§ 1509. Contempt; extension of court's process. In an instance where a contempt of the court has been committed, the court's process or mandate relating to the punishment of the contemptuous person may be served and executed in any part of the state, and proceedings thereon shall follow supreme court practice.