§ 1201. Applicability. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, the provisions of this article shall be applicable to all employees in the retirement system who first joined such system on or after January first, two thousand ten.