gun, assault weapon, disguised gun, ghost gun, or unfinished frame or receiver as to which the defendant aided or abetted a violation of section eight hundred ninety-eight-k of this article] to be determined by the court for each violation of this article. In making that determination, the court shall consider factors that include, but are not limited to, the number of machine-guns, assault weapons, disquised quns, ghost quns, or unfinished frames or receivers involved in the defendant's violation of this article, the duration of the prohibited conduct, whether the defendant has previously violated this article or any other federal, state, or local law concerning the regulation of firearms, and any other factors tending to increase the risk to the public, such as proximity of the violations to sensitive places.
 - § 3. The civil practice law and rules is amended by adding a new section 8111 to read as follows:
- 8 8111. Costs in certain actions related to firearms. (a) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, any person, including an entity, attorney, or law firm, who seeks declaratory or injunctive relief to prevent the state, a political subdivision, a governmental entity or public official in the state, or a person in the 55 56 state from enforcing any statute, ordinance, rule, regulation, or any other type of law that regulates or restricts firearms as defined in section 265.00 of the penal law, in any state or federal court, or that represents any litigant seeking that relief in any state or federal court, is jointly and severally liable to pay the attorney's fees and costs of the prevailing party.

- (b) For purposes of this section, a party is considered a prevailing party if a state or federal court does either of the following:
- (1) Dismisses any claim or cause of action brought by the party seeking the declaratory or injunctive relief described by subdivision (a) of this section, regardless of the reason for the dismissal.
- 11 (2) Enters judgment in the party's favor on any claim or cause of 12 action.
 - (c) Regardless of whether a prevailing party sought to recover attorney's fees or costs in the underlying action, a prevailing party under this section may bring a civil action to recover attorney's fees and costs against a person, including an entity, attorney, or law firm, that sought declaratory or injunctive relief described by subdivision (a) of this section not later than the third anniversary of the date on which, as applicable:
 - (1) The dismissal or judgment described by subdivision (b) of this section becomes final upon the conclusion of appellate review; or
 - (2) The time for seeking appellate review expires.
 - (d) None of the following are a defense to an action brought under subdivision (c) of this section:
 - (1) A prevailing party under this section failed to seek recovery of attorney's fees or costs in the underlying action.
 - (2) The court in the underlying action declined to recognize or enforce the requirements of this section.
 - (3) The court in the underlying action held that any provision of this section is invalid, unconstitutional, or preempted by federal law, notwithstanding the doctrines of issue or claim preclusion.
 - (e) Any person, including an entity, attorney, or law firm, who seeks declaratory or injunctive relief as described in subdivision (a) of this section, shall not be deemed a prevailing party under this section or any other provision of this chapter.
 - (f) As used in this section the term "firearm" shall mean a device, designed to be used as a weapon, from which is expelled through a barrel, a projectile by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion.
 - § 4. 1. A statute that regulates or prohibits firearms shall not be construed to repeal any other statute that regulates or prohibits firearms, either wholly or partly, unless the later-enacted statute explicitly states that it is repealing the other statute.
 - 2. A statute shall not be construed to restrict a political subdivision from regulating or prohibiting firearms in a manner that is at least as stringent as the laws of this state, unless the statute explicitly states that political subdivisions are prohibited from regulating or prohibiting firearms in the manner described by the statute.
- 3. Every statute that regulates or prohibits firearms is severable in each of its applications to every person and circumstance. If any statute that regulates or prohibits firearms is found by any court to be unconstitutional, either on its face or as applied, then all applications of that statute that do not violate the United States Constitution and the state constitution shall be severed from the unconstitutional applications and shall remain enforceable, notwithstanding any other law, and the statute shall be interpreted as if containing language limiting the statute's application to the persons, group of persons, or circumstances for which the statute's application will not violate the United States Constitution and the state constitution.

- 4. As used in this section the term "firearm" shall mean a device, designed to be used as a weapon, from which is expelled through a barrel, a projectile by the force of an explosion or other form of combustion.
- § 5. This act shall take effect on the thirtieth day after it shall 9 have become a law; provided, however, that section two of this act shall 10 take effect upon the final determination of a court of competent juris-11 diction that the provisions of paragraph (b) of subdivision 2 of section eight hundred ninety-eight-n of the general business law as added by section one of this act are invalid or unconstitutional; provided that 13 the attorney general shall notify the legislative bill drafting commis-15 sion upon the occurrence of such a final determination by a court in order that the commission may maintain an accurate and timely effective data base of the official text of the laws of the state of New York in furtherance of effectuating the provisions of section 44 of the legisla-18 tive law and section 70-b of the public officers law. 19
