§ 156-b. Notice of expiration of application. Whenever the regulations of an authority provide that an application for public housing expires after a period of time, the applicant shall be notified in writing by the authority of the date of expiration of such application.