AN ACT to amend the general business law, in relation to promoting consumer choice by requiring manufacturers of digital electronic equipment to provide retail sellers with a one through ten repair score that will be displayed to consumers at point of sale

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. This act shall be known and may be cited as "The Electronics Repair Scores Act".

§ 2. Subdivision 1 of section 399-nn of the general business law is amended by adding two new paragraphs (s) and (t) to read as follows:

(s) "Repair score" or "score" means a one through ten score calculated by the manufacturer based on the repair scoring criteria developed by the attorney general.

(t) "Detailed score" means the information regarding the calculation and meaning of the repair score as defined by the scoring criteria developed by the attorney general.

§ 3. Subdivision 2 of section 399-nn of the general business law, as amended by chapter 48 of the laws of 2023, is amended to read as follows:

2. Requirements. (a) An original equipment manufacturer shall make available to any independent repair provider and owner of digital electronic equipment manufactured by or on behalf of or sold by such original equipment manufacturer, on fair and reasonable terms, any documentation, parts, and tools required for the diagnosis, maintenance, or repair of such digital electronic equipment and parts that are manufactured for the first time, and first sold or used in New York on or after July first, two thousand twenty-three. Such documentation, parts, and tools shall be made available either directly by an original equipment manufacturer or via an authorized repair provider. An original equipment manufacturer who, in the regular course of business, offers to an owner the services of diagnosis, maintenance or repair of its own digital electronic equipment, and who does not have an arrangement described in paragraph (a) of subdivision one of this section with an unaffiliated individual or business, shall be considered an authorized repair provider with respect to such equipment.

(b) (i) For digital electronic equipment that is sold or used in this state, an original equipment manufacturer shall make available to any retail sellers and the attorney general the repair score and detailed score for such digital electronic equipment, inclusive of any updates to information.

(ii) Original equipment manufacturers shall print the repair score and detailed score on packaging of such digital electronic equipment, the score shall include the logo representation of the score as developed by the attorney general.

(iii) Original equipment manufacturers shall clearly display repair scores for such products on their website product listing pages, as well as make publicly available detailed scores to all potential purchasers on each product listing page.

(iv) Scoring criteria will be determined by the attorney general, which shall periodically update such criteria, and a logo representation of scores. Scoring criteria shall apply only to digital electronic equipment manufactured for the first time, and first sold or used in New York on or after one year from the effective date of this paragraph, and which are already subject to widely accepted repairability index standards in other jurisdictions, including international standards. Scoring criteria may include, but is not limited to: the free and public availability of technical documents regarding repair and maintenance of the product; ease of disassembly of the product; availability of tools for repair and maintenance of the product; availability of spare parts for the product; length of software support by the manufacturer of the product; the repair options available for the equipment; and other criteria considered by widely accepted repairability index standards in other jurisdictions. The attorney general shall make every effort to incorporate the standards from existing repairability index standards implemented in the U.S. and internationally, to avoid duplicative or inconsistent regulatory standards, unless there are compelling reasons to adopt new or differing standards.

§ 4. This act shall take effect one year after it shall have become a law.
