3. (a) The disability indicator shall be a small, discreet symbol such as a butterfly, or other symbol designated by the commissioner, that does not disclose the specific nature of the disability.

(c) Information related to the disability shall be subject to privacy protections under state and federal law, and shall not be disclosed except as authorized by the applicant.

4. The commissioner, in consultation with the office for people with developmental disabilities and the department of health, shall develop and disseminate educational materials for law enforcement, emergency responders, and the public regarding the purpose and use of the disability indicator.

5. No additional fee shall be charged for the inclusion of the voluntary disability indicator.

§ 2. This act shall take effect on the ninetieth day after it shall have become a law.
