§ 75-e. Consumer safety information. Upon the original issuance or reissuance of an automated teller machine facility access device, the issuing banking institution shall provide its customers with written information concerning safety precautions to be employed while using an automated teller machine facility. Such written information shall include, at a minimum, the information described in paragraph (d) of subdivision three of section seventy-five-c of this article.