§ 690. Application. The provisions of this article shall apply to all employment agencies, under the authority of this chapter and as defined in section one hundred seventy-one of the general business law, which arrange employment for domestic or household employees.