(g) When making prospective, concurrent and retrospective determinations, utilization review agents shall collect only such information as is necessary to make such determination and shall not routinely require health care providers to numerically code diagnoses or procedures to be considered for certification or routinely request copies of medical records of all patients reviewed. During prospective or concurrent review, copies of medical records shall only be required when necessary to verify that the health care services subject to such review are medically necessary. In such cases, only the necessary or relevant sections of the medical record shall be required. A utilization review agent may request copies of partial or complete medical records retrospectively. Medical records requested by utilization review agents for purposes of this subsection shall be provided electronically by participating hospitals pursuant to subdivision fifteen of section twenty-eight hundred three of the public health law.

§ 4. Section 4406-c of the public health law is amended by adding a new subdivision 14 to read as follows:

14. A contract between a health care plan and a hospital shall include a provision that provides for medical records requested by the health care plan or its utilization review agent to be made available electronically by the hospital in accordance with subdivision fifteen of section twenty-eight hundred three of this chapter, including direct access by the health care plan or its utilization review agent to retrieve such records to perform utilization review pursuant to title one of article forty-nine of this chapter.

§ 5. Section 2803 of the public health law is amended by adding a new subdivision 15 to read as follows:

15. (a) The commissioner shall require every general hospital subject to this article that participates in a health care plan's provider network to timely share electronic medical records with such health care plan or their utilization review agent for purposes of utilization review performed pursuant to article forty-nine of this chapter or article forty-nine of the insurance law. Such sharing and transmission of electronic medical records shall be set forth in the contract between the health care plan and the general hospital, in accordance with the requirements of this subdivision.

(b) Records disclosed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this subdivision shall:

(i) be used exclusively for individual claim care review, adjudication and to promote patient privacy and shall not be used for any auditing function or to detect any historical patterns of billing or abuse;

(ii) include the entire medical record and not exclude data which may limit access to admission, discharge, and treatment information; and

(iii) not be used by a health care plan to separately request additional information to support a coverage determination if the information is otherwise available in an electronic medical record.

(c) A health care plan using electronic medical records under this subdivision shall not seek information that they are not already permitted to receive. Health care plans shall prioritize the safeguarding of their enrollees' data, including their protected health information and personally identifiable information, and must implement interoperability protocols that ensure different billing systems promote access to records. To the extent feasible and necessary, health care plans shall also seek to be Health Information Trust Alliance (HITRUST) certified, which requires demonstrating and following global standards for data security and privacy compliance.
