[~~2.~~] 3. Tenants' groups, committees or other tenants' organizations shall have the right to meet without being required to pay a fee in any location on the premises including a community or social room where use is normally subject to a fee which is devoted to the common use of all tenants in a peaceful manner, at reasonable hours and without obstructing access to the premises or facilities. No landlord shall deny such right.

4. Tenants' groups, committees or other tenants' organizations shall have the right to invite outside guests or visitors, including but not limited to elected officials, service providers, and housing lawyers, to their regular meetings without being required to pay a fee in any location on the premises including a community or social room where use is normally subject to a fee which is devoted to the common use of all tenants in a peaceful manner, at reasonable hours and without obstructing access to the premises or facilities. No landlord shall deny such right.

5. No landlord or an agent of a landlord shall prohibit or interfere with a tenant of a rental unit in a building, or a guest invited by a tenant, from engaging in lawful organizing activities.

6. Tenants in a building may establish a bona fide tenants' organization pursuant to this section by providing their landlord with a petition signed by tenants representing occupied units within a building or property certifying that such tenants desire to form a tenants' organization. A copy of such petition may also be filed with the clerk of the governing municipality.

7. Landlords and tenants' organizations shall confer with each other in good faith regarding housing conditions, community life, landlord-tenant relations, and other issues of common interest or concern. Examples of conferring in good faith may include maintaining a designated point of contact, engaging in regular communications, responding to reasonable requests for information, allowing participation by non-resident advocates, and negotiating and putting agreements into writing. In addition, a landlord shall, on written request of a tenants' organization, attend either themselves or through their representative at least one tenants' organization meeting every six months, although more frequent attendance at the request of the tenants' organization shall be permitted. Such meetings shall occur at a mutually convenient time and place. To request that a landlord or their representative attend a meeting, the tenants' organization shall send the landlord a written request at least fourteen days in advance. Alternatively, if a tenants' organization meets at a regularly scheduled time and place, then such tenants' organization may send the landlord a single standing request to attend meetings for the duration of the calendar year.

§ 3. This act shall take effect immediately.
