§ 701. Construction. The provisions of this chapter shall be construed as a continuation of the provisions of chapter ten of the laws of nineteen hundred nine, as amended, modified or amended according to the language employed, and not as a new enactment.