volatile oil or other flavoring principle has been removed and includes additional dried plants used as spices such as dehydrated onion and garlic, as well as other dehydrated vegetables used as seasoning. Spices shall be further defined by the following types:

- (a) "Fruit and berry spices" shall mean spices derived from the flesh of a fruit or berry of a plant and include but are not limited to: (i) capsicums, which include, but are not limited to, chili and paprika; (ii) peppercorns, which include, but are not limited to, white, pink, black, green or other varieties; and (iii) allspice;
- 10 (b) "Root and rhizome spices" shall mean spices derived from material
 11 forming the roots, bulbs or rhizomes of a plant and include, but are not 12 limited to, turmeric, ginger, onion and garlic;
 - (c) "Bark spices" shall mean spices derived from the hard outer covering of a tree or bush and include, but are not limited to, cinnamon;
 - (d) "Bud spices" shall mean spices derived from the buds of plants and include, but are not limited to, cloves;
 - (e) "Leaf spices or herbs" shall mean spices derived from the dried leaves or needles of perennial, biennial, or annual plants and include, but are not limited to, sage, rosemary, thyme, oregano, bay leaves and basil;
 - (f) "Flower pistil spices" shall mean spices derived from the pistil of a flower and include, but are not limited to, saffron; and
 - (g) "Seed and aril spices" shall mean spices derived from the seeds or a hard outer covering or aril around a seed and include, but are not limited to, cumin, mustard, celery, fennel, anise, nutmeg and mace.
 - § 389-v. Restrictions on the retail sale of spices. 1. No retailer shall offer for sale at retail a spice which exceeds the maximum limits for lead set forth below.
- 2. The presence of any lead in any spice offered for sale at retail
 30 shall not exceed 0.60 parts per million (ppm) for fruit and berry spic4 es, 1.5 ppm for root and rhizome spices, 2 ppm for bark spices, 1 ppm
 4 for bud spices, leaf spices and flower pistil spices, and 0.9 ppm for 4 seed and aril spices.
- 34 3. The department shall be authorized to utilize its enforcement 35 authority to recall spices that exceed the levels set forth in subdivi36 sion two of this section.
- 37 § 389-w. Enforcement. Whenever there shall be a violation of subdivision two of section three hundred eighty-nine-v of this article an 38 39 application may be made by the attorney general in the name of the people of the state of New York to a court or justice having jurisdic-40 tion by a special proceeding to issue an injunction, and upon notice to 41 42 the defendant of not less than five days, to enjoin and restrain the 43 continuance of such violation; and if it shall appear to the satisfac-44 tion of the court or justice that the defendant has, in fact, violated 45 subdivision two of section three hundred eighty-nine-v of this article, 46 an injunction may be issued by the court or justice, enjoining and 47 restraining any further violations, without requiring proof that any 48 person has, in fact, been injured or damaged thereby. In any such proceeding, the court may make allowances to the attorney general as 49 provided in paragraph six of subdivision (a) of section eighty-three 50 hundred three of the civil practice law and rules, and direct restitu-51 52 tion. Whenever the court shall determine that a violation of subdivision two of section three hundred eighty-nine-v of this article has occurred, 53 the court may impose a civil penalty of not more than five hundred 54 dollars for each violation. Each retail sale of a spice contaminated 55 with lead in excess of the maximum limits shall constitute a separate 56 violation. In connection with any such proposed application, the attorney general is authorized to take proof and make a determination of the relevant facts and to issue subpoenas in accordance with the civil practice law and rules.

§ 389-x. Preemption and severability. 1. In the event that the federal government whether by statute or regulation has established a maximum limit of lead in spices sold at retail, such limit shall supersede the provisions of this article and shall apply on and after the effective date of such change. Provided, however, that unless and until such adoption, the maximum limit established in this article shall govern, and any provision of any local law, ordinance or any rule or regulation promulgated by the department shall upon the effective date of this section be preempted. Nothing in this section shall be construed to restrict a municipality from enforcing the provisions of this subdivision as it relates to inspection or monitoring of food safety as required by the commissioner or the department.

- 2. If any provision of this article or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held unconstitutional, such invalidity shall not affect other provisions or applications of this section which can be given effect without the invalid provision or application, and to this end the provisions of this section are severable.
- § 2. This act shall take effect one year after it shall have become a law. Effective immediately, the addition, amendment and/or repeal of any rule or regulation necessary for the implementation of this act on its effective date are authorized to be made and completed on or before such effective date.
