the Committee on Rules

AN ACT to amend the family court act and the judiciary law, in relation to the establishment of a pilot program to provide alternative dispute resolution and navigator services in child support matters

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

1 Section 1. Section 425 of the family court act, as amended by chapter 2 81 of the laws of 2003, is amended to read as follows:

3 § 425. Agreement to support; pilot program for use of alternative
4 dispute resolution to obtain agreements to support. (a) If the parties
5 reach an agreement for the support of the child and/or the petitioner 6 [~~is brought about~~], it must be reduced to writing and submitted to the 7 family court or a support magistrate appointed pursuant to section four 8 hundred thirty-nine of this act for approval in accordance with para-9 graph (h) of subdivision one of section four hundred thirteen of this 10 article. If the court or support magistrate approves it, the court with-11 out further hearing may thereupon enter an order and findings of fact 12 for the support of the child and/or the petitioner [~~by~~] or the respond-13 ent in accordance with the agreement, which shall be binding upon the 14 [~~respondent~~] parties and shall in all respects be a valid order and 15 findings of fact as though made after process had been issued out of the 16 court. The court record shall show that such order [~~was~~] and findings 17 were made upon agreement.

18 (b) The chief administrator of the courts shall promulgate rules to 19 establish and implement a pilot program for the provision of alternative 20 dispute resolution and navigation services to litigants in child support 21 matters in the family court. The cost of the pilot program shall be paid 22 for with state funds appropriated for that purpose and may include

1 federal funds received by the state under title IV-D of the social secu-2 city act.

3 (i) The pilot program, which shall be conducted under the auspices of 4 the community dispute resolution center program pursuant to article 5 twenty-one-A of the judiciary law, shall be located in at least two 6 counties in a city with a population of one million or more, and in at 7 least one other county in the state, and shall be available at no charge 8 to parties in cases under this article. The program shall be equipped to 9 provide services that are culturally sensitive to, and in the native
10 language of, the litigants in the community.

11 (ii) At the parties' initial appearance before the court, pursuant to 12 section four hundred thirty-three or subdivision two of section four 13 hundred fifty-one of this article, in a participating county, the court 14 shall advise the parties of the availability of the dispute resolution 15 program and of their right to consult with counsel during the dispute 16 resolution process. Unless the case is deemed inappropriate for a refer-17 ral to the dispute resolution program after a review of records in 18 accordance with subdivision (e) of section six hundred fifty-one of this 19 act, the court shall, if the parties consent to participate, refer the 20 matter promptly to the program.

21 (iii) Prior to referring the parties to the program, the court shall 22 issue a preliminary order of child support pursuant to section four 23 hundred thirty-four of this article unless the petition is for a modifi-24 cation of an existing order of support pursuant to subdivision two of 25 section four hundred fifty-one of this article.

26 (iv) Prior to referral pursuant to paragraph (iii) of this subdivi-27 sion, the court shall also issue an order directing the parties to 28 provide financial disclosures in accordance with section four hundred 29 twenty-four-a of this part and to bring or transmit the required docu-30 ments to the program.

31 (v) The mediators, neutral evaluators or other facilitators shall 32 receive training in accordance with section eight hundred forty-nine-b 33 of the judiciary law, as well as in the legal requirements in child 34 support cases, including, but not limited to, the child support stand-35 ards act, possible deviations, requirements regarding medical insurance 36 and costs, educational and child care expenses, age of majority and 37 emancipation, shared and joint custody, grounds for modifications of 38 child support orders and the consequences of noncompliance with child 39 support orders. In order to resolve disputes involving complex finan-40 cial issues, the program may, if possible, include among its mediators, 41 neutral evaluators or other facilitators, individuals with accounting or 42 other financial qualifications and experience.

43 (vi) The program shall have the capacity to conduct proceedings elec-
44 tronically, where appropriate, as well as in person, for the convenience 45 of the participants and shall provide a secure means for participants to 46 submit and exchange relevant documents electronically.

47 (vii) If the parties reach an agreement, the program shall refer them 48 back to the family court in which their case is pending for the court to 49 allocute the parties and to approve the agreement in accordance with 50 subdivision (a) of this section and paragraph (h) of subdivision one of 51 section four hundred thirteen of this article. If the program deems the 52 referral inappropriate due to its own screening for domestic violence or 53 for other reasons, or if parties do not reach an agreement or reach only 54 a partial agreement, the program shall refer them back to the family 55 court in which their case is pending for the court to proceed with a 56 hearing under this article. In all cases, the program shall transmit to 1 the court all financial disclosure documents that have been provided in 2 accordance with section four hundred twenty-four-a of this part.

3 (viii) In addition to or in lieu of alternative dispute resolution,
4 including in cases in which an agreement is not reached, the program
5 shall provide navigation services to the participants, including but not 6 limited to information regarding family court procedures, the objection 7 process, child support enforcement services available through the local 8 department of social services, employment-related or job training 9 programs in the jurisdiction, and consequences of noncompliance with 10 child support orders. The program shall also provide assistance to liti-11 gants in preparation for the court appearance including, among other 12 services, in organizing and transmitting required financial disclosures.
13 Additionally, staff of the pilot program providing navigation services 14 may be located on-site at the family court in the pilot counties 15 selected pursuant to paragraph (i) of this subdivision in order to 16 provide assistance in arranging the initial referral appointments, 17 including ascertaining language access or other needs, and in explaining 18 what documents are required to be brought or transmitted to the program.

19 § 2. Subdivision 1 and paragraph (d) of subdivision 4 of section 849-b 20 of the judiciary law, as added by chapter 847 of the laws of 1981, are 21 amended to read as follows:

22 1. There is hereby established the community dispute resolution center 23 program, to be administered and supervised under the direction of the 24 chief administrator of the courts, to provide funds pursuant to this 25 article for the establishment and continuance of dispute resolution 26 centers on the basis of need in neighborhoods, and to provide funds for 27 the establishment and implementation of a pilot program in accordance 28 with subdivision (b) of section four hundred twenty-five of the family 29 court act.

30 (d) it provides that during or at the conclusion of the dispute resol-31 ution process there shall be a written agreement or decision setting 32 forth the settlement of the issues and future responsibilities of each 33 party and that such agreement or decision shall be available to a court 34 which has adjourned a pending action pursuant to section 170.55 of the 35 criminal procedure law or, in the case of written agreements reached 36 pursuant to the pilot program established pursuant to subdivision (b) of 37 section four hundred twenty-five of the family court act, that such 38 agreement shall be submitted to the family court for approval in accord-39 ance with such section;

40 § 3. Subdivision 2 of section 849-d of the judiciary law, as amended 41 by chapter 451 of the laws of 2006, is amended to read as follows:

42 2. ~~The~~ Except as provided in section four hundred twenty-five of the 43 family court act, the state share of the cost of any center approved 44 under this section shall include a basic grant of up to forty thousand 45 dollars for each county served by the center and may include an addi-46 tional amount not exceeding fifty per centum of the difference between 47 the approved estimated cost of the program and the basic grant.

48 § 4. This act shall take effect on the two hundred seventieth day
49 after it shall have become a law. Effective immediately, the chief 50 administrator of the courts is authorized to promulgate any rules and/or 51 protocols necessary for implementation of the provisions of this act on 52 or before such effective date.
