(c) A medical or other public or private institution, school, facility or agency shall not take any retaliatory personnel action, as such term is defined in paragraph (e) of subdivision one of section seven hundred forty of the labor law, against an employee because such employee believes that he or she has reasonable cause to suspect that an individual is the victim of domestic violence and that employee therefore makes a report in accordance with this article at the request of the suspected victim. 3. The office for the prevention of domestic violence shall create a form for the reporting of suspected domestic violence cases described in subdivision one of this section. Such form shall be provided by a person that files a report of suspected domestic violence cases to the suspected victim of domestic violence, and shall be made available on the office for the prevention of domestic violence website. Such form shall include, but not be limited to, a description of the circumstances leading to the suspected case of domestic violence, the alleged perpetrator of domestic violence and the date of the suspected incident. 5. For purposes of this section "domestic violence support information" shall include, but not be limited to, materials discussing options that a survivor of domestic violence has in order to protect him or herself at any given time, and the resources that a primary domestic violence agency provides in the county. Such material shall be updated by the primary domestic violence agency in the county every two years.

6. The suspected domestic violence victim shall have the right to refuse domestic violence support information at any time.

§ 3. This act shall take effect on the thirtieth day after it shall have become a law.
