§ 5702. Appeals to appellate division from other courts of original instance. An appeal may be taken to the appellate division from any judgment or order of a court of original instance other than the supreme court or a county court in accordance with the statute governing practice in such court.