the Committee on Crime Victims, Crime and Correction

AN ACT to amend the executive law, in relation to the time in which reconsideration for parole shall be determined in the case of convictions for murder in the first degree, aggravated murder, and murder in the second degree, where a sentence other than death or life imprisonment without parole is imposed

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

1 Section 1. This act shall be known and may be cited as "Lorraine's 2 Law".
3 § 2. Legislative findings and intent. This legislation is named in the 4 memory of Lorraine Miranda who was a native of Shirley, Long Island.
5 Despite being afflicted with Cerebral Palsy, she graduated from high 6 school, moved to Staten Island, New York and worked tirelessly to help
7 disabled children at the Port Richmond branch of United Cerebral Palsy 8 of New York while attending college at night. She was engaged and was 9 planning her wedding. In a tragic turn, Lorraine Miranda was brutally 10 murdered by her fiancée on December 5, 1988. She was only 24 years old.
11 Her killer was sentenced to 15 years to life in prison. He became eligi-12 ble for parole in 2003 and has since been denied seven times.
13 Currently when parole is denied, the Parole Board has the discretion 14 to set the date for reconsideration for parole for any date within two 15 years of the denial of parole. In many cases, especially those involving 16 heinous acts of murder in the first degree, aggravated murder, and 17 murder in the second degree, parole will be denied numerous times.
18 However, each time an inmate is considered for parole, the victim's 19 family must relive the horror of the crime for the sake of impressing 20 upon the Parole Board the inappropriateness of early release. Lorraine

[-] is old law to be omitted.

1 Miranda's mother, who has been diagnosed with post-traumatic stress
2 syndrome, has stated that the agony of reliving her daughter's death
3 every 24 months is unbearable and is a major trigger of panic symptoms 4 which interfere with her quality of life.

5 It is not the intent of "Lorraine's Law" to in any way infringe upon 6 the Parole Board's ability to allow for the current 24-month reconsider-7 ation period. It merely provides another option for the board to consid-
8 er if it is apparent that nothing could transpire in the next five years
9 that would cause them to render a different opinion regarding parole 10 release. Only in these cases would the board have the ability to set the 11 date for reconsideration anywhere between 24-months and 60-months which 12 would afford grieving families a greater period of peace before having 13 to testify at the next parole hearing.

14 § 3. Subparagraph (i) of paragraph (a) of subdivision 2 of section 15 259-i of the executive law, as amended by section 14 of chapter 486 of 16 the laws of 2022, is amended to read as follows:

20 law, a member or members as determined by the rules of the board shall

25 the incarcerated individual shall be informed in writing within two 26 weeks of such appearance of the factors and reasons for such denial of 27 parole. Such reasons shall be given in detail and not in conclusory
