§ 21. Compromise of canal claims. No claims brought against the state on account of the canal shall be settled or compromised for any amount without the written consent thereto by the commissioner of transportation or his duly authorized representative.