Section 1. The section heading of section 57 of the multiple dwelling law is amended and a new subdivision 3 is added to read as follows:

Bells; mail receptacles; packages.

3. (a) In cities with a population of one million or more, whenever the owner of a multiple dwelling with fifty or more units has not arranged for packages to be delivered to occupants thereof by such owner, or such owner's agent or employees, such owner shall designate a secure space within the building for packages to be delivered to. Such space may be a package room, management office, closet, or other similarly designated space, and such space shall be:

(i) locked;

(ii) accessible only to staff, residents or delivery people with a key;

(iii) monitored by a camera or other surveillance device; and

(iv) a space other than the building vestibule or lobby.

(b) The creation of such package room shall not result in any increased cost to the tenant. If no such space is available in the building, then building staff are required to deliver packages to the doorways of the residents to which they are addressed.
