§ 3030. Advanced life support services. Advanced life support services provided by an advanced emergency medical technician, shall be (1) provided under the direction of qualified medical and health personnel utilizing patient information and data transmitted by voice or telemetry, (2) limited to the category or categories in which the advanced emergency medical technician is certified pursuant to this article, and (3) recorded for each patient, on an individual treatment-management record.