§ 396-b. Acceptance of United States currency. No savings and loan association shall impose a fee, commission or service charge for accepting for deposit or exchanging for other United States currency any United States currency provided that any coins are properly rolled and have the customer's account number for that savings and loan association displayed on the coin roll, provided further that no more than ten rolls of coins in any denomination are presented for deposit or exchange at any one time.