§ 415. Application of provisions of article two of the retirement and social security law. All the powers and duties conferred or imposed upon the comptroller by article two of this chapter, which are necessary for the administration of this article and not inconsistent with this article, are to that extent made applicable to this article even though such provisions are not expressly made applicable to this article by the provisions of this article.