(7) Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable pursuant to this section shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless:

a. The amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law or regulation shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of financial services of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding; or

b. At the option of the petitioner such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interests and penalties stated in such determination plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

(8) Where any tax imposed pursuant to this section shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(9) Except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

thereby to be allocated at the discretion of the county legislature of the county of Essex for the purposes of tourism promotion and development and economic development which supports tourism promotion and development, provided, however, that the county shall be authorized to retain up to a maximum of five percent of such revenue to defer the necessary expenses of the county in administering such tax. The revenue derived from the tax, after deducting the amount provided for administering such tax, as so authorized by local law, shall be allocated exclusively to the promotion and development of tourism and economic development which supports tourism promotion and development of Essex county, its cities, towns and villages, and other directly related and supporting activities, and shall not be used for any other purpose. In soliciting contracts for services and in the expenditure of monies under this law, the county of Essex shall follow all applicable federal, state and county procurement laws, policies, rules and procedures.

(11) If any provision of this section or the application thereof to any person or circumstance shall be held invalid, the remainder of this section and the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

 § 1202-t. Hotel or motel taxes in Niagara county. (1) a.

Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the county of Niagara is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such county a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying hotel or motel rooms in such county. For the purposes of this section, the term "hotel" or "motel" shall mean and include any facility providing lodging on an overnight basis and shall include those facilities designated and commonly known as "bed and breakfast", inns and tourist homes.

b. (i) The rates of such tax shall not exceed five percent of the per diem rental rate for each room, provided however, that such tax shall not be applicable to a permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section the term "permanent resident" shall mean a person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least thirty consecutive days. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, any city in the county of Niagara imposing hotel or motel taxes pursuant to the authority of this subpart shall have the prior right to impose such taxes in such city, up to the maximum rate of tax authorized for such city in this subpart; and the rate of tax authorized to be imposed by the county pursuant to the authority of this section in any such city imposing such a tax shall be reduced by the rate of such city's tax.

(ii) Provided further that, any such city tax, to the extent that it would require a reduction in the county's tax rate imposed pursuant to this section in such city, shall not become effective before the commencement of the county's next succeeding fiscal year and then only if the city shall have given notice to such county of its imposition of such tax at least six months prior to the commencement of such fiscal year, provided, however, that the local legislative body of such county may waive the requirement of such notice and postponement of the effective date of such city tax.

(2) Such tax may be collected and administered by the county treasurer or other fiscal officers of Niagara county by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officers or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any tax imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the hotel or motel room occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge for the hotel or motel room occupied for and on account of the county of Niagara imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the hotel or motel room, or in respect to non-payment of the tax by the person occupying the hotel or motel room, as if the tax were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the county treasurer or other fiscal officers of the county, specified in such local law, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the tax on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any transaction, by or with any of the following in accordance with section twelve hundred thirty of this article:

a. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation;

c. Any corporation or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph.

(6) Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable hereunder shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless:

a. The amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law or regulation shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of financial services of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding; or

b. At the option of the petitioner such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interests and penalties stated in such determination plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

(7) Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(9) All revenues resulting from the imposition of the tax under the local law shall be paid into the treasury of Niagara county and shall be credited to and deposited as follows: (a) the first four percentum (4%)

shall be deposited in the general fund of the county thereafter to be allocated and paid to a not-for-profit corporation under contract with the county for the promotion of tourism in the county; and (b) the additional one percentum (1%) of such revenue from this tax shall be dedicated to the operation of the Discover Niagara shuttle. Provided, however, that such local law shall provide that the county shall be authorized to retain up to a maximum of five percent of such revenue to defer the necessary expenses of the county in administering such tax.

(10) Each enactment of a local law may provide for the imposition of a hotel or motel tax for a period of time no longer than three years from the date of its enactment. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the adoption and enactment of local laws, pursuant to the provisions of this section, upon the expiration of any other local law adopted pursuant to this section.

 § 1202-t. Hotel or motel taxes in Ontario county. (1)

Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the county of Ontario is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such county a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article, such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying hotel or motel rooms in such county. For the purposes of this section, the term "hotel" or "motel" shall mean and include any facility providing lodging on an overnight basis, and shall include those facilities designated and commonly known as "bed and breakfast" and "tourist" facilities. Such tax shall not be applicable to a facility having three rentable units or less.

The rates of such tax shall not exceed three percent of the per diem rental rate for each room, provided however, that such tax shall not be applicable to a permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section the term "permanent resident" shall mean a person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least thirty consecutive days.

(2) Such tax may be collected and administered by the county treasurer or other fiscal officers of Ontario county by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officers or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any tax imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the hotel or motel room occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge for the hotel or motel room occupied for and on account of the county of Ontario imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the hotel or motel room, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the hotel or motel room, as if the tax were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the county treasurer or other fiscal officers of the county, specified in such local law, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the tax on a quarterly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any transaction, by or with any of the following in accordance with section twelve hundred thirty of this article.

a. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation;

c. Any corporation or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph.

b. At the option of the petitioner such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interests and penalties stated in such determination plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

(7) Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a willfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(9) All revenues resulting from the imposition of the tax under the local laws shall be paid into the treasury of Ontario county and shall be credited to and deposited in the general fund of such county and shall be available thereafter for the promotion of tourism and tourist attractions in Ontario county and that not more than five percent of such revenue shall be used for the cost of administering such tax. Such promotion may be carried out by an appropriate organization or organizations as designated by the Ontario county board of supervisors.

(10) Each enactment of a local law may provide for the imposition of a hotel or motel tax for a period of time no longer than three years from the date of its enactment. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the adoption and enactment of local laws, pursuant to the provisions of this section, upon the expiration of any other local law adopted pursuant to this section.

 § 1202-u. Hotel or motel taxes in Allegany county. (1)

Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the county of Allegany is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such county a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying hotel or motel rooms in such county. For the purposes of this section, the term "hotel" or "motel" shall mean and include any facility providing lodging on an overnight basis and shall include those facilities designated and commonly known as "bed and breakfast" and "tourist" facilities.

The rates of such tax shall not exceed four percent of the per diem rental rate for each room, provided however, that such tax shall not be applicable to a permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section the term "permanent resident" shall mean a person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least thirty consecutive days.

(2) Such tax may be collected and administered by the county treasurer or other fiscal officers of Allegany county by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officers or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any tax imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the hotel or motel room occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge for the hotel or motel room occupied for and on account of the county of Allegany imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the hotel or motel room, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the hotel or motel room, as if the tax were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the county treasurer or other fiscal officers of the county, specified in such local law, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the tax on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any transaction, by or with any of the following in accordance with section twelve hundred thirty of this chapter:

a. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation;

c. (6) Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable hereunder shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless:

b. At the option of the petitioner such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interests and penalties stated in such determination plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

(7) Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(9) All revenues resulting from the imposition of the tax under the local laws shall be paid into the treasury of Allegany county and shall be credited to and deposited in the general fund of the county; provided, however, that such local laws shall provide that the county shall be authorized to retain up to a maximum of ten percent of such revenue to defer the necessary expenses of the county in administering such tax. The revenue derived from the tax, after deducting the amount provided for administering such tax, as so authorized by local law, shall be allocated to enhance the general economy of Allegany county, its cities, towns and villages.

(10) If any provision of this section or the application thereof to any person or circumstance shall be held invalid, the remainder of this section and the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

 § 1202-u. Hotel or motel taxes in Orleans county. (1) a.
Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the county of Orleans is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such county a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article, such as the county legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying hotel or motel rooms in such county. For the purposes of this section, the term "hotel" or "motel" shall mean and include any facility providing lodging on an overnight basis and shall include those facilities designated and commonly known as "bed and breakfast", inns and tourist homes.

b. The rates of such tax shall not exceed four percent of the per diem rental rate for each room, provided however, that such tax shall not be applicable to a permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section the term "permanent resident" shall mean a person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least thirty consecutive days.

(2) Such tax may be collected and administered by the county treasurer or other fiscal officers of Orleans county by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are otherwise collected and administered by such officers or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any tax imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the hotel or motel room occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge for the hotel or motel room occupied for and on account of the county of Orleans imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the hotel or motel room, or in respect to non-payment of the tax by the person occupying the hotel or motel room, as if the tax were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the county treasurer or other fiscal officers of the county, specified in such local law, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment to the tax on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any transaction, by or with any of the following in accordance with section twelve hundred thirty of this article:

a. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation;

c. Any corporation or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph.

(6) Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable pursuant to this section shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless:

surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of financial services of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding; or

(7) Where any tax imposed pursuant to this section shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(9) All revenues resulting from the imposition of the tax under the local law shall be paid into the treasury of Orleans county and shall be credited to and deposited in the general fund of the county. Provided, however, that such local law shall provide that the county shall be authorized to retain up to a maximum of five percent of such revenue to defer the necessary expenses of the county in administering such tax.

(10) Each enactment of a local law may provide for the imposition of a hotel or motel tax for a period of time no longer than three years from the date of its enactment. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the adoption and enactment of local laws, pursuant to the provisions of this section, upon the expiration of any other local law adopted pursuant to this section.

 § 1202-u. Hotel and motel taxes in Cattaraugus county. (1)

Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the county of Cattaraugus is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such county a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article, such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying hotel or motel rooms in such county. For the purposes of this section, the term "hotel" or "motel" shall mean and include any facility providing lodging on an overnight basis and shall include those facilities designated and commonly known as "bed and breakfast", inns, cabins, condominiums, cottages, campgrounds, lodges, tourist homes and convention centers. For the purpose of this section, the term "condominium" shall mean and include those units rented or leased directly by the owner or through a real estate agency or rental management agency. The provisions of this section relating to campgrounds, shall only apply to those leases and rentals in which the campground provides overnight shelter or lodging, and shall not apply to the provision of services by a campground when the customer provides his or her own shelter or lodging.

The rates of such tax shall not exceed five percent of the per diem rental rate for each room, provided, however, that such tax shall not be applicable to a permanent resident of such hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section the term "permanent resident" shall mean a person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least sixty consecutive days.

(2) Such tax may be collected and administered by the county treasurer or other fiscal officers of Cattaraugus county by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officers or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any tax imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the hotel or motel room occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge for the hotel or motel room occupied for and on account of the county of Cattaraugus imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the hotel or motel room, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the hotel or motel room, as if the tax were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the county treasurer or other fiscal officers of the county, specified in such local law, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the tax on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any transaction, by or with any of the following in accordance with section twelve hundred thirty of this article:

a. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation;

c. Any corporation or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph.

b. At the option of the petitioner such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interest and penalties stated in such determination plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

(7) Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(10) Each enactment of such a local law may provide for the imposition of a hotel or motel tax for a period of time no longer than three years from the date of its enactment. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the adoption and enactment of local laws, pursuant to the provisions of this section, upon the expiration of any other local law adopted pursuant to this section.

(11) If any provision of this act or the application thereof to any person or circumstance shall be held invalid, the remainder of this act and the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the city of Olean, Cattaraugus county, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such city a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying hotel or motel rooms in such city. For the purposes of this section, the term "hotel" or "motel" shall mean and include any facility providing lodging on an overnight basis and shall include those facilities designated and commonly known as "bed and breakfast" and "tourist" facilities.

b. The rates of such tax shall not exceed five percent of the per diem rental rate for each room, provided however, that such tax shall not be applicable to a permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section the term "permanent resident" shall mean a person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least thirty consecutive days.

(2) Such tax may be collected and administered by the chief fiscal officer of the city of Olean by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officer or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the hotel or motel room, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the hotel or motel room, as if the tax were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the chief fiscal officer of the city, specified in such local law, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the tax on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any transaction, by or with any of the following in accordance with section twelve hundred thirty of this article:

a. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation;

c. Any corporation or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph.

unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless:

a. The amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law or regulation shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of financial services of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding; or

b. At the option of the petitioner such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interests and penalties stated in such determination plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

(7) Where any tax imposed pursuant to this section shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(9) All revenues resulting from the imposition of the tax under the local laws shall be paid into the treasury of the city of Olean and shall be credited to and deposited in the general fund of the city. The city shall be authorized to retain the necessary revenue, in an amount not to exceed four percent of the total revenue, to defer the expense of the city in administering such tax and the balance of such revenues shall be allocated to community and economic development, planning and tourism.

(11) Each enactment of such local law may provide for the imposition of a hotel or motel tax for a period of time no longer than three years from the effective date of its enactment. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the adoption and enactment of local laws, pursuant to the provisions of this section, upon the expiration of any other local law adopted pursuant to this section.

(1) a. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the village of Ellicottville, Cattaraugus county, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such village a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying hotel or motel rooms in such village. For the purposes of this section, the term "hotel" or "motel" shall mean and include any facility providing lodging on an overnight basis and shall include those facilities designated and commonly known as "bed and breakfast" and "tourist" facilities.

b. The rates of such tax shall not exceed five percent of the per diem rental rate for each room, provided however, that such tax shall not be applicable to a permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section, the term "permanent resident" shall mean a person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least thirty consecutive days.

(2) Such tax may be collected and administered by the chief fiscal officer of the village of Ellicottville by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officer or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any tax imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the hotel or motel room occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge for the hotel or motel room occupied for and on account of the village of Ellicottville imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the hotel or motel room, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the hotel or motel room, as if the tax were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the chief fiscal officer of the village, specified in such local law, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the tax on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

 § 1202-uuu. Hotel or motel taxes in the town of Minisink. (1) a. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the town of Minisink, in the county of Orange, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such town a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying hotel or motel rooms in such town. For the purposes of this section the term "hotel" or "motel" shall mean any facility or portion thereof where single rooms or suites of rooms are rented or hired out to be occupied or which are occupied by transient guests who are lodged overnight, with or without meals, for sleeping purposes for compensation, whether the compensation be paid directly or indirectly and shall include those facilities designated and commonly known as "bed and breakfast" and "tourist" facilities.

b. The rates of such tax shall not exceed five percent of the per diem rental rate for each room, provided however, that such tax shall not be applicable to a permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section the term "permanent resident" shall mean a person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least ninety consecutive days.

(2) Such tax may be collected and administered by the chief fiscal officer of the town of Minisink by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officer or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the hotel or motel room, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the hotel or motel room, as if the tax were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the chief fiscal officer of the town, specified in such local law, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the tax on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any transaction, by or with any of the following in accordance with section twelve hundred thirty of this article:

a. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation;

(6) Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable hereunder shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless:

a. The amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of financial services of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding; or

b. At the option of the petitioner such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interests and penalties stated in such determination plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

(7) Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a willfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(9) All revenues resulting from the imposition of the tax under the local laws shall be paid into the treasury of the town of Minisink and shall be credited to and deposited in the general fund of the town. Such revenues may be used to support municipal services, infrastructure, and other essential expenditures as determined by the town board.

c. Any corporation or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph.

(6) Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable pursuant to this section shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless:

a. The amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law or regulation shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of financial services of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding; or

precedent to the application.

(7) Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

§ 1202-w. Hotel or motel taxes in Wyoming county. (1) Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the county of Wyoming is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such county a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying hotel or motel rooms in such county. For the purposes of this section, the term "hotel" or "motel" shall mean and include any facility providing lodging on an overnight basis and shall include those facilities designated and commonly known as "bed and breakfast" and "tourist" facilities.

The rates of such tax shall not exceed three percent of the per diem rental rate for each room, provided however, that such tax shall not be applicable to a permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section the term "permanent resident" shall mean a person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least thirty consecutive days.

(2) Such tax may be collected and administered by the county treasurer or other fiscal officers of Wyoming county by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officers or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any tax imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the hotel or motel room occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge for the hotel or motel room occupied for and on account of the county of Wyoming imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the hotel or motel room, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the hotel or motel room, as if the tax were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the county treasurer or other fiscal officers of the county, specified in such local law, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the tax on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any transaction, by or with any of the following in accordance with section twelve hundred thirty of this article:

a. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation;

c. Any corporation or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph.

b. At the option of the petitioner such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interests and penalties stated in such determination plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

(7) Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(9) All revenues resulting from the imposition of the tax under the local laws shall be paid into the treasury of Wyoming county and shall be credited to and deposited in the general fund of the county; provided, however, that such local laws shall provide that the county shall be authorized to retain up to a maximum of ten percent of such revenue to defer the necessary expenses of the county in administering such tax. The revenue derived from the tax, after deducting the amount provided for administering such tax, as so authorized by local law, shall be allocated to enhance the general economy of Wyoming county, its cities, towns and villages.

section and the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

 § 1202-x. Occupancy tax in the city of Yonkers. (1) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the city of Yonkers, in the county of Westchester, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such city a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article, such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying any room for hire in any hotel. For the purposes of this section, the term "hotel" shall mean a building or portion of it which is regularly used and kept open as such for the lodging of guests. The term "hotel" includes an apartment hotel, a motel or a boarding house, whether or not meals are served. The rate of such tax shall not exceed five and seven-eighths percent of the per diem rental rate for each room whether such room is rented on a daily or longer basis.

(2) Such taxes may be collected and administered by the chief fiscal officer of the city of Yonkers by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officer or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any taxes imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel, or other similar place of public accommodation occupied for and on account of the city of Yonkers imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel, or similar place of public accommodation, as if the taxes were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided however, that the chief fiscal officer of the city, specified in such local laws, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the taxes on a monthly basis or on a basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any of the following:

a. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune for taxation; or

c. Any corporation or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or education purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph.

d. A permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section, the term "permanent resident" shall mean a natural person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least thirty consecutive days.

the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within thirty days after the giving of notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless:

a. The amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local laws or regulations shall be first deposited and there shall be filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of insurance of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding; or

b. At the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interests and penalties stated in such determination plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

(7) Where any taxes imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund therefor duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the taxes confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a willfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(10) Each enactment of such a local law may provide for the imposition of a hotel or motel tax for a period of time no longer than three years from the date of its enactment. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the adoption and enactment of local laws, pursuant to the provisions of this section, upon the expiration of any other local law adopted pursuant to this section.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the town of North Castle, in the county of Westchester, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such town a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article, such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying any room for hire in any hotel. For the purposes of this section, the term "hotel" shall mean a building or portion of it which is regularly used and kept open as such for the lodging of guests. The term "hotel" includes an apartment hotel, a motel or a boarding house, whether or not meals are served. The rate of such tax shall not exceed three percent of the per diem rental rate for each room whether such room is rented on a daily or longer basis.

(2) Such taxes may be collected and administered by the chief fiscal officer of the town of North Castle by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officer or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any taxes imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge for the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation occupied for and on account of the town of North Castle imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or similar place of public accommodation, as if the taxes were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the chief fiscal officer of the town, specified in such local laws, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the taxes on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any of the following:

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation; or

c. Any corporation or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph.

d. A permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section, the term "permanent resident" shall mean a natural person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least thirty consecutive days.

not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

(7) Where any taxes imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund therefor duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the taxes confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a willfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(9) All revenues resulting from the imposition of the tax under the local laws shall be paid into the treasury of the town of North Castle and shall be credited to and deposited in the general fund of the town. Such revenues may be used for any lawful purpose.

(10) Each enactment of such a local law may provide for the imposition of a hotel or motel tax for a period of time no longer than three years from the date of its enactment. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the adoption and enactment of local laws, pursuant to the provisions of this section, upon the expiration of any other local law adopted pursuant to this section.

Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the city of Geneva, Ontario county, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such city a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying hotel or motel rooms in such city. For the purposes of this section, the term "hotel" or "motel" shall mean and include any facility providing lodging on an overnight basis and shall include those facilities designated and commonly known as "bed and breakfast" and "tourist" facilities. The rates of such tax shall not exceed three percent of the per diem rental rate for each room, provided however, that such tax shall not be applicable to a permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section the term "permanent resident" shall mean a person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least thirty consecutive days.

(2) Such tax may be collected and administered by the city treasurer or other fiscal officers of the city of Geneva by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officers or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any tax imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the hotel or motel room occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge for the hotel or motel room occupied for and on account of the city of Geneva imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the hotel or motel room, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the hotel or motel room, as if the tax were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the city treasurer or other fiscal officers of the city, specified in such local law, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the tax on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any transaction, by or with any of the following in accordance with section twelve hundred thirty of this article:

a. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation;

c. Any corporation or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph.

shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of financial services of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding; or

b. At the option of the petitioner such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interests and penalties stated in such determination plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

(8) Except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

shall be authorized to retain up to a maximum of ten percent of such revenue to defer the necessary expenses of the city in administering such tax. The revenue derived from the tax, after deducting the amount provided for administering such tax, as so authorized by local law, shall be allocated to enhance the general economy of the city of Geneva.

(10) If any provision of this section or the application thereof to any person or circumstance shall be held invalid, the remainder of this section and the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

 § 1202-y. Hotel or motel taxes in Yates county. (1) Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the county of Yates is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such county a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying hotel or motel rooms in such county. For the purposes of this section, the term "hotel" or "motel" shall mean and include any facility providing lodging on an overnight basis and shall include those facilities designated and commonly known as "bed and breakfast" and "tourist" facilities.

The rates of such tax shall not exceed four percent of the per diem rental rate for each room, provided however, that such tax shall not be applicable to a permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section the term "permanent resident" shall mean a person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least thirty consecutive days.

(2) Such tax may be collected and administered by the county treasurer or other fiscal officers of Yates county by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officers or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any tax imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the hotel or motel room occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge for the hotel or motel room occupied for and on account of the county of Yates imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the hotel or motel room, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the hotel or motel room, as if the tax were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the county treasurer or other fiscal officers of the county, specified in such local law, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the tax on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any transaction, by or with any of the following in accordance with section twelve hundred thirty of this article:

a. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation;

the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph.

(6) Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable hereunder shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless:

seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(9) All revenues resulting from the imposition of the tax under the local laws shall be paid into the treasury of Yates county and shall be credited to and deposited in the general fund of the county; provided, however, that such local laws shall provide that: (a) the county shall be authorized and shall dedicate fifty percent of such revenue to promote tourism in the county; and (b) the county shall be authorized to retain up to a maximum of ten percent of such revenue to defer the necessary expenses of the county in administering such tax. The revenue derived from the tax, after deducting the amount provided for tourism and the administration of such tax, as so authorized by local law, shall be allocated to enhance the general economy of Yates county, its towns and villages.

(10) If any provision of this section or the application thereof to any person or circumstance shall be held invalid, the remainder of this section and the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

(11) Each enactment of such local law may provide for the imposition of a hotel or motel tax for a period of time no longer than three years from the date of its enactment. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the adoption and enactment of local laws, pursuant to the provisions of this section, upon the expiration of any other local law adopted pursuant to this section.

* NB There are 2 § 1202-y's

§ 1202-z. Hotel or motel taxes in Clinton county. (1) Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the county of Clinton is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such county a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article such as the county legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying hotel or motel rooms in such county. For the purposes of this section, the term "hotel" or "motel" shall mean and include any facility providing lodging on an overnight basis and shall include those facilities designated and commonly known as "bed and breakfast" and "tourist" facilities.

The rates of such tax shall not exceed five percent of the per diem rental rate for each room, provided however, that such tax shall not be applicable to a permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section the term "permanent resident" shall mean a person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least thirty consecutive days.

(2) Such tax may be collected and administered by the county treasurer or other fiscal officers of Clinton county by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officers or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any tax imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the hotel or motel room occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge for the hotel or motel room occupied for and on account of the county of Clinton imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the hotel or motel room, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the hotel or motel room, as if the tax were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the county treasurer or other fiscal officers of the county, specified in such local law, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the tax on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any transaction, by or with any of the following in accordance with section twelve hundred thirty of this article:

a. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation;

c. Any corporation or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph.

(6) Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable pursuant to this section shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless:

b. At the option of the petitioner such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interests and penalties stated in such determination plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

(7) Where any tax imposed pursuant to this section shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(9) All revenues resulting from the imposition of the tax under the local laws shall be paid into the treasury of the county of Clinton and shall be credited and deposited into a special tourism development and promotion fund, thereafter to be allocated for publicizing the advantages of the county of Clinton pursuant to subdivision fourteen of section two hundred twenty-four of the county law; provided, however, that such local laws shall provide that the county shall:

a. be authorized to retain up to a maximum of five percent of such revenue to defer the necessary expenses of the county in administering such tax;

b. endeavor to expend the revenues in such fund in a manner reasonably intended to publicize the areas within the county of Clinton commensurate with the amount of revenues generated from such areas; and

c. contract with a tourism promotion agent, for the expenditure of the revenues in such fund pursuant to subdivision fourteen of section two hundred twenty-four of the county law, provided however that the county of Clinton may terminate such contract and/or enter into other contracts in the event that such tourism promotion agent dissolves or in the determination of the board of supervisors of the county of Clinton after public hearing ceases to adequately perform such contract.

(10) Each enactment of such local law may provide for imposition of a hotel or motel tax for a period of time no longer than three years from the date of its enactment. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the adoption and enactment of local laws, pursuant to the provisions of this section, upon the expiration of any other local law adopted pursuant to this section.

(11) If any provision of this section or the application thereof to any person or circumstance shall be held invalid, the remainder of this section and the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the village of Tuckahoe, in the county of Westchester, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such village a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article, such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying any room for hire in any hotel. For the purposes of this section, the term "hotel" shall mean a building or portion of it which is regularly used and kept open as such for the lodging of guests. The term "hotel" includes an apartment hotel, a motel or a boarding house, whether or not meals are served. The rate of such tax shall not exceed three percent of the per diem rental rate for each room whether such room is rented on a daily or longer basis.

(2) Such taxes may be collected and administered by the chief fiscal officer of the village of Tuckahoe by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officer or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any taxes imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge for the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation occupied for and on account of the village of Tuckahoe imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or similar place of public accommodation, as if the taxes were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the chief fiscal officer of the village, specified in such local laws, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the taxes on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any of the following:

a. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation; or

c. Any corporation or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph.

d. A permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section, the term "permanent resident" shall mean a natural person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least thirty consecutive days.

(6) Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable hereunder shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within thirty days after the giving of notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless:

a. The amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local laws or regulations shall be first deposited and there shall be filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of financial services of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding; or

b. At the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interests and penalties stated in such determination plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

(7) Where any taxes imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund therefor duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the taxes confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a willfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(9) All revenues resulting from the imposition of the tax under the local laws shall be paid into the treasury of the village of Tuckahoe and shall be credited to and deposited in the general fund of the village. Such revenues may be used for any lawful purpose.

(10) Each enactment of such a local law may provide for the imposition of a hotel or motel tax for a period of time no longer than three years from the date of its enactment. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the adoption and enactment of local laws, pursuant to the provisions of this section, upon the expiration of any other local law adopted pursuant to this section.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the village of Weedsport, in the county of Cayuga, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such village a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article, such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying any room for hire in any hotel. For the purposes of this section, the term "hotel" shall mean a building or portion of it which is regularly used and kept open as such for the lodging of guests. The term "hotel" includes an apartment hotel, a motel or a boarding house, whether or not meals are served. The rate of such tax shall be seven percent of the per diem rental rate for each room whether such room is rented on a daily or longer basis.

(2) Such taxes may be collected and administered by the chief fiscal officer of the village of Weedsport by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officer or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any taxes imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation occupied for and on account of the village of Weedsport imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or similar place of public accommodation, as if the taxes were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the chief fiscal officer of the village, specified in such local laws, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the taxes on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any of the following:

a. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation; or

c. Any corporation or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph.

d. A permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section, the term "permanent resident" shall mean a natural person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least thirty consecutive days.

b. At the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interests and penalties stated in such determination plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

(7) Where any taxes imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund therefor duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article

seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the taxes confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a willfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(10) Each enactment of such a local law may provide for the imposition of a hotel or motel tax for a period of time no longer than three years from the date of its enactment. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the adoption and enactment of local laws, pursuant to the provisions of this section, upon the expiration of any other local law adopted pursuant to this section.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the town of Putnam Valley, in the county of Putnam, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such town a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article, such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying any room for hire in any hotel. For the purposes of this section, the term "hotel" shall mean a building or portion of it which is regularly used and kept open as such for the lodging of guests. The term "hotel" includes an apartment hotel, a motel or a boarding house, whether or not meals are served. The rate of such tax shall not exceed two percent of the per diem rental rate for each room whether such room is rented on a daily or longer basis.

(2) Such taxes may be collected and administered by the chief fiscal officer of the town of Putnam Valley by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officer or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any taxes imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge for the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation occupied for and on account of the town of Putnam Valley imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or similar place of public accommodation, as if the taxes were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the chief fiscal officer of the town of Putnam Valley, specified in such local laws, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the taxes on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any of the following:

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation;

c. d. A permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section, the term "permanent resident" shall mean a natural person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least thirty consecutive days.

(6) Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable hereunder shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within thirty days after the giving of notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless:

b. At the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interest and penalties stated in such determination plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

(7) Where any taxes imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund therefor duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the taxes confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a willfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(9) All revenues resulting from the imposition of the tax under the local laws shall be paid into the treasury of the town of Putnam Valley and shall be credited to and deposited in the general fund of such town. Such revenues may be used for any lawful purpose.

(10) Each enactment of such a local law may provide for the imposition of a hotel or motel tax for a period of time no longer than three years from the date of its enactment. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the adoption and enactment of local laws, pursuant to the provisions of this section, upon the expiration of any other local law adopted pursuant to this section.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the village of Medina, in the county of Orleans, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such village a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article, such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying any room for hire in any hotel. For the purposes of this section, the term "hotel" shall mean a building or portion of it which is regularly used and kept open as such for the lodging of guests. The term "hotel" includes an apartment hotel, a motel or a boarding house, whether or not meals are served. The rate of such tax shall not exceed two percent of the per diem rental rate for each room whether such room is rented on a daily or longer basis.

(2) Such taxes may be collected and administered by the chief fiscal officer of the village of Medina by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officer or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any taxes imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge for the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation occupied for and on account of the village of Medina imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or similar place of public accommodation, as if the taxes were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the chief fiscal officer of the village, specified in such local laws, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the taxes on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any of the following:

a. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation; or

c. Any corporation or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph.

d. A permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section, the term "permanent resident" shall mean a natural person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least thirty consecutive days.

(6) Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable hereunder shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within thirty days after the giving of notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless:

or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding; or

b. At the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interest and penalties stated in such determination plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

(7) Where any taxes imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund therefor duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the taxes confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a willfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(9) All revenues resulting from the imposition of the tax under the local laws shall be paid into the treasury of the village of Medina and shall be credited to and deposited in the general fund of such village. Such revenues may be used for any lawful purpose.

(10) Each enactment of such a local law may provide for the imposition of a hotel or motel tax for a period of time no longer than three years from the date of its enactment. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the adoption and enactment of local laws, pursuant to the provisions of this section, upon the expiration of any other local law adopted pursuant to this section.

 § 1202-z-5. Occupancy tax in the city of Auburn. (1) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the city of Auburn, in the county of Cayuga, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such city a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article, such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying any room for hire in any hotel. For the purposes of this section, the term "hotel" shall mean a building or portion of it which is regularly used and kept open as such for the lodging of guests. The term "hotel" includes an apartment hotel, a motel, a boarding house, and facilities designated and commonly known as a "bed and breakfast" and similar "tourist" facilities, whether or not meals are served. The rate of such tax shall not exceed five percent of the per diem rental rate for each room whether such room is rented on a daily or longer basis.

(2) Such taxes may be collected and administered by the chief fiscal officer of the city of Auburn by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officer or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any taxes imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation occupied for and on account of the city of Auburn imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or similar place of public accommodation, as if the taxes were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the chief fiscal officer of the city, specified in such local laws, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the taxes on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any of the following:

a. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation;

c. Any corporation or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph; or

d. A permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section, the term "permanent resident" shall mean a natural person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least ninety consecutive days.

(6) Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable hereunder shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within thirty days after the giving of notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless:

b. At the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interests and penalties stated in such determination plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

(7) Where any taxes imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund therefor duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the taxes confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a willfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(9) All revenues resulting from the imposition of the tax under the local laws shall be paid into the treasury of the city of Auburn and shall be credited to and deposited in the general fund of the city. Such revenues may be used for any lawful purpose.

(10) Each enactment of such a local law may provide for the imposition of a hotel or motel tax for a period of time no longer than two years from the date of its enactment. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the adoption and enactment of local laws, pursuant to the provisions of this section, upon the expiration of any other local law adopted pursuant to this section.

Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the town of DeWitt, in the county of Onondaga, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such town a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon such persons occupying hotel or motel rooms in such town. The rates of such tax shall not exceed two (2) percent of the per diem rental rate for each room provided whether the room is rented on a daily or longer term basis.

(2) Such tax may be collected and administered by the comptroller or other fiscal officer of the town of DeWitt by such means and in such manner as other taxes are now collected and administered by such officers in accordance with the county charter or otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any tax imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the hotel or motel room occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge for the hotel or motel room occupied for and on account of the town of DeWitt imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the hotel or motel room, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the hotel or motel room, as if the tax were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the comptroller or other fiscal officers of the town, specified in such local law, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the tax on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any of the following:

a. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation;

c. Any corporation or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade for business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph.

a. The amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law or regulation, shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transmit business in this state and approved by the superintendent of financial services of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding; or

b. At the option of the petitioner such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interests and penalties stated in such determination plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

(7) Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a willfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(9) Revenues resulting from the imposition of tax authorized by this section shall be paid into the treasury of the town of DeWitt, and shall be credited to and deposited in the general fund of the town but will be attributed to specific line items in the annual DeWitt town budget dedicated to the town's Willis Carrier Park and tourism infrastructure improvements promoting tourism and increases in hotel and motel industry room occupancy, and that such funds may thereafter be allocated and utilized for the aforesaid purposes of paying for the construction, re-construction, maintenance, upkeep, and operations of the town of DeWitt Willis Carrier Park, the construction, re-construction, maintenance, upkeep, and operations of any appurtenant facilities or services thereto, the payment or re-payment of any bond, loan, note, or other financing instrument, the debt associated with which was incurred for the construction, re-construction, maintenance, upkeep, and operation of the such park, appurtenant facilities, and services, and the construction, re-construction, maintenance or upkeep of town infrastructure utilized in connection with the tourism and the hotel and motel industry within the town of DeWitt.

 § 1202-zz-2. Hotel or motel taxes in the village of Croton-on-Hudson. (1) Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the village of Croton-on-Hudson, in the county of Westchester, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such village a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying hotel or motel rooms in such village. For the purposes of this section the term "hotel" or "motel" shall mean any facility or portion thereof where single rooms or suites of rooms are rented or hired out to be occupied or which are occupied by transient guests who are lodged overnight, with or without meals, for sleeping purposes for compensation, whether the compensation be paid directly or indirectly and shall include those facilities designated and commonly known as "bed and breakfast" and "tourist" facilities. The rates of such tax shall not exceed three percent of the per diem rental rate for each room, provided however, that such tax shall not be applicable to a permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section the term "permanent resident" shall mean a person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least ninety consecutive days.

(2) Such tax may be collected and administered by the chief fiscal officer of the village of Croton-on-Hudson by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officer or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any tax imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the hotel or motel room occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge for the hotel or motel room occupied for and on account of the village of Croton-on-Hudson imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the hotel or motel room, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the hotel or motel room, as if the tax were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the chief fiscal officer of the village, specified in such local law, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the tax on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any transaction, by or with any of the following in accordance with section twelve hundred thirty of this article:

a. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation;

c. Any corporation or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph.

precedent to the application.

(7) Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a willfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(9) All revenues resulting from the imposition of the tax under the local laws shall be paid into the treasury of the village of Croton-on-Hudson and shall be credited to and deposited in the general fund of the village. Such revenues may be used for any lawful purpose.

 § 1202-zz-2. Hotel or motel taxes in the town of Patterson. (1)

Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the town of Patterson, in the county of Putnam, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such town a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying hotel or motel rooms in such town. For the purposes of this section the term "hotel" or "motel" shall mean any facility or portion thereof where single rooms or suites of rooms are rented or hired out to be occupied or which are occupied by transient guests who are lodged overnight, with or without meals, for sleeping purposes for compensation, whether the compensation be paid directly or indirectly and shall include those facilities designated and commonly known as "bed and breakfast" and "tourist" facilities. The rates of such tax shall not exceed five percent of the per diem rental rate for each room, provided however, that such tax shall not be applicable to a permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section the term "permanent resident" shall mean a person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least ninety consecutive days.

(2) Such tax may be collected and administered by the chief fiscal officer of the town of Patterson by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officer or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any tax imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the hotel or motel room occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge for the hotel or motel room occupied for and on account of the town of Patterson imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the hotel or motel room, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the hotel or motel room, as if the tax were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the chief fiscal officer of the town, specified in such local law, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the tax on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any transaction, by or with any of the following in accordance with section twelve hundred thirty of this article:

a. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation;

c. Any corporation or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph.

a. The amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of financial services of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding; or

b. At the option of the petitioner such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interests and penalties stated in such determination plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

(7) Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a willfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(9) All revenues resulting from the imposition of the tax under the local laws shall be paid into the treasury of the town of Patterson and shall be credited to and deposited in the general fund of the town. Such revenues may be used for any lawful purpose.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the village of Baldwinsville, in the county of Onondaga, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such village a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article, such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying any room for hire in any hotel. For the purposes of this section, the term "hotel" shall mean a building or portion of it which is regularly used and kept open as such for the lodging of guests. The term "hotel" includes an apartment hotel, a motel, a boarding house, and facilities designated and commonly known as a "bed and breakfast" and similar "tourist" facilities, whether or not meals are served. The rate of such tax shall not exceed five percent of the per diem rental rate for each room whether such room is rented on a daily or longer basis.

(2) Such taxes may be collected and administered by the chief fiscal officer of the village of Baldwinsville by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officer or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any taxes imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation occupied for and on account of the village of Baldwinsville imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or other similar place of public accommodation, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel or similar place of public accommodation, as if the taxes were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the chief fiscal officer of the village, specified in such local laws, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the taxes on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any of the following:

a. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation;

c. Any corporation or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph; or

d. A permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section, the term "permanent resident" shall mean a natural person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least ninety consecutive days.

(6) Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable hereunder shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within thirty days after the giving of notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless:

a. The amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local laws or regulations shall be first deposited and there shall be filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of financial services of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding; or

(7) Where any taxes imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund therefor duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the taxes confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a willfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(10) Each enactment of such a local law may provide for the imposition of a hotel or motel tax for a period of time no longer than two years from the date of its enactment. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the adoption and enactment of local laws, pursuant to the provisions of this section, upon the expiration of any other local law adopted pursuant to this section.

 § 1202-zz-3. Occupancy tax in the county of Herkimer. (1)

Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the county of Herkimer, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such county a tax, in addition to any other tax authorized and imposed pursuant to this article, such as the legislature has or would have the power and authority to impose upon persons occupying any room for hire in any hotel. For the purposes of this section, the term "hotel" shall mean a building or portion of such building which is rentable or consisting of rentable units providing lodging on an overnight basis for guests. The term "hotel" includes an apartment hotel, a motel, and facilities designated and commonly known as a "bed and breakfast" and similar "tourist" facilities, whether or not meals are served. The rate of such tax shall not exceed five percent of the per diem rental rate for each room whether such room is rented on a daily or longer basis.

(2) Such taxes may be collected and administered by the chief fiscal officer of the county of Herkimer by such means and in such manner as other taxes which are now collected and administered by such officer or as otherwise may be provided by such local law.

(3) Such local laws may provide that any taxes imposed shall be paid by the person liable therefor to the owner of the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel, or other similar place of public accommodation occupied or to the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel, or other similar place of public accommodation occupied for and on account of the county of Herkimer imposing the tax and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall be liable for the collection and payment of the tax; and that such owner or person entitled to be paid the rent or charge shall have the same right in respect to collecting the tax from the person occupying the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel, or other similar place of public accommodation, or in respect to nonpayment of the tax by the person occupying the room for hire in the tourist home, inn, club, hotel, motel, or similar place of public accommodation, as if the taxes were a part of the rent or charge and payable at the same time as the rent or charge; provided, however, that the chief fiscal officer of the county, specified in such local laws, shall be joined as a party in any action or proceeding brought to collect the tax by the owner or by the person entitled to be paid the rent or charge.

(4) Such local laws may provide for the filing of returns and the payment of the taxes on a monthly basis or on the basis of any longer or shorter period of time.

(5) This section shall not authorize the imposition of such tax upon any of the following:

a. The state of New York, or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the dominion of Canada), improvement district or other political subdivision of the state;

b. The United States of America, insofar as it is immune from taxation;

c. Any corporation or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall include an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this paragraph; or

d. A permanent resident of a hotel or motel. For the purposes of this section, the term "permanent resident" shall mean a natural person occupying any room or rooms in a hotel or motel for at least ninety consecutive days.

b. At the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interests and penalties stated in such determination plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

(7) Where any taxes imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally collected and application for the refund therefor duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that such proceeding is instituted within thirty days after the giving of the notice of such denial, that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the taxes confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(8) Except in the case of a willfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law the tax may be assessed at any time.

(10) Each enactment of such a local law may provide for the imposition of a hotel or motel tax for a period of time no longer than two years from the date of its enactment. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the adoption and enactment of local laws, pursuant to the provisions of this section, upon the expiration of any other local law adopted pursuant to this section.

(11) If any provision of this section or the application thereof to any person or circumstance shall be held invalid, the remainder of this section and the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, any city in this state with a population of less than one million is hereby authorized and empowered, subject to the limitations and exemptions in part II of this article, to adopt and amend local laws, ordinances or resolutions imposing in such city any of the taxes authorized under subdivisions (c), (d) and (e) of section twelve hundred one, at the rates provided for therein, such taxes to be administered and collected in the manner provided for in subpart A of part III of this article.

b. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, the local governing body of the city of Yonkers, by the adoption of local laws, ordinances or resolutions may impose in such city the tax otherwise authorized under subdivision (b) of section twelve hundred one, at a rate not to exceed three per centum, such taxes to be administered and collected in the manner provided for in subpart A of part III of this article. Such local law, ordinance, or resolution may provide that any transfer of property owned and occupied as a residence by one or more persons, each of whom is sixty-five years of age or over, shall be exempt from such tax.

§ 1204. Taxes administered by cities with populations of less than one hundred twenty-five thousand on request of school districts. (a) On request by a majority vote of the whole number of the school authorities of the school district or districts which are coterminous with, partly within or wholly within a city having a population of less than one hundred twenty-five thousand, such city is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing for school district purposes any of the taxes which such city is empowered to impose for city purposes pursuant to section twelve hundred three.

(c) Taxes so imposed by such a city and by such school districts shall be administered and collected by such city, in the manner provided for in this section and in subpart A of part III of this article. In the case of such administration and collection in areas outside such city, the city and the city officers and employees administering and collecting the tax shall act as agents for the school district or districts which imposed the tax in such areas. In such instances the school authorities of each district and the governing board of such city may enter into an agreement for the administration and collection of such taxes by the city for and on behalf of the school district. Any such agreement shall state the consideration payable to such city for such service and make such other related provisions as the parties thereto shall consider necessary.

(d) Subject to the terms of such agreement, the total net collections from a tax so imposed by such a city and school districts shall be distributed and paid quarterly to the city school district where it is coterminous with or includes the entire city or to all the school districts partly within or wholly within such city.

(e) Except where the city school district is coterminous with the city or includes the entire area of the city, such amounts shall be distributed and paid to the school district or districts partly within or wholly within the city, in accordance with the total average daily attendance for the last preceding school year of pupils residing in each such district and without regard to the location of the school attended.

(f) All actions taken by majority votes of school authorities pursuant to this section shall be deemed resolutions under this article and shall be official records of the school districts in which they are taken. Certified copies thereof forthwith shall be filed in the offices of the city clerk, state department of education, the secretary of state and the state comptroller.

§ 1205. Imposition of taxes on deeds in the city of Mount Vernon. (a) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, the local governing body of the city of Mount Vernon, by the adoption and amendment of local laws, ordinances or resolutions may impose in such city and provide for the administration and collection of a tax on deeds by which real property is conveyed in such city in the manner set forth and as authorized in subdivision (b) of this section.

(b) There is hereby imposed in the city of Mount Vernon a tax on each deed by which any real property is conveyed (measured by the consideration or value of the interest or property conveyed) at a rate not to exceed one and one-half percent of such consideration or value with respect to all conveyances, provided that such city may allow deductions for any liens on such interest or property and may also allow an exemption not in excess of one hundred thousand dollars on the consideration or value of the interest or property conveyed. Provided, further, that such taxes shall not apply if the contract for any such conveyance was made prior to September first, nineteen hundred eighty-four. Such taxes may be imposed on any conveyance or transfer of real property or interest therein by deed where the real property is located in such city regardless of where transactions, negotiations, transfers of deeds or other actions with regard to the transfer or conveyance take place, subject only to the restrictions contained in section twelve hundred thirty. The payment of, and the filing of a return relating to, any such taxes may be required as a condition precedent to the recording of a deed.

§ 1206. Imposition of taxes on deeds in the city of Peekskill. (a) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, the local governing body of the city of Peekskill, by the adoption and amendment of local laws, ordinances or resolutions may impose in such city and provide for the administration and collection of a tax on deeds by which real property is conveyed in such city in the manner set forth and as authorized in subdivision (b) of this section.

(b) There is hereby imposed in the city of Peekskill a tax on each deed by which any real property is conveyed (measured by the consideration or value of the interest or property conveyed) at a rate not to exceed one percent of such consideration or value with respect to all conveyances, provided that such city may allow deductions for any liens on such interest or property and may also allow an exemption not in excess of one hundred thousand dollars on the consideration or value of the interest or property conveyed. Provided, further, that such taxes shall not apply if the contract for any such conveyance was made prior to September first, two thousand seven. Such taxes may be imposed on any conveyance or transfer of real property or interest therein by deed where the real property is located in such city regardless of where transactions, negotiations, transfers of deeds or other actions with regard to the transfer or conveyance take place, subject only to the restrictions contained in section twelve hundred thirty. The payment of, and the filing of a return relating to, any such taxes may be required as a condition precedent to the recording of a deed.

SUBPART B--TAXES ADMINISTERED BY STATE TAX COMMISSION

§ 1210. Taxes of cities and counties administered by state tax commission. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, but subject to the limitations and exemptions in part II of this article, any city in this state or county in this state, except a county wholly within a city, acting through its local legislative body, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws, ordinances or resolutions imposing in any such city or county the following taxes, at the rate of one-half, one, one and one-half, two, two and one-half or three percent, provided, however, that:

(iv) with respect to certain counties in the metropolitan commuter transportation district, if the county of Dutchess, the county of Orange or the county of Rockland withdraws from the metropolitan commuter transportation district pursuant to section twelve hundred seventy-nine-b of the public authorities law, such county is hereby authorized and empowered, in the alternative, to adopt and amend local laws, ordinances or resolutions imposing such taxes at the rate of five-eighths, seven-eighths, one and one-eighth, one and three-eighths, one and five-eighths, one and seven-eighths, two and one-eighth, two and three-eighths, two and five-eighths, two and seven-eighths, three and one-eighth or three and three-eighths percent if the revenues from a three-eighths percent rate of such tax are required by such local laws, ordinances or resolutions to be set aside for mass transportation purposes; all such taxes to be administered, collected and distributed by the commissioner as provided in subpart B of part III and in part IV of this article:

(a) (1) Either, all of the taxes described in article twenty-eight of this chapter, at the same uniform rate, as to which taxes all provisions of the local laws, ordinances or resolutions imposing such taxes shall be identical, except as to rate and except as otherwise provided, with the corresponding provisions in such article twenty-eight, including the definition and exemption provisions of such article, so far as the provisions of such article twenty-eight can be made applicable to the taxes imposed by such city or county and with such limitations and special provisions as are set forth in this article. The taxes authorized under this subdivision may not be imposed by a city or county unless the local law, ordinance or resolution imposes such taxes so as to include all portions and all types of receipts, charges or rents, subject to state tax under sections eleven hundred five and eleven hundred ten of this chapter, except as otherwise provided.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, a tax imposed by a city or county authorized under this subdivision shall not include the tax imposed on charges for admission to race tracks and simulcast facilities under subdivision (f) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter. (i) Any local law, ordinance or resolution enacted by any city of less than one million or by any county or school district, imposing the taxes authorized by this subdivision, shall, notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, exclude from the operation of such local taxes all sales of tangible personal property for use or consumption directly and predominantly in the production of tangible personal property, gas, electricity, refrigeration or steam, for sale, by manufacturing, processing, generating, assembly, refining, mining or extracting; and all sales of tangible personal property for use or consumption predominantly either in the production of tangible personal property, for sale, by farming or in a commercial horse boarding operation, or in both; and all sales of fuel sold for use in commercial aircraft and general aviation aircraft; and, unless such city, county or school district elects otherwise, shall omit the provision for credit or refund contained in clause six of subdivision (a) or subdivision (d) of section eleven hundred nineteen of this chapter. (ii) Any local law, ordinance or resolution enacted by any city, county or school district, imposing the taxes authorized by this subdivision, shall omit the residential solar energy systems equipment and electricity exemption provided for in subdivision (ee), the commercial solar energy systems equipment and electricity exemption provided for in subdivision (ii), the commercial fuel cell electricity generating systems equipment and electricity generated by such equipment exemption provided for in subdivision (kk) and the clothing and footwear exemption provided for in paragraph thirty of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred fifteen of this chapter, unless such city, county or school district elects otherwise as to such residential solar energy systems equipment and electricity exemption, such commercial solar energy systems equipment and electricity exemption, commercial fuel cell electricity generating systems equipment and electricity generated by such equipment exemption or such clothing and footwear exemption.

(2) A sale of tangible personal property to a person for use by him in performing the services of laundering, drycleaning, tailoring, weaving, pressing, shoe repairing and shoe shining, subject to the tax imposed under the authority of paragraph (1) of this subdivision, shall not be deemed a purchase for resale for purposes of the taxes imposed by article twenty-eight and pursuant to the authority of this article. The transitional provisions contained in section eleven hundred six shall apply to a tax imposed under the authority of clauses (A) or (B) of paragraph (1) of this subdivision in the same manner and to the same extent as applicable to the taxes imposed under subdivision (c) of section eleven hundred five except that an equivalent date shall be substituted to accord with the date when the tax imposed pursuant to the authority of such clause shall become effective.

(3) (i) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary but not with respect to cities subject to the provisions of section eleven hundred eight of this chapter, any city or county, except a county wholly contained within a city, may provide that the taxes imposed, pursuant to this subdivision, by such city or county on the retail sale or use of fuel oil and coal used for residential purposes, the retail sale or use of wood used for residential heating purposes, the sale, other than for resale, of propane (except when sold in containers of less than one hundred pounds), natural gas, electricity, steam and gas, electric and steam services used for residential purposes and the use of gas or electricity used for residential purposes may be imposed at a lower rate than the uniform local rate imposed pursuant to the opening paragraph of this section, as long as such rate is one of the rates authorized by such paragraph or such sale or use may be exempted from such taxes. Provided, however, such lower rate must apply to all such energy sources and services and at the same rate and no such exemption may be enacted unless such exemption applies to all such energy sources and services. The provisions of this subparagraph shall not apply to a sale or use of diesel motor fuel which involves a delivery at a filling station or into a repository which is equipped with a hose or other apparatus by which such fuel can be dispensed into the fuel tank of a motor vehicle.

(ii) The transitional provisions in subdivision (c) of section eleven hundred five-A shall apply to a change in rate or to an exemption adopted pursuant to the authority of this paragraph in the same manner and to the same extent as applicable under section eleven hundred five-A except that equivalent dates shall be substituted to accord with the date when the rate or exemption adopted pursuant to this paragraph shall become effective. The provisions in subdivisions (d) and (e) of section eleven hundred five-A shall apply so far as such provisions can be made applicable under this paragraph.

(iii) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (d) of this section to the contrary, any local law, ordinance or resolution, enacted pursuant to the authority of this paragraph, (A) may be made applicable to the quarterly period ending February twenty-ninth, nineteen hundred eighty if a certified copy of such law, ordinance or resolution is mailed by registered mail to the state tax commission at its office in Albany on or before November twentieth, nineteen hundred seventy-nine, (B) may go into effect on January first, nineteen hundred eighty, if a certified copy of such law, ordinance or resolution is mailed by registered mail to the state tax commission at its office in Albany at least thirty days prior to such effective date and (C) may exempt from tax, effective October first, nineteen hundred eighty, the energy sources and services described in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph.

(iv) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the one percent additional tax which Cattaraugus county is authorized to adopt pursuant to the opening paragraph of this section shall not be imposed on the retail sale or use of the energy sources and services described in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph.

(4) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, any local law enacted by any city of one million or more that imposes the taxes authorized by this subdivision (i) may omit the exception provided in subparagraph (ii) of paragraph three of subdivision (c) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter for receipts from laundering, dry-cleaning, tailoring, weaving, pressing, shoe repairing and shoe shining; (ii) may impose the tax described in paragraph six of subdivision (c) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter at a rate in addition to the rate prescribed by this section not to exceed two percent in multiples of one-half of one percent; (iii) shall provide that the tax described in paragraph six of subdivision (c) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter does not apply to facilities owned and operated by the city or an agency or instrumentality of the city or a public corporation the majority of whose members are appointed by the chief executive officer of the city or the legislative body of the city or both of them; (iv) shall not include any tax on receipts from, or the use of, the services described in paragraph seven of subdivision (c) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter; (v) shall provide that, for purposes of the tax described in subdivision (e) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter, "permanent resident" means any occupant of any room or rooms in a hotel or short term rental unit for at least one hundred eighty consecutive days with regard to the period of such occupancy; (vi) may omit the exception provided in paragraph one of subdivision (f) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter for charges to a patron for admission to, or use of, facilities for sporting activities in which the patron is to be a participant, such as bowling alleys and swimming pools; (vii) may provide the clothing and footwear exemption in paragraph thirty of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred fifteen of this chapter, and, notwithstanding any provision of subdivision (d) of this section to the contrary, any local law providing for such exemption or repealing such exemption, may go into effect on any one of the following dates: March first, June first, September first or December first; (viii) shall omit the exemption provided in paragraph forty-one of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred fifteen of this chapter; (ix) shall omit the exemption provided in subdivision (c) of section eleven hundred fifteen of this chapter insofar as it applies to fuel, gas, electricity, refrigeration and steam, and gas, electric, refrigeration and steam service of whatever nature for use or consumption directly and exclusively in the production of gas, electricity, refrigeration or steam; (x) shall omit, unless such city elects otherwise, the provision for refund or credit contained in clause six of subdivision (a) or in subdivision (d) of section eleven hundred nineteen of this chapter; (xii) shall omit, unless such city elects otherwise, the exemption for residential solar energy systems equipment and electricity provided in subdivision (ee) of section eleven hundred fifteen of this chapter; (xiii) shall omit, unless such city elects otherwise, the exemption for commercial solar energy systems equipment and electricity provided in subdivision (ii) of section eleven hundred fifteen of this chapter; and  (xiv) shall exclude from the operation of such local taxes all sales of fuel sold for use in commercial aircraft and general aviation aircraft.

 NB There are 2 sbpar (xiv)'s

Any reference in this chapter or in any local law, ordinance or resolution enacted pursuant to the authority of this article to former subdivisions (n) or (p) of this section shall be deemed to be a reference to clauses (xii) or (xiii) of this paragraph, respectively, and any such local law, ordinance or resolution that provides the exemptions provided in such former subdivisions (n) and/or (p) shall be deemed instead to provide the exemptions provided in clauses (xii) and/or (xiii) of this paragraph.

(b) (1) Or, one or more of the taxes described in subdivisions (b), (d), (e) and (f) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter, at the same uniform rate, including the transitional provisions in section eleven hundred six of this chapter covering such taxes, but not the taxes described in subdivisions (a) and (c) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter. Provided, further, that where the tax described in subdivision (b) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter is imposed, the compensating use taxes described in clauses (E), (G) and (H) of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred ten of this chapter shall also be imposed. Provided, further, that where the taxes described in subdivision (b) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter are imposed, such taxes shall omit: (A) the provision for refund or credit contained in subdivision (d) of section eleven hundred nineteen of this chapter with respect to such taxes described in such subdivision (b) of section eleven hundred five unless such city or county elects to provide such provision or, if so elected, to repeal such provision; (B) the exemption provided in paragraph two of subdivision (ee) of section eleven hundred fifteen of this chapter unless such county or city elects otherwise; (C) the exemption provided in paragraph two of subdivision (ii) of section eleven hundred fifteen of this chapter, unless such county or city elects otherwise; and (D) the exemption provided in paragraph two of subdivision (kk) of section eleven hundred fifteen of this chapter, unless such county or city elects otherwise; and provided further that where the tax described in subdivision (f) of such section eleven hundred five is imposed, such tax shall not apply to charges for admission to race tracks and simulcast facilities.

(2) In respect to the taxes described in such subdivisions (b), (d), (e) and (f) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter and in such clauses (E), (G) and (H) of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred ten of this chapter and the transitional provisions in such section eleven hundred six covering those taxes, all provisions of a local law imposing any such tax, except as to rate and except as otherwise provided herein, shall be identical with the corresponding provisions in such article twenty-eight of this chapter, including the definition and exemption provisions of such article, so far as the provisions of such article twenty-eight of this chapter can be made applicable to the taxes imposed by such city or county and with such limitations and special provisions as are set forth in this article; provided, however, that any local law enacted by any city of one million or more, imposing the taxes authorized by this subdivision, shall omit the exemption provided in subdivision (c) of section eleven hundred fifteen of this chapter and may omit the exception provided in paragraph (1) of subdivision (f) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter for charges to a patron for admission to, or use of, facilities for sporting activities in which such patron is to be a participant, such as bowling alleys and swimming pools. The transitional provisions contained in subdivision (d) of section eleven hundred six of this chapter shall apply in the same manner and to the same extent to a tax imposed by omitting the exception in paragraph (1) of subdivision (f) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter, as described in the preceding sentence, except that an equivalent date shall be substituted to accord with the date when the tax so imposed becomes effective. The tax described in any one of such subdivisions (b), (d), (e) and (f) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter, including the related transitional provisions in such section eleven hundred six of this chapter, and the taxes described in clauses (E), (G) and (H) of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred ten of this chapter where the tax described in such subdivision (b) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter is imposed, may not be imposed by a city or county unless the local law, ordinance or resolution imposes such tax so as to include all portions and all types of receipts, charges or rents, as the case may be, subject to state tax under the applicable subdivision of section eleven hundred five of this chapter and uses subject to tax under the applicable provisions of section eleven hundred ten of this chapter where the tax described in subdivision (b) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter is imposed.

(3) (i) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary but not with respect to cities subject to the provisions of section eleven hundred eight of this chapter, any city or county, except a county wholly contained within a city, may provide that the tax imposed, pursuant to this subdivision, by such city or county on the sale, other than for resale, of propane (except when sold in containers of less than one hundred pounds), natural gas, electricity, steam and gas, electric and steam services of whatever nature used for residential purposes and on the use of gas or electricity used for residential purposes may be imposed at a lower rate than the uniform local rate imposed pursuant to the opening paragraph of this section, as long as such rate is one of the rates authorized by such paragraph or such sale or use may be exempted from such taxes. Provided, however, such lower rate must apply to all such energy sources and services and at the same rate and no such exemption, other than the exemption provided for in subdivision (ee) of section eleven hundred fifteen of this chapter, if such exemption is elected by such city or county, may be enacted unless such exemption applies to all such energy sources and services.

(ii) The transitional provisions in subdivision (c) of section eleven hundred five-A shall apply to a change in rate or to an exemption adopted pursuant to the authority of this paragraph in the same manner and to the same extent as applicable under section eleven hundred five-A except that equivalent dates shall be substituted to accord with the date when the rate or exemption adopted pursuant to this paragraph shall become effective. The provisions in subdivisions (d) and (e) of section eleven hundred five-A shall apply so far as such provisions can be made applicable under this paragraph.

(iii) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (d) of this section to the contrary, any local law, ordinance or resolution enacted pursuant to the authority of this paragraph, (A) may be made applicable to the quarterly period ending February twenty-ninth, nineteen hundred eighty if a certified copy of such law, ordinance or resolution is mailed by registered mail to the state tax commission at its office in Albany on or before November twentieth, nineteen hundred seventy-nine, (B) may go into effect on January first, nineteen hundred eighty, if a certified copy of such law, ordinance or resolution is mailed by registered mail to the state tax commission at its office in Albany at least thirty days prior to such effective date and (C) may exempt from tax, effective October first, nineteen hundred eighty; the energy sources and services described in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph.

(4) Notwithstanding any provision of this article to the contrary, a county, city or school district which, pursuant to the authority of this article, imposes the tax described in subdivision (b) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter without also imposing all of the other taxes described in subdivision (a) of this section shall not be authorized to impose the sales tax on prepaid telephone calling service described in subparagraph (D) of paragraph one of subdivision (b) of such section eleven hundred five or the compensating use tax described in clause (G) of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred ten of this chapter; and any reference in this article to the tax described in such subdivision (b) of section eleven hundred five and any reference in this article to the tax described in such clause (G) of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred ten shall be deemed not to include the sales tax on prepaid telephone calling service or the compensating use tax described in such clause (G) of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred ten, in cases where the tax described in subdivision (b) of such section eleven hundred five is imposed by a county, city or school district which does not also impose all of the other taxes described in subdivision (a) of this section.

(c) Notwithstanding the prior provisions of this section, where a city has, pursuant to section twelve hundred twenty-four of this article, pre-empted the right to impose any of the taxes described in subdivisions (b), (d), (e) and (f) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter by imposing one or more of such taxes, and, if the taxes described in such subdivision (b) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter are imposed, the compensating use taxes described in clauses (E), (G) and (H) of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred ten of this chapter, as provided for in subdivision (b) of this section, the county in which such city is located may still impose those taxes authorized under subdivision (a) or (b) of this section not pre-empted by such city. Within areas in such county but outside of such city, the county shall continue to be authorized and empowered to impose the taxes as authorized in subdivisions (a) and (b) of this section, without any diminution in the county's right to impose such taxes in areas outside such city.

(d) A local law, ordinance or resolution imposing any tax pursuant to this section, increasing or decreasing the rate of such tax, repealing or suspending such tax, exempting from such tax the energy sources and services described in paragraph three of subdivision (a) or of subdivision (b) of this section or changing the rate of tax imposed on such energy sources and services or providing for the credit or refund described in clause six of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred nineteen of this chapter, or electing or repealing the exemption for residential solar equipment and electricity in subdivision (ee) of section eleven hundred fifteen of this article, or the exemption for commercial solar equipment and electricity in subdivision (ii) of section eleven hundred fifteen of this article, or electing or repealing the exemption for commercial fuel cell electricity generating systems equipment and electricity generated by such equipment in subdivision (kk) of section eleven hundred fifteen of this article must go into effect only on one of the following dates: March first, June first, September first or December first; provided, that a local law, ordinance or resolution providing for the exemption described in paragraph thirty of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred fifteen of this chapter or repealing any such exemption or a local law, ordinance or resolution providing for a refund or credit described in subdivision (d) of section eleven hundred nineteen of this chapter or repealing such provision so provided must go into effect only on March first. No such local law, ordinance or resolution shall be effective unless a certified copy of such law, ordinance or resolution is mailed by registered or certified mail to the commissioner at the commissioner's office in Albany at least ninety days prior to the date it is to become effective. However, the commissioner may waive and reduce such ninety-day minimum notice requirement to a mailing of such certified copy by registered or certified mail within a period of not less than thirty days prior to such effective date if the commissioner deems such action to be consistent with the commissioner's duties under section twelve hundred fifty of this article and the commissioner acts by resolution. Where the restriction provided for in section twelve hundred twenty-three of this article as to the effective date of a tax and the notice requirement provided for therein are applicable and have not been waived, the restriction and notice requirement in section twelve hundred twenty-three of this article shall also apply.

(e) Certified copies of any local law, ordinance or resolution described in subdivision (d) of this section shall also be filed with the city or county clerk, the secretary of state and the state comptroller within five days after the date it is enacted. Certified copies of any other local law, ordinance or resolution enacted pursuant to this section shall be filed with the state tax commission, the city or county clerk, the secretary of state and the state comptroller within five days after the date it is enacted.

(f) On the first day of the first month following the month in which a municipal assistance corporation is created under article ten of the public authorities law, any taxes imposed pursuant to this section by the city in aid of which such corporation was created and, except as hereinafter provided for in subdivisions (h) and (j) of this section, the power of such city to adopt and amend local laws, ordinances or resolutions imposing taxes pursuant to the authority of such section shall, notwithstanding any provision of this article to the contrary, be suspended until the later of July first, two thousand eight, or the last day of the month in which all the notes and bonds of such municipal assistance corporation shall have been fully paid and discharged together with interest thereon and interest on unpaid installments of interest.

(g) All of the enabling act provisions, which authorized the imposition of the taxes suspended pursuant to this section, the local laws, ordinances, and resolutions imposing such taxes, any regulations promulgated with respect to such taxes, including the provisions with respect to assessment, payment, determination, collection and refund of such taxes, requirements for filing returns, preservation of records and disposition of revenue shall continue in full force and effect with respect to all such taxes accrued up to the effective date of such suspension.

(h) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (f) of this section, any city having a population of one million or more in which a municipal assistance corporation is created under article ten of the public authorities law shall continue to be authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws, imposing taxes, at a rate not to exceed four percent on the receipts of sales from the services of laundering, dry-cleaning, tailoring, weaving, pressing, shoe repairing and shoe shining, and charges to a patron for admission to, or use of, facilities for sporting activities in which such patron is to be a participant such as bowling alleys and swimming pools. Such taxes shall be administered, collected and distributed by the state tax commission as provided in subpart B of part III and in part IV of this article.

(i) On the first day of the first month following the month in which the taxes provided for in section eleven hundred seven of this chapter are terminated, the suspension provided for in subdivision (f) of this section shall terminate and the sales and compensating use taxes imposed by a city having a population of one million or more immediately prior to the effective date of the suspension shall go into full force and effect, provided that the resumed taxes, and any local law imposing those taxes, shall incorporate amendments to this article and article twenty-eight of this chapter so that the resumed taxes are, except as otherwise provided by law, identical to the taxes authorized to be imposed by the city.

(j) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (f) of this section, the city of Troy shall continue to be authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws, ordinances or resolutions imposing taxes pursuant to the authority of this section during the period that (i) the municipal assistance corporation for the city of Troy created under article ten of the public authorities law is in existence, and (ii) pursuant to section two of chapter one hundred eighty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred ninety-five, as it may be amended, the tax described in section eleven hundred eight of this chapter is not imposed in such city.

(m) Taxes imposed on native American nation or tribe lands. Where a non-native American person purchases, for such person's own consumption, any retail sale item on native American nation or tribe land recognized by the federal government and reservation land recognized as such by the state of New York, the commissioner shall promulgate rules and regulations necessary to implement the collection of sales, excise and use taxes on such retail sale items.

(o) Notwithstanding any other provision of state or local law, ordinance or resolution to the contrary: any city having a population of one million or more in which the taxes imposed by section eleven hundred seven of this chapter are in effect, acting through its local legislative body, is hereby authorized and empowered to elect to exempt from such taxes, or reduce the rate of such taxes on, the same residential energy sources and services, in the same manner as described in subparagraph (i) of paragraph three of subdivision (a) of this section, by enacting a local law or resolution in the form prescribed by the commissioner pursuant to section twelve hundred fifty-seven of this article; whereupon, upon compliance with the provisions of subdivisions (d) and (e) of this section, such enactment of such local law or resolution shall be deemed to be an amendment to section eleven hundred seven of this chapter and such section eleven hundred seven shall be deemed to incorporate such exemption of or reduced rate on such energy sources and services as if it had been duly enacted by the state legislature and approved by the governor.

1210-A. Sales and compensating use tax for purposes of the Suffolk county drinking water protection program. (a) In addition to the taxes imposed by section twelve hundred ten or any other provision of this article, the county of Suffolk is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend a local law, ordinance or resolution imposing within the territorial limits of said county an additional sales and compensating use tax at the rate of one-quarter of one percent for the period beginning December first, nineteen hundred eighty-four and ending November thirtieth, two thousand sixty, which tax shall be identical to the tax imposed by said county pursuant to section twelve hundred ten of this article. Except as hereinafter provided, all provisions of this article, including the definition and exemption provisions and the provisions relating to the administration, collection and distribution by the commissioner, shall apply for purposes of the tax imposed by this section in the same manner and with the same force and effect as if the language of this article had been incorporated in full in this section and had expressly referred to the tax imposed by this section; provided, however, that any provision relating to a maximum rate shall be calculated without reference to the additional sales and compensating use tax herein authorized. For purposes of part IV of this article, relating to the disposition of revenues resulting from taxes collected and administered by the commissioner, the additional sales and compensating use tax herein provided shall be deemed to be imposed under the authority of section twelve hundred ten of this article and all provisions relating to the deposit, administration and disposition of taxes, penalties and interest relating to a tax imposed by a county under the authority of section twelve hundred ten of this article shall, except as otherwise specifically provided in this section, apply to the additional sales and compensating use tax imposed pursuant to this section.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of this article to the contrary, the net collections from the tax imposed pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section for the period beginning December first, nineteen hundred eighty-four and ending November thirtieth, nineteen hundred eighty-eight shall, upon payment to the county of Suffolk, and moneys due said fund pursuant to subdivisions (c) and (d) of this section, be deposited in a special fund, to be designated as an assessment stabilization reserve fund, to be created by said county therefor separate and apart from any other funds and accounts of the county. Moneys in such fund shall be deposited and secured in the manner provided by section ten of the general municipal law. Pending expenditure from such fund, moneys therein may be invested in the manner provided in section eleven of the general municipal law. Any interest earned or capital gain realized on the moneys so deposited or invested shall accrue to and become part of such fund. Moneys in said fund may be appropriated from and transferred to or expended in any fiscal year only for the purposes and in the order as follows:

(i) to an account or accounts for the Southwest Sewer District of said county in such amount or amounts as shall be determined by the county executive of said county and approved by the county legislature of said county as necessary to stabilize assessments in such sewer district in any given year;

(ii) to an account or accounts for any other sewer district established by the county of Suffolk in such amount or amounts as shall be determined by the county executive of said county and approved by the county legislature of said county as necessary to stabilize assessments in any such sewer district in any given year; and

(iii) for distribution to the towns and villages within said county which have established or created a sewer district or benefitted area to provide sewer improvements or constructed or are constructing a sewer or sewerage system in such amount or amounts as shall be determined by the county executive of said county and approved by the county legislature of said county as necessary to stabilize assessments or taxes, as the case may be, in any such sewer district or benefitted area or for any such sewer system in any given year.

(c) To the extent necessary to continue the tax stabilization of those sewer districts receiving appropriations pursuant to subdivision (b) of this section, the net collections from the tax imposed pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section for the period beginning December first, nineteen hundred eighty-eight and ending November thirtieth, nineteen hundred eighty-nine, together with interest thereon at a rate equal to the interest rate for one year United States Treasury bills as of the date such funds were invested, shall constitute a guarantee and shall be made available and paid to the assessment stabilization reserve fund set forth in subdivision (b) of this section on a first priority basis from all of the net collections of the tax imposed pursuant to this section.

(d) Notwithstanding any other provision of this article to the contrary, the net collections from the tax imposed pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section for the period beginning December first, nineteen hundred eighty-eight and ending November thirtieth, two thousand sixty shall, upon payment to the county of Suffolk, be deposited in a special fund, to be designated as a drinking water protection reserve fund, to be created by said county therefor separate and apart from any other funds and accounts of the county. Moneys in such fund shall be deposited in one or more of the banks or trust companies designated, in the manner provided by law, as a depository of the funds of such county. Pending expenditure from such fund, moneys therein may be invested in the manner provided in section eleven of the general municipal law. Any interest earned or capital gain realized on the moneys so deposited or invested shall accrue to and become part of such fund. Moneys in said fund may be appropriated from and transferred to or expended in any fiscal year only for the purposes of making payments pursuant to subdivisions (b) and (c) of this section for the period beginning December first, nineteen hundred eighty-eight, to the extent that moneys in said fund are remaining, and if authorized by local law, for the following purposes:

(i) for the purposes of specific environmental protection (acquisition of: farmland development rights; open space, wetlands, woodlands, pine barrens and other lands for passive recreational uses; lands for hamlet greens, hamlet parks, pocket parks, historic parks, cultural parks and other lands for active/parkland recreational uses; lands necessary for maintaining and protecting the quality of surface water, groundwater and coastal resources);

(ii) for a water quality protection and restoration program or programs and land stewardship initiatives;

(iii) for the purposes of county-wide property tax protection; and

(iv) for the purpose of sewer taxpayer protection (25% of the net collections from the tax). Beginning with the first fiscal year after the adoption of the water quality restoration fund, a portion of the net collections of such tax apportioned for this purpose as provided for herein, shall be transferred to the water quality restoration fund, established pursuant to subdivision eleven of section two hundred fifty-six-b of the county law. Said revenues shall be dedicated solely to funding individual septic system projects as defined in such subdivision. The portion of net collections of the tax transferred to the water quality restoration fund each year shall be as follows:

Year	Percentage
2	5%

For all subsequent years, the portion of net collections transferred to the water quality restoration fund shall be fifty percent.

Notwithstanding any special or local law, resolution or charter provision to the contrary, moneys in said fund which have not been appropriated from and transferred to or expended in any fiscal year for the purposes of making payments pursuant to subdivisions (b) and (c) of this section, may alternatively be appropriated for the purposes of paying debt service on any new indebtedness incurred after the effective date of the chapter of the laws of two thousand one that enacted this paragraph pursuant to the local finance law in order to effectuate the purposes described in paragraph (i) or (ii) of this subdivision. For the purpose of allocating moneys in said fund pursuant to local law among the purposes described in paragraphs (i), (ii), (iii) and (iv) of this subdivision, moneys applied to the payment of debt service under the authority of the previous sentence shall be considered by said county to have been expended for the purposes for which such indebtedness was incurred.

judgments, compromises or settlements or paying debt service on obligations of said county issued to pay said judgments, compromises or settlements. (a) In addition to the taxes imposed by section twelve hundred ten or any other provision of this article, the county of Suffolk is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend a local law, ordinance or resolution imposing within the territorial limits of said county an additional sales and compensating use tax at the rate of one-quarter of one percent for the period beginning December first, nineteen hundred ninety-seven and ending November thirtieth, two thousand seventeen, which tax shall be identical to the tax imposed by said county pursuant to section twelve hundred ten of this article. Except as hereinafter provided, all provisions of this article, including the definition and exemption provisions and the provisions relating to the administration, collection and distribution by the commissioner, shall apply for purposes of the tax imposed by this section in the same manner and with the same force and effect as if the language of this article had been incorporated in full in this section and had expressly referred to the tax imposed by this section; provided, however, that any provision relating to a maximum rate shall be calculated without reference to the additional sales and compensating use tax herein authorized. For purposes of part IV of article twenty-nine of this chapter, relating to the disposition of revenues resulting from taxes collected and administered by the commissioner, the additional sales and compensating use tax herein provided shall be deemed to be imposed under the authority of section twelve hundred ten of this article and all provisions relating to the deposit, administration and disposition of taxes, penalties and interest relating to a tax imposed by a county under the authority of section twelve hundred ten of this article shall, except as otherwise specifically provided in this section, apply to the additional sales and compensating use tax imposed pursuant to this section.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of this article to the contrary, the net collections from the tax imposed pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section shall be deposited in a special fund, to be designated as the LILCO tax certiorari payment and securitization fund to be created by said county therefor separate and apart from any other funds and accounts of the county. Moneys in such fund shall be deposited and secured in the manner provided by section ten of the general municipal law. Pending expenditure from such fund, moneys therein may be invested in the manner provided in section eleven of the general municipal law. Any interest earned or capital gain realized on the moneys so deposited or invested shall accrue to and become part of such fund. Moneys in said fund may be appropriated from and transferred to or expended in any fiscal year only for the purpose of either paying a tax certiorari judgment, or compromise or settlement thereof, payable by said county in a proceeding entitled In the Matter of the Application of LONG ISLAND LIGHTING COMPANY, Petitioner, and LONG ISLAND POWER AUTHORITY, Intervenor-Petitioner against THE ASSESSOR AND THE BOARD OF ASSESSMENT REVIEW FOR THE TOWN OF BROOKHAVEN, Respondents, and THE SHOREHAM-WADING RIVER CENTRAL SCHOOL DISTRICT AND THE COUNTY OF SUFFOLK, Intervenor-Respondents, for Review of the Tax Assessments Under Article 7 of the Real Property Tax Law for the 1984-85, 1985-86, 1986-87, 1987-88, 1988-89, 1989-90, 1990-91, and 1991-92 Tax Years (the "LILCO phase 2 judgement"), paying any other tax certiorari judgment against or compromise or settlement of a tax certiorari claim or proceeding by said county resulting from proceedings commenced by the Long Island lighting company or any successor in interest, paying a judgment against or compromise or settlement resulting from a proceeding entitled LONG ISLAND POWER AUTHORITY and LONG ISLAND LIGHTING COMPANY, against SHOREHAM-WADING RIVER CENTRAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, COUNTY OF SUFFOLK, TOWN OF BROOKHAVEN, SHOREHAM WADING RIVER PUBLIC LIBRARY DISTRICT, WADING RIVER FIRE DISTRICT, WADING RIVER LIGHTING DISTRICT (the "the "PILOT payment judgment"), or paying the principal, interest and premium, if any, on bonds or bond anticipation notes hereinafter issued by the county of Suffolk to pay any such LILCO phase 2 judgment, PILOT payment judgment or compromise or settlement thereof, or any other tax certiorari judgment against or compromise or settlement of a tax certiorari claim or proceeding by said county resulting from proceedings commenced by the Long Island lighting company or any successor in interest.

(c) At the end of the last day of the sales tax quarter in which Suffolk county shall have either paid or provided for the payment of all such judgments or compromises or settlements in full or paid or provided for the payment of the principal, interest and premium, if any, on all bonds or bond anticipation notes issued by said county to pay such judgments or compromises or settlements, the authorization granted in subdivision (a) of this section shall expire. Despite such expiration, the provisions of this section and any regulations promulgated thereunder, including the provisions with respect to assessment, payment, termination, collection and refund of such taxes, the requirements for filing returns, preservation of records and disposition of revenue shall continue in full force and effect with respect to all such taxes accrued up to the effective date of such expiration.

§ 1210-C. Sales and compensating use tax for purposes of the Schenectady county metroplex development authority. (a) In addition to the taxes authorized to be imposed by section twelve hundred ten of this article or any other provision of this article, the county of Schenectady is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend a local law, ordinance or resolution imposing within the territorial limits of said county sales and compensating use taxes at a rate which is one-half of one percent additional to the three percent rate authorized in section twelve hundred ten of this article for the period beginning on or after September first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight and ending August thirty-first, two thousand thirty-eight, which taxes shall be identical to the taxes imposed by said county pursuant to section twelve hundred ten of this article. Except as hereinafter provided, all provisions of this article, including the definition and exemption provisions and the provisions relating to the administration, collection and distribution by the commissioner, shall apply for purposes of the taxes authorized to be imposed by this section in the same manner and with the same force and effect as if the language of this article had been incorporated in full in this section and had expressly referred to the taxes authorized to be imposed by this section; provided, however, that any provision of this article relating to a maximum rate shall be calculated without reference to the additional rate authorized by this section. For purposes of part IV of this article, relating to the disposition of revenues resulting from taxes collected and administered by the commissioner, the additional sales and compensating use taxes authorized by this section shall be deemed to be imposed under the authority of section twelve hundred ten of this article and all provisions relating to the deposit, administration and disposition of taxes, penalties and interest relating to taxes imposed by a county under the authority of section twelve hundred ten of this article shall, except as otherwise specifically provided in this section, apply to the additional sales and compensating use tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this section.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of this article to the contrary, the net collections from the tax imposed pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section for the period beginning on or after September first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight and ending August thirty-first, two thousand thirty-eight shall, upon payment to the county of Schenectady, be deposited in the Schenectady metroplex development authority support fund, pursuant to subdivision nine of section twenty-six hundred sixty-one of the public authorities law, with such fund to be designated as a special dedicated support fund, to be created by said county therefor separate and apart from any other funds and accounts of the county. Pending deposit from such Schenectady metroplex development authority support fund into the general fund of the Schenectady metroplex development authority, all moneys therein may be invested in the manner provided in section eleven of the general municipal law. Any interest earned or capital gain realized on the moneys so deposited or invested shall accrue to and become part of such Schenectady metroplex development authority support fund.

(c) If the county of Schenectady does not impose the one-half of one percent rate of taxes authorized by subdivision (a) of this section during the period beginning September first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight and ending August thirty-first, two thousand thirty-eight, the county shall dedicate net collections from sales and compensating use taxes imposed during such period pursuant to the authority of section twelve hundred ten of this article at the rate of one-half of one percent and shall quarterly deposit such net collections in the Schenectady metroplex development authority support fund established in accordance with subdivision (b) of this section.

(d) On January first, nineteen hundred ninety-nine, and then quarterly thereafter, the director of finance of Schenectady county shall transfer seventy percent of all net collections from the one-half of one percent sales and compensating use tax and deposited in the Schenectady metroplex development authority support fund to the authority for deposit in the authority's general fund. The authority may use such portion of such dedicated net collections received for any lawful purpose or power of the authority. On January first, nineteen hundred ninety-nine, and then quarterly thereafter, the director of finance of Schenectady county, after transferring seventy percent of such net collections to the authority for deposit in the authority's general fund, shall transfer all remaining monies in the Schenectady metroplex development authority support fund to the Schenectady county real property tax abatement and economic development fund.

§ 1210-E. Sales and compensating use taxes within Herkimer county. In addition to the taxes imposed by section twelve hundred ten of this subpart or any other provision of law, the county of Herkimer is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws, ordinances or resolutions imposing within the territorial limits of such county additional sales and compensating use taxes at the rate of one-quarter of one percent for the period beginning December first, two thousand seven and ending November thirtieth, two thousand twenty-seven, which taxes shall be identical to the taxes imposed by such county pursuant to the authority of section twelve hundred ten of this subpart. Except as hereinafter provided, all provisions of this article, including the definition and exemption provisions and the provisions relating to the administration, collection and distribution by the commissioner, shall apply for purposes of the taxes authorized by this section in the same manner and with the same force and effect as if the language of this article had been incorporated in full in this section and had expressly referred to the taxes authorized by this section; provided, however, that any provision relating to a maximum rate shall be calculated without reference to the rate of additional sales and compensating use taxes herein authorized. For purposes of part IV of this article, relating to the disposition of revenues resulting from taxes collected and administered by the commissioner, the additional sales and compensating use taxes authorized by this section imposed under the authority of section twelve hundred ten of this subpart and all provisions relating to the deposit, administration and disposition of taxes, penalties and interest relating to taxes imposed by a county under the authority of section twelve hundred ten of this subpart shall, except as otherwise provided in this section, apply to the additional sales and compensating use taxes authorized by this section.

§ 1210-F. Sales and compensating use tax for purposes of the Suffolk county water quality restoration fund. (a) In addition to the taxes imposed by section twelve hundred ten, section twelve hundred ten-A, or any other provision of this article, the county of Suffolk is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend a local law, ordinance or resolution, subject to a mandatory referendum, in accordance with the provisions set forth in section twenty-three of the municipal home rule law, imposing within the territorial limits of said county an additional sales and compensating use tax at the rate of one-eighth of one percent for the period beginning March first, two thousand twenty-four and ending February twenty-ninth, two thousand sixty, which tax shall be identical to the tax imposed by said county pursuant to section twelve hundred ten of this article. Provided, however, that such local law, ordinance or resolution shall not take effect unless such county complies with the provisions of subdivisions (d) and (e) of section twelve hundred ten of this subpart and provides notice to the commissioner in accordance with the provisions of subdivision (d) of such section of the approval of such resolution by the electors. Except as hereinafter provided, all provisions of this article, including the definition and exemption provisions and the provisions relating to the administration, collection and distribution by the commissioner, shall apply for purposes of the tax imposed by this section in the same manner and with the same force and effect as if the language of this article had been incorporated in full in this section and had expressly referred to the tax imposed by this section; provided, however, that any provision relating to a maximum rate shall be calculated without reference to the additional sales and compensating use tax herein authorized. For purposes of part IV of this article, relating to the disposition of revenues resulting from taxes collected and administered by the commissioner, the additional sales and compensating use tax herein provided shall be deemed to be imposed under the authority of section twelve hundred ten of this article and all provisions relating to the deposit, administration and disposition of taxes, penalties and interest relating to a tax imposed by a county under the authority of section twelve hundred ten of this article shall, except as otherwise specifically provided in this section, apply to the additional sales and compensating use tax imposed pursuant to this section.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of this article to the contrary, the net collections from the tax imposed pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section for the period beginning March first, two thousand twenty-four and ending February twenty-ninth, two thousand sixty shall, upon payment to the county of Suffolk, be deposited in a special fund, to be designated as the water quality restoration fund to be created by said county therefor separate and apart from any other funds and accounts of the county. Moneys in such fund shall be deposited and secured in the manner provided by section ten of the general municipal law and in no event shall moneys deposited be transferred to any other account. In addition to the net collections from the tax, deposits into the fund may include revenues of Suffolk county from whatever source and may include the acceptance of gifts. Pending expenditure from such fund, moneys therein may be invested in the manner provided in section eleven of the general municipal law. Any interest earned or capital gain realized on the moneys so deposited or invested shall accrue to and become part of such fund. Moneys in said fund may be appropriated from and transferred to or expended in any fiscal year only for the purposes authorized by subdivision eleven of section two hundred fifty-six-b of the county law.

and one-half or three percent which rate shall be uniform for all taxes imposed pursuant to the authority of this section; provided, however, where a city imposes a tax under the authority of both sections twelve hundred ten and twelve hundred eleven, the aggregate rate of the taxes imposed pursuant to both sections cannot exceed three percent.

(c) All actions taken by majority votes of school authorities pursuant to this section shall be deemed resolutions under this article and shall be official records of the school districts in which they are taken.

(d) A local law or resolution imposing any tax pursuant to this section, increasing or decreasing the rate of such tax, repealing or suspending such tax or providing for the credit or refund described in clause six of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred nineteen of this chapter must go into effect only on one of the following dates: March first, June first, September first or December first, subject to further requirement as to effective date provided for in subdivision (b) of this section; provided, that a local law or resolution providing for a refund or credit described in subdivision (d) of section eleven hundred nineteen of this chapter or repealing such provision so provided must go into effect only on March first, subject to further requirement as to effective date provided for in subdivision (b) of this section. No such local law or resolution shall be effective unless a certified copy of such local law or resolution is mailed by registered or certified mail to the commissioner at the commissioner's office in Albany at least ninety days prior to the date it is to become effective. However, the commissioner may waive and reduce such ninety-day minimum notice requirement to a mailing of such certified copy by registered or certified mail within a period of not less than thirty days prior to such effective date if the commissioner deems such action to be consistent with the commissioner's duties under section twelve hundred fifty of this article and the commissioner acts by resolution. Where the restriction provided for in section twelve hundred twenty-three of this article as to the effective date of a tax and the notice requirement provided for therein are applicable and have not been waived, the restriction and notice requirement in section twelve hundred twenty-three of this article shall also apply.

(e) Certified copies of any local law or resolution described in subdivision (d) of this section shall also be filed with the city clerk, state department of education, the secretary of state and the state comptroller within five days after the date it is enacted. Certified copies of any other local law or resolution enacted pursuant to this section shall be filed with the state tax commission, the city clerk, the state department of education, the secretary of state and the state comptroller within five days after the date it is enacted.

§ 1212. Certain taxes of school districts administered by commissioner. (a) Any school district which is coterminous with, partly within or wholly within a city having a population of less than one hundred twenty-five thousand, is hereby authorized and empowered, by majority vote of the whole number of its school authorities, to impose for school district purposes, within the territorial limits of such school district and without discrimination between residents and nonresidents thereof, the taxes described in subdivision (b) of section eleven hundred five (but excluding the tax on prepaid telephone calling services) and the taxes described in clauses (E) and (H) of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred ten, including the transitional provisions in subdivision (b) of section eleven hundred six of this chapter, so far as such provisions can be made applicable to the taxes imposed by such school district and with such limitations and special provisions as are set forth in this article, such taxes to be imposed at the rate of one-half, one, one and one-half, two, two and one-half or three percent which rate shall be uniform for all portions and all types of receipts and uses subject to such taxes. In respect to such taxes, all provisions of the resolution imposing them, except as to rate and except as otherwise provided herein, shall be identical with the corresponding provisions in such article twenty-eight of this chapter, including the applicable definition and exemption provisions of such article, so far as the provisions of such article twenty-eight of this chapter can be made applicable to the taxes imposed by such school district and with such limitations and special provisions as are set forth in this article. The taxes described in subdivision (b) of section eleven hundred five (but excluding the tax on prepaid telephone calling service) and clauses (E) and (H) of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred ten, including the transitional provision in subdivision (b) of such section eleven hundred six of this chapter, may not be imposed by such school district unless the resolution imposes such taxes so as to include all portions and all types of receipts and uses subject to tax under such subdivision (but excluding the tax on prepaid telephone calling service) and clauses. Provided, however, that, where a school district imposes such taxes, such taxes shall omit the provision for refund or credit contained in subdivision (d) of section eleven hundred nineteen of this chapter with respect to such taxes described in such subdivision (b) of section eleven hundred five unless such school district elects to provide such provision or, if so elected, to repeal such provision, and shall omit the exemptions provided in paragraph two of subdivision (ee) and paragraph two of subdivision (ii) of section eleven hundred fifteen of this chapter unless such school district elects otherwise, and shall omit the exemption provided in paragraph two of subdivision (kk) of section eleven hundred fifteen of this chapter unless such school district elects otherwise.

(b) A tax so imposed shall be in addition to any tax which a county or city may impose or may be imposing pursuant to this article or any other law, and may be so imposed notwithstanding any inconsistent provisions of this article or of any other law and notwithstanding that the county or city may impose or may be imposing the taxes authorized by section twelve hundred ten at the maximum rate authorized therefor.

(c) No such action to impose the taxes or provide or repeal the exemptions authorized by subdivision (a) of this section shall be taken by a school district until after the school authorities thereof shall have held a public hearing thereon, after notice given in the manner required by law for the giving of notice of the annual meeting of the school district, except that if it be a city school district such notice shall be given in the manner required by law for a public hearing on its tentative budget.

(d) All actions taken by majority votes of school authorities pursuant to this section shall be deemed resolutions under this article and shall be official records of the school district in which they are taken.

(e) A resolution imposing a tax pursuant to this section, increasing or decreasing the rate of such tax, or repealing or suspending such tax must go into effect only on one of the following dates: March first, June first, September first or December first; provided, that a resolution providing for the refund or credit described in subdivision (d) of section eleven hundred nineteen of this chapter or repealing such provision must go into effect only on March first. No such resolution shall be effective unless a certified copy of such resolution is mailed by registered or certified mail to the commissioner at the commissioner's office in Albany at least ninety days prior to the date it is to become effective. However, the commissioner may waive and reduce such ninety-day minimum notice requirement to a mailing of such certified copy by registered or certified mail within a period of not less than thirty days prior to such effective date if the commissioner deems such action to be consistent with the commissioner's duties under section twelve hundred fifty of this article and the commissioner acts by resolution.

(f) Certified copies of any resolution described in subdivision (e) of this section shall also be filed with the state department of education, the secretary of state and the state comptroller within five days after the date it is enacted. Certified copies of any other resolution enacted pursuant to this section shall be filed with the commissioner, the state department of education, the secretary of state and the state comptroller within five days after the date it is enacted.

§ 1212-A. Certain taxes of cities of one million or more administered by commissioner of taxation and finance.--(a) Any city in this state having a population of one million or more, acting through its local legislative body, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in any such city: (1) a tax on receipts from every sale of the service of providing parking, garaging or storing for motor vehicles by persons operating a garage (other than a garage which is part of premises occupied solely as a private one or two family dwelling), parking lot or other place of business engaged in providing parking, garaging or storing for motor vehicles, in any county within such city with a population density in excess of fifty thousand persons per square mile, at the rate of eight per centum, on receipts from every sale of such services, except receipts from the sale of such services to an individual resident of such county when such services are rendered on a monthly or longer-term basis at the principal location for the parking, garaging or storing of a motor vehicle owned or leased (but only in the case of a lease for a term of one year or more) by such individual resident. The population of a county shall be determined by reference to the latest federal census.

(i) For purposes of the tax authorized by paragraph one of this subdivision, the following terms shall mean:

(A) "Individual resident." A natural person who maintains in the county in which such tax is authorized to be imposed a permanent place of abode which is such person's primary residence.

(B) "Motor vehicle." A motor vehicle which is registered pursuant to the vehicle and traffic law at the address of the primary residence referred to in clause (A) of this subparagraph, or which is registered pursuant to the vehicle and traffic law and leased to an individual resident at the address of the primary residence referred to in clause (A) of this subparagraph, and which is not used in carrying on any trade, business or commercial activity.

(C) A "lease for a term of one year or more" shall not include any lease the term of which is less than one year, irrespective of the fact that the cumulative period for which such lease may be in effect is one year or more as the result of the right to exercise an option to renew or other like provision.

(ii) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, for purposes of implementing the exemption of individual residents from the tax authorized by this paragraph, the commissioner of taxation and finance shall, subject to such terms and conditions as it may consider necessary, delegate to the commissioner of finance of any city imposing such tax the power and authority to develop and administer reasonable and necessary procedures, including the use of exemption certificates for presentation to vendors, for determining entitlement to exemption from such tax, and to prescribe, subject to the approval of the commissioner of taxation and finance, rules and regulations necessary and appropriate in carrying out such responsibilities.

(iii) Any person who, in violation of any provision of law enacted pursuant to the authorization contained in this paragraph or any rule or regulation promulgated thereunder, obtains or uses a certificate of exemption relating to the exemption from the tax authorized by this paragraph, shall, if such violation was due to negligence or intentional disregard of such provision or rule or regulation (but without intent to defraud), be liable for a penalty of not more than one hundred dollars for each such violation, and, if such violation was due to fraud, be liable for a penalty of not more than five hundred dollars for each such violation. The commissioner of finance of any city imposing such tax shall have the power, in his discretion, to waive, reduce or compromise any penalty imposed pursuant to this paragraph. The penalties authorized by this subparagraph shall be in addition to any penalty provided by section eleven hundred forty-five of this chapter, and shall be paid and disposed of, and, if unpaid, shall be determined, assessed, collected and enforced, in the same manner as the tax authorized by this paragraph.

(iv) Notwithstanding this paragraph, section eleven hundred thirty-nine of this chapter or any other provision of law to the contrary, an individual resident shall not be entitled to a refund or credit with respect to any amount of additional tax which was paid to a vendor prior to the date such individual resident presented to the vendor a valid certificate of exemption from such tax.

(2) a tax, at the same uniform rate, but at a rate not to exceed four and one-half per centum, in multiples of one-half of one per centum, on the receipts from every sale of the following services: beauty, barbering, hair restoring, manicuring, pedicuring, electrolysis, massage services and similar services, and every sale of services by weight control salons, health salons, gymnasiums, turkish and sauna bath and similar establishments and every charge for the use of such facilities, whether or not any tangible personal property is transferred in conjunction therewith; but excluding services rendered by a physician, osteopath, dentist, nurse, physiotherapist, chiropractor, podiatrist, optometrist, ophthalmic dispenser or a person performing similar services licensed under title VIII of the education law, as amended, and excluding such services when performed on pets and other animals.

(3) a tax, at the same uniform rate, but at a rate not to exceed four and one-half per centum, in multiples of one-half of one per centum, on the receipts from every sale of any or all of the following services in whole or in part: credit rating, credit reporting, credit adjustment and collection services, including, but not limited to, those services provided by mercantile and consumer credit rating or reporting bureaus or agencies and credit adjustment or collection bureaus or agencies, whether rendered in written or oral form or in any other manner, except to the extent otherwise taxable under article twenty-eight of this chapter; notwithstanding the foregoing, collection services shall not include those services performed by a law office or a law and collection office, the maintenance or conduct of which constitutes the practice of law, if the services are performed by an attorney at law who has been duly licensed and admitted to practice law in this state. The local law imposing the taxes authorized by this paragraph may provide for exclusions and exemptions in addition to those provided for in such paragraph. Provided, however, that the tax hereby authorized shall not be imposed after November thirtieth, two thousand twenty-nine.

(b) (1) All provisions set forth in article twenty-eight of this chapter applicable to the taxes imposed under section eleven hundred five, including the definition and exemption provisions of such article, shall apply in respect to a tax imposed under the authority of subdivision (a) of this section, except as to rate and except as otherwise provided herein. A sale of tangible personal property to a person for use by him in performing a service subject to the tax imposed under the authority of paragraph two or three of subdivision (a) of this section shall not be deemed a purchase for resale for purposes of the taxes imposed by article twenty-eight or pursuant to the authority of this article.

(2) However, with respect to a tax imposed under the authority of paragraph three of subdivision (a) of this section a refund or credit equal to the amount of the sale or compensating use tax imposed by section eleven hundred seven of this chapter and paid on the sale or use of tangible personal property which is later used by such purchaser in performing a service subject to tax under such paragraph shall be allowed such purchaser against the tax imposed pursuant to such paragraph and collected by such person on the sale of such service if such property has become a physical component part of the property upon which the service is performed or has been transferred to the purchaser of the service in conjunction with the performance of the service subject to tax.

(3) Any tax imposed under the authority of subdivision (a) of this section shall be paid with respect to receipts from all sales of services on or after the effective date of such tax although rendered or agreed to be rendered under a prior contract. Where a service is sold on a monthly, quarterly, yearly or other term basis, the charge for such service shall be subject to the tax imposed pursuant to the authority of such subdivision to the extent that such charge is applicable to any period on or after the date such tax becomes effective, and such charge shall be apportioned on the basis of the ratio of the number of days falling within such period to the total number of days in the full term or period.

(4) Wages, salaries and other compensation paid by an employer to an employee for performing as an employee the services described in subdivision (a) of this section are not receipts subject to the taxes imposed under such subdivision.

(5) All taxes imposed pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section shall be administered and collected by the commissioner, as provided in subpart B of part III, and shall be distributed by the commissioner as provided in part IV of this article.

(c) A tax so imposed pursuant to subdivision (a) shall be in addition to any other tax which a city may impose or may be imposing pursuant to this article or any other law, and may be so imposed notwithstanding any inconsistent provisions of this article or of any other law and notwithstanding that the city may impose or may be imposing the taxes authorized by section twelve hundred ten at the maximum rate authorized therefor.

(d) A local law imposing a tax pursuant to this section, increasing or decreasing the rate of such tax, or repealing or suspending such tax must go into effect only on one of the following dates: March first, June first, September first or December first. No such local law shall be effective unless a certified copy of such local law is mailed by registered or certified mail to the commissioner at the commissioner's office in Albany at least ninety days prior to the date it is to become effective. However, the commissioner may waive and reduce such ninety-day minimum notice requirement to a mailing of such certified copy by registered or certified mail within a period of not less than thirty days prior to such effective date if the commissioner deems such action to be consistent with the commissioner's duties under section twelve hundred fifty of this article and the commissioner acts by resolution.

(e) Certified copies of any local law described in subdivision (d) of this section shall also be filed with the city clerk, the secretary of state and the state comptroller within five days after the date it is enacted. Certified copies of any other local law enacted pursuant to this section shall be filed with the commissioner, the city clerk, the secretary of state and the state comptroller within five days after the date it is enacted.

§ 1213. Deliveries outside the jurisdiction where sale is made. Where a sale of tangible personal property or services, including prepaid telephone calling services, but not including other services described in subdivision (b) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter, including an agreement therefor, is made in any city, county or school district, but the property sold, the property upon which the services were performed or prepaid telephone calling or other service is or will be delivered to the purchaser elsewhere, such sale shall not be subject to tax by such city, county or school district. However, if delivery occurs or will occur in a city, county or school district imposing a tax on the sale or use of such property, prepaid telephone calling or other services, the vendor shall be required to collect from the purchaser, as provided in section twelve hundred fifty-four of this article, the aggregate sales or compensating use taxes imposed by the city, if any, county and school district in which delivery occurs or will occur, for distribution by the commissioner to such taxing jurisdiction or jurisdictions. For the purposes of this section delivery shall be deemed to include transfer of possession to the purchaser and the receiving of the property or of the service, including prepaid telephone calling service, by the purchaser. Notwithstanding the foregoing, where a transportation service described in paragraph ten of subdivision (c) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter begins in one jurisdiction but ends in another jurisdiction, any tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this article shall be due the jurisdiction or jurisdictions where the service commenced.

§ 1214. Certain sales of motor vehicles and vessels: proof required for registration of motor vehicles and vessels. (a) (1) Except as provided in paragraph three of this subdivision, where a sale of a motor vehicle or vessel, including an agreement therefor, is made in any city, county or school district to a nonresident thereof, such sale shall not be subject to tax by such city, county or school district, despite the fact that such motor vehicle or vessel is delivered to the purchaser within such jurisdiction, provided the purchaser furnishes to the vendor, prior to taking delivery, proof satisfactory to the commissioner that the purchaser:

- (i) is a nonresident of the jurisdiction in which the sale is made,
- (ii) has no permanent place of abode within such jurisdiction,
- (iii) is not engaged in carrying on in such jurisdiction any employment, trade, business or profession in which the motor vehicle or vessel will be used in such jurisdiction, and such other proof as the commissioner may require to ensure proper administration of the taxes imposed under the authority of sections twelve hundred ten and twelve hundred eleven of this article.

(2) However, if such purchaser resides in a city, county or school district imposing a tax on the use of such motor vehicle or vessel, the vendor shall be required to collect from such purchaser, as provided in section twelve hundred fifty-four of this article, the aggregate compensating use taxes imposed by the city, if any, county and school district in which such purchaser resides, for distribution by the commissioner to such taxing jurisdiction or jurisdictions.

(3) Provided, however, the exclusion from tax provided in paragraph one of this subdivision shall not apply where the receipts from such sale would have been excluded from tax pursuant to section eleven hundred seventeen of this chapter but for failure to satisfy either the condition set forth in paragraph two of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred seventeen of this chapter or the condition set forth in paragraph three of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred seventeen of this chapter.

(b) A vendor shall not be liable for failure to collect tax on such sale of a motor vehicle or vessel provided the proof furnished to such vendor by the purchaser pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section shows that the purchaser's residence is not in any city, county or school district which imposes a tax on the use of such motor vehicle or vessel, and provided the vendor keeps such proof available for inspection by the commissioner and further provided that such proof is not known by the vendor, prior to making physical delivery of the motor vehicle or vessel, to be false.

(c) For purposes of subdivisions (a) and (b) of this section, the term:

(1) "Motor vehicle" shall include a motor vehicle as defined in section one hundred twenty-five of the vehicle and traffic law and a trailer as defined in section one hundred fifty-six of the vehicle and traffic law.

(2) "Vessel" shall (i) include a vessel as defined in section twenty-two hundred fifty of the vehicle and traffic law, including any inboard or outboard motor and any trailer, as defined in section one hundred fifty-six of the vehicle and traffic law, sold with the vessel for use with such vessel; (ii) but not include a vessel weighing two hundred pounds or less, inclusive of any mast and sail or other rigging, which is not equipped with a motor and which is exempt from registration under paragraph (g) of subdivision one of section twenty-two hundred fifty-two of the vehicle and traffic law.

(d) The commissioner of motor vehicles shall not issue a registration certificate, except in renewal of registration by the same owner, (1) for any passenger motor vehicle not used to carry passengers for hire, any snowmobile, as defined in section twenty-two hundred twenty-one of the vehicle and traffic law, trailer, as defined in section one hundred fifty-six of the vehicle and traffic law, vessel, as defined in section twenty-two hundred fifty of such law, or all terrain vehicle, as defined in section twenty-two hundred eighty-one of such law, which is owned by an individual whose residence is within any city or county imposing the taxes authorized by subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten of this article, or (2) for any motor vehicle, snowmobile, trailer, vessel or all terrain vehicle except as provided in paragraph one of this subdivision, owned by a person whose residence or business address is within any such city or county, except upon proof, in a form approved by the commissioner and the commissioner of motor vehicles that any tax imposed by such city or county with respect to the sale of the motor vehicle, snowmobile, trailer, vessel or all terrain vehicle to the registrant or his use thereof has been paid, or that no such tax is due.

§ 1215. Definitions. (a) As used in this article, the term "county" shall mean any county in this state, except a county wholly within a city.

(b) As used in this article, except where otherwise expressly provided in this article, the term "population" shall mean the number of people in the particular taxing jurisdiction as shown by the latest federal census.

§ 1216. Special transitional provisions for utility services. Notwithstanding sections three and five of chapter ninety-three of the laws of nineteen hundred sixty-five, as amended, the sale, consumption or use of gas, electricity, refrigeration and steam, and gas, electric, refrigeration and steam service of whatever nature, for which a bill is rendered based on meters read on or after August first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, where one-half or less of the number of days included in the month or other period billed are days subsequent to July thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, shall continue to be subject to the applicable tax on such sales, consumption or use as imposed pursuant to the authority of chapter eight hundred seventy-three of the laws of nineteen hundred thirty-four, as amended, or the applicable tax on such sales, consumption or use as imposed pursuant to the authority of sections one, two or three-a of chapter two hundred seventy-eight of the laws of nineteen hundred forty-seven, as amended. Notwithstanding sections three and five of chapter ninety-three of the laws of nineteen hundred sixty-five, as amended, such taxes shall also apply to sales, consumption or use of telephone or telegraph service shown on all bills dated before August first, nineteen hundred sixty-five covering periods subsequent to July thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five.

§ 1217. General transitional provisions. (a) For the purposes of any local law, ordinance or resolution imposing a local tax pursuant to the authority of section twelve hundred ten, twelve hundred eleven, twelve hundred twelve or twelve hundred twelve-A or increasing the rate of such tax, all references in section eleven hundred six to August first, nineteen hundred sixty-five shall be read as referring to the effective date of such local law, ordinance or resolution, all references in said section to April first, nineteen hundred sixty-five shall be read as referring to a date four months prior to the effective date of such local law, ordinance or resolution and the reference in subdivision (b) of section eleven hundred six to July thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five shall be read as referring to the day immediately before the effective date of such local law, ordinance or resolution.

(b) In applying the provisions of section eleven hundred nineteen with respect to pre-existing lump sum or unit price construction contracts to a tax on retail sales of tangible personal property or a compensating use tax imposed pursuant to the authority of section twelve hundred ten or twelve hundred eleven, all references in said section to the date of the enactment of article twenty-eight or the enactment of a law increasing the rate of tax imposed under said article shall be read as referring to the date of the enactment of the local law, ordinance or resolution imposing such local tax or increasing the rate thereof.

§ 1218. Incorporation of articles twenty-eight and twenty-nine into local enactments. A local law, ordinance or resolution imposing a tax pursuant to subpart B of part I of this article shall, except as otherwise provided in this article, be deemed to have incorporated therein all of the provisions in articles twenty-eight and twenty-nine of this chapter and any amendment to the provisions in such articles to the extent such provisions and amending acts are otherwise applicable to the taxes imposed under such local law, ordinance or resolution by a city, county or school district.

PART II--LIMITATIONS ON AUTHORITY AND EXEMPTIONS

SUBPART A--GENERAL

§ 1220. Territorial limitations. Any tax imposed under the authority of this article shall apply only within the territorial limits of the city, county or school district imposing the tax, except that where the taxes described in subdivision (b) of section eleven hundred five and clauses (E), (G) and (H) of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred ten or the tax described in subdivision (e) of section eleven hundred five is imposed by a city, as provided in section twelve hundred ten or twelve hundred eleven of this chapter, any establishment located partially within such city and partially within a town or towns and receiving or using any services or utilities provided by the city shall be deemed to be wholly within such city for the purposes of such taxes.

§ 1221. Taxes not authorized. (a) This article shall not be construed as authorizing the imposition of:

(1) a tax on incomes or upon the transfers of estates of deceased persons,

(2) a tax upon gross income from the operation of hotels, multiple dwellings or office buildings by persons in the business of operating or leasing sleeping or parlor railroad cars or of operating railroads other than street surface, rapid transit, subways and elevated railroads,

(3) except in accordance with the provisions of section twenty-b of the general city law, a tax upon gross incomes, gross operating incomes or gross receipts of persons subject to taxation under the provisions of section one hundred eighty-six-a or one hundred eighty-six-e of this chapter, but this clause shall not be deemed to restrict the power to tax persons not subject to taxation under such section of this chapter who are otherwise subject to taxation under subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred one, nor the power to provide for credits against any tax imposed pursuant to such subdivision, nor to limit the rates of taxes authorized to be imposed by such subdivision (a) of such section twelve hundred one, or

(4) a tax upon interest or dividends received from a corporation by a person referred to in this section.

§ 1222. Taxes to be in addition to others. Except as expressly otherwise provided in this article, any tax imposed under the authority of this article shall be in addition to any and all other taxes authorized or imposed under any other provision of law. This article shall not be construed as limiting the power of any city, county or school district to impose any other tax which it is authorized to impose under any other provision of law.

§ 1223. Limitations on rates. (a) No transaction taxable under sections twelve hundred two through twelve hundred four of this article shall be taxed pursuant to this article by any county or by any city located therein, or by both, at an aggregate rate in excess of the highest rate set forth in the applicable subdivision of section twelve hundred one of this article or, in the case of any taxes imposed pursuant to the authority of section twelve hundred ten or twelve hundred eleven of this article (other than taxes imposed by the county of Nassau, Erie, Steuben, Cattaraugus, Suffolk, Oneida, Genesee, Greene, Franklin, Hamilton, Herkimer, Tioga, Orleans, Allegany, Ulster, Albany, Rensselaer, Tompkins, Wyoming, Columbia, Schuyler, Rockland, Chenango, Monroe, Chemung, Seneca, Sullivan, Wayne, Livingston, Schenectady, Montgomery, Delaware, Clinton, Niagara, Yates, Lewis, Essex, Dutchess, Schoharie, Putnam, Chautauqua, Orange, Oswego, Ontario, Jefferson, St. Lawrence, Westchester or Onondaga and by the county of Cortland and the city of Cortland and by the county of Broome and the city of Binghamton and by the county of Cayuga and the city of Auburn and by the county of Otsego and the city of Oneonta and by the county of Madison and the city of Oneida and by the county of Fulton and the city of Gloversville or the city of Johnstown as provided in section twelve hundred ten of this article) at a rate in excess of three percent, except that, in the city of Yonkers, in the city of Mount Vernon, in the city of New Rochelle, in the city of Fulton, in the city of Oswego, and in the city of White Plains, the rate may not be in excess of four percent, and except that in the city of Poughkeepsie in the county of Dutchess, if such county withdraws from the metropolitan commuter transportation district pursuant to section twelve hundred seventy-nine-b of the public authorities law and if the revenues from a three-eighths percent rate of such tax imposed by such county, pursuant to the authority of section twelve hundred ten of this article, are required by local laws, ordinances or resolutions to be set aside for mass transportation purposes, the rate may not be in excess of three and three-eighths percent.

(b) If a transaction is taxed by both a county and a city, the rate of tax on such transaction imposed by the county or city, not having prior right thereto pursuant to section twelve hundred twenty-four, shall be deemed to be reduced (or the entire tax eliminated, if necessary) to the extent necessary to comply with the foregoing requirement. A tax imposed by a county upon any transaction, to the extent that it would require a reduction in any tax rate imposed thereon by a city, shall not become effective in respect to any transaction taxed by such city (or in respect of other similar transactions outside of the city which, if occurring in such city, would be subject to such city tax) before the commencement of the city's next succeeding fiscal year and then only if the county shall have given notice to such city of its imposition of a tax on such transaction at least six months prior to the commencement of such fiscal year, provided however that the local legislative body of such city may waive the requirement of such notice and the postponement of the effective date of such tax. A city tax upon any transaction, to the extent that it would require a reduction in any tax rate imposed by a county thereon, shall not become effective in respect of any transaction taxed by such county before the commencement of the county's next succeeding fiscal year and then only if the city shall have given notice to such county of its imposition of a tax on such transaction at least six months prior to the commencement of such fiscal year, provided, however, that the local legislative body of such county may waive the requirement of such notice and postponement of the effective date of such tax. However, whether or not the six months' notice requirement provided in this section has been waived, a tax imposed pursuant to the authority of section twelve hundred ten or twelve hundred eleven shall still be subject to the requirements provided for in the first three sentences of subdivision (d) of such sections and in subdivision (e) of such sections.

§ 1224. Prior rights assigned counties and cities. (a) Where a county contains one or more cities of less than one million, such county shall have prior right to impose:

(1) any or all of the taxes described in subdivisions (c), (d) and (e) of section twelve hundred one, as authorized by section twelve hundred two.

(2) all of the taxes described in article twenty-eight as authorized by subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten, to the extent of one-half the maximum rates authorized under such subdivision, except as otherwise provided in this section.

(b) Each city in such a county shall have prior right to impose:

(1) any or all of the taxes described in subdivisions (b), (d), (e) and (f) of section eleven hundred five, and, where the tax described in subdivision (b) of section eleven hundred five is imposed, all of the taxes described in clauses (E), (G) and (H) of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred ten of this chapter, as authorized by subdivision (b) of section twelve hundred ten of this article.

(2) all of the taxes described in article twenty-eight as authorized by subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten, or by section twelve hundred eleven, to the extent of one-half the maximum aggregate rates authorized under such subdivision (a) and such section twelve hundred eleven, except as otherwise provided in this section.

(c) However, where a county containing a city with a population of one hundred twenty-five thousand or more imposes all of the taxes described in article twenty-eight as authorized by subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten (1) for county purposes and (2) for educational purposes or for allocation and distribution to cities and the area outside cities, in accordance with section twelve hundred sixty-two, the county shall have the prior right to impose such taxes for county purposes at not to exceed one-third of the maximum rate authorized under subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten and prior right to impose such taxes for educational purposes or for such allocation and distribution, or both, at not to exceed one-third of such maximum rate. In such event, a city in the county shall have prior right to impose such taxes at not to exceed one-third of such maximum rate.

(c-1) Notwithstanding any other provision of law: (1) Where a county containing one or more cities with a population of less than one million has elected the exemption for residential solar energy systems equipment and electricity provided in subdivision (ee) of section eleven hundred fifteen of this chapter, the exemption for commercial solar energy systems equipment and electricity provided in subdivision (ii) of such section eleven hundred fifteen, or both such exemptions, a city within such county shall have the prior right to impose tax on such exempt equipment and/or electricity to the extent of one half of the maximum rates authorized under subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten of this article;

(2) Where a city of less than one million has elected the exemption for residential solar energy systems equipment and electricity provided in subdivision (ee) of section eleven hundred fifteen of this chapter, the exemption for commercial solar energy systems equipment and electricity provided in subdivision (ii) of such section eleven hundred fifteen, or both such exemptions, the county in which such city is located shall have the prior right to impose tax on such exempt equipment and/or electricity to the extent of one half of the maximum rates authorized under subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten of this article.

(c-2) Notwithstanding any other provision of law: (1) Where a county containing one or more cities with a population of less than one million has elected the exemption for commercial fuel cell electricity generating systems equipment and electricity generated by such equipment provided in subdivision (kk) of such section eleven hundred fifteen, a city within such county shall have the prior right to impose tax on such exempt equipment and/or electricity to the extent of one half of the maximum rates authorized under subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten of this article;

(2) Where a city of less than one million has elected the exemption for commercial fuel cell electricity generating systems equipment and electricity generated by such equipment provided in subdivision (kk) of such section eleven hundred fifteen, the county in which such city is located shall have the prior right to impose tax on such exempt equipment and/or electricity to the extent of one half of the maximum rates authorized under subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten of this article.

(hh) Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this section or other law to the contrary:

(1) If a county, other than a county to which subdivision (c) of this section applies and other than Oswego county, and a city in the county each impose sales and compensating use taxes pursuant to the authority of subpart B of part one of this article, and

(A) neither elects to tax motor fuel and diesel motor fuel as described in subdivision (m) of section eleven hundred eleven of this chapter, the provisions of paragraph two of subdivisions (a) and (b) of this section shall apply to their rates of tax on motor fuel and diesel motor fuel in such city; or

(B) both elect to tax motor fuel and diesel motor fuel as described in subdivision (m) of section eleven hundred eleven of this chapter, each shall have the prior right to the taxes on such fuels as described in subdivision (m) of section eleven hundred eleven of this chapter, to the extent of one-half the maximum rate authorized for such county or city, without regard to whether they have chosen the two dollar or three dollar base on which such taxes may be imposed; or

the maximum rate, and the one that did make such election shall have the prior right to impose taxes on such fuels described in subdivision (m) of section eleven hundred eleven of this chapter, to the extent of one-half the maximum rate authorized for such locality but with regard to whether it chose the two dollar or three dollar base on which such taxes may be imposed.

(2) If a county to which subdivision (c) of this section applies and a city in such county each impose sales and compensating use taxes pursuant to the authority of subpart B of part one of this article, and extent of one-third the maximum rate authorized, and the county shall have the prior right to impose taxes on such fuels described in subdivision (m) of section eleven hundred eleven of this chapter, to the extent of two-thirds the maximum rate authorized for such county but with regard to whether it chose the two dollar or three dollar base on which such taxes may be imposed.

(3) In Oswego county, references in subparagraph (A) of paragraph one of subdivision (s) of this section to tax imposed by a city in such county at the maximum rate authorized or in subparagraph (B) of subdivision (s) of this section to the taxes described in subdivision (b) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter shall include tax imposed by the city pursuant to any election it makes under subdivision (m) of section eleven hundred eleven of this chapter, regardless of whether such city chooses the two dollar or three dollar base on which such tax may be imposed.

(4) Nothing in this subdivision or in subdivision (m) of section eleven hundred eleven of this chapter shall be construed to affect the authority of a county or city to impose an additional rate of tax pursuant to this article, provided that, if a county or city makes the election described in subdivision (m) of section eleven hundred eleven of this chapter, such election shall apply uniformly to any tax it imposes pursuant to the authority of subpart B of part one of this article, including any additional rate of tax it is authorized to impose.

(5) For purposes of this section, the terms "maximum rate authorized" and "maximum rate" shall each have the same meaning as in subdivisions (a), (b) and (c) of this section.

* (ii) The county of St. Lawrence shall have the sole right to impose the additional one percent rate of tax which such county is authorized to impose pursuant to the authority of section twelve hundred ten of this article. Such additional rate of tax shall be in addition to any other tax which such county may impose or may be imposing pursuant to this article or any other law and such additional rate of tax shall not be subject to preemption. (jj) The county of Westchester shall have the sole right to impose the additional one percent rate of tax which such county is authorized to impose pursuant to the authority of section twelve hundred ten of this article in the area of the county outside the cities of Mount Vernon, New Rochelle, White Plains and Yonkers. Such additional rate of tax shall be in addition to any other tax which such county may impose or may be imposing pursuant to this article or any other law and such additional rate of tax shall not be subject to preemption. The maximum three percent rate referred to in this section shall be calculated without reference to the additional one percent rate of tax which the county of Westchester is authorized and empowered to adopt pursuant to section twelve hundred ten of this article.

SUBPART B--TAXES ADMINISTERED BY CITIES, COUNTIES AND SCHOOL DISTRICTS

§ 1230. Exempt organizations. Any tax imposed under the authority of sections twelve hundred one through twelve hundred five shall not be imposed on any transaction by or with the following:

(a) The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or Canada) or political subdivisions where it is the purchaser, user or consumer;

(b) The United States of America, and any of its agencies and instrumentalities insofar as it is immune from taxation where it is the purchaser, user or consumer;

(c) The United Nations or other international organizations of which the United States of America is a member; and

(d) Any corporation, or association, or trust, or community chest, fund or foundation, organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting to influence legislation; provided, however, that this subdivision shall not apply to an organization operated for the primary purpose of carrying on a trade or business for profit, whether or not all of its profits are payable to one or more organizations described in this subdivision. Nothing in this subdivision shall prohibit any organization exempt from taxation pursuant to this section from collecting the taxes imposed under the authority of section twelve hundred two-f from individuals who are doing business with such exempt organization and who are not exempt from taxation pursuant to this section.

§ 1231. Certain restrictions against double taxation. Except as expressly otherwise provided in this article, nothing in this article shall limit or prevent the imposition of a tax on gross income or a tax on gross receipts of persons, firms and corporations doing business in any city with a population of one million or more. No such person, firm or corporation, however, shall be subject to the imposition under the provisions of this article of more than one tax by any such city on gross income or gross receipts for the privilege of doing business.

SUBPART C--TAXES ADMINISTERED BY STATE TAX COMMISSION

§ 1235. Taxes paid to other jurisdictions. (a) With respect to taxes imposed pursuant to subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten and pursuant to section twelve hundred eleven, the use of tangible personal property purchased at retail and of any of the services subject to the sales tax shall be exempt from the compensating use tax authorized under subdivision (a) of such section twelve hundred ten and under section twelve hundred eleven, to the extent that a retail sales tax or a compensating use tax was legally due and paid thereon, without any right to a refund or credit thereof, to (1) any municipal corporation in this state or (2) any other state or jurisdiction within any other state, but only when it is shown that such other state or jurisdiction allows a corresponding exemption with respect to the sale or use of tangible personal property or of any of the services upon which such a sale or compensating use tax was paid to this state and any of its municipal corporations, except as provided in subdivision (b) of this section.

(b) To the extent that a compensating use tax imposed pursuant to this article and the compensating use tax imposed by article twenty-eight are at a higher aggregate rate than the rate of tax imposed in any other state or jurisdiction within any other state, the exemption provided in subdivision (a) of this section shall be inapplicable and the taxes imposed pursuant to this article and by article twenty-eight shall apply to the extent of the difference between such aggregate rate and the rate paid in such other state or jurisdiction. In such event, the amount payable shall be allocated between the tax imposed pursuant to this article and the tax imposed by article twenty-eight in proportion to the respective rates of such taxes. Where a retail sales tax or a compensating use tax was legally due and paid to any municipal corporation in this state, without any right to a refund or credit thereof, with respect to the sale or use of tangible personal property or any of the services subject to sales or compensating use tax, if the use of such property or services is then subject to a compensating use tax imposed by any other municipal corporation in this state and such tax is at a higher rate than the rate of tax imposed by the first municipal corporation, the tax of the municipal corporation with the higher rate shall also apply but only to the extent of the difference in such rates and such tax shall be distributable to such municipal corporation, pursuant to section twelve hundred sixty-one, without allocation as hereinabove provided. Where a retail sales tax or a compensating use tax was legally due and paid to this state only, with respect to the sale or use of tangible personal property or any of the services subject to sales or compensating use tax, if the use of such property or services is then subject to a compensating use tax imposed by a municipal corporation in this state, such tax shall be distributable to the municipal corporation, pursuant to section twelve hundred sixty-one, without allocation as hereinabove provided.

(c) For purposes of this section, a payment to the tax commission of a tax imposed by a municipal corporation shall be deemed a payment to such municipal corporation.

PART III--ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISIONS

SUBPART A--TAXES ADMINISTERED BY CITIES, COUNTIES AND SCHOOL DISTRICTS

§ 1240. Administration and collection. The taxes authorized under sections twelve hundred one through twelve hundred four of this article which are now imposed shall continue to be administered and collected by the fiscal or other officers of the city, county or school district in the same manner as such taxes have been administered and collected by such officers immediately prior to the enactment of this article, in accordance with the applicable provisions of the charter, administrative code, local law, ordinance or resolution then in force, with such amendments in respect to administration and collection as may be enacted. Taxes authorized under sections twelve hundred one through twelve hundred four of this article which may hereafter be imposed by a city, county or school district shall be administered and collected in such manner as may be provided in its charter, administrative code, local laws, ordinances or resolutions, with such amendments in respect to administration and collection as may be enacted. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, the authorization to impose tax upon the transfer of real property pursuant to subdivision (b) of section twelve hundred one of this article, shall not, when the conveyance consists of a transfer of property made as a result of an order of the court in a foreclosure proceeding ordering the sale of such property, include the authorization to impose civil or criminal penalties, interest, or other liability upon the referee or sheriff effectuating the transfer.

§ 1241. Joint administration and collection of taxes by counties and cities. (a) The board of supervisors or other elective governing body of any county and the local legislative body of any city may provide by agreement with one or more counties or cities for the imposition by each such county and city of one or more taxes which may be imposed pursuant to the authority of sections twelve hundred two and twelve hundred three by such county or city, as the case may be, and for the joint or cooperative administration and collection of any such tax or taxes, including common use of a single agency therefor. Such agreement may make provision, consistent with law, for the custody and distribution of the proceeds of any such tax; the appointment and removal, powers, duties, and compensation of officers and employees; the availability of necessary funds and the audit and payment of expenses of administration; and such other matters as are necessary and proper to effectuate the purposes of such agreement.

(b) By agreement for a period of not to exceed one year, the board of supervisors or other elective governing body of a county and the local legislative body of a city in such county may, from year to year, provide that the city shall have the sole right to impose in such city one or more of the taxes described in sections twelve hundred two and twelve hundred three and that the county shall have the right to impose such tax or taxes only in the area of the county outside such city. In such event the net collections received by the county from such a tax shall be allocated, applied and distributed to such area in the manner provided by subdivision (d) of section twelve hundred sixty-two.

(c) Where a city imposes a tax described in subdivision (e) of section twelve hundred one, as provided in section twelve hundred three, the governing body of the city may provide by agreement with the governing body of the county in which such city is contained for the collection of such tax by the clerk of such county. Such agreement may make provision, notwithstanding the provisions of any general, special or local law, for the safekeeping of moneys so collected; the bonding at the expense of the city of officers and employees collecting or safekeeping such moneys; compensation to the county for such services at a rate not in excess of twenty-five cents for each vehicle the use of which is so taxed; periodic payment to the city of money so collected, less such compensation; reporting to the city of registrations of motor vehicles issued by such clerk pursuant to section two hundred five of the vehicle and traffic law; and such other matters as are necessary and proper to effectuate the purposes of such agreement.

§ 1242. Limitations on assessment. (a) Cities over one million. Except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made with respect to the taxes imposed under the authority of section twelve hundred one, after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed, or where the taxpayer fails to file a report in respect of a change or correction in the amount of sales and compensating use tax liability relating to the purchase or use of items for which a sales or compensating use tax credit against the tax was claimed, as provided by law, the tax may be assessed at any time. Notwithstanding the prior sentence, no assessment of additional tax shall be made with respect to taxes imposed under local laws enacted prior to July first, nineteen hundred thirty-eight, except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax. Where the taxpayer files a report in respect of a change or correction in sales and compensating use tax liability, as provided by law, an assessment may be made at any time within two years after such report was filed.

(b) Cities under one million, counties and school districts. Except in the case of a wilfully false or fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax, no assessment of additional tax shall be made with respect to taxes imposed under the authority of sections twelve hundred two through twelve hundred four, after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return, provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by local law, ordinance or resolution, the tax may be assessed at any time.

§ 1243. Judicial review. (a) Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable under sections twelve hundred one through twelve hundred four shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within four months after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted by a taxpayer unless (1) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law, ordinance, resolution or regulation, shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of financial services of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the taxpayer will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding or (2) at the option of the taxpayer, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interest and penalties stated in such determination, plus the costs and charges which may accrue against such taxpayer in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the taxpayer shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

(b) Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally assessed or collected and application for the refund or revision thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers or, in the case of a city of one million or more which has established a tax appeals tribunal, such tax appeals tribunal, shall have made a determination denying such refund or revision, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, (1) that such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of the notice of such denial, (2) that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and (3) that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the taxpayer will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

SUBPART B--TAXES ADMINISTERED BY TAX COMMISSION

§ 1250. Administration and collection. The taxes imposed under the authority of sections twelve hundred ten, twelve hundred eleven, twelve hundred twelve and twelve hundred twelve-A shall be administered and collected by the state tax commission in the same manner as the taxes imposed under article twenty-eight of this chapter are administered and collected by such commission. All of the provisions of such article relating to or applicable to the administration and collection of the taxes imposed by that article shall apply to the taxes imposed under the authority of section twelve hundred ten, twelve hundred eleven, twelve hundred twelve or twelve hundred twelve-A, including sections eleven hundred one and eleven hundred eleven and sections eleven hundred thirty-one through eleven hundred forty-seven, with the same force and effect as if those provisions had been incorporated in full into this article and had expressly referred to the taxes imposed under sections twelve hundred ten through twelve hundred twelve-A, except to the extent that any provisions of such article twenty-eight are either inconsistent with a provision of this article or are not relevant to this article. For purposes of this article, the term "tax" in part IV of such article twenty-eight shall include any tax imposed under the authority of section twelve hundred ten, twelve hundred eleven, twelve hundred twelve or twelve hundred twelve-A. Wherever there is joint collection of state and local taxes, it shall be deemed that such collections shall represent proportionally the applicable state and local taxes in determining the amount to be remitted to local taxing jurisdictions.

§ 1251. Returns. (a) Every person required to collect any of the taxes imposed under the authority of section twelve hundred ten, twelve hundred eleven, twelve hundred twelve or twelve hundred twelve-A shall file a return as required by subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred thirty-six with the tax commission, except that return for the quarterly period ending August thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five shall only cover the month of August, nineteen hundred sixty-five. The return of a vendor of tangible personal property or services shall show his receipts from sales and also the aggregate value of tangible personal property and services sold by him, the use of which is subject to a tax imposed under the authority of this article and the amount of taxes required to be collected with respect to such sales and use. The return of a recipient of amusement charges shall show all such charges and the amount of tax thereon, and the return of an operator required to collect tax on rents shall show all rents received or charged and the amount of tax thereon. Every person required to file a part-quarterly return pursuant to subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred thirty-six shall file a return for the same periods for the taxes imposed pursuant to this article. Provided, however, where a part-quarterly return described in paragraph (i) or (ii) of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred thirty-six is filed for purposes of complying with this section and section eleven hundred thirty-six or subdivision (a) or (b) of section eleven hundred thirty-seven-A, on such returns separate amounts due for the taxes imposed by each county, city or school district, pursuant to the authority of section twelve hundred ten, twelve hundred eleven, twelve hundred twelve or twelve hundred twelve-A, need not be shown. Rather, such returns shall only show the aggregate amount of all such local taxes calculated in the manner provided for in paragraph (i) or (ii) of subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred thirty-six except that in the case of a short-form, part-quarterly return, where a county, city or school district did not impose a tax in the comparable quarter of the immediately preceding year, the tax for that locality shall be calculated on such basis as the tax commission shall by regulation prescribe.

(b) The returns required by this section to be filed quarterly shall be filed for quarterly periods ending on the last day of February, May, August and November of each year, and each return shall be filed within twenty days after the end of the quarterly period covered thereby. The returns required by this section to be filed monthly shall be filed for monthly periods ending on the last day of each month and each return shall be filed within twenty days after the end of each prior month.

(c) The tax commission may permit or require returns to be made covering other periods and upon such dates as it may specify. If the tax commission deems it necessary in order to insure the payment of the taxes imposed by this article, it may require returns to be made for shorter periods than those prescribed pursuant to the foregoing subdivisions of this section, and upon such dates as it may specify.

(d) The form of returns shall be prescribed by the tax commission and shall contain such information as it may deem necessary for the proper administration of this article. The commission may require amended returns to be filed within twenty days after notice and to contain the information specified in the notice.

(e) Return and payment to New York city for months of June and July, nineteen hundred sixty-five. With respect to the taxes imposed under titles G, M, N and V of the administrative code of the city of New York, returns shall be filed for the months of June and July, nineteen hundred sixty-five containing such information and accompanied by such payments as are required under titles G, M, N and V of the administrative code of the city of New York and the regulations promulgated thereunder, in effect as of July thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, except that such returns shall only cover the months of June and July, nineteen hundred sixty-five and not the whole quarter ending August thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five. Such returns, accompanied by the appropriate payments, shall be filed with the commissioner of finance of the city of New York on or before September twentieth, nineteen hundred sixty-five, subject to local law provisions requiring or permitting returns and payments of taxes for shorter periods, and subject to the right of such city to fix by local law another date for such returns and payments.

(f) Returns and payments to cities under one million, counties and school districts for months of June and July, nineteen hundred sixty-five. (1) Localities with a quarter ending August, nineteen hundred sixty-five. With respect to the taxes imposed under the authority of paragraphs (a), (b), (c), (e) and (i) of section one of chapter two hundred seventy-eight of the laws of nineteen hundred forty-seven, as amended, in effect as of July thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five and any of the same taxes imposed under the authority of sections two, three and three-a of such act, for which returns are due for the quarter ending August thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, returns shall be filed for the months of June and July, nineteen hundred sixty-five containing such information and accompanied by such payments as are required by the applicable local laws, ordinances, resolutions and the regulations promulgated thereunder, in effect as of July thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, except that such returns shall only cover the months of June and July, nineteen hundred sixty-five and not the whole quarter ending August thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five. Such returns with the appropriate payments shall be filed with such officers or bodies as are required under such local laws, ordinances, resolutions and regulations on or before September twentieth, nineteen hundred sixty-five, subject to local laws, ordinances or resolutions requiring or permitting returns and payments of taxes for shorter periods, and subject to the right of the taxing jurisdiction to fix another date for such returns and payments by local law, ordinance or resolution.

(2) Localities with a quarter ending September, nineteen hundred sixty-five. With respect to the taxes imposed under the authority of paragraphs (a), (b), (c), (e) and (i) of such section one of chapter two hundred seventy-eight of such laws, as amended, in effect as of July thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five and any of the same taxes imposed under the authority of sections two, three and three-a of such act, for which returns are due for the quarter ending September thirtieth, nineteen hundred sixty-five, returns shall be filed for the month of July, nineteen hundred sixty-five containing such information and accompanied by such payments as are required by the applicable local laws, ordinances, resolutions and regulations promulgated thereunder, in effect as of July thirty-first, nineteen hundred sixty-five, except that such returns shall only cover the month of July, nineteen hundred sixty-five and not the whole quarter ending September thirtieth, nineteen hundred sixty-five. Such returns with the appropriate payments shall be filed with such officers or bodies as are required under such local laws, ordinances, resolutions and regulations on or before October twentieth, nineteen hundred sixty-five, subject to local laws, ordinances or resolutions requiring or permitting returns and payments of taxes for shorter periods, and subject to the right of the taxing jurisdiction to fix another date for such returns and payments by local law, ordinance or resolution.

§ 1252. Payment of tax. (a) Every person required to file a return or returns under subdivision (a) of the preceding section shall, at the time of filing such return or returns, pay to the state tax commission the amount which section eleven hundred thirty-seven or section eleven hundred thirty-seven-A of article twenty-eight requires to be paid with respect to local taxes imposed pursuant to this article. The amount so required to be paid for the period for which a return or returns is required to be filed shall be due and payable to the state tax commission on the date limited for the filing of the return or returns for such period, without regard to whether a return is filed or whether the return which is filed clearly shows the amount of receipts, amusement charges or returns or the value of property or services sold or purchased or the taxes due thereon. Where the state tax commission, in its discretion, deems it necessary to protect the revenues to be obtained under this article, it shall have the power to require a bond, cash or other security under procedures which are set forth in section eleven hundred thirty-seven.

(b) The tax commission, in its discretion, may require or permit any or all persons liable for any tax or required to collect any tax authorized under section twelve hundred ten, twelve hundred eleven, twelve hundred twelve or twelve hundred twelve-A to make payment to such banks, banking houses or trust companies designated by the tax commission and to file returns with such banks, banking houses or trust companies, as agent of the state tax commission, in lieu of paying the taxes imposed under the authority of section twelve hundred ten, twelve hundred eleven, twelve hundred twelve or twelve hundred twelve-A directly to the state tax commission. However, the tax commission can only designate such banks, banking houses and trust companies which are already designated by the comptroller as depositories pursuant to section eleven hundred forty-eight of this chapter.

§ 1253. Registration. Every person required to register pursuant to section eleven hundred thirty-four shall be required to register for purposes of the taxes imposed under the authority of sections twelve hundred ten, twelve hundred eleven, twelve hundred twelve and twelve hundred twelve-A. However, only one certificate of authority need be issued. Persons who elect to register under such section eleven hundred thirty-four pursuant to the election provided therein shall also be required to make a similar election for purposes of the taxes imposed under the authority of such sections twelve hundred ten, twelve hundred eleven, twelve hundred twelve and twelve hundred twelve-A, but only one certificate of authority need be issued.

§ 1254. Duty to collect taxes. (a) Every person required to collect tax, as defined in section eleven hundred thirty-one, who is required to collect any state tax imposed under sections eleven hundred five, eleven hundred six or eleven hundred ten, shall at the same time collect any applicable tax imposed by a city, county or school district under the authority of sections twelve hundred ten, twelve hundred eleven, twelve hundred twelve or twelve hundred twelve-A, and where the state tax is a retail sales tax, shall also collect any compensating use tax which may be applicable as provided in sections twelve hundred thirteen or twelve hundred fourteen.

(b) Where the state of New York, any of its agencies, instrumentalities, public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or Canada) or political subdivisions sells services or property of a kind ordinarily sold by private persons it shall be considered a vendor for purposes of the taxes imposed under the authority of sections twelve hundred ten, twelve hundred eleven, twelve hundred twelve and twelve hundred twelve-A and shall be required to collect the taxes imposed by cities, counties and school districts under the authority of such sections.

SUBPART C - - MISCELLANEOUS

§ 1256. Cooperation by localities. Every city, county and school district shall cooperate with the state tax commission to enable it to carry out its duties under articles twenty-eight and twenty-nine of this chapter. Every such locality shall furnish to such commission those returns, reports and other information which the tax commission deems necessary to carry out such duties, except that cities having a population of one million or more, may, in their discretion, furnish instead copies of such returns, reports and other information. Such copies shall be furnished at the tax commission's expense, such expenses to be charged to the cost of administration. Notwithstanding any other law to the contrary, the duty to furnish returns, reports and other information or copies thereof shall apply to those returns and reports filed under taxes authorized under chapter eight hundred seventy-three of the laws of nineteen hundred thirty-four, as amended, chapter three hundred forty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred forty-six, as amended, article two-B of the general city law and chapter two hundred seventy-eight of the laws of nineteen hundred forty-seven, as amended, and to such other information which is relevant to the duties of the tax commission under such articles twenty-eight and twenty-nine.

§ 1257. Preparation of model local laws, resolutions and regulations by tax commission. The state tax commission shall prepare model local laws, ordinances, resolutions and regulations for the assistance of local officials and shall otherwise advise and cooperate with them for the purpose of effectuating uniform administration, collection and distribution of the taxes authorized under this article.

PART IV - - DISPOSITION OF REVENUES

§ 1260. Revenues resulting from taxes administered by cities over one million. All taxes, penalties and interest resulting from the imposition of the taxes authorized under section twelve hundred one shall be paid into the treasury of the city imposing the tax and shall be credited to and deposited in the general fund of any such city, but no such part of such revenues may be expended unless appropriated in the annual budget of such city.

§ 1261. Revenues resulting from taxes administered by the commissioner. (a) All taxes, penalties and interest imposed by cities, counties or school districts under the authority of section twelve hundred ten, twelve hundred eleven, twelve hundred twelve or twelve hundred twelve-A of this article, which are collected by the commissioner, shall be deposited daily with such responsible banks, banking houses or trust companies, as may be designated by the state comptroller, to the credit of the comptroller, in trust for the cities, counties or school districts imposing the tax or for (i) the Nassau county interim finance authority or (ii) the Buffalo fiscal stability authority or (iii) the Erie county fiscal stability authority, created by the public authorities law, (i) to the extent that net collections from taxes imposed by Nassau county are payable to the Nassau county interim finance authority or (ii) to the extent that net collections from taxes imposed by Erie county or by the city of Buffalo are payable to the Buffalo fiscal stability authority or (iii) to the extent that net collections from taxes imposed by Erie county are payable to the Erie county fiscal stability authority, or for any public benefit corporation to which the tax may be payable pursuant to law. Such deposits and deposits received pursuant to subdivision (b) of section twelve hundred fifty-two of this article shall be kept in trust and separate and apart from all other monies in the possession of the comptroller. The comptroller shall require adequate security from all such depositories of such revenue collected by the commissioner, including the deposits received pursuant to subdivision (b) of section twelve hundred fifty-two of this article. Any amount payable to such authorities pursuant to the public authorities law shall, at the time it is otherwise payable to (i) Nassau county, (ii) Erie county or the city of Buffalo, or (iii) Erie county, respectively, as specified in this section, be paid instead to such respective authority. Any amount payable to a public benefit corporation pursuant to law shall, at the time it is otherwise payable to the taxing jurisdiction as specified in this section, be paid instead to such public benefit corporation.

(b) The comptroller shall retain in the comptroller's hands such amount as the commissioner may determine to be necessary for refunds in respect to the taxes imposed by cities, counties and school districts, under the authority of section twelve hundred ten, twelve hundred eleven, twelve hundred twelve or twelve hundred twelve-A, and for reasonable costs of the commissioner in administering, collecting and distributing such taxes, out of which the comptroller shall pay any refunds of such taxes to which taxpayers shall be entitled under the provisions of this article.

(c) (1) The comptroller, after reserving such refund fund and such costs shall, on or before the twelfth day of each month pay to the appropriate fiscal officers of the foregoing taxing jurisdictions the taxes, penalties and interest imposed by such jurisdictions under the authority of sections twelve hundred ten through twelve hundred twelve-A of this article, collected by the commissioner pursuant to this article during the next preceding calendar month, provided, however, that the comptroller shall on or before the last day of June and December make a partial payment consisting of the collections made during and including the first twenty-five days of said months to said fiscal officers of the foregoing taxing jurisdictions.

* (2) However, the taxes, penalties and interest from the additional one percent rate which the city of Yonkers is authorized to impose pursuant to item (a) of clause one of subparagraph (ii) of the opening paragraph of section twelve hundred ten of this article, after the comptroller has reserved such refund fund and such cost shall be paid to the special sales and compensating use tax fund for the city of Yonkers established by section ninety-two-f of the state finance law at the times set forth in the preceding sentence.

* NB Effective until November 30, 2027

* (2) However, the taxes, penalties and interest from the additional one percent rate which the city of Yonkers is authorized to impose pursuant to section twelve hundred ten of this article, after the comptroller has reserved such refund fund and such cost shall be paid to the special sales and compensating use tax fund for the city of Yonkers established by section ninety-two-f of the state finance law at the times set forth in the preceding sentence.

* NB Effective November 30, 2027

(3) However, the taxes, penalties and interest which (i) the county of Nassau, (ii) the county of Erie, to the extent the county of Erie is contractually or statutorily obligated to allocate and apply or pay net collections to the city of Buffalo and to the extent that such county has set aside net collections for educational purposes attributable to the Buffalo school district, or the city of Buffalo or (iii) the county of Erie is authorized to impose pursuant to section twelve hundred ten of this article, other than such taxes in the amounts described, respectively, in subdivisions one and two of section one thousand two hundred sixty-two-e of this part, during the period that such section authorizes Nassau county to establish special or local assistance programs thereunder, together with any penalties and interest related thereto, and after the comptroller has reserved such refund fund and such costs, shall, commencing on the next payment date after the effective date of this sentence and of each month thereafter, until such date as (i) the Nassau county interim finance authority shall have no obligations outstanding, or (ii) the Buffalo fiscal stability authority shall cease to exist, or (iii) the Erie county fiscal stability authority shall cease to exist, be paid by the comptroller, respectively, to (i) the Nassau county interim finance authority to be applied by the Nassau county interim finance authority, or (ii) to the Buffalo fiscal stability authority to be applied by the Buffalo fiscal stability authority, or (iii) to the Erie county fiscal stability authority to be applied by the Erie county fiscal stability authority, as the case may be, in the following order of priority: first pursuant to the Nassau county interim finance authority's contracts with bondholders or the Buffalo fiscal stability authority's contracts with bondholders or the Erie county fiscal stability authority's contracts with bondholders, respectively, then to pay the Nassau county interim finance authority's operating expenses not otherwise provided for or the Buffalo fiscal stability authority's operating expenses not otherwise provided for or the Erie county fiscal stability authority's operating expenses not otherwise provided for, respectively, and then (i) pursuant to the Nassau county interim finance authority's agreements with the county of Nassau, which agreements shall require the Nassau county interim finance authority to transfer such taxes, penalties and interest remaining after providing for contractual or other obligations of the Nassau county interim finance authority, and subject to any agreement between such authority and the county of Nassau, to the county of Nassau as frequently as practicable; or (ii) pursuant to the Buffalo fiscal stability authority's agreements with the city of Buffalo, which agreements shall require the Buffalo fiscal stability authority to transfer such taxes, penalties and interest remaining after providing for contractual or other obligations of the Buffalo fiscal stability authority, and subject to any agreement between such authority and the city of Buffalo, to the city of Buffalo or the city of Buffalo school district, as the case may be, as frequently as practicable; or (iii) pursuant to the Erie county fiscal stability authority's agreements with the county of Erie, which agreements shall require the Erie county fiscal stability authority to transfer such taxes, penalties and interest remaining after providing for contractual or other obligations of the Erie county fiscal stability authority, and subject to any agreement between such authority and the county of Erie, to the county of Erie as frequently as practicable. During the period that the comptroller is required to make payments to the Nassau county interim finance authority described in the previous sentence, the county of Nassau shall have no right, title or interest in or to such taxes, penalties and interest required to be paid to the Nassau county interim finance authority, except as provided in such authority's agreements with the county of Nassau. During the period that the comptroller is required to make payments to the Buffalo fiscal stability authority described in the second previous sentence, the city of Buffalo and such school district shall have no right, title or interest in or to such taxes, penalties and interest required to be paid to the Buffalo fiscal stability authority, except as provided in such authority's agreements with the city of Buffalo. During the period that the comptroller is required to make payments to the Erie county fiscal stability authority described in the third previous sentence, the county of Erie shall have no right, title or interest in or to such taxes, penalties and interest required to be paid to the Erie county fiscal stability authority, except as provided in such authority's agreements with the county of Erie.

(4) The amount so payable shall be certified to the comptroller by the commissioner or the commissioner's delegate, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certificate. Provided, however, any such certification may be based on such information as may be available to the commissioner at the time such certificate must be made under this section and may be estimated on the basis of percentages or other indices calculated from distributions for prior periods.

(5) (i) However, the comptroller shall withhold from the taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the city of New York on and after August first, two thousand eight, and deposit such amounts to the state treasury as reimbursement for appropriated disbursements made by the New York state financial control board established by the New York state financial emergency act for the city of New York and by the state deputy comptroller for the city of New York established by section forty-one-a of the executive law, as the actual, reasonable expenses of that board or that deputy comptroller, incurred on behalf of the city, for quarterly periods commencing July first, two thousand eight, and ending on the date when those expenses are no longer incurred by that board or deputy comptroller; and the comptroller shall pay those withheld amounts immediately into the miscellaneous special revenue fund financial control board account 339-15 and the miscellaneous special revenue fund financial oversight account 339-DI of the state. During the period that the comptroller is required to withhold amounts and make payments described in this paragraph, the city of New York has no right, title or interest in or to those taxes, penalties and interest required to be paid into the above referenced miscellaneous special revenue funds.

(ii) After withholding the taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the city of New York on and after August first, two thousand eight as provided in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph, the comptroller shall withhold a portion of such taxes, penalties and interest sufficient to deposit annually into the central business district tolling capital lockbox established pursuant to section five hundred fifty-three-j of the public authorities law: (A) in state fiscal year two thousand nineteen - two thousand twenty, one hundred twenty-seven million five hundred thousand dollars; (B) in state fiscal year two thousand twenty - two thousand twenty-one, one hundred seventy million dollars; and (C) in state fiscal year two thousand twenty-one - two thousand twenty-two and every succeeding state fiscal year, an amount equal to one hundred one percent of the amount deposited in the immediately preceding state fiscal year. The funds shall be deposited monthly in equal installments. During the period that the comptroller is required to withhold amounts and make payments described in this paragraph, the city of New York has no right, title or interest in or to those taxes, penalties and interest required to be paid into the above referenced central business district tolling capital lockbox.

(6) Where the amount so paid over to any city, county, school district or the special sales and compensating use tax fund for the city of Yonkers in any such distribution or to any such authority is more or less than the amount then due to such city, county, school district or such fund or to such authority, the amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be certified to the comptroller by the commissioner or the commissioner's delegate, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certificate. The amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be so certified to the comptroller as soon after the discovery of the overpayment or underpayment as reasonably possible and subsequent payments and distributions by the comptroller to such city, county, school district or the special sales and compensating use tax fund for the city of Yonkers or to such authority shall be adjusted by subtracting the amount of any such overpayment from or by adding the amount of any such underpayment to such number of subsequent payments and distributions as the comptroller and the commissioner shall consider reasonable in view of the amount of the overpayment or underpayment and all other facts and circumstances.

(d) All of the provisions of this section shall apply to the taxes, penalties and interest from sales and compensating use taxes on sales and uses of motor fuel or diesel motor fuel imposed pursuant to this article except that the amount certified to the comptroller by the commissioner or the commissioner's delegate with respect to such taxes, penalties and interest shall be based upon the receipts from retail sales of motor fuel or diesel motor fuel sold each month at retail service stations and on other sales of such fuel for consumption by the purchaser in each county and city imposing such taxes, the total receipts from taxes paid pursuant to the provisions of section eleven hundred two of this article on motor fuel and diesel motor fuel sold in this state each month, the total of the taxes, penalties and interest collected or received in such month with respect to retail sales and uses of motor fuel and diesel motor fuel (determined without regard to the refunds or credits allowed pursuant to subdivisions (a) and (b) of section eleven hundred twenty of this article), the sales tax rate applicable for that month in such county or city, the regional average retail sales price for such month, the amount of refunds and credits allowed pursuant to subdivisions (c) and (d) of section eleven hundred twenty of this article and such other data and standards as such commissioner or delegate may deem necessary for such certification. The commissioner or the commissioner's delegate shall arrive at the number of gallons of motor fuel and diesel motor fuel sold in each such county or city and in this state by use of the reports of the number of gallons sold required to be filed pursuant to section eleven hundred thirty-six of this chapter and such other information as such commissioner or delegate deems appropriate. In arriving at the amount to be certified and distributed, the commissioner shall consider the collections of the taxes, penalties and interest required to be paid pursuant to the provisions of section eleven hundred two of this article and the authorized refunds and credits of the tax imposed by section eleven hundred two of this article against the taxes required to be collected or paid pursuant to this article.

(e) The total net collections from a tax imposed pursuant to section twelve hundred eleven by a city and a school district or school districts, so authorized, shall be distributed and paid to the city school district where it is coterminous with or includes the entire city or to all the school districts partly within or wholly within such city. Except where the city school district is coterminous with the city or includes the entire area of the city, such amounts shall be distributed and paid to the school district or districts partly within or wholly within the city, in accordance with the total average daily attendance for the last preceding school year of pupils residing in each such district and without regard to the location of the school attended.

(f) Notwithstanding any provision of state or local law, ordinance or resolution to the contrary, if the commissioner of health timely certifies to the commissioner that a county which imposes sales and compensating use taxes pursuant to the authority of section twelve hundred ten, twelve hundred ten-A, twelve hundred ten-B or twelve hundred ten-C of this article properly exercised its option by September thirtieth, two thousand seven, pursuant to section two of the chapter of the laws of two thousand five which added this subdivision, that such county be reimbursed for medical assistance expenditures as provided in such section two of such chapter, then the commissioner shall calculate the Medicaid amount of each such county. The amount due each month to each such county provided for in subdivision (c) of this section shall be reduced by the monthly Medicaid amount; and such monthly Medicaid amount of each such county shall instead be paid into the general fund of the state treasury to the credit of the state purposes account therein. The calculation of each such county's Medicaid amount and monthly Medicaid amounts and the procedures governing the payment of such amounts shall be as follows:

(1) The commissioner of health shall furnish the commissioner with the amount of every county's "two thousand six-two thousand seven fiscal year social services district expenditure cap amount," as provided in paragraph (e) of section one of a chapter of the laws of two thousand five which added this subdivision, as soon as practicable but no later than April first, two thousand seven.

(2) The commissioner shall calculate the "Medicaid factor" for every county as follows and shall notify each county's chief fiscal officer of the results of such calculation by April thirtieth, two thousand seven, to help each county determine whether to exercise such option:

(A) for a county in which no city exercises any prior right to impose sales or compensating use taxes authorized by section twelve hundred ten of this article, first, divide the total amount of sales and compensating use tax distributions to such county during state fiscal year two thousand six-two thousand seven by the county's general rate of such taxes during such period, and then divide the county's "two thousand six-two thousand seven fiscal year social services district expenditure cap amount" by the quotient of the first division;

(B) for a county in which one or more cities exercise any prior right to impose sales or compensating use taxes authorized by section twelve hundred ten of this article and the combined rate of the county's and city's taxes in each such city equals the general rate of the county's taxes on similar transactions in the area of the county outside such city or cities, first, add the total amounts of sales and compensating use tax distributions to such county and to each such city during state fiscal year two thousand six-two thousand seven and divide such sum by the county's general rate of such taxes during such period, and then divide the county's "two thousand six-two thousand seven fiscal year social services district expenditure cap amount" by the quotient of the first division; and

(C) for a county in which one or more cities exercise any prior right to impose sales or compensating use taxes authorized by section twelve hundred ten of this article and the combined rate of the county's and city's taxes in any such city does not equal the general rate of the county's taxes on similar transactions in the area of the county outside such city or cities:

(i) for each such city, add the total amount of sales and compensating use tax distributions to such city during state fiscal year two thousand six-two thousand seven and divide such sum by the city's effective general rate of such taxes during such period, then multiply such quotient by the amount by which the city's rate forced a reduction in the county's rate of such taxes in such city during such period, and then

(ii) add the amount derived in clause (i) of this subparagraph for each such city to the total amount of sales and compensating use tax distributions to such county during state fiscal year two thousand six-two thousand seven;

(iii) divide the total of the addition in clause (ii) of this subparagraph by the county's general rate of such taxes during such period; and

(iv) divide the county's "two thousand six-two thousand seven fiscal year social services district expenditure cap amount" by the quotient of the division in clause (iii) of this subparagraph.

(D) The commissioner shall consider any change in a county's or city's general rate of sales and compensating use taxes which takes effect during state fiscal year two thousand six-two thousand seven and the number of months such rates are in effect during such state fiscal year in order to perform accurately the calculations provided for in this paragraph.

(3) By the twelfth day of each month, commencing in January, two thousand eight, the commissioner shall calculate the "monthly Medicaid amount" of each such county which has made the election described in the opening paragraph of this subdivision and certify such amounts to the comptroller. The comptroller shall reduce the amount due each month to each such county provided for in subdivision (c) of this section by such monthly Medicaid amount; and the comptroller shall instead each month pay the monthly Medicaid amount of each such county into the general fund of the state treasury to the credit of the state purposes account therein, provided, however, that the comptroller, subject to the limitations provided in paragraphs five and six of this subdivision, shall each month collect the amount of Nassau county's reduction from amounts payable to such county by the Nassau county interim finance authority while such authority exists.

(4) "Monthly Medicaid amount" shall mean the result of the following calculations:

(A) for a county described in subparagraph (A) of paragraph two of this subdivision, first, the amount of the comptroller's payment due such a county in the immediately preceding month, as described in subdivision (c) of this section and as described in sections twelve hundred ten-A, twelve hundred ten-B and twelve hundred ten-C of this article, but without regard to whether the comptroller is to pay all or a portion of such amount to another entity described in subdivision (c) of this section and without regard to the revenue disposition provisions of such section twelve hundred ten-A, twelve hundred ten-B or twelve hundred ten-C, and considered without regard to any Medicaid amount, shall be divided by the county's general rate of sales and compensating use taxes in such month; and the quotient of that division shall be multiplied by the Medicaid factor calculated as provided in subparagraph (A) of paragraph two of this subdivision.

(B) for a county described in subparagraph (B) of paragraph two of this subdivision, first, add the amount of the comptroller's payment due any city in such a county in the immediately preceding month, as described in subdivision (c) of this section to the amount of the comptroller's payment due such a county in the immediately preceding month, as described in subdivision (c) of this section and as described in sections twelve hundred ten-A, twelve hundred ten-B and twelve hundred ten-C of this article, but without regard to whether the comptroller is to pay all or a portion of such amount to another entity described in subdivision (c) of this section and without regard to the revenue disposition provisions of such section twelve hundred ten-A, twelve hundred ten-B or twelve hundred ten-C, and considered without regard to any Medicaid amount, then divide the total of such amounts by the county's general rate of sales and compensating use taxes in such month; and the quotient of that division shall be multiplied by the Medicaid factor calculated as provided in subparagraph (B) of paragraph two of this subdivision.

(C) For a county described in subparagraph (C) of paragraph two of this subdivision:

(i) with respect to each such city described in subparagraph (C), divide the amount of the comptroller's payment due each such city in the immediately preceding month, as described in subdivision (c) of this section, by the effective general rate of such city's taxes during such month and multiply such quotient by the amount by which the city's rate forced a reduction in the county's rate of such taxes in such city during such month;

(ii) add the amount or amounts derived in clause (i) of this subparagraph to the amount of the comptroller's payment due such county in the immediately preceding month, as described in subdivision (c) of this section and as described in sections twelve hundred ten-A, twelve hundred ten-B and twelve hundred ten-C of this article, but without regard to whether the comptroller is to pay all or a portion of such amount to another entity described in subdivision (c) of this section and without regard to the revenue disposition provisions of such section twelve hundred ten-A, twelve hundred ten-B or twelve hundred ten-C, and considered without regard to any Medicaid amount; and

(iii) divide the total of the addition in clause (ii) of this subparagraph by the county's general rate of such taxes during such month, and the quotient of that division shall be multiplied by the Medicaid factor calculated as provided in subparagraph (C) of paragraph two of this subdivision.

(5) If for any reason a county's monthly Medicaid amount is greater than the amount of the comptroller's net payment to the county for that month under subdivision (c) of this section and under sections twelve hundred ten-A, twelve hundred ten-B and twelve hundred ten-C of this article, after the comptroller has made any payments to other entities required by subdivision (c) of this section or by any other law and after any payment, deposit, appropriation, transfer or expenditure required or authorized by such section twelve hundred ten-A, twelve hundred ten-B or twelve hundred ten-C, the comptroller shall, at the same time that the comptroller makes the payment and reduction described in paragraph three of this subdivision, bill such county an amount equal to the difference and such county shall pay in full the amount of such bill to the comptroller by the twenty-fifth day of such month. Such county shall use any funds available to it to pay such bill. The comptroller shall deposit any such amounts received into the general fund of the state treasury to the credit of the state purposes account therein.

(6) If a county does not remit the required monies or pay in full a bill described in paragraph five of this subdivision by the twenty-fifth day of the month in accordance with paragraph five of this subdivision, the comptroller shall, as soon as any other moneys payable to the county are available, either deduct any amount not paid from the amount of the next payment or payments due such county pursuant to subdivision (c) of this section until such amount not paid has been recovered or, in the alternative and at the comptroller's discretion, deduct any amount not paid from the amount of any other moneys payable to such county from the comptroller and not subject to any lien or pledge for the benefit of bondholders of the Nassau county interim finance authority or of any public benefit corporation, as defined in section sixty-six of the general construction law, created by interstate compact or at least half of whose members are appointed by the governor, until such amount not paid has been recovered. The comptroller shall deposit any amounts so deducted and recovered into the general fund of the state treasury to the credit of the state purposes account therein.

(7) This subdivision shall apply to payments required in respect of a county to be made on January twelfth, two thousand eight, and thereafter.

(8) Nothing in this subdivision shall be construed to relieve a county of any obligation or commitment to distribute and pay or allocate net collections pursuant to this part, regardless whether such obligation or commitment arises before or after the date this subdivision shall have taken effect, or to preclude a city in a county from exercising its prior rights under section twelve hundred twenty-four of this article. To the extent that a county's net collections have been diminished below a level sufficient to meet any such obligation or commitment as a result of the reductions or bills provided for in this subdivision, such county shall hereby be authorized to use any other funds available to it to meet such obligation or commitment, notwithstanding any law to the contrary.

(9) If a county adopts or amends a local law, ordinance or resolution to repeal its sales and compensating use taxes, then, effective on the first day of the first month on which such repeal takes effect, such county's resolution electing to be reimbursed for certain medical assistance expenditures pursuant to section two of the chapter of the laws of two thousand five which added this subdivision shall also be repealed automatically as of such date; and the commissioner shall notify the commissioner of health of such county's repeal of such taxes. In that event, as of such date, such county shall be treated as if it had never made such election for purposes of such expenditures and such commissioner of health shall thenceforth compute the amount due monthly from such county for such expenditures pursuant to section one of the chapter of the laws of two thousand five which added this subdivision.

(g) Notwithstanding any provision of state or local law, ordinance or resolution to the contrary, if the commissioner of health timely certifies to the commissioner that a city having a population of one million or more in which the taxes imposed by section eleven hundred seven of this chapter are in effect or which imposes sales and compensating use taxes pursuant to the authority of section twelve hundred ten of this article properly exercised its option by September thirtieth, two thousand seven, pursuant to section two of the chapter of the laws of two thousand five which added this subdivision, that such city be reimbursed for medical assistance expenditures as provided in such section two of such chapter, then the commissioner shall calculate the Medicaid amount of such a city. The amount due each month to such a city with respect to such taxes and certain other taxes shall be reduced; and the amount of each such reduction shall instead be paid into the general fund of the state treasury to the credit of the state purposes account therein. The calculation of such a city's Medicaid amount and reductions and the procedure governing the payment of such amounts are as follows:

(1) The commissioner of health shall furnish the commissioner with the amount of such a city's "two thousand six-two thousand seven fiscal year social services district expenditure cap amount," as provided in paragraph (e) of section one of the chapter of the laws of two thousand five which added this subdivision, as soon as practicable but no later than April first, two thousand seven.

(2) The commissioner shall use or calculate the following amounts in respect of such a city, which amounts shall be designated by the following symbols, in order to determine the components of the monthly amount described in paragraph three of this subdivision and shall notify the chief fiscal officer of such city of the calculated value of "D" as described in this paragraph and such other information available relating to D, by April thirtieth, two thousand seven, to help such city determine whether to exercise such option:

(A) "A" shall equal the amount of such a city's "two thousand six-two thousand seven fiscal year social services district expenditure cap amount," as furnished by the commissioner of health pursuant to paragraph one of this subdivision;

(B)(i) "B1" shall equal the total amount of sales and compensating use tax distributions during state fiscal year two thousand six-two thousand seven to such city or to a municipal assistance corporation on such city's behalf from taxes imposed in such city by section eleven hundred seven of this chapter, other than taxes imposed by subdivision (c) of such section eleven hundred seven, at the rate of three percent;

(ii) "B2" shall equal the total amount of sales tax distributions during state fiscal year two thousand six-two thousand seven to such city or to a municipal assistance corporation on such city's behalf from taxes imposed in such city by subdivision (c) of section eleven hundred seven of this chapter, at the rate of three percent;

(C) "C" shall equal the total amount of sales and compensating use tax distributions during state fiscal year two thousand six-two thousand seven to such city from its taxes imposed pursuant to the authority of section twelve hundred twelve-A of this article; and

(D) "D" shall be the "Base Year PIT intercept amount" and shall equal A less the sum of B1, B2 and C.

(3) (A) Commencing in January, two thousand eight, the commissioner shall calculate the monthly Medicaid amount ("MA") for such city according to the following formula: $MA \text{ equals } (((En/Fn) + (Ep/Fp)) \times (.03)) + (C/12) \times (G) + (D/12) \times (G)$; where C and D equal the amounts described in paragraph two of this subdivision; "En" equals the current month's portion of revenues from taxes imposed by section eleven hundred seven of this chapter, excluding revenues from the tax on parking imposed by subdivision (c) of such section eleven hundred seven, or from taxes imposed pursuant to the authority of subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten of this article, excluding revenues from the tax on parking authorized by subdivision (a) of such section twelve hundred ten; "Ep" equals the current month's revenues from either such tax on parking, as the case may be; "Fn" equals the current month's general rate of sales and use taxes imposed by such section eleven hundred seven or pursuant to the authority of such section twelve hundred ten, other than on parking; "Fp" equals the current month's rate of sales tax on parking under or pursuant to the authority of such section eleven hundred seven or twelve hundred ten, as the case may be; "G" equals a growth factor according to the formula $G \text{ equals } (En/Fn) + (Ep/Fp) \text{ divided by } ((MB1/.04) + (MB2/.06))$; "MB1" equals the revenues from taxes imposed by section eleven hundred seven of this chapter, excluding revenues from such tax on parking imposed by subdivision (c) of such section eleven hundred seven, during the same month of state fiscal year two thousand six-two thousand seven corresponding to the current month described above; and "MB2" equals the revenues from such tax on parking during the same month of state fiscal year two thousand six-two thousand seven corresponding to the current month described above.

(B) Using the amount of MA calculated each month in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, the commissioner shall then calculate the amounts of sales and use tax revenues (E + H, where E and H equal the amounts described in subparagraph (C) of this paragraph) and personal income tax revenues (PIT) of such city which are to be intercepted or billed for as described in this subdivision, according to the formula $MA \text{ equals } E + H + PIT$, as PIT is defined in subparagraph (D) of this paragraph. By the twelfth day of each month, commencing in January, two thousand eight, the commissioner shall establish the amount of E and H and certify such amounts to the comptroller and by the fifteenth day of each month, commencing in January, two thousand eight, the commissioner shall establish the amount of PIT and certify such amount and the amount of MA to the comptroller, in the manner set forth in this paragraph.

(C) (i) For the period commencing January first, two thousand eight, and ending on the last day of the month in which the taxes imposed in such a city by section eleven hundred seven of this chapter shall expire, the sales and use tax component "E" shall equal the amount of revenues from such taxes imposed at the rate of three percent or the amount of revenues from such taxes imposed at the rate of four percent after payments to the municipal assistance corporation for such a city required under section ninety-two-d of the state finance law have been made, whichever amount is less, and "H" shall equal net collections from taxes imposed by such a city pursuant to the authority of section twelve hundred twelve-A of this article, due such a city in the immediately preceding month.

(ii) For the period commencing on the first day of the first month following the period described in clause (i) of this subparagraph, the sales and use tax component "E" shall equal net collections from sales and compensating use taxes imposed by such city pursuant to the authority of subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten of this article up to the rate of three percent and "H" shall equal net collections from taxes imposed by such city pursuant to the authority of section twelve hundred twelve-A of this article, due such a city in the immediately preceding month.

(D) For the period commencing January first, two thousand eight, the PIT component for each month shall be designated "PIT" and shall equal the portion of the revenues from taxes imposed by such city pursuant to the authority of article thirty of this chapter due such a city in the immediately preceding month, calculated according to the formula: $PIT = MA - E - H$.

(E)(i) During the period that the taxes imposed in such a city by section eleven hundred seven of this chapter are in effect, the comptroller shall each month, after paying amounts certified to by the chairperson of the municipal assistance corporation created in aid of such city, as provided for in section ninety-two-d of the state finance law, pay the relevant portion of the sales and use tax component relating to such taxes imposed by such section eleven hundred seven for such month equal to E into the general fund of the state treasury to the credit of the state purposes account therein.

(ii) During the period that the taxes imposed by such a city pursuant to the authority of section twelve hundred ten of this article are in effect, the comptroller shall reduce the amount due each month to such city from such taxes provided for in subdivision (c) of this section by the relevant portion of the sales and use tax component for such month equal to E; and the comptroller shall instead each month pay such portion into the general fund of the state treasury to the credit of the state purposes account therein.

(iii) The comptroller shall reduce the amount due each month to such city from taxes imposed pursuant to the authority of section twelve hundred twelve-A provided for in subdivision (c) of this section by the relevant portion of the sales and use tax component for such month equal to H; and the comptroller shall instead each month pay such portion into the general fund of the state treasury to the credit of the state purposes account therein.

(iv) The comptroller shall each month certify to the New York city transitional finance authority the monthly amount of PIT and such authority shall, after applying amounts described in section thirteen hundred thirteen of this chapter, immediately pay such monthly amount, or so much of which is available after applying such amounts, directly and immediately to the comptroller; and the comptroller shall upon receipt of such moneys, subject to the exceptions in such section thirteen hundred thirteen, pay them into the general fund of the state treasury to the credit of the state purposes account therein.

(4) If for any reason such a city's Medicaid amount in a month (MA) is greater than the sum of the amounts of the comptroller's net payments to such city for that month under subdivision (c) of this section, under section twelve hundred twelve-A of this article and under section thirteen hundred thirteen of this chapter, after the comptroller has made any payments to other entities required by any law and after any payment, deposit, appropriation, transfer or expenditure required or authorized by any of such sections, the comptroller shall, at the same time that the comptroller makes the payments and reductions described in paragraph three of this subdivision, bill such city an amount equal to the difference and such city shall pay in full the amount of such bill to the comptroller by the twenty-fifth day of such month. Such city shall use any funds available to it to pay such bill. The comptroller shall deposit any such amounts received into the general fund of the state treasury to the credit of the state purposes account therein.

(5) If such a city does not pay in full a bill described in paragraph four of this subdivision by the twenty-fifth day of the month in accordance with such paragraph four, the comptroller shall, as soon as any other moneys payable to the city are available, either deduct any amount not paid from the amount of the next payment or payments due such city pursuant to subdivision (c) of this section, section twelve hundred twelve-A of this article or section thirteen hundred thirteen of this chapter, until such amount not paid has been recovered or, in the alternative and at the comptroller's discretion, deduct any amount not paid from the amount of any other moneys payable to such city from the comptroller and not subject to any lien or pledge for the benefit of bondholders of the transitional finance authority or of the municipal assistance corporation, until such amount not paid has been recovered. The comptroller shall deposit any amounts so deducted and recovered into the general fund of the state treasury to the credit of the state purposes account therein.

(6) This subdivision shall apply to payments required in respect of a city to be made on January twelfth, two thousand eight, and thereafter.

(7)(A) If such a city adopts or amends a local law, ordinance or resolution to repeal its sales and compensating use taxes imposed pursuant to the authority of subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten of this article, then, effective on the first day of the first month on which such repeal takes effect, such city's resolution electing to be reimbursed for certain medical assistance expenditures pursuant to section two of the chapter of the laws of two thousand five which added this subdivision shall also be repealed automatically as of such date; and the commissioner shall notify the commissioner of health of such city's repeal of such taxes. In that event, as of such date, such city shall be treated as if it had never made such election for purposes of such expenditures and such commissioner of health shall thenceforth compute the amount due monthly from such city for such expenditures pursuant to section one of such chapter of the laws of two thousand five.

(B) If such city adopts or amends a local law to repeal its taxes on personal income authorized by article thirty of this chapter, the comptroller shall bill such city monthly in the manner provided in paragraph four of this subdivision for any amounts due under this subdivision which otherwise would have been paid out of revenues from such taxes into the general fund of the state treasury pursuant to this subdivision, and such bills shall be paid as provided in paragraph four of this subdivision and any bill not paid shall be treated as provided in paragraph five of this subdivision.

§ 1261-a. Revenues from certain taxes imposed by Washington and Warren counties. (a) In the event that the Warren and Washington county industrial development agency established under article eighteen-A of the general municipal law issues bonds, notes or other obligations secured by the service fee obligations of the counties which, in turn, are secured by a pledge by Warren and Washington counties of payments of net collections from taxes imposed by such counties pursuant to the authority of subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten of this article, as authorized by the act which enacted this section, such industrial development agency shall provide a certified written notice to the state comptroller that it has issued, or is about to issue, such notes, bonds or other obligations. Such notice shall set forth in detail the term, amount, interest rate and payment schedule of such bonds, notes or other obligations, and the amounts due from each county attributable to net collections from the respective counties, as described in subdivision (b) of this section, together with such other information as the comptroller shall require. Such agency shall provide a copy of such notice to the chief fiscal officer of each such county. Such agency shall provide the first of such notices to the comptroller at least ninety days prior to the date that the comptroller is expected to pay net collections, as described in subdivision (b) of this section, and then at least ninety days prior to the beginning of each county's fiscal year thereafter, until the comptroller is no longer expected to make such payments of such net collections, provided that the first notice to the comptroller under this section may contain estimates of the term, amount, interest rate and payment schedules before the bonds, notes or other obligations are issued in which case such agency shall give a corrected notice to the comptroller within ten days after such bonds, notes or other obligations are issued. If such agency gives such an estimated notice and such bonds, notes or other obligations are not issued, such agency shall give further notice to the comptroller that net collections shall not be withheld from the counties.

(b) Upon the comptroller receiving (i) such complete, certified written notice from such agency, and (ii) certified copies of resolutions adopted by majority vote of the board of supervisors of each such county (both and each of such boards concurring) authorizing and requesting the comptroller to make such payments from such net collections due such counties as the counties have agreed upon with such agency, at least ninety days prior to the date that the comptroller is expected to make the first payment under this section, the comptroller shall, notwithstanding any provision of section twelve hundred sixty-one of this article to the contrary, pay, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, all or a portion of the net collections due Warren county, but only out of net collections attributable to taxes imposed by such county at the rate of one and one half percent pursuant to the authority of subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten of this article (or, in the event that Warren county's pledge is substituted, then only out of net collections available to such county as a result of such substituted pledge, as such substituted pledge and net collections are described in subdivision i of section one of chapter five hundred one of the laws of nineteen hundred ninety-nine, as added by the chapter of the laws of two thousand which added this subdivision) and all or a portion of the net collections due Washington county, but only out of the net collections attributable to taxes imposed by such county at the rate of three percent pursuant to the authority of subdivision (a) of such section twelve hundred ten, as authorized by such counties' resolutions, to such agency, on account of, and for the benefit of, such counties to meet such counties' responsibilities under agreements amongst such counties and such agency and the holders of such bonds, notes or other obligations which are subject to such a pledge, or to the trustee of such bonds, notes or other obligations. If so requested by both the agency, as indicated in its notice to the comptroller, and by the counties, as indicated in their concurring resolutions filed with the comptroller, the comptroller shall make such payments to a trustee pursuant to an indenture for bondholders or holders of notes or other obligations, issued by such agency with respect to the Adirondack resource recovery facility pursuant to the authority of the law which enacted this section. Such payments by the comptroller on behalf of such counties shall be applied monthly by such agency or, if paid directly to the trustee, by such trustee, to pay the portion of service fees measured by debt service costs or such other or additional portions of the service fees that the counties shall authorize by resolution of each of their respective boards of supervisors for solid waste disposal for the counties pursuant to agreements entered into or to be entered into concerning solid waste disposal fees, which agreements shall require such agency or such trustee to electronically transfer the balances of such payments not required to meet contractual obligations to the respective county on or before the first day of the next succeeding month.

(c) The comptroller shall not be responsible for any inaccuracy in the amount of such payments based upon the schedule in the notice furnished by such agency. The comptroller shall not be required to make payments under this subdivision which are greater than the amounts of net collections due Warren county from its tax imposed at the rate of one and one half percent (or, in the event that Warren county's pledge is substituted, due such county from its tax as available in the event of such substituted pledge, as such substituted pledge and net collections are described in subdivision i of section one of chapter five hundred one of the laws of nineteen hundred ninety-nine, as added by the chapter of the laws of two thousand which added this subdivision) or due Washington county from its tax imposed at the rate of three percent and available in the account described in subdivision (c) of section twelve hundred sixty-one of this article, as certified to the comptroller by the commissioner as provided in such subdivision (c) of section twelve hundred sixty-one. Any balance of net collections due such counties after the comptroller makes any payments required under this section shall be paid to such counties in the manner provided in such subdivision (c) of section twelve hundred sixty-one. The comptroller shall be required to make payments under this section for only so long as the counties are required to make payments of such net collections under the payment schedule set forth in such agency's notice to the comptroller.

(d) The comptroller may rely, without further inquiry, that Washington county has incurred obligations to the agency, and Warren county similarly has incurred obligations of Warren county to Washington county and/or the agency, and that agreements have been duly approved by the board of supervisors for each county and executed by the chairman of the board of supervisors for each county authorizing use of net collections as authorized in this section, payable by them, for all or a portion of service fees measured by debt service and payments to reserve funds in connection with any outstanding bonds, notes or other obligations now, or hereafter issued by the agency for such purposes or such other portions or additional portions of the service fees that the counties shall authorize by resolution of each of their respective boards of supervisors, and arising out of financing or refinancing of the Adirondack resource recovery facility including the financing of the purchase of any rights of private parties to acquire such facility through an installment sale.

§ 1262. Disposition of revenues from taxes imposed by cities under one million, counties and school districts. (a) Except as otherwise provided in this article, the local law, ordinance or resolution imposing any county tax pursuant to this article may set aside for county purposes or educational purposes all or any portion of the net collections therefrom. In the event all or a portion of the net collections are so set aside for educational purposes, the amounts thereof shall be distributed and paid quarterly to the several school districts in the county in accordance with the total average daily attendance for the last preceding school year of pupils residing in each such district (without regard to the location of the school attended), provided, however, that in the case of school districts which are partially within and partially without the county, such county shall make a distribution to each such school district in accordance with the total average daily attendance of the pupils in such school district who reside in such county and in any such case, the amount to be raised by school taxes by the district from the portion of such district within such county shall be reduced by the amount so distributed.

(b) In the county of Monroe amounts not set aside for county purposes shall be allocated quarterly to the city of Rochester and the area in the county outside the city of Rochester in proportion to their respective populations, determined in accordance with the latest federal census or special population census taken pursuant to section twenty of the general municipal law, completed and published prior to the end of the quarter for which the allocation is made, which special census must include the entire area of the county, provided, however, that a special population census shall not be taken more often than once in every two years. The county legislature may, by resolution adopted annually, provide that of the amount so allocated to the area outside the city of Rochester a portion thereof be allocated and paid to the several school districts in such area in accordance with the number of public school pupils residing in said districts and enrolled in kindergarten and grades one to twelve inclusive at the close of the school year next preceding the date of the adoption of said resolution. An enrollment for a regular half day session shall be counted as one-half enrollment. The location of the school attended shall not be considered except as hereinafter provided for pupils attending city schools without the payment of tuition. In the case of school districts which are partially within and partially without the county payment shall be made to each such school district in accordance with the enrollment of the pupils in such school district who reside in such county. In all cases the amount to be raised by school taxes by the school districts upon property within the district or that portion of the district within the county shall be reduced by the amount of tax revenue so received. Each school district receiving said money shall indicate on each individual school tax bill the amount of tax proceeds received from the county of Monroe for that fiscal year. In the case of pupils who reside in the area outside the city and who, by law, are attending public schools in the city of Rochester without payment of tuition, the distribution of tax revenue based on the enrollment of those pupils shall be paid to the city of Rochester. The amount allocated to the area outside the city of Rochester, less the amount, if any, so distributed to the school districts and paid to the city of Rochester as above provided, and the amount allocated to the city of Rochester shall be applied as provided for by subdivision (c) of this section except that the county legislature may provide by resolution that where any village elects to have the amount which would otherwise be applied to reduce county taxes and general town taxes upon real property in such village paid directly to such village in lieu of such tax reduction, the portion of the amount allocated, pursuant to subdivision (c) of this section, to the town in which such village is wholly or partly situated which is to be paid directly to such village shall be determined by the ratio which the population of such village, or portion thereof within the town, bears to the population of the entire town, determined in accordance with the latest federal census or special population census taken pursuant to section twenty of the general municipal law, completed and published prior to the end of the quarter for which the allocation is made, which special census must include the entire area of the town. Provided, however, in determining such portion to be paid directly to such village, such population ratio may be applied to no more than one-half of the amount allocated to such town pursuant to subdivision (c) of this section. Provided, further, that any resolution so enacted by the county legislature shall only be effective for the calendar year or years subsequent to its enactment and such resolution must be enacted before the first day of October preceding the calendar year to which it applies. Such resolution shall remain in effect for subsequent calendar years unless rescinded by a resolution, but the enactment which rescinds it must be enacted prior to the first day of October preceding the calendar year for which the rescission is to apply.

elective governing body of the county and of each of the cities in the county with the approval of the state comptroller, provided however, that where a county does not contain a city, such amounts shall be so allocated to the entire area of the county. Any such agreement or approval thereof may be for a limited period. The amount so allocated to the area outside the cities, or to the entire area of the county where the county does not contain a city, shall be applied first to reduce county taxes levied upon real property in the several towns in such area. Any balance remaining shall then be applied to reduce general town taxes levied upon real property in such area. In a county having a city wholly contained therein having more than four hundred thousand inhabitants according to the latest federal or special population census referred to above, if any town, by local law, ordinance, or resolution shall so provide, all or part of such amount shall be paid directly to such town and shall be applied first to reduce general town taxes levied upon real property in the town. Any balance remaining shall then be used to reduce county taxes levied upon real property in the town. Any town, other than a town within a county having a population of one million or more and containing not more than three towns, or other than a town within a county having a population of not less than seven hundred thousand or more than eight hundred thousand, by local law, ordinance or resolution, however, may provide that all or any specified part of the amounts which would be so applied to reduce the county taxes and general town taxes levied upon real property in such town shall be paid directly to such town to be used for any town purpose. If any village, other than a village within a county having a population of one million or more and containing not more than three towns, by local law, ordinance or resolution shall so provide, the amounts which would be so applied to reduce the county and general town taxes levied upon real property in such village shall be paid directly to such village in lieu of such tax reduction. Where any village has elected to be paid directly as provided in this subdivision, the amount to be paid to such village shall be determined by the ratio that the full valuation of real property in the village or portion thereof within the town in which such village is located bears to the full valuation of real property in the entire town. If a village wholly or partially within a town has so elected to be paid directly, but the town in which such village is located has not so elected, the amount allocated to the town in which such village is wholly or partially situated shall be applied to reduce county taxes and general town taxes in the area of the town outside such village. If the amount allocated to a town exceeds the amount of the county taxes and general town taxes levied upon real property in the town, the excess shall be apportioned between the town and each village, if any, wholly or partially situated therein, in the ratios that the full valuation of real property in each such village or portion thereof within the town, and the full valuation of real property in the portion of the town outside of such village or villages, respectively, bear to the aggregate full valuation of the entire town. The share of each such village shall be paid directly to such village. The share of the town shall be applied, first, to reduce taxes levied for part-town activities, and any balance remaining shall be paid directly to the town, to be used only for part-town activities. If a town and all the villages therein shall have elected to be paid directly as provided in this subdivision, the share of such town shall be applied to reduce taxes levied for part-town activities, and any balance remaining or portion thereof, in the discretion of the town board, may be applied to reduce general town taxes, county taxes levied in the area of the town outside of such villages or may be used for part-town activities, or any combination thereof. If a town containing more than one village shall have elected to be paid directly and one or more but not all of the villages shall have also elected to be paid directly, the share of the town shall be applied to reduce general town taxes levied in the area of the town outside of the village or villages that have so elected, and any balance remaining or portion thereof, in the discretion of the town board, may be applied to reduce county taxes levied in the area of the town outside of such village or villages. The amount to be applied in reduction of county taxes and general town taxes in each town may be determined on the basis of the ratio which the full valuation of real property in each town bears to the aggregate full valuation of real property in all of the towns in such county. The amount allocated to each city shall be similarly applied to reduce the county tax levied upon real property in such city, except that if any such city, except a city within a single county having a population of one million or more and containing not more than three towns, by local law, ordinance or resolution shall so provide, the amount which would be so applied to reduce the county tax levied upon real property in such city shall be paid directly to the city in lieu of such tax reduction. If the amount allocated to a city exceeds the amount of the county tax levied upon real property in such city, such excess shall be paid to such city.

Notwithstanding any provision of this section to the contrary, where a municipal assistance corporation has been created under article ten of the public authorities law for a city located in a county, any amount which such county allocates to such city under this subdivision shall be payable directly to such city and shall not be provided by reduction of the county tax levied upon real property in such city for so long as such municipal assistance corporation shall exist.

In the alternative, the amount to be applied in reduction of county taxes and general town taxes in each town may be determined on the basis of the respective populations of the several towns in such county, determined in accordance with the latest federal census or special population census taken pursuant to section twenty of the general municipal law, completed and published prior to the end of the quarter for which the allocation is made, which special census must include the entire area of the county.

Any local law, ordinance or resolution enacted by a city, town or village pursuant to this subdivision shall only be effective for the calendar year or years subsequent to its enactment and, further, shall only be effective if it is mailed by registered or certified mail to the chief fiscal officer of the county in which the city, town or village is located before the first day of September preceding the calendar year for which the election is made by such local law, ordinance or resolution. Such local law, ordinance or resolution shall remain in effect for subsequent calendar years until rescinded by local law, ordinance or resolution, but the enactment shall rescind the election only if it is mailed, in the same manner already provided for in this subdivision, to the chief fiscal officer of the county in which the city, town or village is located before the first day of September preceding the calendar year for which the rescission is to apply. The foregoing provisions of this paragraph notwithstanding, where a county imposes a sales and use tax to be effective on a date after the adoption of its budget but within the fiscal year for which such budget has been adopted, and the estimated revenues from such tax include an amount not set aside for county purposes or educational purposes, and such amount has not been included in budget revenues for such fiscal year for allocation in reduction of taxes on real property as provided in this subdivision, a local law, ordinance or resolution enacted by a city, town or village pursuant to this subdivision shall be effective as of the effective date of such tax if mailed by registered or certified mail to the chief fiscal officer of the county in which the city, town or village is located within thirty days after the enactment by the county of the local law, ordinance or resolution imposing such tax.

The foregoing provisions of this subdivision notwithstanding, in the county of Orange where any village within such county has elected to be paid directly as provided in this subdivision, the amount to be paid to such village shall be determined by the ratio that the population of such village or portion thereof within the town in which such village is located bears to the total population of the entire town, except that this provision shall not apply to the village of Highland Falls for which the amount to be paid shall be determined by the foregoing provisions of this subdivision. The population shall be determined in accordance with the latest federal census or special population census taken pursuant to section twenty of the general municipal law, completed and published prior to the end of the quarter for which the allocation is made, which special census must include the entire area of such county.

The foregoing provisions of this subdivision notwithstanding, in the county of Monroe, beginning in nineteen hundred ninety-six, towns located within the county shall be paid directly that part of the net collections for the quarterly allocations which are determined to be allocable to such towns and are in excess of thirteen million seven hundred fifty thousand dollars (fifty-five million dollars annually, the "base amount"), if any, derived solely from the imposition of sales and compensating use taxes by the county at the three percent rate authorized by the opening paragraph of section twelve hundred ten of this article, which would otherwise be so applied to reduce county taxes and general town taxes levied upon real property in such towns, provided, however, if the annual allocation to such towns is less than the base amount, a sum equal to the difference between the allocation and the base amount shall be deducted from the immediately following payment or payments to be made directly to such towns as required to satisfy such sum in full, and provided further, however, that any adjustments necessary to reconcile the amounts applied to reduce the county taxes and general town taxes levied upon real property in the towns for the years nineteen hundred ninety-four and nineteen hundred ninety-five to the actual allocations to the towns for such years shall be made against the amounts to be paid to the towns in the years nineteen hundred ninety-seven and thereafter. In the event that the annual allocation to such towns is less than the base amount for at least two consecutive years, a sum equal to the difference between the allocation and the base amount shall be deducted from the amount applied to reduce county taxes and general town taxes levied upon real property in such towns in the year or years following such consecutive years until the annual allocation to such towns exceeds the base amount, the foregoing provisions of this subdivision or any other law notwithstanding. If the state reduces the rate of taxation authorized for Monroe county by section twelve hundred ten of this article or reduces the amount distributed by the state to Monroe county from the taxes, penalties and interest imposed by Monroe county pursuant to this article, the county shall have the right to adjust the amount applied to reduce county taxes and general town taxes levied upon real property in subsequent years.

(d) (1) Where a county and a city therein both impose the same taxes described in sections twelve hundred two, twelve hundred three or twelve hundred ten, the county shall have power to impose or continue to impose such taxes on the area of the county outside such city up to the maximum rate authorized therefor. In such event, the portion of the net collections received by the county by reason of its additional rate on such area, shall be allocated quarterly to the several cities and towns in such area on the basis of the ratio which the full valuation of real property in each city or town bears to the aggregate full valuation of real property in all of the cities and towns in such area provided, however, that, in such event, in Niagara county, such portion of net collections received by Niagara county shall be allocated quarterly to the several cities and towns in such area on the basis of the ratio which the population of each city or town bears to the aggregate population of all of the cities and towns in such area, such populations determined in accordance with the latest decennial federal census or special population census taken pursuant to section twenty of the general municipal law completed and published prior to the end of the quarter for which the allocation is made, which special census must include the entire area of the county. The amount allocated to each town shall be applied first to reduce county taxes levied upon real property in such town and any balance remaining shall be applied to reduce general town taxes levied upon real estate; provided, however, that any town or village other than any town or village within a county having a population of one million or more and containing not more than three towns, shall have power, in the manner provided in subdivision (c) of this section, to elect to receive a direct payment of the amounts which would be so applied to reduce county taxes and general town taxes levied upon real property in such town or village. Where any village has elected to be paid directly as provided in this subdivision, the amount to be paid to such village shall be determined by the ratio that the full valuation of real property in the village or portion thereof within the town in which such village is located bears to the full valuation of real property in the entire town. If a village wholly or partially within a town has so elected to be paid directly, but the town in which such village is located has not so elected, the amount allocated to the town in which such village is wholly or partially situated shall be applied to reduce county taxes and general town taxes in the area of the town outside such village or villages. If the amount allocated to a town exceeds the amount of the county taxes and general town taxes levied upon real property in the town, the excess shall be apportioned between the town and each village, if any, wholly or partially situated therein, and paid over or applied in the manner provided in subdivision (c) of this section. The amount allocated to each city in such area shall be similarly applied to reduce county taxes levied upon real property in such city, except that if any such city except any city within a single county having a population of one million or more and containing no more than three towns, shall so provide in the manner provided in subdivision (c) of this section, the amount which would be so applied to reduce county taxes levied upon real property in such city shall be paid directly to the city in lieu of such tax reduction. If the amount allocated to the city exceeds the amount of the county tax levied upon real property in the city, such excess shall be paid to the city.

Notwithstanding any provision of this section to the contrary, where a municipal assistance corporation has been created under article ten of the public authorities law for a city located in a county, any amount which such county allocates to such city under this subdivision shall be payable directly to such city and shall not be provided by reduction of the county tax levied upon real property in such city for so long as such municipal assistance corporation shall exist.

Any local law, ordinance or resolution enacted by a city, town or village pursuant to this subdivision shall only be effective for the calendar year or years subsequent to its enactment and, further, shall only be effective if it is mailed by registered or certified mail to the chief fiscal officer of the county in which the city, town or village is located before the first day of September preceding the calendar year for which the election is made by such local law, ordinance or resolution. Such local law, ordinance or resolution shall remain in effect for subsequent calendar years until rescinded by local law, ordinance or resolution, but the enactment shall rescind the election only if it is mailed, in the same manner already provided for in this subdivision, to the chief fiscal officer of the county in which the city, town or village is located before the first day of September preceding the calendar year for which the rescission to apply. The foregoing provisions of this paragraph notwithstanding, where a county imposes a sales and use tax to be effective on a date after the adoption of its budget but within the fiscal year for which such budget has been adopted, and the estimated revenues from such tax include net collections received by the county by reason of its additional rate on the area of the county outside a city imposing the same taxes, and such net collections have not been included in budget revenues for such fiscal year for allocation in reduction of taxes on real property as provided in this subdivision, a local law, ordinance or resolution enacted by a city, town or village pursuant to this subdivision shall be effective as of the effective date of such tax if mailed by registered or certified mail to the chief fiscal officer of the county in which the city, town or village is located within thirty days after the enactment by the county of the local law, ordinance or resolution imposing such tax.

(2) Notwithstanding any provision of general, special or local law to the contrary, if at any time from the effective date of the Buffalo fiscal stability authority act until June thirtieth, two thousand thirty-seven any city in the county of Erie imposes sales and compensating use taxes described in section twelve hundred ten of this article, then the county of Erie shall not be required to allocate under paragraph one of this subdivision, any net collections from its taxes imposed during such period; instead it shall continue to allocate net collections from its taxes to any city in the county which does not impose such taxes and to the area of the county outside the cities, in accordance with the terms of the most current agreement among such county and the cities in the county entered into pursuant to subdivision (c) of this section.

(3) Notwithstanding any provision of general, special or local law to the contrary, if at any time from the effective date of the Erie county fiscal stability authority act until December thirty-first, two thousand thirty-nine, any city in the county of Erie imposes sales and compensating use taxes described in section twelve hundred ten of this article, then the county of Erie shall not be required to allocate under paragraph one of this subdivision any net collections from its taxes imposed during such period; instead it shall continue to allocate net collections from its taxes to any city in the county which does not impose such taxes and to the area of the county outside the cities, in accordance with the terms of the most current agreement among such county and the cities in the county entered into pursuant to subdivision (c) of this section.

(4) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, for purposes of this subdivision, a county and a city in such county shall not be deemed to impose different taxes because one makes the election described in subdivision (m) of section eleven hundred eleven of this chapter and the other does not make such election.

(e) Where all or a portion of the net collections from a tax imposed by a county pursuant to this article is set aside for educational purposes or for allocation and distribution to the cities in the county and to the area outside the cities, or both, or where a tax or taxes are imposed pursuant to section twelve hundred four of this article for educational purposes, the portion of net collections so set aside by a county shall not be decreased or eliminated nor shall a tax so imposed by a city be eliminated unless the local law, ordinance or resolution effectuating such decrease or elimination is adopted by the county or city and written notice of such adoption is given to the school authorities of the school districts and the governing bodies of the cities, towns or villages affected thereby at least six months prior to the commencement of their respective fiscal years. The school authorities of such a school district or the governing body of such city, town or village may waive the requirement that such local law, ordinance or resolution be so adopted and such written notice given.

(f) As used in this article the following terms shall mean or include:

(1) Net collections. The moneys collected from a tax or taxes imposed pursuant to this article, after deducting therefrom expenses of administration and collection and amounts refunded or to be refunded.

(2) General Town taxes. Taxes levied for any town purpose, including highways, upon the entire area of a town.

(3) Full valuation of real property. The assessed valuation of real property divided by the equalization rate as determined in accordance with article eight of the real property tax law.

(4) Part-town activities. Activities of town government, including highway programs, which are chargeable to the area of the town outside of villages, exclusive of special district purposes, unless such special district is a fire protection district coterminous with the area of a town outside of villages.

§ 1262-a. Sales tax; Tompkins county. (a) In the event that the county of Tompkins and the city of Ithaca both impose the same taxes described in section twelve hundred two, twelve hundred three or twelve hundred ten of this chapter, the county shall have power to impose or continue to impose such taxes on the area of the county outside such city up to the maximum rate authorized therefor. In such event, notwithstanding the provisions of the preceding section, the portion of the net collections received by the county by reason of its additional rate on such area, shall be allocated quarterly to the towns in such area in proportion to their respective populations, and allocated between the towns and villages, if any village elects to take its share in cash, in proportion to their respective populations, determined in accordance with the latest decennial federal census or special population census taken pursuant to section twenty of the general municipal law completed and published prior to the end of the quarter for which the allocation is made.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, if the county of Tompkins imposes the additional one-half or one percent rate of tax pursuant to the provisions of section twelve hundred ten of this article, the net collections received by the county of Tompkins on account of such additional rate during the first six months such additional rate is in effect shall be retained by the county of Tompkins to be used for any county purpose. Thereafter, seventy-five per centum of net collections attributable to such additional rate shall be retained by the county of Tompkins, to be used for any county purpose, and the remaining twenty-five per centum of such net collections shall be allocated as follows:

(1) Where the city of Ithaca imposes a tax pursuant to the authority of subdivision (a) of section one thousand two hundred ten of this article, that portion received by the county on account of the additional tax imposed by the county within the city of Ithaca shall be allocated to the city of Ithaca to be used for any city purpose. Where the city of Ithaca does not impose a tax pursuant to the authority of such subdivision (a) of section one thousand two hundred ten the amount required to be allocated to such city, to be used for any city purpose, shall be determined in proportion to such city's population determined as a portion of the county's total population as determined in accordance with the latest decennial federal census or special population census taken pursuant to section twenty of the general municipal law completed and published prior to the end of the quarter for which the allocation is made.

(2) The balance of such twenty-five per centum, after deduction of the amount allocated to the city of Ithaca pursuant to paragraph one of this subdivision, shall be allocated to the towns of such county, and between towns and villages, if any village elects to take its share in cash, in the manner described in subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the area of the county outside the city of Ithaca.

(1) The county shall allocate one-half of net collections from such taxes imposed pursuant to subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten of this article countywide among the cities and towns of the county on the basis of the ratio which the full valuation of real property in each city or town bears to the aggregate full valuation of real property in all cities and towns of the county. Amounts so allocated shall be credited to each of said cities and towns against the county taxes levied upon real property in said cities and towns.

(2) The county shall allocate and credit or pay one-third of net collections from such taxes imposed pursuant to subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten of this article to the area of the county outside any city imposing sales and compensating use taxes at a rate of one and one-half percent or greater pursuant to the authority of subdivision (a) or at any rate pursuant to the authority of subdivision (b) of section twelve hundred ten of this article as follows:

(B) One-sixth of such net collections shall be allocated and paid quarterly by the county commissioner of finance, in cash, to the several school districts in such area of the county outside any such city imposing sales and compensating use taxes. Such allocation and payment, to such several school districts, shall be made on the basis of the ratio which the population of each such school district bears to the aggregate population of all of the school districts in such area. In the case of school districts which are partially within and partially without the county, or partially within or partially without the area of the county outside a city imposing sales and compensating use taxes, the allocation and payment to each such school district shall be made on the basis of the population in such school district in the county, or in such area of the county outside a city imposing sales and compensating use taxes, as the case may be. Such populations shall be determined in accordance with the latest federal census or special population census under section twenty of the general municipal law completed and published prior to the end of the quarter in which such allocation and payment are made, which special population census shall include the entire area of the county; provided that such special population census shall not be taken more than once in every two years. A school district split between Westchester county and another county shall apply such allocation and payment solely to the benefit of the residents of the county in which the sales and compensating use taxes are imposed.

(C) One-half of such net collections shall be allocated and paid quarterly by the county commissioner of finance, in cash, to the cities not imposing sales and compensating use taxes and to the towns and villages on which such rate is imposed, on the basis of the ratio which the population of each such city, town or village on which such rate is imposed bears to the entire population of all such cities, towns and villages in the area on which such rate is imposed. Such populations shall be determined in accordance with the latest federal census or special population census under section twenty of the general municipal law completed and published prior to the end of the quarter in which such allocation is made, which special population census shall include the entire area of the county; provided that such special population census shall not be taken more than once in every two years.

(D) The quarterly allocation and payment of cash to cities, towns, villages and school districts provided for under this paragraph and under paragraph three of this subdivision and under subdivision (b) of this section may be made after payment by the state comptroller to the county of the net collections subject to such allocation and receipt by the county commissioner of finance of the quarterly settlement report issued by the department, and may include adjustments for corrections applicable to such allocations. All ratios established by the county commissioner of finance with respect to allocations to cities, towns, villages and school districts under this subdivision and under subdivision (b) of this section shall be carried to four decimal places. The allocation of net collections and payment of cash provided for under this paragraph and under paragraph three of this subdivision and under subdivision (b) of this section shall be made to a town based upon the population of the town less the population of any village therein, provided that a town/village or village/town shall be deemed a village for the purpose of determining such allocation. The allocation of net collections and payment of cash provided for under this paragraph and under paragraph three of this subdivision and under subdivision (b) of this section shall be applied by the cities, towns, villages and school districts receiving such allocation and payment as a credit against the taxes upon real property imposed by such municipalities and school districts, respectively. The allocation and payment received by towns shall be credited against real property taxes in either the general fund town-wide or the town outside village fund or a combination thereof.

(3) The county shall allocate and credit or pay one-sixth of net collections from such taxes imposed pursuant to subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten of this article to the area of the county outside any city imposing sales and compensating use taxes at a rate of one and one-half percent or greater pursuant to the authority of subdivision (a) or at any rate pursuant to the authority of subdivision (b) of section twelve hundred ten of this article as follows:

(A) Seventy percent of such net collections shall be retained by the county to be used for any county purpose.

(B) Ten percent of such net collections shall be allocated and paid in the manner set forth in subparagraph (B) of paragraph two of this subdivision.

(C) Twenty percent of such net collections shall be allocated and paid in the manner set forth in subparagraph (C) of paragraph two of this subdivision.

(b) If the county of Westchester imposes the additional one percent rate of sales and compensating use tax authorized by clause forty-two of subparagraph (i) of the opening paragraph of section twelve hundred ten of this article, the county shall allocate and credit or pay net collections from such additional one percent rate in the manner set forth in paragraph three of subdivision (a) of this section with respect to the area of the county outside any city imposing sales and compensating use taxes at a rate of one and one-half percent or greater pursuant to the authority of subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten of this article or at any rate pursuant to the authority of subdivision (b) of section twelve hundred ten of this article.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be construed to impair the powers of a city currently imposing sales and compensating use taxes pursuant to the authority of section twelve hundred ten of this article from continuing to do so in accordance with law. No school district in any city imposing such sales and compensating use taxes shall be entitled to receive a cash allocation and payment under paragraph two or three of subdivision (a) or under subdivision (b) of this section. No city, town or village authorized or entitled to receive an allocation under subparagraph (C) of paragraph two or subparagraph (C) of paragraph three of subdivision (a) or under subdivision (b) of this section shall be authorized or entitled to receive any cash allocation under section twelve hundred sixty-two of this article.

§ 1262-c. Allocation of revenue from sales and use taxes to villages wholly or partially contained within Broome county. Notwithstanding any other provision of the tax law to the contrary, the county legislature of Broome county shall have the authority to adopt a method for dividing the sales and use tax revenues allocated to a town between any village or villages located wholly or partially within the town and to the area outside of villages based on either population or full valuation of real property or on any combination of these two factors.

§ 1262-d. Allocation and distribution of revenues from sales and use taxes to villages within the county of Albany. Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter to the contrary, the net collections from a tax imposed by Albany county pursuant to this article set aside for allocation and distribution to the towns and villages therein shall be distributed between such towns and villages where any such village has elected or hereafter elects to take its share in cash, directly in proportion to their respective populations determined in accordance with the latest decennial federal census or special population census taken pursuant to section twenty of the general municipal law completed and published prior to the end of the quarter for which the allocation is made, which special census must include the entire area of the county, except that in the towns of Colonie and Coeymans, the amount to be paid to each village therein shall be determined by the ratio that the full valuation of real property in each such village within said town bears to the full valuation of real property in the entire town as set forth in subdivision (c) of section twelve hundred sixty-two of this chapter; provided, however, that commencing with the July, nineteen hundred eighty-one quarterly distribution, one-eighth of the amount of such net collections allocated to the town of Colonie and each successive quarter thereafter, cumulatively, an additional one-eighth part of each such quarterly town allocation shall be distributed between such village or villages and the town of Colonie in proportion to their respective full valuations of real property, with the remainder of each such town quarterly allocation through and including that distributable in January, nineteen hundred eighty-three, being an evenly declining portion of each such quarterly allocation, to be distributed in proportion to population as hereinbefore set forth for the remainder of Albany county, so that the April, nineteen hundred eighty-three quarterly allocation to the town of Colonie and those allocations thereafter received shall be divided between said town and the villages therein solely in proportion to their respective full valuations of real property as provided herein.

and cities to minimize real property taxes; defray the cost and expense of the treatment, collection, management, disposal, and transportation of municipal solid waste, and to comply with the provisions of chapter two hundred ninety-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred eighty-three; and defray the cost of maintaining conservation and environmental control programs. Such special assistance program for the towns and cities within such county and the funding for such program shall equal one-third of the revenues received by such county from the imposition of the three-quarters percent sales and use tax during calendar years two thousand one, two thousand two, two thousand three, two thousand four, two thousand five, two thousand six, two thousand seven, two thousand eight, two thousand nine, two thousand ten, two thousand eleven, two thousand twelve, two thousand thirteen, two thousand fourteen, two thousand fifteen, two thousand sixteen, two thousand seventeen, two thousand eighteen, two thousand nineteen, two thousand twenty, two thousand twenty-one, two thousand twenty-two, two thousand twenty-three, two thousand twenty-four, two thousand twenty-five, two thousand twenty-six and two thousand twenty-seven additional to the regular three percent rate authorized for such county in section twelve hundred ten of this article. The monies for such special local assistance shall be paid and distributed to the towns and cities on a per capita basis using the population figures in the latest decennial federal census. Provided further, that notwithstanding any other law to the contrary, the establishment of such special assistance program shall preclude any city or town within such county from preempting or claiming under any other section of this chapter the revenues derived from the additional tax authorized by section twelve hundred ten of this article. Provided further, that any such town or towns may, by resolution of the town board, apportion all or a part of monies received in such special assistance program to an improvement district or special district account within such town or towns in order to accomplish the purposes of this special assistance program.

2. Villages. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, for the calendar year beginning on January first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight and continuing through the calendar year beginning on January first, two thousand twenty-seven, the county of Nassau, by local law, is hereby empowered to enact and establish a local government assistance program for the villages within such county to assist such villages to minimize real property taxes; defray the cost and expense of the treatment, collection, management, disposal, and transportation of municipal solid waste; and defray the cost of maintaining conservation and environmental control programs. The funding of such local assistance program for the villages within such county may be provided by Nassau county during any calendar year in which such village local assistance program is in effect and shall not exceed one-sixth of the revenues received from the imposition of the three-quarters percent sales and use tax that are remaining after the towns and cities have received their funding pursuant to the provisions of subdivision one of this section. The funding for such village local assistance program shall be paid and distributed to the villages on a per capita basis using the population figures in the latest decennial federal census. Provided further, that the establishment of such village local assistance program shall preclude any village within such county from preempting or claiming under any other section of this chapter the revenues derived from the additional tax authorized by section twelve hundred ten of this article.

§ 1262-f. Allocation and distribution of revenues from sales and use taxes within the village of Barker and town of Somerset, Niagara county. Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter to the contrary, the net collections from a tax imposed by Niagara county pursuant to this article set aside for allocation and distribution to the town of Somerset and village of Barker shall be distributed between such town and village which has elected or hereafter elects to take its share in cash, directly in proportion to their respective populations determined in accordance with the latest decennial federal census or special population census taken pursuant to section twenty of the general municipal law completed and published prior to the end of the quarter for which the allocation is made, which special census must include the entire area of the county.

this section, the following terms shall mean:

(a) Annual fiscal year. A twelve-month time period which begins on July first and ends June thirtieth of the following year. The first annual fiscal year shall begin on July first, nineteen hundred ninety-one and end on June thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-two.

(b) Sales tax revenue. The net amount of sales and compensating use taxes collected by the state of New York during an annual fiscal year and thereafter distributed to the county of Monroe.

(c) Sales tax increase. That amount by which sales tax revenue for an annual fiscal year exceeds the amount of sales tax revenue for the immediately preceding annual fiscal year.

(d) Sales tax decrease. That amount by which sales tax revenue for an annual fiscal year is less than the amount of sales tax revenue for the immediately preceding annual fiscal year.

2. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, on and after July first, nineteen hundred ninety-two, the county of Monroe shall allocate sales tax increases as follows:

(a) In the event there is a sales tax increase during any annual fiscal year, beginning on July first, nineteen hundred ninety-two or thereafter, subject to the provisions of paragraph (b) of this subdivision:

(i) fifty percent of such sales tax increase shall be allocated to the city of Rochester, subject, however, to the limitation set forth in subparagraph (iv) of this paragraph; and

(ii) fifty percent of the sales tax increase shall be allocated pursuant to section twelve hundred sixty-two of this article, subject however, to the exceptions hereinafter set forth in clauses (A) and (B) of this subparagraph:

(A) The amounts allocated to the school districts outside the city of Rochester shall be equal to the amount of money which would have been received by those districts from said sales tax increase prior to the application of this section, which increased funds for those school districts shall be deducted from that portion of the sales tax increase allocated to the county of Monroe; and

(B) The amounts allocated to all of the villages located within the county of Monroe shall be equal to the amount of money which would have been received by those villages from said sales tax increase prior to the application of this section, which increased funds for those villages shall be deducted from that portion of the sales tax increase allocated to the county of Monroe; and

(iii) The remainder of the sales tax revenue shall be allocated in accordance with the same allocation that was made during the immediately preceding annual fiscal year; and

(iv) At no time during an annual fiscal year shall the amount of sales tax revenue allocated to the city of Rochester pursuant to the provisions of this section and section twelve hundred sixty-two of this article exceed thirty-five and sixty-three one hundredths percent of the total sales tax revenue. Any sales tax revenue that would have been otherwise allocated to the city of Rochester shall be allocated in accordance with section twelve hundred sixty-two of this article except that none of the additional sales tax revenue shall be allocated to the city of Rochester.

(b) In the event that there is a sales tax decrease during any annual fiscal year, beginning on July first, nineteen hundred ninety-two or thereafter:

(i) The amount of the sales tax decrease shall be borne by the county of Monroe, city of Rochester and the area in the county of Monroe outside the city of Rochester in the same proportion in which the preceding year's overall allocations were made;

(ii) in the first annual fiscal year, or, if necessary, years following the annual fiscal year, or years, of sales tax decrease, during which there is a sales tax increase, an amount equal to the total sales tax decrease shall be subtracted from the sales tax increase and such amount shall be allocated to the county of Monroe, the city of Rochester and the area in the county of Monroe outside the city of Rochester in the same amounts as subtracted in the sales tax decrease year;

(iii) the remainder of the sales tax increase, if any, shall be allocated on the same basis as set forth in paragraph (a) of this subdivision; and

(iv) the remainder of the sales tax revenue shall be allocated in accordance with the same allocation that was made during the immediately preceding annual fiscal year.

(c) The allocation required by this section for an annual fiscal year shall be made during such year at the same time that allocation is made for sales tax revenue apportioned pursuant to section twelve hundred sixty-two of this article.

3. The provisions of this section shall terminate if a payroll tax or income tax is enacted for the city of Rochester on the same date that such payroll tax or income tax becomes effective, and the sales tax increase allocation pursuant to this section shall not be utilized after such date.

net collections attributable to such additional one percent rate of tax received by such county after the county receives in the aggregate eighteen million five hundred thousand dollars of net collections from such additional one percent rate of tax imposed for any of the periods: September first, two thousand twelve through August thirty-first, two thousand thirteen; September first, two thousand thirteen through August thirty-first, two thousand fourteen; and September first, two thousand fourteen through August thirty-first, two thousand fifteen; September first, two thousand fifteen through August thirty-first, two thousand sixteen; and September first, two thousand sixteen through August thirty-first, two thousand seventeen; September first, two thousand seventeen through August thirty-first, two thousand eighteen; September first, two thousand eighteen through August thirty-first, two thousand twenty; September first, two thousand twenty through August thirty-first, two thousand twenty-three; September first, two thousand twenty-three through August thirty-first, two thousand twenty-five; and September first, two thousand twenty-five through August thirty-first, two thousand twenty-seven, to an allocation on a per capita basis, utilizing figures from the latest decennial federal census or special population census taken pursuant to section twenty of the general municipal law, completed and published prior to the end of the year for which such allocation is made, which special census must include the entire area of such county, to be allocated and distributed among the towns of Oneida county by appropriation of its board of legislators; provided, further, that nothing herein shall require such board of legislators to make any such appropriation until it has been notified by any town by appropriate resolution and, in any case where there is a village wholly or partly located within a town, a resolution of every such village, embodying the agreement of such town and village or villages upon the amount of such appropriation to be distributed to such village or villages out of the allocation to the town or towns in which it is located.

Steuben county. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, of the net collections received by the county of Steuben as a result of the imposition of the additional one percent rate of tax authorized by section twelve hundred ten of this article (a) during the period beginning December first, nineteen hundred ninety-three and ending November thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-four, the county of Steuben shall pay or cause to be paid to the city of Hornell the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, to the city of Corning the sum of three hundred thousand dollars, and the sum of five hundred thousand dollars to the towns and villages of the county of Steuben, on the basis of the ratio which the full valuation of real property in each town or village bears to the aggregate full valuation of real property in all of the towns and villages in such area. Of the net collections received by the county of Steuben as a result of the imposition of said additional one percent rate of tax authorized by section twelve hundred ten of this article during the period beginning December first, nineteen hundred ninety-four and ending November thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-five, the county of Steuben shall pay or cause to be paid to the city of Hornell the sum of three hundred thousand dollars, to the city of Corning the sum of four hundred fifty thousand dollars, and the sum of seven hundred fifty thousand dollars to the towns and villages of the county of Steuben, on the basis of the ratio which the full valuation of real property in each town or village bears to the aggregate full valuation of real property in all of the towns and villages in such area; and (b) during the period beginning December first, nineteen hundred ninety-five and ending November thirtieth, two thousand seven, the county of Steuben shall annually pay or cause to be paid to the city of Hornell the sum of five hundred fifty thousand dollars, to the city of Corning the sum of six hundred thousand dollars, and the sum of seven hundred fifty thousand dollars to the towns and villages of the county of Steuben, on the basis of the ratio which the full valuation of real property in each town or village bears to the aggregate full valuation of real property in all of the towns and villages in such area; and during the period beginning December first, two thousand seven and ending November thirtieth, two thousand nine, the county of Steuben shall annually pay or cause to be paid to the city of Hornell the sum of six hundred ten thousand dollars, to the city of Corning the sum of six hundred fifty thousand dollars, and the sum of seven hundred fifty thousand dollars to the towns and villages of the county of Steuben, on the basis of the ratio which the full valuation of real property in each town or village bears to the aggregate full valuation of real property in all of the towns and villages in such area; and during the period beginning December first, two thousand nine and ending November thirtieth, two thousand eleven, the county of Steuben shall annually pay or cause to be paid to the city of Hornell the sum of seven hundred ten thousand dollars, to the city of Corning the sum of seven hundred ten thousand dollars, and the sum of seven hundred fifty thousand dollars to the towns and villages of the county of Steuben, on the basis of the ratio which the full valuation of real property in each town or village bears to the aggregate full valuation of real property in all of the towns and villages in such area; and during the period beginning December first, two thousand eleven and ending November thirtieth, two thousand thirteen, the county of Steuben shall annually pay or cause to be paid to the city of Hornell the sum of seven hundred forty thousand dollars, to the city of Corning the sum of seven hundred forty thousand dollars, and the sum of seven hundred fifty thousand dollars to the towns and villages of the county of Steuben, on the basis of the ratio which the full valuation of real property in each town or village bears to the aggregate full valuation of real property in all of the towns and villages in such area; and during the period beginning December first, two thousand thirteen and ending November thirtieth, two thousand fifteen, the county of Steuben shall annually pay or cause to be paid to the city of Hornell the sum of seven hundred sixty-five thousand dollars, to the city of Corning the sum of seven hundred sixty-five thousand dollars, and the sum of seven hundred fifty thousand dollars to the towns and villages of the county of Steuben, on the basis of the ratio which the full valuation of real property in each town or village bears to the aggregate full valuation of real property in all of the towns and villages in such area; and during the period beginning December first, two thousand fifteen and ending November thirtieth, two thousand seventeen, the county of Steuben shall annually pay or cause to be paid to the city of Hornell the sum of seven hundred sixty-five thousand dollars, to the city of Corning the sum of seven hundred sixty-five thousand dollars, and the sum of seven hundred fifty thousand dollars to the towns and villages of the county of Steuben, on the basis of the ratio which the full valuation of real property in each town or village bears to the aggregate full valuation of real property in all of the towns and villages in such area; and during the period beginning December first, two thousand seventeen and ending November thirtieth, two thousand twenty, the county of Steuben shall annually pay or cause to be paid to the city of Hornell the sum of seven hundred eighty thousand dollars, to the city of Corning the sum of seven hundred eighty thousand dollars, and the sum of seven hundred fifty thousand dollars to the towns and villages of the county of Steuben, on the basis of the ratio which the full valuation of real property in each town or village bears to the aggregate full valuation of real property in all of the towns and villages in such area; and during the period beginning December first, two thousand twenty and ending November thirtieth, two thousand twenty-three, the county of Steuben shall annually pay or cause to be paid to the city of Hornell the sum of eight hundred twenty thousand dollars, to the city of Corning the sum of eight hundred twenty thousand dollars, and the sum of seven hundred ninety thousand dollars to the towns and villages of the county of Steuben, on the basis of the ratio which the full valuation of real property in each town or village bears to the aggregate full valuation of real property in all of the towns and villages in such area; and during the period beginning December first, two thousand twenty-three and ending November thirtieth, two thousand twenty-five, the county of Steuben shall annually pay or cause to be paid to the city of Hornell the sum of eight hundred fifty thousand dollars, to the city of Corning the sum of eight hundred fifty thousand dollars, and the sum of eight hundred fifty thousand dollars to the towns and villages of the county of Steuben, on the basis of the ratio which the full valuation of real property in each town or village bears to the aggregate full valuation of real property in all of the towns and villages in such area; and during the period beginning December first, two thousand twenty-five and ending November thirtieth, two thousand twenty-seven, the county of Steuben shall annually pay or cause to be paid to the city of Hornell the sum of nine hundred thousand dollars, to the city of Corning the sum of nine hundred thousand dollars, and the sum of nine hundred thousand dollars to the towns and villages of the county of Steuben, on the basis of the ratio which the full valuation of real property in each town or village bears to the aggregate full valuation of real property in all of the towns and villages in such area.

(b) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, of the net collections received by the county of Suffolk as a result of the increase of three-quarters of one percent to the tax authorized by section twelve hundred ten of this article for the period beginning January first, nineteen hundred ninety-six and ending May thirty-first, two thousand one, imposed by local laws or resolutions (by simple majority) by the county legislature, and signed by the county executive, the county of Suffolk shall allocate such net collections as follows: an amount equal to no less than one-eighth and no more than one-quarter of net collections which would be received from the imposition of a full one percent rate increase, shall be dedicated for public safety purposes and the balance shall be deposited in the general fund of the county of Suffolk.

(c) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, of the net collections received by the county of Suffolk as a result of the increase of one percent to the tax authorized by section twelve hundred ten of this article for the period beginning June first, two thousand one and ending November thirtieth, two thousand twenty-seven, imposed by local laws or resolutions (by simple majority) by the county legislature, and signed by the county executive, the county of Suffolk shall allocate such net collections as follows: no less than one-eighth and no more than three-eighths of such net collections received shall be dedicated for public safety purposes and the balance shall be deposited in the general fund of the county of Suffolk.

(a) Where a city in the county of Oswego exercises its prior right to impose all of the taxes described in article twenty-eight of this chapter as authorized by subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten or section twelve hundred eleven of this article at a rate greater than one and one-half percent, and the county of Oswego also imposes such taxes and allocates amounts not set aside for county purposes or educational purposes to the cities and the area in the county outside the cities, the county of Oswego shall reduce the amount otherwise required to be allocated to such city under subdivision (c) of section twelve hundred sixty-two of this article by one-third of such amount for each one-half percent that such city's tax rate exceeds one and one-half percent.

impose all of the taxes described in article twenty-eight of this chapter as authorized by subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten or section twelve hundred eleven of this article at a rate greater than one and one-half percent and the county imposes such taxes at a rate greater than one and one-half percent, the county's additional rate on the area of the county outside such city described in subdivision (d) of section twelve hundred sixty-two of this article shall be deemed to be one and one-half percent and the portion of net collections that such county would otherwise be required to allocate under subdivision (d) of section twelve hundred sixty-two of this article by reason of such deemed additional rate shall be reduced by one-third for each one-half percent that such city's tax rate exceeds one and one-half percent. Such portion shall be allocated quarterly to the several cities and towns in such area on the basis of the ratio that the population of each city or town bears to the entire population of all of the cities and towns in such area, such populations as determined in accordance with subdivision (c) of section twelve hundred sixty-two of this article.

(c) Where any village in the county of Oswego has elected to be paid directly as provided in subdivision (c) or (d) of section twelve hundred sixty-two of this article, the amount to be paid to such village shall be determined by the ratio that the population of such village or portion thereof within the town in which such village is located bears to the entire population of such town, such population as determined in accordance with such subdivision (c).

(d) Subdivisions (a) and (b) of this section shall apply only with respect to taxes imposed at a rate not to exceed three percent by the county of Oswego and by any city in such county and without regard to any additional rate of tax that such county or any such city may be authorized to or does impose.

thirtieth, two thousand twenty-seven, such county shall allocate and distribute twenty percent of the net collections from such additional rate to the towns and villages in the county in accordance with subdivision (c) of section twelve hundred sixty-two of this part on the basis of the ratio which the population of each such town or village bears to such county's total population; and

2. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, if the county of Rockland imposes the additional three-eighths of one percent rate of tax authorized by section twelve hundred ten of this article during the period beginning March first, two thousand seven, and ending November thirtieth, two thousand twenty-seven, such county shall allocate and distribute sixteen and two-thirds percent of the net collections from such additional rate to the general funds of towns and villages within the county of Rockland with existing town and village police departments from March first, two thousand seven through December thirty-first, two thousand seven and thirty-three and one-third percent of the net collections from such additional rate from January first, two thousand eight through November thirtieth, two thousand twenty-seven. The monies allocated and distributed pursuant to this subdivision shall be allocated and distributed to towns and villages with police departments on the basis of the number of full-time equivalent police officers employed by each police department and shall not be used for salaries heretofore or hereafter negotiated.

 § 1262-1. Allocation and distribution of certain net collections in Warren county. (a) If the county of Warren enters into an agreement pursuant to the authority of subdivision (c) of section twelve hundred sixty-two of this article with the city of Glens Falls to allocate and distribute a portion of net collections due the county from its taxes imposed pursuant to the authority of subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten of this article, the agreement may be for a term not exceeding forty years and the state comptroller shall not disapprove such agreement based on the length of its term, provided that such term shall not exceed forty years.

(b) Notwithstanding any contrary provision of this article or of any agreement between the city of Glens Falls and the county of Warren pursuant to the authority of subdivision (c) of section twelve hundred sixty-two of this article, if at any time the board of supervisors of Warren county shall pledge all or a portion of net collections from sales and compensating use taxes imposed by such county as described in section twelve hundred sixty-one-a of this article, any obligation of the county of Warren to allocate and distribute net collections to the city of Glens Falls under any such agreement between such city and such county shall be satisfied if the amounts due such city under such agreement are instead paid by such county from moneys returned to such county each month by the Warren and Washington county industrial development agency or trustee, as the case may be, as provided in such section twelve hundred sixty-one-a; or, in the event such moneys so returned to such county are insufficient in any month to allow such county to pay to such city the amounts required under such agreement, such county shall make such payments to such city in the amounts and in the manner set forth in such agreement.

made, and allocate the remainder of the net collections from the additional three-quarters of one percent as follows: (1) to pay the county's expenses for Medicaid and other expenses required by law; (2) to pay for local road and bridge projects; (3) for the purposes of capital projects and repaying any debts incurred for such capital projects in the county of Chautauqua that are not otherwise paid for by revenue received from the mortgage recording tax; and (4) for deposit into a reserve fund for bonded indebtedness established pursuant to the general municipal law. Notwithstanding any contrary provision of law, if the county of Chautauqua imposes the additional one-half percent rate of sales and compensating use taxes authorized by such section twelve hundred ten for all or any of the period beginning December first, two thousand ten and ending November thirtieth, two thousand fifteen, the county shall allocate three-tenths of the net collections from the additional one-half of one percent to the cities, towns and villages in the county on the basis of their respective populations, determined in accordance with the latest decennial federal census or special population census taken pursuant to section twenty of the general municipal law completed and published prior to the end of the quarter for which the allocation is made, and allocate the remainder of the net collections from the additional one-half of one percent as follows: (1) to pay the county's expenses for Medicaid and other expenses required by law; (2) to pay for local road and bridge projects; (3) for the purposes of capital projects and repaying any debts incurred for such capital projects in the county of Chautauqua that are not otherwise paid for by revenue received from the mortgage recording tax; and (4) for deposit into a reserve fund for bonded indebtedness established pursuant to the general municipal law. Notwithstanding any contrary provision of law, if the county of Chautauqua imposes the additional one percent rate of sales and compensating use taxes authorized by such section twelve hundred ten for all or any of the period beginning December first, two thousand fifteen and ending November thirtieth, two thousand twenty-seven, the county shall allocate three-twentieths of the net collections from the additional one percent to the cities, towns and villages in the county on the basis of their respective populations, determined in accordance with the latest decennial federal census or special population census taken pursuant to section twenty of the general municipal law completed and published prior to the end of the quarter for which the allocation is made, and allocate the remainder of the net collections from the additional one percent as follows: (1) to pay the county's expenses for Medicaid and other expenses required by law; (2) to pay for local road and bridge projects; (3) for the purposes of capital projects and repaying any debts incurred for such capital projects in the county of Chautauqua that are not otherwise paid for by revenue received from the mortgage recording tax; and (4) for deposit into a reserve fund for bonded indebtedness established pursuant to the general municipal law. The net collections from the additional rates imposed pursuant to this section shall be deposited in a special fund to be created by such county separate and apart from any other funds and accounts of the county to be used for purposes above described.

§ 1262-q. Erie county-disposition of net collections from the one percent and the three-quarters of one percent rates of sales and compensating use taxes in excess of three percent. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary: (1) If the county of Erie imposes the additional one percent rate of sales and compensating use taxes authorized by item (i) of clause (4) of subparagraph (i) of the opening paragraph of section twelve hundred ten of this article during the period beginning January first, two thousand seven, or thereafter, the county shall allocate each calendar year the first twelve million five hundred thousand dollars of the net collections from such one percent rate to the cities of such county and the area in such county outside its cities to be applied or distributed in the same manner and proportion as the net collections for such cities and area are applied or distributed under the revenue distribution agreement entered into pursuant to the authority of subdivision (c) of section twelve hundred sixty-two of this part in effect on January first, two thousand six, and subject to all provisions of such agreement governing the net collections for such cities and area and shall retain the remainder of such net collections for any county purpose.

(2) Net collections from the additional three-quarters of one percent rate of sales and compensating use taxes which the county may impose during the period commencing December first, two thousand eleven, and ending November thirtieth, two thousand twenty-seven, pursuant to the authority of item (ii) of clause (4) of subparagraph (i) of the opening paragraph of section twelve hundred ten of this article shall be used by the county solely for county purposes and shall not be subject to any revenue distribution agreement the county entered into pursuant to the authority of subdivision (c) of section twelve hundred sixty-two of this part.

of the first month in which the repeal of such city's taxes takes effect, and continuing monthly unless the city of Fulton imposes tax pursuant to the authority of such section twelve hundred ten; (3) such monthly amount allocated and distributed to such city shall be deemed to be paid from the county's net collections set aside for county purposes and shall not affect the amount of net collections to be allocated and distributed by the county to the area of the county outside the cities in the county pursuant to subdivision (c) of section twelve hundred sixty-two of this part; and (4) such county shall not be required to allocate net collections to the city of Fulton pursuant to subdivision (c) of such section twelve hundred sixty-two unless net collections from the county's sales and compensating use taxes exceed thirty-four million dollars per year, in which case the county shall allocate ten percent of its net collections in excess of thirty-four million dollars on the basis of population to the city of Fulton and such area of the county outside the cities.

(a) The term of such agreement may be indefinite, with an initial period of ten years.

(b) The county shall allocate net collections from its taxes imposed at the rate of one and one-half percent pursuant to the authority of section twelve hundred ten of this article and also from an additional one-eighth of one percent rate of such taxes authorized by such section twelve hundred ten during the entire period in which such additional rate is authorized to the cities, towns and villages in the county (i) on the basis of their respective populations, determined in accordance with the latest decennial federal census or special population census taken pursuant to section twenty of the general municipal law, completed and published prior to the end of the quarter for which the allocation is made, which special census must include the entire area of the county (the "population method"), or (ii) on the basis of the ratio which the full valuation of real property in each city, town and village bears to the aggregate full valuation of real property in all of the cities, towns and villages in such county (the "full valuation method"), or (iii) on the basis of the two thousand four base amounts described in subdivision (d) of this section, or (iv) on the basis of specific amounts set aside for each city in the county, or (v) on the basis of a combination of such methods, provided, that the county shall apply the population method and the full valuation method uniformly throughout the county.

(c) "Full valuation of real property" may, as an alternative to the definition of such term in subdivision (f) of section twelve hundred sixty-two of this article, be defined to mean the total assessed valuation of real property, including property wholly exempt from taxation, divided by the equalization rate as determined in accordance with article eight of the real property tax law, provided that the county shall apply either such definition uniformly countywide.

(d) The two thousand four base amounts shall mean, in the case of a city, the total amount of net collections the city received from its sales and compensating use taxes in calendar year two thousand four, and, in the case of a town or village, the total amount of net collections that the county allocated to the town or village in calendar year two thousand four.

(e) To the extent that the county uses the full valuation method to determine the amounts of allocations and distributions to be made to the cities, towns and villages, for allocations and distributions to be made in calendar years two thousand six and two thousand seven, the county shall use the final assessment rolls of the cities and towns in the county completed and filed in two thousand four; and, for allocations and distributions to be made in each calendar year of the agreement after two thousand seven, the county shall use the final assessment rolls completed and filed by such cities and towns in the immediately

(f) In addition to other payments to be made under the agreement to the two cities in the county, the county may pay amounts to such cities with respect to the months of March and April, two thousand six, to reflect that such cities repealed their sales and compensating use taxes effective March first, two thousand six, in exchange for entering into the agreement with the county.

(g) A review board consisting of the county's director of real property services and two other persons selected by such director and confirmed by the county board of supervisors may adjust the full value of any parcel of wholly exempt real property in the county solely for the purpose of determining the allocations to be made under such agreement. A city, town or village which disagrees with such review board over the adjusted full value of such a parcel of wholly exempt real property located in such municipality may, at its own expense, obtain two independent appraisals of the full value of such parcel; in which case the average of such board's adjusted value and two values determined in such appraisals shall constitute such parcel's full value for such purpose.

§ 1262-u. Allocation and distribution of certain net collections in Genesee county. If the county of Genesee enters into an agreement pursuant to the authority of subdivision (c) of section twelve hundred sixty-two of this part with the city of Batavia to allocate and distribute a portion of net collections due the county from its taxes imposed pursuant to the authority of subdivision (a) of section twelve hundred ten of this article, the agreement may be for a term not exceeding forty years and the state comptroller shall not disapprove such agreement based on the length of its term, provided that such term shall not exceed forty years.

compensating use taxes in addition to the three percent rate, each as authorized by section twelve hundred ten of this article, shall be allocated and distributed and paid in cash quarterly by such county to the city of Ogdensburg.

(b) Deposit and use of net collections by cities, counties and villages. Net collections received by or distributed to a county, a city with a population of less than one million or a village from taxes imposed pursuant to this article shall be paid into the treasury of the county, city or village and shall be credited to and deposited in the general fund thereof and, unless restricted by local law, ordinance or resolution to a specified purpose or purposes, shall be available for any county, city or village purpose of such county, city or village. Expenditures from the proceeds of any such tax shall not be considered as part of the cost of government within the meaning of any limitation on expenditures contained in any general, special or local law applicable to such county, city or village.

§ 1264. References to certain taxes or revenues from certain taxes administered by the commissioner. Notwithstanding any provision of this article or other law to the contrary: where a section of subpart B of part one of this article or a local law, ordinance or resolution adopted pursuant to the authority of such subpart B or an agreement described in subdivision (c) of section twelve hundred sixty-two of this part or a section of this part refers to revenues or net collections, or the like, from a tax or taxes imposed pursuant to the authority of such subpart B, and such tax or taxes are imposed on motor fuel and diesel motor fuel, any such reference expressed as a percentage of the rate imposed as a percentage or as a percentage of such revenues or net collections, or the like, shall be deemed also to refer to such tax or taxes imposed on such fuels at a rate of cents per gallon; and any such amount expressed as a percentage shall be calculated in a like manner as an equal fraction of such tax on such fuels imposed at a rate of cents per gallon.

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, limited liability company, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

(b) "MCTD" means the metropolitan commuter transportation district established by section twelve hundred sixty-two of the public authorities law.

(c) "City" means a city of a million or more located in the MCTD.

(d) "Taxicab" means a motor vehicle licensed by the TLC to carry passengers for hire and authorized to accept hails from prospective passengers in the street.

(e) "Taxicab trip" means a taxicab trip provided to one or more passengers regardless of the number of stops, for which the taximeter is required to be in the recording or hired position.

(f) "Taxicab owner" or "owner" means a person licensed by the TLC to own and operate a medallion taxicab.

(g) "Passenger" means an individual seated in a taxicab or HAIL vehicle for travel for hire to a given destination.

(h) "Taximeter" means an instrument or device approved by the TLC by which the charge to a passenger for hire of a licensed taxicab for a taxicab trip or of a HAIL vehicle for a HAIL vehicle trip is automatically calculated and on which such charge is plainly indicated. The taximeter of a HAIL vehicle may also be used to record information of a dispatch trip.

(i) "TLC" means the taxi and limousine commission of the city.

(j) "Agent" means a person that acts, by employment, contract, or otherwise, on behalf of one or more taxicab owners to operate or provide for the operation of a licensed medallion taxicab in accordance with the TLC's rules. "Agent" shall not include an attorney or representative who appears on behalf of one or more owners before the TLC, the TLC hearing tribunal, the commissioner, or the New York state division of tax appeals, and taxicab drivers licensed pursuant to chapter five of title nineteen of the administrative code of the city of New York when acting in that capacity.

(k) "Medallion" means a plate issued by the TLC as the physical evidence of a taxicab license, and affixed to the outside of such taxicab.

(l) "Taxicab license" means the authority granted by the TLC to an owner to operate a designated vehicle as a taxicab in the city.

(m) "Trip record," also known as a trip sheet or trip log, means the written, computerized, automated or electronic accounting of a taxicab trip, HAIL vehicle trip, or dispatch trip. The trip data to be transmitted or recorded shall include the taxicab license number (medallion number) or HAIL vehicle license number, any licensed operator's TLC license number, and HAIL base permit number; the taxicab driver's license number or HAIL vehicle driver's license number; the location of trip initiation; the time of trip initiation; the number of passengers; the location of trip termination; the time of trip termination; the itemized metered fare for the trip (tolls, surcharge, and tip if paid by credit or debit card); the distance of the trip, the trip number, the method of payment, the total number of passengers, as well as such other information as may be required by the TLC.

(n) "Medallion taxicab" means a taxicab to which a medallion has been affixed in accordance with applicable law and regulations.

(o) "HAIL vehicle" means a for-hire vehicle having a taximeter and a TLC-sanctioned trip record system, licensed by the TLC to carry passengers for hire and authorized to accept hails from prospective passengers in the streets of the city, provided that such authorization shall prohibit the pick-up of passengers by street hail at airports and by street hail or pre-arranged call in Manhattan south of east ninety-sixth street and south of west one hundred tenth street, or in such area as the TLC shall by rule prohibit pursuant to the chapter of the laws of two thousand twelve which added this subdivision.

(p) "For-hire vehicle" means a motor vehicle carrying passengers for hire in the city, with a seating capacity of twenty passengers or less, not including the driver, other than a taxicab, coach, commuter van or an authorized bus operating pursuant to applicable provisions of law. For the purpose of this subdivision, "seating capacity" shall include any plain view location which is capable of accommodating a normal adult, is part of an overall seat configuration and design, and is likely to be used as a seating position while the vehicle is in motion.

(q) "HAIL vehicle owner" means a person licensed by the TLC to own and operate, or operate, a HAIL vehicle for which the TLC has issued a HAIL license.

(r) "HAIL license" means a license issued by the TLC to a person who is the owner or licensed operator of a for-hire vehicle that authorizes that vehicle to pick up passengers by street hail in the city, provided that such authorization shall prohibit the pick-up of passengers by street hail at airports and by street hail or pre-arranged call in Manhattan south of east ninety-sixth street and south of west one hundred tenth street, or in such area as the TLC shall by rule prohibit pursuant to the chapter of the laws of two thousand twelve which added this subdivision.

(s) "HAIL vehicle trip" means a HAIL vehicle trip provided to one or more passengers regardless of the number of stops, that originated by street hail, and for which the taximeter is required to be in the recording or hired position designating a street hail trip subject to the tax imposed by this article.

(t) "HAIL base" means a person who or which is a for-hire vehicle base station established pursuant to section 19-511 of the administrative code of the city of New York and permitted by the TLC to be affiliated with holders of HAIL licenses.

(u) "Dispatch trip" means a trip in a HAIL vehicle that originated by a customer calling a HAIL base to request service and the HAIL base dispatching the call to the driver of the HAIL vehicle, and for which the taximeter is required to be in the recording or hired position designating such a trip.

(v) "Technology service provider" or "TSP" means a person that acts by employment, contract or otherwise on behalf of one or more taxicab owners or HAIL vehicle owners to collect the trip record for a taxicab trip or HAIL vehicle trip.

(w) "Cash trip" means any trip for which the TSP collects the trip record but does not collect the fare.

§ 1281. Imposition of tax. In addition to any other tax imposed by this chapter or other law, there is hereby imposed on every taxicab owner a tax of fifty cents per taxicab trip and on every HAIL base a tax of fifty cents per HAIL vehicle trip provided by every HAIL vehicle affiliated with the base, on every trip that originates in the city and terminates anywhere within the territorial boundaries of the MCTD.

§ 1283. Liability for tax; special provisions. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary: (a) The taxicab owner or HAIL base, as the case may be, shall be liable for the tax imposed by this article.

(b) (1) If the taxicab owner has designated an agent, then the agent shall be jointly liable with the taxicab owner for the tax on trips occurring during the period that such designation is in effect. Even if the TLC has specified that the taxicab owner's agent cannot operate as an agent, that agent shall be jointly liable with the taxicab owner if the agent has acted for the taxicab owner. During the period that a taxicab owner's designation of an agent is in effect, the agent shall file the returns required by this article and pay any tax due with such return, but the taxicab owner shall not be relieved of liability for tax, penalty or interest due under this article, or for the filing of returns required to be filed, unless the agent has timely filed accurate returns and timely paid the tax required to be paid under this article. If a taxicab owner has designated an agent, then the agent must perform any act this article requires the taxicab owner to perform, but the failure of such agent to perform any such act shall not relieve the taxicab owner from the obligation to perform such act or from any liability that may arise from failure to perform the act.

(2) (A) Notwithstanding the foregoing, a TSP that collects the trip record and the trip fare on behalf of a taxicab owner or a HAIL vehicle owner shall withhold from daily collections the taxes due on such trips, and shall withhold from such collections the taxes due on cash trips. If the TSP's daily collections, after retaining any fees to which it is entitled pursuant to a contract with such taxicab owner or HAIL vehicle owner, are insufficient to cover the taxes due on such cash trips, the TSP shall withhold an amount from subsequent daily collections, to the extent funds are available, until all taxes due for a quarterly period described in section twelve hundred eighty-four of this article have been withheld. If a TSP is unable to withhold all the taxes due in such quarterly period, it shall withhold such unwithheld taxes from daily collections in the next quarterly period. A TSP shall be jointly liable for the tax due on all trips for which it collects the trip record, but shall be relieved of liability for any taxes attributable to cash trips for which it was unable to withhold the taxes due because there was insufficient daily collections during four successive quarterly periods.

(B) For any period that the TSP collects trip records on behalf of a taxicab owner or HAIL vehicle owner, the TSP shall file returns reporting the tax due on all trips for which it collected trip records and shall remit the taxes withheld on all such trips and shall report any unwithheld taxes due because of insufficient daily collections to cover the taxes due on cash trips.

(c) (1) Although the tax is imposed on the taxicab owner or the HAIL base, the city or the TLC shall adopt or amend ordinances or regulations to ensure that the economic incidence of the tax is passed through to passengers, such as by increasing taxicab or HAIL vehicle trip fares. The passing along of such economic incidence may not be construed by any court or administrative body as imposing the tax on any person other than the taxicab owner or the HAIL base. The city or the TLC must adjust trip fares to include therein the pass-through of the economic incidence of the tax imposed by this article, as the rate of such tax may from time to time change, and must timely require that any taximeter in a taxicab or HAIL vehicle used to provide trips that originate in the city be adjusted to include the pass-through.

(2) A taxicab owner or a HAIL base or HAIL vehicle owner in such city must timely adjust the taximeter in any of such person's taxicabs or HAIL vehicles so that it reflects such pass-through as such pass-through amount may from time to time change.

(3) Neither the failure of such city or the TLC to adjust fares nor the failure of a taxicab owner, HAIL base, HAIL vehicle owner, or other person to adjust a taximeter will relieve any person liable for the tax imposed by this article from the obligation to pay such tax timely, at the correct rate.

(d) Nothing in this article shall be construed as limiting the imposition of any tax imposed by article twenty-eight of this chapter on transportation service provided by a HAIL base, HAIL vehicle, or owner or operator of a HAIL vehicle. Nor shall anything in article twenty-eight of this chapter be construed as limiting the imposition of any tax imposed by this article on a HAIL vehicle trip or as limiting the obligation on a HAIL base to pay such tax.

§ 1284. Returns. Every person liable for the tax imposed by this article shall file a return quarterly with the commissioner. Each return shall show the number of trips in the quarter for which the return is filed, together with such other information as the commissioner may require. The returns required by this section shall be filed for quarterly periods ending on the last day of March, June, September, and December of each year, and each return shall be filed within twenty days after the end of the quarterly period covered thereby. Every such person shall also file a return with the commissioner for the period of November and December two thousand nine, by January twentieth, two thousand ten, containing the information described above. If the commissioner deems it necessary in order to ensure the payment of the tax imposed by this article, the commissioner may require returns to be made for shorter periods than prescribed by the foregoing provisions of this section, and upon such dates as the commissioner may specify. The form of returns shall be prescribed by the commissioner and shall contain such information as the commissioner may deem necessary for the proper administration of this article. The commissioner may require amended returns to be filed within twenty days after notice and to contain the information specified in the notice. The commissioner may require that the returns be filed electronically.

§ 1285. Payment of tax. Every person required to file a return under this article shall, at the time of filing such return, pay to the commissioner the total of all tax imposed by this article, on the correct number of trips subject to tax under this article. The amount so payable to the commissioner for the period for which a return is required to be filed shall be due and payable to the commissioner on the date limited for the filing of the return for such period, without regard to whether a return is filed or whether the return which is filed correctly shows the correct number of trips or the amount of tax due thereon. The commissioner may require that the tax be paid electronically.

(1) records of every taxicab or HAIL vehicle trip originating in the city and of all amounts paid, charged or due thereon and of the tax payable thereon, in such form as the commissioner may require;

(2) a true and complete copy of every contract, agreement, or arrangement concerning the lease, rental, or license to use a taxicab for which the person is required to remit the tax on trips imposed by this article on such person;

(3) a true and complete copy of every contract, agreement, or arrangement concerning the appointment of an agent;

(4) a true and complete copy of every contract, agreement, or arrangement concerning the affiliation of a HAIL vehicle or of a HAIL vehicle owner or driver with a HAIL base;

(5) true and complete copies of any records required to be kept by the TLC; and

(6) such other records and information as the commissioner may require to perform his or her duties under this article.

(b) Every person that has contracted with the city or TLC to provide services to the city, to the TLC, or to persons liable for tax under this article relating to taximeters, to administering taximeters or to information obtained from taximeters and every person that the TLC has authorized to obtain or possess information generated by taximeters shall keep true and complete copies of all meter information.

(c) The records required to be kept by this section shall be available for inspection and examination at any time upon demand by the commissioner or the commissioner's duly authorized agent or employee and shall be preserved for a period of three years, except that the commissioner may consent to their destruction within that period or may require that they be kept longer. Such records may be kept within the meaning of this section when reproduced on any photographic, photostatic, microfilm, micro-card, miniature photographic or other process which actually reproduces the original record. If those records are maintained in an electronic format, they must be made available and accessible to the commissioner in electronic format.

§ 1287. Secrecy of returns and reports. (a) Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the commissioner, any officer or employee of the department, any person engaged or retained by the department on an independent contract basis, or any person who in any manner may acquire knowledge of the contents of a return or report filed with the commissioner pursuant to this article, to divulge or make known in any manner any particulars set forth or disclosed in any such return or report. The officers charged with the custody of such returns and reports shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the commissioner in an action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter or in any other action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under this chapter to which the state or the commissioner is a party or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action, proceeding or hearing under the provisions of this article when the returns, reports or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action, proceeding or hearing, in any of which events the court, or in the case of a hearing, the division of tax appeals may require the production of, and may admit into evidence, so much of said returns, reports or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action, proceeding or hearing and no more. The commissioner or the division of tax appeals may, nevertheless, publish a copy or a summary of any decision rendered after a hearing required by this article. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a person who has filed a return or report or to such person's duly authorized representative of a certified copy of any return or report filed in connection with such person's tax. Nor shall anything in this section be construed to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns or reports and the items thereof, or the inspection by the attorney general or other legal representatives of the state of the return or report of any person required to pay the tax who shall bring action to review the tax based thereon, or against whom an action or proceeding under this chapter has been recommended by the commissioner or the attorney general or has been instituted, or the inspection of the returns or reports required under this article by the comptroller or duly designated officer or employee of the state department of audit and control, for purposes of the audit of a refund of any tax paid by a person required to pay the tax under this article. Provided, further, nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the disclosure, in such manner as the commissioner deems appropriate, of the names and other appropriate identifying information of those persons required to pay tax under this article.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, the commissioner may, in his or her discretion, permit the proper officer of the city or the duly authorized representative of such officer, to inspect any return filed under this article, or may furnish to such officer or such officer's authorized representative an abstract of any such return or supply such person with information concerning an item contained in any such return, or disclosed by any investigation of tax liability under this article; but such permission shall be granted or such information furnished only if the city or the TLC shall have furnished the commissioner with all information requested by the commissioner pursuant to this article and shall have permitted the commissioner or the commissioner's authorized representative to make any inspection of any records or reports concerning taxicabs, taxicab owners, agents, HAIL vehicles, HAIL vehicle owners, and HAIL bases filed with or possessed by such city or the TLC which the commissioner may have requested from such city or the TLC. Provided, further, that the commissioner may disclose to the city or the TLC whether or not a person liable for the tax imposed by this article has paid all of the tax due under this article as of any given date.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, the commissioner, in his or her discretion, may require or permit any or all persons liable for any tax imposed by this article, to make payment to banks, banking houses or trust companies designated by the commissioner and to file returns with such banks, banking houses or trust companies as agents of the commissioner, in lieu of paying any such tax directly to the commissioner. However, the commissioner shall designate only such banks, banking houses or trust companies as are already designated by the comptroller as depositories pursuant to section twelve hundred eighty-eight of this article.

(d) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, the commissioner may permit the secretary of the treasury of the United States or such secretary's delegate, or the authorized representative of either such officer, to inspect any return filed under this article, or may furnish to such officer or such officer's authorized representative an abstract of any such return or supply such person with information concerning an item contained in any such return, or disclosed by any investigation of tax liability under this article, but such permission shall be granted or such information furnished only if the laws of the United States grant substantially similar privileges to the commissioner or officer of this state charged with the administration of the tax imposed by this article, and only if such information is to be used for tax purposes only; and provided further the commissioner may furnish to the commissioner of internal revenue or such commissioner's authorized representative such returns filed under this article and other tax information, as such commissioner may consider proper, for use in court actions or proceedings under the internal revenue code, whether civil or criminal, where a written request therefor has been made to the commissioner by the secretary of the treasury of the United States or such secretary's delegate, provided the laws of the United States grant substantially similar powers to the secretary of the treasury of the United States or his or her delegate. Where the commissioner has so authorized use of returns and other information in such actions or proceedings, officers and employees of the department may testify in such actions or proceedings in respect to such returns or other information.

(e) Returns and reports filed under this article shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until the commissioner orders them to be destroyed.

(f) (1) Any officer or employee of the state who willfully violates the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office for a period of five years thereafter.

(2) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see article thirty-seven of this chapter.

(g) (1) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, upon written request from the chairperson of the committee on ways and means of the United States House of Representatives, the chairperson of the committee on finance of the United States Senate, or the chairperson of the joint committee on taxation of the United States Congress, the commissioner shall furnish such committee with any current or prior year returns specified in such request that were filed under this article by the president of the United States, vice-president of the United States, member of the United States Congress representing New York state, or any person who served in or was employed by the executive branch of the government of the United States on the executive staff of the president, in the executive office of the president, or in an acting or confirmed capacity in a position subject to confirmation by the United States senate; or, in New York state: a statewide elected official, as defined in paragraph (a) of subdivision one of section seventy-three-a of the public officers law; a state officer or employee, as defined in subparagraph (i) of paragraph (c) of subdivision one of such section seventy-three-a; a political party chairperson, as defined in paragraph (h) of subdivision one of such section seventy-three-a; a local elected official, as defined in subdivisions one and two of section eight hundred ten of the general municipal law; a person appointed, pursuant to law, to serve due to vacancy or otherwise in the position of a local elected official, as defined in subdivisions one and two of section eight hundred ten of the general municipal law; a member of the state legislature; or a judge or justice of the unified court system; or filed by a partnership, firm, association, corporation, joint-stock company, trust or similar entity directly or indirectly controlled by any individual listed in this paragraph, whether by contract, through ownership or control of a majority interest in such entity, or otherwise, or filed by a partnership, firm, association, corporation, joint-stock company, trust or similar entity of which any individual listed in this paragraph holds ten percent or more of the voting securities of such entity; provided however that, prior to furnishing any return, the commissioner shall redact any copy of a federal return (or portion thereof) attached to, or any information on a federal return that is reflected on, such return, and any social security numbers, account numbers and residential address information.

(2) No returns or reports shall be furnished pursuant to this subdivision unless the chairperson of the requesting committee certifies in writing that such returns have been requested related to, and in furtherance of, a legitimate task of the Congress, that the requesting committee has made a written request to the United States secretary of the treasury for related federal returns or reports or return or report information, pursuant to 26 U.S.C. Section 6103(f), and that if such requested returns are inspected by and/or submitted to another committee, to the United States House of Representatives, or to the United States Senate, then such inspection and/or submission shall occur in a manner consistent with federal law as informed by the requirements and procedures established in 26 U.S.C. Section 6103(f).

§ 1288. Deposit and disposition of revenue. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary: (a) All taxes, interest and penalties collected or received by the commissioner pursuant to this article shall be deposited daily with such responsible banks, banking houses or trust companies, as may be designated by the comptroller, in trust for the credit of the metropolitan transportation authority. An account may be established in one or more of such depositories. Such deposits shall be kept separate and apart from all other money in the possession of the comptroller. The comptroller shall require adequate security from all such depositories. Of the total revenue collected or received under this section, the comptroller shall retain in the comptroller's hands such amount as the commissioner may determine to be necessary for refunds under this article. The commissioner is authorized and directed to deduct from such amounts collected or received under this article, before deposit into the accounts specified by the comptroller, a reasonable amount necessary to effectuate refunds of appropriations of the department to reimburse the department for the costs to administer, collect and distribute the taxes imposed by this article.

(b) On or before the twelfth day following the end of each month, after reserving such amount for such refunds and such costs, the commissioner shall certify to the comptroller the amount of all revenues so received pursuant to this article during the prior month as a result of the taxes, interest and penalties so imposed.

(c) By the fifteenth day of the last month of each calendar quarter the comptroller shall pay over the amount of revenues from the prior three months in total so certified by the commissioner, without appropriation, into the corporate transportation account of the metropolitan transportation authority special assistance fund established by section twelve hundred seventy-a of the public authorities law to be applied as provided in paragraph (e) of subdivision four of such section twelve hundred seventy-a. Any money collected pursuant to this article that is deposited by the comptroller in the corporate transportation account of the metropolitan transportation authority special assistance fund shall be held in such fund free and clear of any claim by any person or entity paying the tax pursuant to this article, including, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, any right or claim against the metropolitan transportation authority, any of its bondholders, or any subsidiary or affiliate of the metropolitan transportation authority.

§ 1289. Cooperation by city. The city and the TLC shall cooperate with and assist the commissioner to effect the purposes of this article and the commissioner's responsibilities under this article. Such cooperation shall include the city or TLC obtaining, furnishing, and timely updating current, complete and accurate names, addresses and all other information concerning every (1) taxicab owner, operator, and driver of taxicabs in the city, (2) agent and vehicle owner, and (3) HAIL base, HAIL vehicle owner, HAIL vehicle, and driver of a HAIL vehicle, and the trip records and other records of any of them, in the city's possession or in the possession of any of its agencies, instrumentalities, agents, contractors, or any other person the TLC has authorized or required to obtain or possess such records or information, together with any other information the commissioner requests, all in a format prescribed by, and without cost to, the commissioner. The TLC shall also furnish, or cause to be furnished, in a format prescribed by the commissioner, any records or information in the possession of the TLC, any agent or contractor of the city or the TLC, or any other person the TLC has authorized or required to obtain or possess such records or information, concerning the persons liable for the tax imposed by this article, including, among other things, detailed trip record information. Such cooperation shall also include the TLC assigning identifying numbers and other identifying indicia to HAIL bases, HAIL vehicle owners, HAIL vehicles, and drivers of HAIL vehicles in a format prescribed by the commissioner, so as to facilitate filing returns, paying tax, and performing other tasks required to administer the tax imposed by this article.

§ 1290. Practice and procedure. The provisions of article twenty-seven of this chapter shall apply with respect to the administration of and procedure with respect to the tax imposed by this article in the same manner and with the same force and effect as if the language of such article twenty-seven had been incorporated in full into this article and had expressly referred to the tax under this article, except to the extent that any such provision is either inconsistent with a provision of this article or is not relevant to this article.

ARTICLE 29-B

STATE ASSESSMENT FEE ON TRANSPORTATION NETWORK COMPANY

PREARRANGED TRIPS

1292. Imposition.

1293. Presumption.

1294. Returns and payment of state assessment fee.

1295. Records to be kept.

1296. Secrecy of returns and reports.

1297. Practice and procedure.

1298. Deposit and disposition of revenue.

§ 1291. Definitions. (a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, limited liability company, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

(b) "City" means a city of a million or more located in the metropolitan commuter transportation district established by section twelve hundred sixty-two of the public authorities law.

(c) "Transportation network company" or "TNC" shall have the same meaning as the term is defined in article forty-four-B of the vehicle and traffic law.

(d) "TNC prearranged trip" shall have the same meaning as the term is defined in article forty-four-B of the vehicle and traffic law.

(e) "TNC driver" shall have the same meaning as the term is defined in article forty-four-B of the vehicle and traffic law.

(f) "TNC vehicle" shall have the same meaning as the term is defined in article forty-four-B of the vehicle and traffic law.

(g) "Gross trip fare" means the sum of the base fare charge, distance charge and time charge for a complete TNC prearranged trip at the applicable rate charged by the TNC at the time such trip is arranged.

§ 1292. Imposition. There is hereby imposed on every TNC a state assessment fee of 4% of the gross trip fare of every TNC prearranged trip provided by such TNC that originates anywhere in the state outside the city and terminates anywhere in this state.

§ 1293. Presumption. For the purpose of the proper administration of this article and to prevent evasion of the state assessment fee imposed by this article, it shall be presumed that every TNC prearranged trip that originates anywhere in the state outside the city is subject to the state assessment fee. This presumption shall prevail until the contrary is proven by the person liable for the fee.

§ 1294. Returns and payment of state assessment fee. (a) Every person liable for the state assessment fee imposed by this article shall file a return on a calendar-quarterly basis with the commissioner. Each return shall show the number of TNC prearranged trips, the total gross trip fares and the amount of fees due thereon in the quarter for which the return is filed, together with such other information as the commissioner may require. The returns required by this section shall be filed within thirty days after the end of the quarterly period covered thereby. If the commissioner deems it necessary in order to ensure the payment of the state assessment fee imposed by this article, the commissioner may require returns to be made for shorter periods than prescribed by the foregoing provisions of this section, and upon such dates as the commissioner may specify. The form of returns shall be prescribed by the commissioner and shall contain such information as the commissioner may deem necessary for the proper administration of this article. The commissioner may require amended returns to be filed within thirty days after notice and to contain the information specified in the notice. The commissioner may require that the returns be filed electronically.

(b) Every person required to file a return under this article shall, at the time of filing such return, pay to the commissioner the total of all state assessment fees on the correct number of trips subject to such fee under this article. The amount so payable to the commissioner for the period for which a return is required to be filed shall be due and payable to the commissioner on the date specified for the filing of the return for such period, without regard to whether a return is filed or whether the return that is filed correctly shows the correct number of trips, gross trip fares or amount of fees due thereon. The commissioner may require that the fee be paid electronically.

(a) records of every TNC prearranged trip subject to the state assessment fee under this article, and of all amounts paid, charged or due thereon, in such form as the commissioner may require;

(b) true and complete copies, including electronic copies, of any records required to be kept by a state agency that is authorized to permit or regulate a TNC; and

(c) such other records and information as the commissioner may require to perform his or her duties under this article.

§ 1296. Secrecy of returns and reports. (a) Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the commissioner, any officer or employee of the department, any person engaged or retained by the department on an independent contract basis, or any person who in any manner may acquire knowledge of the contents of a return or report filed with the commissioner pursuant to this article, to divulge or make known in any manner any particulars set forth or disclosed in any such return or report. The officers charged with the custody of such returns and reports shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the commissioner in an action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter or in any other action or proceeding involving the collection of a state assessment fee due under this article to which the state or the commissioner is a party or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action, proceeding or hearing under the provisions of this article when the returns, reports or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action, proceeding or hearing, in any of which events the court, or in the case of a hearing, the division of tax appeals may require the production of, and may admit into evidence, so much of said returns, reports or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action, proceeding or hearing and no more. The commissioner or the division of tax appeals may, nevertheless, publish a copy or a summary of any decision rendered after a hearing required by this article. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a person who has filed a return or report or to such person's duly authorized representative of a certified copy of any return or report filed in connection with such person's state assessment fee. Nor shall anything in this section be construed to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns or reports and the items thereof, or the inspection by the attorney general or other legal representatives of the state of the return or report of any person required to pay the state assessment fee who shall bring action to review the state assessment fee based thereon, or against whom an action or proceeding under this chapter has been recommended by the commissioner or the attorney general or has been instituted, or the inspection of the returns or reports required under this article by the comptroller or duly designated officer or employee of the state department of audit and control, for purposes of the audit of a refund of any state assessment fee paid by a person required to pay the state assessment fee under this article. Provided, further, nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the disclosure, in such manner as the commissioner deems appropriate, of the names and other appropriate identifying information of those persons required to pay state assessment fee under this article.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, the commissioner, in his or her discretion, may require or permit any or all persons liable for any state assessment fee imposed by this article, to make payment to banks, banking houses or trust companies designated by the commissioner and to file returns with such banks, banking houses or trust companies as agents of the commissioner, in lieu of paying any such state assessment fee directly to the commissioner. However, the commissioner shall designate only such banks, banking houses or trust companies as are already designated by the comptroller as depositories pursuant to section twelve hundred eighty-eight of this chapter.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, the commissioner may permit the secretary of the treasury of the United States or such secretary's delegate, or the authorized representative of either such officer, to inspect any return filed under this article, or may furnish to such officer or such officer's authorized representative an abstract of any such return or supply such person with information concerning an item contained in any such return, or disclosed by any investigation of liability under this article, but such permission shall be granted or such information furnished only if the laws of the United States grant substantially similar privileges to the commissioner or officer of this state charged with the administration of the state assessment fee imposed by this article, and only if such information is to be used for purposes of tax administration only; and provided further the commissioner may furnish to the commissioner of internal revenue or such commissioner's authorized representative such returns filed under this article and other tax information, as such commissioner may consider proper, for use in court actions or proceedings under the internal revenue code, whether civil or criminal, where a written request therefor has been made to the commissioner by the secretary of the treasury of the United States or such secretary's delegate, provided the laws of the United States grant substantially similar powers to the secretary of the treasury of the United States or his or her delegate. Where the commissioner has so authorized use of returns and other information in such actions or proceedings, officers and employees of the department may testify in such actions or proceedings in respect to such returns or other information.

(d) Returns and reports filed under this article shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until the commissioner orders them to be destroyed.

(e) (1) Any officer or employee of the state who willfully violates the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office for a period of five years thereafter.

(2) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see article thirty-seven of this chapter.

(f) (1) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, upon written request from the chairperson of the committee on ways and means of the United States House of Representatives, the chairperson of the committee on finance of the United States Senate, or the chairperson of the joint committee on taxation of the United States Congress, the commissioner shall furnish such committee with any current or prior year returns or reports specified in such request that were filed under this article by the president of the United States, vice-president of the United States, member of the United States Congress representing New York state, or any person who served in or was employed by the executive branch of the government of the United States on the executive staff of the president, in the executive office of the president, or in an acting or confirmed capacity in a position subject to confirmation by the United States senate; or, in New York state: a statewide elected official, as defined in paragraph (a) of subdivision one of section seventy-three-a of the public officers law; a state officer or employee, as defined in subparagraph (i) of paragraph (c) of subdivision one of such section seventy-three-a; a political party chairperson, as defined in paragraph (h) of subdivision one of such section seventy-three-a; a local elected official, as defined in subdivisions one and two of section eight hundred ten of the general municipal law; a person appointed, pursuant to law, to serve due to vacancy or otherwise in the position of a local elected official, as defined in subdivisions one and two of section eight hundred ten of the general municipal law; a member of the state legislature; or a judge or justice of the unified court system; or filed by a partnership, firm, association, corporation, joint-stock company, trust or similar entity directly or indirectly controlled by any individual listed in this paragraph, whether by contract, through ownership or control of a majority interest in such entity, or otherwise, or filed by a partnership, firm, association, corporation, joint-stock company, trust or similar entity of which any individual listed in this paragraph holds ten percent or more of the voting securities of such entity; provided however that, prior to furnishing any return or report, the commissioner shall redact any copy of a federal return (or portion thereof) attached to, or any information on a federal return that is reflected on, such return or report, and any social security numbers, account numbers and residential address information.

(2) No returns or reports shall be furnished pursuant to this subdivision unless the chairperson of the requesting committee certifies in writing that such returns or reports have been requested related to, and in furtherance of, a legitimate task of the Congress, that the requesting committee has made a written request to the United States secretary of the treasury for related federal returns or reports or return or report information, pursuant to 26 U.S.C. Section 6103(f), and that if such requested returns or reports are inspected by and/or submitted to another committee, to the United States House of Representatives, or to the United States Senate, then such inspection and/or submission shall occur in a manner consistent with federal law as informed by the requirements and procedures established in 26 U.S.C. Section 6103(f).

§ 1297. Practice and procedure. The provisions of article twenty-seven of this chapter shall apply with respect to the administration of and procedure with respect to the state assessment fee imposed by this article in the same manner and with the same force and effect as if the language of such article twenty-seven had been incorporated in full into this article and had expressly referred to the state assessment fee under this article, except to the extent that any such provision is either inconsistent with a provision of this article or is not relevant to this article.

ARTICLE 29-C

CONGESTION SURCHARGE

1299-A. Imposition of tax.

1299-B. Liability for surcharge.

1299-D. Returns and payment of surcharge.

- 1299-E. Records to be kept.
- 1299-F. Secrecy of returns and reports.
- 1299-G. Practice and procedure.
- 1299-H. Deposit and disposition of revenue.
- 1299-I. Cooperation by regulatory agencies.

§ 1299. Definitions. (a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, limited liability company, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

(b) "Motor vehicle" shall have the same meaning as the term is defined in section one hundred twenty-five of the vehicle and traffic law.

(c) "For-hire vehicle" means a motor vehicle, other than an ambulance as defined by section one hundred-b of the vehicle and traffic law and a bus as defined in paragraph thirty-four of subdivision (b) of section eleven hundred one of this chapter, carrying passengers for hire.

(d) "Pool vehicle" means a for-hire vehicle that is available for the shared provision of transportation by two or more passengers (or groups of passengers) that separately request transportation and (i) are each charged the same predetermined amount per ride, or (ii) are each billed independently for a ride in an amount that is proportionate to the transportation they receive.

(e) "For-hire transportation trip" means transportation provided in a for-hire vehicle that is not a pool vehicle, regardless of the number of stops, for which a charge is made, but shall not include transportation provided by, or pursuant to a contract with, school districts, or in connection with funerals.

(f) "Congestion zone" means the geographic area of the city of New York, in the borough of Manhattan, south of and excluding 96th street.

(g) "Regulatory agency" means any entity in the state that regulates any person or motor vehicle involved in the provision of for-hire transportation trips, including the owners, agents and drivers of for-hire vehicles.

§ 1299-A. Imposition of tax. (a) In addition to any other tax or assessment imposed by this chapter or other law, there is hereby imposed, beginning on January first, two thousand nineteen, a surcharge on for-hire transportation trips of two dollars and seventy-five cents for each such trip that originates and terminates in the congestion zone, for each such trip that originates anywhere in the state and terminates within the congestion zone, for each such trip that originates in the congestion zone and terminates anywhere in this state, and for each such trip that originates anywhere in the state, enters into the congestion zone while in transit, and terminates anywhere in the state. For purposes of this subsection, a for-hire transportation trip shall be deemed to originate in the congestion zone when any requesting passenger is picked up there (or if the billing for the ride, or any portion thereof, is commenced there), and is deemed to terminate in the congestion zone when any requesting passenger is dropped off there. Provided however, if the for-hire transportation trip is provided by a for-hire vehicle that is also subject to article twenty-nine-A of this chapter, excluding a HAIL vehicle as defined by such article, the rate of surcharge under this subsection shall be two dollars and fifty cents for each trip.

(b) In addition to any other tax or assessment imposed by this chapter or other law, beginning on January first, two thousand nineteen, there is hereby imposed on transportation provided by pool vehicles a surcharge of seventy-five cents for each person that both enters and exits the pool vehicle in the state, and who is picked up in, dropped off in, or travels through the congestion zone.

(c) Notwithstanding the foregoing, the surcharge imposed by this article shall not apply to transportation services that are administered by or on behalf of the metropolitan transportation authority, including paratransit services.

(d) Receipts subject to tax under paragraph ten of subdivision (c) of section eleven hundred five of this chapter, as well as the gross trip fare of every TNC prearranged trip as those terms are defined by section twelve hundred ninety-one of this chapter, shall be deemed to exclude any surcharge imposed by this article.

§ 1299-B. Liability for surcharge. (a) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, any person that dispatches a motor vehicle by any means that provides transportation that is subject to a surcharge imposed by this article, including transportation network companies as defined in article forty-four-B of the vehicle and traffic law, shall be liable for the surcharge imposed by this article, except that in the case of taxicab trips and HAIL vehicle trips that are also subject to tax pursuant to article twenty-nine-A of this chapter: (1) a TSP that collected the trip record and trip fare shall withhold from daily collections the surcharges due on such trips, and shall withhold from such collections the surcharges due on cash trips. If the TSP's daily collections, after retaining any fees to which it is entitled pursuant to a contract with such taxicab owner or HAIL vehicle owner, are insufficient to cover the surcharges due on such cash trips, the TSP shall withhold an amount from subsequent daily collections, to the extent funds are available, until all surcharges due for a monthly period have been withheld. If a TSP is unable to withhold all the surcharges due in a monthly period, it shall withhold such unwithheld surcharges from daily collections in the next monthly period. A TSP shall be jointly liable for the surcharge imposed by this article for all trips for which the TSP collected the trip record, but shall be relieved of liability for any surcharges attributable to cash trips for which it was unable to withhold the surcharges because there were insufficient daily collections during twelve successive monthly periods. (2) The TSP shall be responsible for filing monthly returns reporting the surcharges due on all trips for which it collected trip records, shall remit the surcharges withheld on all such trips and shall report any unwithheld surcharges due because of insufficient daily collections to cover the tax due on cash trips. For purposes of this section, the terms "taxicab trips," "HAIL vehicle trips," "taxicab owner," "HAIL base," "TSP" and "cash trip" shall have the same meaning as they do in section twelve hundred eighty of this chapter.

(b) Notwithstanding any law to the contrary: (1) The surcharge imposed by this article must be passed along to passengers and separately stated on any receipt that is provided to such passengers. The passing along of such surcharge shall not be construed by any court or administrative body as the imposition of the surcharge on the person or entity that pays for the for-hire transportation trip. All regulatory agencies must adjust any fares that are authorized by them to include the surcharge imposed by this article, and must require that any meter or other instrument used in any for-hire vehicle regulated by it to calculate fares be adjusted to include the surcharge.

(2) Neither the failure of a regulatory agency to adjust fares nor the failure to adjust a meter or other instrument used in a for-hire vehicle to calculate fares shall relieve any person liable for the surcharge imposed by this article from the obligation to pay such surcharge.

§ 1299-D. Returns and payment of surcharge. (a) Every person liable for the surcharge imposed by this article shall file a return with the commissioner on a monthly basis. Each return shall show the number of for-hire transportation trips, or the number of pool vehicle passengers, subject to the surcharge imposed by this article in the month for which the return is filed, along with such other information as the commissioner may require. The returns required by this section shall be filed within twenty days after the end of the month covered thereby. If the commissioner deems it necessary to ensure the payment of the surcharge imposed by this article, he or she may require returns to be made for shorter periods than prescribed by the foregoing provisions of this section, and upon such dates as may be specified. The form of returns shall be prescribed by the commissioner and shall contain such information as the commissioner may deem necessary for the proper administration of this article. The commissioner may require that returns be filed electronically.

(b) Every person liable for the surcharge imposed by this article shall, at the time of filing such return, pay to the commissioner the total amount of all surcharges due under this article. Such amount shall be due and payable on the date specified for the filing of the return for such period, without regard to whether a return is filed, or whether the return that is filed correctly shows the correct number of for-hire trips are subject the surcharge, or the correct surcharge amount due thereon. The commissioner may require that the surcharge be paid electronically.

(c) In addition to any other penalty or interest provided for under this article or other law, and unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, any person liable for the surcharge imposed by this article that fails to pay such surcharge when due shall be liable for a penalty in an amount equal to two hundred percent of the total surcharge amount that is due.

§ 1299-E. Records to be kept. Every person liable for the surcharge imposed by this article shall keep, and shall make available for review upon demand by the commissioner:

(1) records of every trip provided or arranged by such person, or provided through the use of a for-hire vehicle owned or leased by such person, including all amounts paid, charged or due thereon, in such form as the commissioner may require;

(2) true and complete copies of any records required to be kept by any applicable regulatory department or agency; and

(3) such other records and information as the commissioner may require to perform his or her duties under this article.

§ 1299-F. Secrecy of returns and reports. (a) Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the commissioner, any officer or employee of the department, any person engaged or retained by the department on an independent contract basis, or any person who in any manner may acquire knowledge of the contents of a return or report filed with the commissioner pursuant to this article, to divulge or make known in any manner any particulars set forth or disclosed in any such return or report. The officers charged with the custody of such returns and reports shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the commissioner in an action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter, or in any other action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under this chapter to which the state, the commissioner or an agency that is authorized to permit or regulate the provision of any relevant transportation is a party or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action, proceeding or hearing under the provisions of this article, when the returns or the reports or the facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action, proceeding or hearing, in any of which events the court, or in the case of a hearing, the division of tax appeals, may require the production of, and may admit in evidence so much of said returns or reports or of the facts shown thereby as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more. Nothing herein shall be construed, however, to prohibit the commissioner, in his or her discretion, from allowing the inspection or delivery of a certified copy of any return or report filed under this article, or from providing any information contained in any such return or report, by or to a duly authorized officer or employee of the comptroller; nor to prohibit the inspection or delivery of a certified copy of any return or report filed under this article, or the provision of any information contained therein, by or to the attorney general or other legal representatives of the state when an action shall have been recommended or commenced pursuant to this chapter in which such returns or reports or the facts shown thereby are directly involved; nor to prohibit the commissioner from providing or certifying to the division of budget or the comptroller the total number of returns or reports filed under this article in any reporting period and the total collections received therefrom; nor to prohibit the delivery to a person liable for the surcharge imposed by this article, or a duly authorized representative of such, a certified copy of any return or report filed by such person pursuant to this article, nor to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns or reports and the items thereof; nor to prohibit the disclosure, in such manner as the commissioner deems appropriate, of the names and other appropriate identifying information of those persons required to pay the surcharge imposed by this article.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, the commissioner may permit the secretary of the treasury of the United States or such secretary's delegate, or the authorized representative of either such officer, to inspect any return filed under this article, or may furnish to such officer or such officer's authorized representative an abstract of any such return or supply such person with information concerning an item contained in any such return, or disclosed by any investigation of liability under this article, but such permission shall be granted or such information furnished only if the laws of the United States grant substantially similar privileges to the commissioner or officer of this state charged with the administration of the surcharge imposed by this article, and only if such information is to be used for purposes of tax administration only; and provided further the commissioner may furnish to the commissioner of internal revenue or such commissioner's authorized representative such returns filed under this article and other tax information, as such commissioner may consider proper, for use in court actions or proceedings under the internal revenue code, whether civil or criminal, where a written request therefor has been made to the commissioner by the secretary of the treasury of the United States or such secretary's delegate, provided the laws of the United States grant substantially similar powers to the secretary of the treasury of the United States or his or her delegate. Where the commissioner has so authorized use of returns and other information in such actions or proceedings, officers and employees of the department may testify in such actions or proceedings in respect to such returns or other information.

(c) (1) Any officer or employee of the state who willfully violates the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office for a period of five years thereafter.

(2) Cross-reference: For criminal penalties, see article thirty-seven of this chapter.

(d) (1) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, upon written request from the chairperson of the committee on ways and means of the United States House of Representatives, the chairperson of the committee on finance of the United States Senate, or the chairperson of the joint committee on taxation of the United States Congress, the commissioner shall furnish such committee with any current or prior year returns specified in such request that were filed under this article by the president of the United States, vice-president of the United States, member of the United States Congress representing New York state, or any person who served in or was employed by the executive branch of the government of the United States on the executive staff of the president, in the executive office of the president, or in an acting or confirmed capacity in a position subject to confirmation by the United States senate; or, in New York state: a statewide elected official, as defined in paragraph (a) of subdivision one of section seventy-three-a of the public officers law; a state officer or employee, as defined in subparagraph (i) of paragraph (c) of subdivision one of such section seventy-three-a; a political party chairperson, as defined in paragraph (h) of subdivision one of such section seventy-three-a; a local elected official, as defined in subdivisions one and two of section eight hundred ten of the general municipal law; a person appointed, pursuant to law, to serve due to vacancy or otherwise in the position of a local elected official, as defined in subdivisions one and two of section eight hundred ten of the general municipal law; a member of the state legislature; or a judge or justice of the unified court system; or filed by a partnership, firm, association, corporation, joint-stock company, trust or similar entity directly or indirectly controlled by any individual listed in this paragraph, whether by contract, through ownership or control of a majority interest in such entity, or otherwise, or filed by a partnership, firm, association, corporation, joint-stock company, trust or similar entity of which any individual listed in this paragraph holds ten percent or more of the voting securities of such entity; provided however that, prior to furnishing any return, the commissioner shall redact any copy of a federal return (or portion thereof) attached to, or any information on a federal return that is reflected on, such return, and any social security numbers, account numbers and residential address information.

(2) No returns shall be furnished pursuant to this subdivision unless the chairperson of the requesting committee certifies in writing that such returns have been requested related to, and in furtherance of, a legitimate task of the Congress, that the requesting committee has made a written request to the United States secretary of the treasury for related federal returns or reports or return or report information, pursuant to 26 U.S.C. Section 6103(f), and that if such requested returns are inspected by and/or submitted to another committee, to the United States House of Representatives, or to the United States Senate, then such inspection and/or submission shall occur in a manner consistent with federal law as informed by the requirements and

(e) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, the commissioner may, in his or her discretion, permit the proper officer of the taxi and limousine commission of the city of New York (TLC) or the duly authorized representative of such officer, to inspect any return filed under this article, or may furnish to such officer or such officer's authorized representative an abstract of any such return or supply such person with information concerning an item contained in any such return, or disclosed by any investigation of tax liability under this article; but such permission shall be granted or such information furnished only if the TLC shall have furnished the commissioner with all information requested by the commissioner pursuant to this article and shall have permitted the commissioner or the commissioner's authorized representative to make any inspection of any records or reports concerning for-hire transportation trips subject to the surcharge imposed by this article, and any persons required to collect such surcharge, filed with or possessed by the TLC that the commissioner may have requested from the TLC. Provided, further, that the commissioner may disclose to the TLC whether or not a person liable for the surcharge imposed by this article has paid all of the surcharges due under this article as of any given date.

§ 1299-G. Practice and procedure. The provisions of article twenty-seven of this chapter shall apply with respect to the administration of and procedure with respect to the surcharge imposed by this article in the same manner and with the same force and effect as if the language of such article twenty-seven had been incorporated in full into this article and had expressly referred to the surcharge imposed by this article, except to the extent that any such provision is either inconsistent with a provision of this article or is not relevant to this article.

companies, as may be designated by the comptroller, to the credit of the comptroller in trust for the metropolitan transportation authority. An account may be established in one or more of such depositories. Such deposits will be kept separate and apart from all other money in the possession of the comptroller. The comptroller shall require adequate security from all such depositories. Of the total revenue collected or received under this article, the comptroller shall retain such amount as the commissioner may determine to be necessary for refunds under this article. The commissioner is authorized and directed to deduct from the amounts it receives under this article, before deposit into the trust accounts designated by the comptroller, a reasonable amount necessary to effectuate refunds of appropriations of the department to reimburse the department for the costs incurred to administer, collect and distribute the surcharge, interest, and penalties imposed by this article.

(b) On or before the twelfth day of each month, after reserving such amount for such refunds and deducting such amounts for such costs, as provided for in subdivision (a) of this section, the commissioner shall certify to the comptroller the amount of revenues so received during the prior month as a result of the surcharge, interest and penalties so imposed. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, after deducting the amounts specified in the previous sentence, the first three hundred sixty-two million dollars collected or received in calendar year two thousand nineteen, the first three hundred one million dollars collected or received in calendar year two thousand twenty, and the first three hundred million dollars collected or received in each calendar year thereafter, shall be deposited by the comptroller, without appropriation, pursuant to subdivision (c) of this section. The next fifty million dollars collected or received in calendar year two thousand nineteen, and in each year thereafter, in excess of funds collected and deposited pursuant to subdivision (c) of this section, shall be deposited by the comptroller, without appropriation, pursuant to subdivision (d) of this section, provided, however, that any uncommitted fund balance at the end of each calendar year through the approval process of subdivision three of section twelve hundred seventy-i of the public authorities law shall be transferred on the last business day of the calendar year by the metropolitan transportation authority from the outer borough transportation account to the general transportation account of the New York city transportation assistance fund created by section twelve hundred seventy-i of the public authorities law. Any amounts collected or received, in any year, that are in excess of the amounts deposited pursuant to subdivisions (c) and (d) of this section, shall be deposited by the comptroller, without appropriation, pursuant to subdivision (e) of this section.

(c) The amount of revenues so certified shall be paid over by the fifteenth business day of each succeeding month from such account, without appropriation, into the subway action plan account of the New York city transportation assistance fund established pursuant to section twelve hundred seventy-i of the public authorities law.

(d) The amount of revenues so certified that are in excess of the amounts deposited as provided in subdivision (c) of this section, shall be paid over by the fifteenth business day of each succeeding month from such account, without appropriation, into the outer borough transportation account of the New York city transportation assistance fund established pursuant to section twelve hundred seventy-i of the public authorities law.

(e) The amount of revenues so certified that are in excess of the amounts deposited as provided in subdivisions (c) and (d) of this section, shall be paid over by the fifteenth business day of each succeeding month from such account, without appropriation, into the general transportation account of the New York city transportation assistance fund established pursuant to section twelve hundred seventy-i of the public authorities law.

(f) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, any surcharge imposed by this article that is paid in connection with transportation provided to persons eligible for medical assistance who are transported pursuant to section three hundred sixty-five-h of the social services law shall be transferred on a quarterly basis from the account specified in paragraph (a) of this section to the Medicaid management information system escrow fund. The commissioner of health shall collect the Medicaid transportation data necessary to determine an amount to be transferred each quarter; provided that such amount shall be reconciled in the subsequent quarter to reflect actual Medicaid surcharge expenditures; and further provided that any difference between the amount transferred and the reconciled amount shall be added to or subtracted from the amount transferred in the following quarter.

§ 1299-I. Cooperation by regulatory agencies. All regulatory agencies shall cooperate with and assist the commissioner to effectuate the purposes of this article and the commissioner's responsibilities hereunder. Such cooperation shall include obtaining, furnishing, and timely updating current, complete and accurate names, addresses and all other information concerning: (1) every for-hire vehicle owner, operator, and driver of for-hire vehicles licensed or permitted by such licensing agency; (2) every agent of such person, if any; and (3) any other person or entity that is licensed or permitted by such licensing agency. Such cooperation shall also include furnishing to the commissioner all written, computerized, automated or electronic records in the regulatory agency's possession, or in the possession of any of its agents, instrumentalities, contractors, or any other person authorized or required to obtain or possess such records or information, that account for any transportation and operation for hire provided by a licensed or permitted person or entity. Such information shall be provided to the commissioner without cost, and in a format prescribed by the commissioner.

1304-C. Filing fees.

1304-D. Imposition of tax.

1305. City resident and city nonresident defined.

- 1306. Returns and liabilities.
- 1307. Change of resident status.
- 1309. Requirement of withholding tax from wages.
- 1310. Credits against tax.
- 1311. Enforcement with other taxes.
- 1312. Administration, collection and review.
- 1313. Deposit and disposition of revenues.

§ 1300. Short title. This article shall be known and may be cited as the "city personal income tax".

§ 1301. Authority to impose taxes. (a) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, any city in this state having a population of one million or more inhabitants, acting through its local legislative body, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in any such city, for taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred seventy-five:

(1) a tax on the personal income of residents of such city, at the rates provided for under subsection (a) of section thirteen hundred four of this article for taxable years beginning before two thousand thirty, and at the rates provided for under subsection (b) of section thirteen hundred four of this article for taxable years beginning after two thousand twenty-nine, provided, however, that if, for any taxable year beginning after two thousand twenty-nine, the rates set forth in such subsection (b) are rendered inapplicable and the rates set forth in such subsection (a) are rendered applicable, then the tax for such taxable year shall be at the rates provided under subparagraphs (A) of paragraphs one, two and three of such subsection (a),

(2) for taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred seventy-six, a separate tax on the ordinary income portion of lump sum distributions of such residents, at the rates provided for herein, such taxes to be administered, collected and distributed by the commissioner as provided for in this article.

(b) All the provisions of the local laws imposing the taxes authorized by this article shall be identical to the corresponding provisions of article twenty-two of this chapter, except as to rate and except as otherwise provided in this article, so far as the provisions of such article twenty-two can be made applicable to the taxes authorized, with such limitations and modifications as may be necessary in order to adapt such language to the city income taxes authorized by this article.

(d) A local law enacted pursuant to the authority of this section or repealing or suspending such taxes shall go into effect on the first day of January, nineteen hundred seventy-six and shall apply to taxable years beginning on or after such date. No such local law shall be effective unless a certified copy of such local law is mailed by registered or certified mail to the commissioner at the commissioner's office in Albany at least fifteen days prior to the date it is to become effective. However, the commissioner may waive and reduce such fifteen-day minimum notice requirement to a mailing of such certified copy by registered or certified mail within such period as the commissioner deems such action to be consistent with the commissioner's duties under this article. Any amendment to the provisions of article twenty-two of this chapter to the extent that such amendment is applicable to the taxes imposed under such local law, shall be deemed to have been incorporated in the analogous provision or provisions of such local law.

(e) Certified copies of such local law shall also be filed with the clerk of the city wherein the tax is imposed, the secretary of state and the state comptroller prior to the effective date of such enactment.

§ 1301-B. City separate tax on the ordinary income portion of lump sum distributions. (a) Imposition of separate tax. The city separate tax on the ordinary income portion of a lump sum distribution imposed pursuant to the authority of this article shall be imposed for each taxable year on the ordinary income portion of a lump sum distribution of every resident individual, estate or trust of such city which has made an election of lump sum treatment under subsection (e) of section four hundred two of the internal revenue code.

(b) Amount of separate tax. The amount of tax imposed pursuant to the authority of subsection (a) for any taxable year shall be an amount equal to five times the tax which would be imposed at the rate set forth in paragraph three of subsection (a) or (b) of section thirteen hundred four of this article, whichever may be applicable, if the recipient were an individual referred to in such subsection and the city taxable income referred to were an amount equal to one-fifth of the excess of:

(1) the total taxable amount of the lump sum distribution for the taxable year, over

(2) the minimum distribution allowance.

(c) Minimum distribution allowance. For purposes of this section, the minimum distribution allowance shall be that which is calculated according to subparagraph (C) of paragraph one of subsection (e) of section four hundred two of the internal revenue code.

(d) Liability for tax. The recipient of a lump sum distribution shall be liable for the tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this section.

(e) Multiple distributions and distributions of annuity contracts. For purposes of this section the rules concerning multiple distributions and distributions of annuity contracts as specified by paragraph two of subsection (e) of section four hundred two of the internal revenue code shall be applicable, except that references to the "tax imposed by paragraph (1) (A)" shall be deemed to be references to the city separate tax on the ordinary income portion of a lump sum distribution authorized by this article, and except that only lump sum distributions (or portions thereof) and distributions of annuity contracts subject to the city separate tax on the ordinary income portion of lump sum distributions authorized by this article shall be included, and except that references to the secretary shall be deemed to be references to the tax commission.

(f) Definitions and special rules. For purposes of this section, the following provisions shall apply, to the extent applicable to the taxpayer's federal tax on lump sum distributions: (1) the definitions and special rules as specified in paragraph four of subsection (e) of section four hundred two of the internal revenue code; and (2) the special rules relating to (A) individuals who have attained the age of fifty before January first, nineteen hundred eighty-six and (B) capital gains, as specified in paragraphs three, four, five and six of subsection (h) of section eleven hundred twenty-two of the tax reform act of nineteen hundred eighty-six as enacted by public law 99-514, but (i) in the event that paragraph three of such subsection is applicable, clause (ii) of subparagraph (B) of such paragraph shall be applied using a rate of one and seventy-two hundredths percent, and (ii) in the event that paragraph five of such subsection is applicable, the words "five" and "one-fifth" in subsection (b) of this section shall be read as "ten" and "one-tenth", respectively, and subsection (b) of this section shall be applied by using the rate of tax specified in subsection (a) of section thirteen hundred four as such subsection was in effect for taxable years beginning in nineteen hundred eighty-six.

§ 1302. Persons subject to tax. (a) Imposition of tax. The city personal income tax (other than the city separate tax on the ordinary income portion of lump sum distributions) imposed pursuant to the authority of this article shall be imposed for each taxable year on the city taxable income of every city resident individual, estate and trust. A taxpayer's taxable year for purposes of a tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this article shall be the same as his taxable year under article twenty-two of this chapter.

(b) Partners and partnerships. A partnership as such shall not be subject to a tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this article. Persons carrying on business as partners shall be liable for such tax only in their separate or individual capacities. As used in this article, the term "partnership" shall include, unless a different meaning is clearly required, a subchapter K limited liability company. The term "subchapter K limited liability company" shall mean a limited liability company classified as a partnership for federal income tax purposes. The term "limited liability company" means a domestic limited liability company or a foreign limited liability company, as defined in section one hundred two of the limited liability company law, a limited liability investment company formed pursuant to section five hundred seven of the banking law, or a limited liability trust company formed pursuant to section one hundred two-a of the banking law.

(c) Associations taxable as corporations. An association, trust or other unincorporated organization which is taxable as a corporation for federal income tax purposes shall not be subject to a tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this article.

(d) Exempt trusts and organizations. A trust or other unincorporated organization which by reason of its purposes is exempt from federal income tax shall be exempt from any tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this article (regardless of whether subject to federal income tax on unrelated business taxable income).

§ 1303. City taxable income. The city taxable income of a city resident individual shall mean and be the same as his or her New York taxable income as defined in section six hundred eleven of this chapter, except that it shall include (i) the amount contributed to any or all of the following accounts within the charitable gifts trust fund set forth in section ninety-two-gg of the state finance law, to the extent the amount is claimed as an itemized deduction pursuant to section six hundred fifteen of this chapter: the health charitable account established by paragraph (a) of subdivision four of section ninety-two-gg of the state finance law, or the elementary and secondary education charitable account established by paragraph b of subdivision four of section ninety-two-gg of the state finance law. The city taxable income of a city resident estate or trust shall mean and be the same as its New York taxable income as defined in section six hundred eighteen of this chapter.

§ 1304. Rate of tax. (a) A tax (other than the city separate tax relating to qualified higher education funds and the city separate tax on the ordinary income portion of lump sum distributions) imposed pursuant to the authority of section thirteen hundred one of this article shall be determined as follows:

(1) Resident married individuals filing joint returns and resident surviving spouses. The tax under this section for each taxable year on the city taxable income of every city resident married individual who makes a single return jointly with his or her spouse under subsection

(b) of section thirteen hundred six of this article and on the city taxable income of every city resident surviving spouse shall be determined in accordance with the following tables:

(A) For taxable years beginning after two thousand sixteen:

If the city taxable income is:	The tax is:

(c) A tax surcharge imposed pursuant to the authority of this section shall be administered, collected and distributed by the commissioner of taxation and finance in the same manner as the taxes imposed pursuant to the authority of this article, and all of the provisions of this article, including section thirteen hundred ten, shall apply to the tax surcharge authorized by this section.

(d) (1) Notwithstanding subsection (b) of this section, with respect to taxable years beginning in nineteen hundred ninety-three, nineteen hundred ninety-four, nineteen hundred ninety-five and nineteen hundred ninety-six, the mayor of the city of New York shall, by August first of nineteen hundred ninety-two, nineteen hundred ninety-four and nineteen hundred ninety-five, and by September fifteenth of nineteen hundred ninety-three, transmit to the commissioner a certification setting forth the percentage of non-achievement regarding the combined police uniformed staffing level with respect to the fiscal year of the city of New York ending on the immediately preceding June thirtieth, provided, however, that for the city fiscal year ending in nineteen hundred ninety-three the percentage of non-achievement shall be determined by the combined police uniformed staffing level existing on August thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-three, and further provided for all such fiscal years that the percentage of non-achievement shall be calculated according to the procedure specified in a memorandum of understanding relating to the New York city safe streets, safe city program and to the enactment of this subsection dated February eleventh, nineteen hundred ninety-one, as amended, and executed by the governor, the temporary president of the senate, the speaker of the assembly, the minority leader of the senate, the minority leader of the assembly, the mayor of the city of New York and the speaker of the city council of the city of New York and any modification of such memorandum of understanding subsequently agreed upon by all such signatories in a single subsequent memorandum of understanding. If such percentage of non-achievement is equal to or exceeds twenty-five percent with respect to the fiscal year of the city of New York ending in nineteen hundred ninety-two, twenty percent with respect to the city fiscal year ending in nineteen hundred ninety-three or five percent with respect to the city fiscal years ending in nineteen hundred ninety-four and nineteen hundred ninety-five, then the rates of the tax surcharge authorized by this section for taxable years beginning in the calendar year beginning on January first next succeeding such August first or September fifteenth shall be the products of the rates set forth in subsection (b) of this section and a percentage equal to the difference between one hundred percent and such percentage of non-achievement, such products computed to the nearest hundredth of a percent, and the dollar denominated amounts of the tax surcharge set forth in subsection (b) of this section shall be reduced conformably.

(2) Notwithstanding subsection (b) of this section, with respect to the taxable year beginning in nineteen hundred ninety-eight, the mayor or other chief executive officer of a city in which a tax surcharge is imposed pursuant to the authority of this section shall, by August first of nineteen hundred ninety-seven, transmit to the commissioner a certification setting forth the percentage of non-achievement regarding the police uniformed staffing level with respect to the last fiscal year of such city ending no later than June thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-seven, provided, however, that such percentage of non-achievement shall be calculated according to the procedure specified in a new memorandum of understanding relating to the enactment of this paragraph dated no later than thirty days after such enactment, as executed by the governor, the temporary president of the senate, the speaker of the assembly, the minority leader of the senate, the minority leader of the assembly, the mayor or other chief executive officer of such city and the speaker or other similar officer of the local legislative body of such city and any modifications of such new memorandum of understanding subsequently agreed upon by all such signatories in a single subsequent memorandum of understanding. If such percentage of non-achievement exceeds two percent with respect to the fiscal year of such city ending no later than June thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-seven, then the rates of the tax surcharge authorized by this section for the taxable years beginning in the calendar year beginning on January first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight shall be the products of the rates set forth in subsection (b) of this section and a percentage equal to the difference between one hundred percent and the portion of the percentage of non-achievement that is in excess of two percent, such products computed to the nearest hundredth of a percent, and the dollar denominated amounts of the tax surcharge set forth in subsection (b) of this section shall be reduced conformably.

(3) If the rates of the surcharge authorized to be imposed pursuant to this section are modified pursuant to paragraph one or paragraph two of this subsection, the commissioner shall promulgate regulations stating the modified rates.

(e) Notwithstanding anything in this section or section thirteen hundred thirteen of this article to the contrary, of the total revenue (including interest and penalties) from the tax surcharge imposed pursuant to the authority of this section which the comptroller is required to pay, after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-two, to the chief fiscal officer of the city imposing the tax surcharge for payment into the treasury of such city, one hundred ten million dollars thereof paid to such chief fiscal officer during the fiscal year of such city commencing July first, nineteen hundred ninety-two, two hundred million dollars thereof paid to such chief fiscal officer during the fiscal year of such city commencing July first, nineteen hundred ninety-three, one hundred sixty-seven million dollars thereof paid to such chief fiscal officer during the fiscal year of such city commencing July first, nineteen hundred ninety-four, and one hundred eighty-five million dollars thereof paid to such chief fiscal officer during the fiscal year of such city commencing July first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, shall be credited to and deposited in a criminal justice account established by such city within its general fund for the implementation of the safe streets, safe city program. The balance of such revenue shall be credited to the general fund of such city and shall be applied exclusively to or in aid or support of such city's provision of criminal justice and fire protection services.

(f) Notwithstanding anything in this article to the contrary, of the total revenue (including interest and penalties) from the tax surcharge imposed pursuant to the authority of this section which the comptroller is required to pay to the chief fiscal officer of the city imposing the tax surcharge for payment into the treasury of such city, ninety million dollars thereof paid to such chief fiscal officer during the fiscal year of such city commencing during calendar year nineteen hundred ninety-six, and one hundred eighty-five million dollars thereof paid to such chief fiscal officer during the fiscal year of such city commencing during calendar year nineteen hundred ninety-seven, shall be credited to and deposited in a criminal justice account established by such city within its general fund. The balance of such revenue from such tax surcharge which the comptroller is required to pay to such chief fiscal officer for payment into the treasury of such city for the taxable years beginning in the calendar years beginning on January first, nineteen hundred ninety-seven and January first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight shall be credited to the general fund of such city to be applied exclusively to or in aid or support of such city's provision of criminal justice and fire protection services; provided however, that, notwithstanding the foregoing, such balance shall be applied to implementation of the capital program for public schools within such city and a supplemental capital rehabilitation program for such schools, to the extent that such application is necessary for the timely implementation of such programs in accordance with the memorandum of understanding executed pursuant to paragraph two of subsection (d) of this section and any modifications thereto.

§ 1304-B. Additional tax. (a) (1) In addition to any other taxes authorized by this article, any city imposing such taxes is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in any such city for each taxable year beginning after nineteen hundred ninety but before two thousand thirty, an additional tax on the city taxable income of every city resident individual, estate and trust, to be calculated for each taxable year as follows: (i) for each taxable year beginning after nineteen hundred ninety but before nineteen hundred ninety-nine, at the rate of fourteen percent of the sum of the taxes for each such taxable year determined pursuant to section thirteen hundred four and section thirteen hundred four-A of this article; and (ii) for each taxable year beginning after nineteen hundred ninety-eight, at the rate of fourteen percent of the tax for such taxable year determined pursuant to such section thirteen hundred four.

(2) Notwithstanding paragraph one of this subsection, for each taxable year beginning after nineteen hundred ninety-nine but before two thousand thirty, any city imposing such additional tax may by local law impose such tax at a rate that is less than fourteen percent and may impose such tax at more than one rate depending upon the filing status and city taxable income of such city resident individual, estate or trust.

(3) A local law enacted pursuant to paragraph two of this subsection shall be applicable with respect to any taxable year only if it has been enacted on or before July thirty-first of such year. A certified copy of such local law shall be mailed by registered mail to the department at its office in Albany within fifteen days of its enactment. However, the department may allow additional time for such certified copy to be mailed if it deems such action to be consistent with its duties under this article.

(b) The additional tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this section shall be administered, collected and distributed by the commissioner of taxation and finance in the same manner as the other taxes imposed pursuant to the authority of this article, and all of the provisions of this article, including section thirteen hundred ten of this article, shall apply to the additional tax authorized by this section.

§ 1304-C. Filing fees. (a) In addition to any other taxes or fees authorized by this article or any other law, any city imposing the taxes authorized by this article is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws providing that every subchapter K limited liability company (as such term is defined in subsection (b) of section thirteen hundred two of this article), every limited liability company that is a disregarded entity for federal income tax purposes and every partnership which has any income derived from sources within such city, determined in accordance with the applicable rules of section six hundred thirty-one of this chapter as in the case of a state nonresident individual (except that in making that determination any references in section six hundred thirty-one of this chapter to "New York source" or "New York sources" shall be read as references to "New York city source" or "New York city sources" and any references in that section to "this state" or "the state" shall be read as references to "this city" or "the city"), shall within thirty days after the last day of the taxable year make a payment of a filing fee. The amount of the filing fee shall be the amount determined under paragraph three of subsection (c) of section six hundred fifty-eight of this chapter, except that in making that determination any references in that section to "New York source gross income" must be read as reference to "New York city source gross income". Any local law imposing the filing fee authorized by this section shall provide that where the filing fee is not timely paid, it shall be paid upon notice and demand and shall be assessed, collected and paid in the same manner as the taxes imposed pursuant to the authority of this article, and for these purposes any reference in the local law imposing those taxes to the taxes imposed by that local law shall be deemed also to refer to the filing fee imposed pursuant to the authority of this section.

(b) Any local law imposing the filing fee authorized by this section shall provide that every partnership having any income derived from city sources, determined in accordance with the applicable rules of section six hundred thirty-one of this chapter as in the case of a state nonresident individual (except that in making such determination any references in such section to "New York source" or "New York sources" shall be read as references to "New York city source" or "New York city sources" and any references in such section to "this state" or "the state" shall be read as references to "this city" or "the city"), shall make a return for the taxable year setting forth all items of income, gain, loss and deduction and such other pertinent information as the commissioner may by regulations and instructions prescribe. Such return shall be filed on or before the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of each taxable year except that the due date for the return of a partnership consisting entirely of nonresident noncitizens shall be the date prescribed for the filing of its federal partnership return for the taxable year. For purposes of this subsection, "taxable year" means a year or a period which would be a taxable year of the partnership if it were subject to the taxes imposed under the authority of this article.

(c) Except as otherwise provided in this section, any filing fee imposed pursuant to the authority of this section shall be administered and collected by the commissioner in the same manner as the filing fee imposed by paragraph three of subsection (c) of section six hundred fifty-eight of this chapter, and shall be deposited and disposed of in the same manner as taxes pursuant to the provisions of section thirteen hundred thirteen of this article.

(d) Any local law imposing the filing fee authorized by this section shall apply to taxable years beginning on or after the ninetieth day after the effective date of this section.

§ 1304-D. Imposition of tax. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, in lieu of the tax tables provided in section thirteen hundred four of this article, any city imposing the taxes authorized by section thirteen hundred one of this article is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws to impose the rates set forth in the tax tables provided in this section. Provided, however, if any such city adopts a local law to impose tax at the rates set forth in this section, the authorization granted to such city to impose an additional tax by section thirteen hundred four-B of this article shall be suspended while such local law is in effect.

(a) Rate of tax. A tax imposed pursuant to this section shall be determined as follows:

Over $500,000	$20,356 plus 4.45% of excess
	over $500,000

(3) Resident unmarried individuals, resident married individuals filing separate returns and resident estates and trusts. The tax under this section for each taxable year on the city taxable income of every city resident individual who is not a married individual who makes a single return jointly with his or her spouse under subsection (b) of section thirteen hundred six of this article or a city resident head of a household or a city resident surviving spouse, and on the city taxable income of every city resident estate and trust shall be determined in accordance with the following tables:

(A) For taxable years beginning in two thousand five:

If the city taxable income is:	The tax is:
Not over $12,000	2.907% of the city taxable income
Over $12,000 but not	$349 plus 3.534% of excess

over $500,000	over $100,000
Over $500,000	$20,530 plus 4.45% of excess

(b) Tax table benefit recapture. For taxable years beginning after two thousand two and before two thousand six, there is hereby imposed a supplemental tax in addition to the tax imposed under subsection (a) of this section for the purpose of recapturing the benefit of the tax tables contained in such subsection. The supplemental tax shall be an amount equal to the sum of the tax table benefits in paragraphs one and two of this subsection multiplied by their respective fractions in such paragraphs provided, however, that paragraph one of this subsection shall not apply to taxpayers who are not subject to the second highest rate of tax.

(1) Resident married individuals filing joint returns, surviving spouses, resident heads of households, resident unmarried individuals, resident married individuals filing separate returns and resident estates and trusts. (A) The tax table benefit is the difference between (i) the amount of taxable income set forth in the tax table in subsection (a) of this section not subject to the second highest rate of tax for the taxable year multiplied by such rate and (ii) the second highest dollar denominated tax for such amount of taxable income set forth in the tax table applicable to the taxable year in subsection (a) of this section.

(B) The fraction is computed as follows: the numerator is the lesser of fifty thousand dollars or the excess of New York adjusted gross income for the taxable year over one hundred fifty thousand dollars and the denominator is fifty thousand dollars.

(C) This paragraph shall only apply to taxable years beginning after two thousand two and before two thousand six.

(2) Resident married individuals filing joint returns, surviving spouses, resident heads of households, resident unmarried individuals, resident married individuals filing separate returns and resident estates and trusts. (A) The tax table benefit is the difference between (i) the amount of taxable income set forth in the tax table in subsection (a) of this section not subject to the highest rate of tax for the taxable year multiplied by such rate and (ii) the highest dollar denominated tax set forth in the tax table applicable to the taxable year in subsection (a) of this section less the sum of the tax table benefits in paragraph one of this subsection.

(B) For such taxpayers with adjusted gross income over five hundred thousand dollars, the fraction is one. Provided, however, that the total tax prior to the application of any tax credits shall not exceed the highest rate of tax set forth in the tax table in subsection (a) of this section multiplied by the taxpayer's taxable income.

§ 1305. City resident and city nonresident defined. For purposes of any tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this article:

(a) City resident individual. A city resident individual means an individual:

(1) who is domiciled in the city wherein the tax is imposed, unless (A) the taxpayer maintains no permanent place of abode in the city, maintains a permanent place of abode elsewhere, and spends in the aggregate not more than thirty days of the taxable year in the city, or (B) (i) within any period of five hundred forty-eight consecutive days the taxpayer is present in a foreign country or countries for at least four hundred fifty days, and (ii) during such period of five hundred

forty-eight consecutive days the taxpayer, the taxpayer's spouse (unless the spouse is legally separated) and the taxpayer's minor children are not present in the city for more than ninety days, and (iii) during any period of less than twelve months, which would be treated as a separate taxable period pursuant to section thirteen hundred seven, and which period is contained within the period of five hundred forty-eight consecutive days, the taxpayer is present in the city for a number of days which does not exceed an amount which bears the same ratio to ninety as the number of days contained in that period of less than twelve months bears to five hundred forty-eight, or

(2) who maintains a permanent place of abode in such city and spends in the aggregate more than one hundred eighty-three days of the taxable year in such city, whether or not domiciled in this city for any portion of the taxable year, unless such individual is in active service in the armed forces of the United States.

(b) City nonresident individual. A city nonresident individual means an individual who is not a resident of such city or the state of New York.

(c) City resident estate or trust. A city resident estate or trust means:

(1) the estate of a decedent who at his death was domiciled in such city,

(2) a trust, or a portion of a trust, consisting of property transferred by will of a decedent who at his death was domiciled in such city, or

(3) a trust, or a portion of a trust, consisting of the property of:

(A) a person domiciled in such city at the time such property was transferred to the trust, if such trust or portion of a trust was then irrevocable, or if it was then revocable and has not subsequently become irrevocable; or

(B) a person domiciled in such city at the time such trust or portion of a trust became irrevocable, if it was revocable when such property was transferred to the trust but has subsequently become irrevocable.

For the purposes of the foregoing, a trust or portion of a trust is revocable if it is subject to a power, exercisable immediately or at any future time, to revest title in the person whose property constitutes such trust or portion of a trust and a trust or portion of a trust becomes irrevocable when the possibility that such power may be exercised has been terminated.

§ 1306. Returns and liabilities. (a) General. On or before the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of a taxable year, an income tax return under a city tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this article shall be made and filed by or for every city resident individual, estate or trust required to file a New York state personal income tax (including a city separate tax on the ordinary income portion of lump sum distributions) return for the taxable year.

(b) Husband and wife. (1) If the New York state personal income tax liability of husband and wife is determined on a separate return, their city personal income tax liabilities and returns shall be separate.

(2) If the New York state personal income tax liabilities of husband and wife (other than a husband and wife described in paragraph three) are determined on a joint return, they shall file a joint city personal income tax return, and their tax liabilities shall be joint and several except as provided in paragraph five of this subsection, section six hundred fifty-four and subsection (e) of section six hundred eighty-five of this chapter.

(3) If either husband or wife is a city resident and the other is a city nonresident, and their New York state personal income tax liabilities are determined on a joint return:

(A) they may elect to file a joint city personal income tax return as if both were residents, in which case their city personal income tax liabilities shall be joint and several except as provided in paragraph five of this subsection, section six hundred fifty-four and subsection (e) of section six hundred eighty-five of this chapter, or

(B) the resident spouse may elect to file a separate city personal income tax return, in which case his city personal income tax liability shall be determined as if he were filing a separate New York state personal income tax return.

(5) If a joint return has been made under this subsection for a taxable year and only one spouse is liable for past-due support or an amount of a default in repayment of a guaranteed student, state university or city university loan of which the state tax commission has been notified pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one-c, one hundred seventy-one-d or one hundred seventy-one-e of this chapter, as the case may be, then an overpayment and interest thereon shall be credited against such past-due support or such amount of a default in repayment of a guaranteed student, state university or city university loan, unless the spouse not liable for such past-due support or such amount of a default in repayment of a guaranteed student, state university or city university loan demands, on a declaration made in accordance with regulations or instructions prescribed by the state tax commission, that the portion of the overpayment and interest attributable to such spouse not be credited against the past-due support or amount of a default in repayment of a guaranteed student, state university or city university loan owed by the other spouse. Upon such demand, the state tax commission shall determine the amount of the overpayment attributable to each spouse in accordance with regulations prescribed by the state tax commission and credit only that portion of the overpayment and interest thereon attributable to the spouse liable for past-due support or amount of a default in repayment of a guaranteed student, state university or city university loan against such past-due support or such amount of a default in repayment of a guaranteed student, state university or city university loan.

(6) The commissioner shall clearly alert married taxpayers, on all appropriate publications and instructions, that their liability for tax will be joint and several if they file joint income tax returns. The commissioner shall include notice of an individual's right to relief from joint and several liability pursuant to section six hundred fifty-four of this chapter in the disclosure of rights statement required by section three thousand four of this chapter and in any notice regarding collection of tax due with respect to a liability on a joint return.

(c) Decedents. The return for any deceased individual shall be made and filed by his executor, administrator, or other person charged with his property. If a final return of a decedent is for a fractional part of a year, the due date of such return shall be the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of the twelve-month period which began with the first day of such fractional part of the year.

(d) Individuals under a disability. The return for an individual who is unable to make a return by reason of minority or other disability shall be made and filed by his guardian, committee, fiduciary or other person charged with the care of his person or property (other than a receiver in possession of only a part of his property), or by his duly authorized agent.

(e) Estates and trusts. The return for an estate or trust shall be made and filed by the fiduciary.

(f) Joint fiduciaries. If two or more fiduciaries are acting jointly, the return may be made by any one of them.

§ 1307. Change of resident status. (a) General. If an individual changes his status during his taxable year from city resident to city nonresident, or from city nonresident to city resident, he shall file one return as a city resident for the portion of the year during which he is a city resident, and a return under a local law for the portion of the year during which he is a city nonresident, subject to such exceptions as the state tax commission may prescribe by regulation. Such return shall be due at the same time as the return for the portion of the year during which such individual is a city resident.

(b) The city taxable income for the portion of the year during which an individual described in subsection (a) is a city resident individual shall be determined, except as provided in subsection (c), under the rules provided in section six hundred thirty-eight of this chapter, as if he were computing his New York taxable income and his taxable year for New York state personal income tax purposes were limited to the period of his city resident status.

(c) When an individual changes his status from city resident to city nonresident, or from city nonresident to city resident, he shall, regardless of his method of accounting, accrue any items of income, gain, loss, deduction or ordinary income portion of a lump sum distribution accruing prior to the change of status, with the applicable modifications and adjustments to federal adjusted gross income and itemized deductions under sections six hundred twelve and six hundred fifteen, if not otherwise properly includible or allowable for New York income tax purposes for such period or a prior taxable year under his method of accounting. Such accruals shall be made as provided in section six hundred thirty-nine of this chapter.

(d) Trusts. If the status of a trust changes during its taxable year from city resident to city nonresident, or from city nonresident to city resident, the fiduciary shall file one return as a city resident trust for the portion of the year during which the trust is a city resident trust, and a return under a local law for the portion of the year during which the trust is a city nonresident trust, subject to such exceptions as the state tax commission may prescribe by regulations.

(e) The city taxable income for the portion of the year during which a trust described in subsection (d) is a city resident trust shall be determined, except as provided in subsection (c), under the rules provided in section six hundred thirty-eight of this chapter, as if its New York taxable income were being computed and its taxable year for New York state personal income tax purposes were limited to the period of its city resident status.

(f) When the status of a trust changes from city resident to city nonresident, or from city nonresident to city resident, it shall, regardless of its method of accounting, accrue any items of income, gain, loss or deduction accruing prior to the change of status. Such accruals shall be made as provided in section six hundred thirty-nine of this chapter.

§ 1309. Requirement of withholding tax from wages. A tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this article shall provide that the tax shall be withheld from the wages of city residents in the same manner and subject to the same requirements, to the greatest extent possible, as provided in sections six hundred seventy-one through six hundred seventy-eight of this chapter except that the term "aggregate amount" contained in paragraphs one, two and three of subsection (a) of section six hundred seventy-four of this chapter shall mean the aggregate of the aggregate amounts of New York state personal income tax, city personal income tax on residents and city earnings tax on nonresidents authorized pursuant to article two-E of the general city law required to be deducted and withheld and provided, however, that the provisions of such paragraphs shall not be applicable to employer's returns required to be filed with respect to taxes required to be deducted and withheld during the calendar year nineteen hundred seventy-six, but such returns shall be required to be filed with the state tax commission at the times and in the manner provided for in subdivision (a) of section fifty-four contained in section twenty-five-a of the general city law except the term "administrator" in such subdivision shall be read as "state tax commission."

§ 1310. Credits against tax. (a) Credit to trust beneficiary receiving accumulation distribution. A beneficiary of a trust who is subject to a city personal income tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this article and whose New York adjusted gross income under article twenty-two of this chapter includes all or part of an accumulation distribution by such trust, as defined in section six hundred sixty-five of the internal revenue code, shall be allowed a credit against the tax otherwise due under such city personal income tax for all or a proportionate part of any tax paid by the trust under such tax or under any prior local law of the city for any preceding taxable year which would not have been payable if the trust had in fact made distributions to its beneficiaries at the times and in the amounts specified in section six hundred sixty-six of the internal revenue code. The credit under this subsection shall not reduce the tax otherwise due from the beneficiary under such city personal income tax to an amount less than would have been due if the accumulation distribution or his part thereof were excluded from his New York adjusted gross income as defined in section six hundred twelve of this chapter.

(b) Credit for tax withheld. Wages upon which tax is required to be withheld shall be taxable under a city personal income tax as if no withholding were required, but any amount of tax actually deducted and withheld under such tax in any calendar year shall be deemed to have been paid to the state tax commission on behalf of the person from whom withheld, and such person shall be credited with having paid that amount of tax for the taxable year beginning in such calendar year. For a taxable year of less than twelve months, the credit shall be made under regulations of the state tax commission.

(c) Credit relating to net capital gain. For taxable years beginning in nineteen hundred eighty-seven, a credit against the city personal income tax determined in accordance with section thirteen hundred four shall be allowed. The amount of the credit shall be one-half of one percent of net capital gain includible in city adjusted gross income for the taxable year. The credit allowed by this section shall not exceed the tax determined in accordance with section thirteen hundred four, reduced by the credits permitted under subsections (a) and (d) of this section.

(d) Household credit. (1) For taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred eighty-six, a credit against the city personal income tax determined in accordance with section thirteen hundred four shall be allowed. The credit, computed as described in paragraph two of this subsection, shall not exceed the tax determined in accordance with section thirteen hundred four reduced by the credit permitted under subsection (a) of this section.

(2) (A) For any individual who is not married nor the head of a household nor a surviving spouse, the amount of the credit shall be determined in accordance with the following table:

If household gross income is:

The credit shall be:

	For taxable years beginning after 1986 and before 1996	For taxable years beginning after 1995
Not over $7,500	$15	$15
Over $7,500 but not over $10,000	$10	$15
Over $10,000 but not over $12,500	$ 0	$10

(B) For any husband and wife, head of household or surviving spouse, the amount of the credit shall be determined by multiplying the number of exemptions for which the taxpayer (or in the case of a husband and wife, taxpayers) is entitled to a deduction for the taxable year for federal income tax purposes under subsections (b) and (c) of section one hundred fifty-one of the internal revenue code by the credit factor for the taxable year as specified in the following table:

If household gross
income is:

The credit factor is:

	For taxable years beginning in			For taxable years
	1987	1988	1989 through 1995	beginning after
				1995
Not over $12,500	$30	$50	$50	$30
Over $12,500 but not
over $15,000	$20	$40	$50	$30
Over $15,000 but not
over $17,500	$10	$20	$25	$25
Over $17,500 but not
over $20,000	$ 0	$15	$15	$15
Over $20,000 but not
over $22,500	$ 0	$ 0	$ 0	$10

(3) For purposes of this subsection:

(A) "Household gross income" shall mean the aggregate federal adjusted gross income of a household, as the term household is defined in subparagraph (B) of this paragraph, for the taxable year.

(B) "Household" means a husband and wife, a head of household, a surviving spouse, or an individual who is not married nor the head of a household nor a surviving spouse nor a taxpayer with respect to whom a deduction under subsection (c) of section one hundred fifty-one of the internal revenue code is allowable to another taxpayer for the taxable year.

(C) "Household gross income of a husband and wife" shall be the aggregate of their federal adjusted gross incomes for the taxable year irrespective of whether joint or separate city income tax returns are filed. Provided, however, that a husband or wife who is required to file a separate city income tax return shall be permitted one-half the credit otherwise allowed his or her household, except as limited by paragraph one of this subsection.

(D) "Household gross income" shall be computed in all cases as if each member of the household were a resident for the entire taxable year.

(E) If a taxpayer changes his status during his taxable year from resident to nonresident, or from nonresident to resident, the household credit shall be prorated according to the number of months in the period of residence. In the case of a husband and wife, if either or both changes his or her status from resident to nonresident or from nonresident to resident and separate returns are filed, the credit computed for the entire year shall be divided first as provided in subparagraph (C) of this paragraph and then prorated according to the number of months in the period of residence.

* (e) State school tax reduction credit. (1) For taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred ninety-seven, and ending before two thousand sixteen, a state school tax reduction credit shall be allowed as provided in the following tables. The credit shall be allowed against the taxes authorized by this article reduced by the credits permitted by this article. If the credit exceeds the tax as so reduced, the taxpayer may receive, and the comptroller, subject to a certificate of the commissioner, shall pay as an overpayment, without interest, the amount of such excess. For purposes of this subsection, no credit shall be granted to an individual with respect to whom a deduction under subsection (c) of section one hundred fifty-one of the internal revenue code is allowable to another taxpayer for the taxable year.

(2) The amount of the credit under this paragraph shall be determined based upon the taxpayer's income as defined in subparagraph (ii) of paragraph (b) of subdivision four of section four hundred twenty-five of the real property tax law. For the purposes of this paragraph, any taxpayer under subparagraphs (A) and (B) of this paragraph with income of more than two hundred fifty thousand dollars shall not receive a credit.

Beginning in the two thousand ten tax year and each tax year thereafter through two thousand fifteen, the "more than two hundred fifty thousand dollar" income limitation shall be adjusted by applying the inflation factor set forth herein, and rounding each result to the nearest multiple of one hundred dollars. The department shall establish the income limitation to be associated with each subsequent tax year by applying the inflation factor set forth herein to the figures that define the income limitation that were applicable to the preceding tax year, as determined pursuant to this subsection, and rounding each result to the nearest multiple of one hundred dollars. Such determination shall be made no later than March first, two thousand ten and each year thereafter.

(A) Married individuals filing joint returns and surviving spouses. In the case of a husband and wife who make a single return jointly and of a surviving spouse:

For taxable years beginning:	The credit shall be:
in 2001-2005	$125
in 2006	$230
in 2007-2008	$290
in 2009 - 2015	$125

(B) All others. In the case of an unmarried individual, a head of a household or a married individual filing a separate return:

For taxable years beginning:	The credit shall be:
in 2001-2005	$62.50
in 2006	$115
in 2007-2008	$145
in 2009 - 2015	$62.50

(4) Husband and wife who make a joint return. If a husband and wife make a single return jointly, the credit under this subsection shall be determined under paragraph two of this subsection, if either of them has attained the age of sixty-five on or before the close of the taxable year.

(5) Part-year residents. If a taxpayer changes status during the taxable year from resident to nonresident, or from nonresident to resident, the state school tax reduction credit shall be prorated according to the number of months in the period of residence.

* NB There are 2 sub§ (e)'s

* (e) Credit for city of New York unincorporated business tax paid.

(1) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, any city imposing a tax under this article is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws for any taxable year beginning after nineteen hundred ninety-seven, as specified in such local laws, providing for a credit as provided in paragraph two of this subsection against the taxes imposed pursuant to the authority granted by section thirteen hundred one of this article on the city taxable income determined pursuant to sections thirteen hundred four, thirteen hundred four-A and thirteen hundred four-B of this article and on the ordinary income portion of a lump sum distribution determined pursuant to section thirteen hundred one-B of this article, to any city resident individual, estate or trust whose city adjusted gross income includes income, gain, loss or deductions from one or more unincorporated businesses conducted by such city resident individual, estate or trust on which a tax is imposed by chapter five of title eleven of the administrative code of the city of New York, or a distributive share of income, gain, loss and deductions of, or guaranteed payments from, one or more partnerships on which a tax is imposed by such chapter. Any such local laws may contain provisions to ensure that such credit shall not reduce the tax paid by a city resident below that which would be paid by such city resident if such city resident were a city nonresident.

(2) (A) Subject to the limitation set forth in subparagraph (B) of this paragraph, the credit allowed to a taxpayer for a taxable year shall be equal to all or a portion of the amount determined in paragraph three of this subsection, provided, however, such portion shall not be less than:

(i) If the city taxable income is forty-two thousand dollars or less, sixty-five percent of the amount determined in paragraph three of this subsection.

(ii) If the city taxable income is greater than forty-two thousand dollars but not greater than one hundred forty-two thousand dollars, a percentage of the amount determined in paragraph three of this subsection to be determined by subtracting from sixty-five percent, one tenth of a percentage point (.001) for every increment of two hundred dollars, or fractional part thereof, of city taxable income in excess of forty-two thousand dollars.

(iii) If the city taxable income is greater than one hundred forty-two thousand dollars, fifteen percent of the amount determined in paragraph three of this subsection.

(B) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, the credit allowed to a taxpayer for a taxable year under this subsection shall not exceed the sum of the taxes that would otherwise be imposed on such taxpayer for such taxable year pursuant to the authority granted by section thirteen hundred one of this article on the city taxable income determined pursuant to sections thirteen hundred four, thirteen hundred four-A and thirteen hundred four-B of this article and on the ordinary income portion of a lump sum distribution determined pursuant to section thirteen hundred one-B of this article, reduced by the credits allowed to such taxpayer pursuant to subsections (a), (c) and (d) of this section.

(3) Subject to the provisions of subparagraph (C) of this paragraph, the amount determined in this paragraph is the sum of:

(A) for each unincorporated business conducted by the taxpayer, the tax imposed by chapter five of title eleven of the administrative code of the city of New York on such unincorporated business for its taxable year ending with the taxable year of the taxpayer and paid by the unincorporated business; and

(B) for each unincorporated business in which the taxpayer is a partner, the product of:

(i) the sum of (I) the tax imposed by chapter five of title eleven of the administrative code of the city of New York on such unincorporated business for its taxable year ending within or with the taxable year of the partner and paid by the unincorporated business and (II) the amount of any credit or credits taken by the unincorporated business under subdivision (j) of section 11-503 of the administrative code of the city of New York for its taxable year ending within or with the taxable year of the partner; and

(ii) a fraction, the numerator of which is the net total of the partner's distributive share of income, gain, loss and deductions of, and guaranteed payments from, the unincorporated business for such taxable year, and the denominator of which is the sum, for such taxable year, of the net total distributive shares of income, gain, loss and deductions of, and guaranteed payments to, all partners in the unincorporated business for whom or which such net total (as separately determined for each partner) is greater than zero.

(C) For a taxpayer that changes its status from a city resident to a city nonresident or from a city nonresident to a city resident during the taxable year:

(i) the amount determined in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall be, with respect to each unincorporated business conducted by the taxpayer, the tax imposed by chapter five of title eleven of the administrative code of the city of New York on such unincorporated business for its taxable year ending with the taxable year of the taxpayer and paid by the unincorporated business, multiplied by a fraction, the numerator of which is that portion of the income, gain, loss and deductions of the unincorporated business included in the taxpayer's city adjusted gross income for the portion of the taxable year during which the taxpayer was a city resident, and the denominator of which is the total, for such taxable year, of the income, gain, loss and deductions of the unincorporated business, and

(ii) the amount determined in clause (ii) of subparagraph (B) of this paragraph shall be a fraction, the numerator of which is that portion of the taxpayer's net total distributive share of income, gain, loss and deductions of, and that portion of guaranteed payments from, the unincorporated business included in the taxpayer's city adjusted gross income for the portion of the taxable year during which the taxpayer was a city resident, and the denominator of which is the sum, for such taxable year, of the net total distributive shares of income, gain, loss and deductions of, and guaranteed payments to, all partners in the unincorporated business, for whom or which such net total (as separately determined for each partner) is greater than zero.

(4) No local law enacted pursuant to the authority of this subsection shall be effective unless a certified copy of such local law is mailed by registered mail to the state department of taxation and finance at its office in Albany at least fifteen days prior to the date it is to become effective. However, the state department of taxation and finance may waive and reduce such fifteen-day minimum notice requirement to a mailing of such certified copy by registered mail within such period if it deems such action to be consistent with its duties under this article.

* NB There are 2 sub§ (e)'s

(f) Earned income tax credit. (1) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, any city having a population of one million or more, acting through its local legislative body, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws granting in any such city, for taxable years beginning after two thousand three, a credit against the city personal income tax equal to five percent of the earned income credit allowed under section thirty-two of the internal revenue code for the same taxable year, and, for taxable years beginning after two thousand twenty-one, a credit against the city personal income tax equal to a percentage, determined pursuant to subparagraphs (A) through (I) of this paragraph, of the earned income credit allowed under section thirty-two of the internal revenue code for the same taxable year. For purposes of this paragraph, "adjusted gross income" means New York adjusted gross income as determined pursuant to article twenty-two of this chapter. The percentage shall be:

(A) thirty percent, where the taxpayer's adjusted gross income for such taxable year is less than $5,000;

(B) thirty percent reduced by the product of two-tenths of a percentage point (0.002) and the amount of the taxpayer's adjusted gross income for such taxable year in excess of $4,999, where such taxpayer's adjusted gross income for such taxable year is equal to or greater than $5,000 and less than $7,500;

(C) twenty-five percent, where the taxpayer's adjusted gross income for such taxable year is equal to or greater than $7,500 and less than $15,000;

(D) twenty-five percent reduced by the product of two-tenths of a percentage point (0.002) and the amount of the taxpayer's adjusted gross income for such taxable year in excess of $14,999, where such taxpayer's adjusted gross income for such taxable year is equal to or greater than $15,000 and less than $17,500;

(E) twenty percent, where the taxpayer's adjusted gross income for such taxable year is equal to or greater than $17,500 and less than $20,000;

(F) twenty percent reduced by the product of two-tenths of a percentage point (0.002) and the amount of the taxpayer's adjusted gross income for such taxable year in excess of $19,999, where such taxpayer's adjusted gross income for such taxable year is equal to or greater than

$20,000 and less than $22,500;

(G) fifteen percent, where the taxpayer's adjusted gross income for such taxable year is equal to or greater than $22,500 and less than $40,000;

(H) fifteen percent reduced by the product of two-tenths of a percentage point (0.002) and the amount of the taxpayer's adjusted gross income for such taxable year in excess of $39,999, where such taxpayer's adjusted gross income for such taxable year is equal to or greater than $40,000 and less than $42,500; and

(I) ten percent where the taxpayer's adjusted gross income for such taxable year is equal to or greater than $42,500.

(2) In the case of a resident taxpayer, the credit provided by local law adopted pursuant to this subsection shall be allowed against the taxes authorized by this article for the taxable year reduced by the credits permitted by this article. If the credit exceeds the tax as so reduced, the taxpayer may receive, and the comptroller, subject to a certificate of the commissioner, shall pay as an overpayment, without interest, the amount of such excess.

(3) If a taxpayer changes his or her status during the taxable year from city resident to city nonresident, or from city nonresident to city resident, the credit determined under this subsection shall be limited to the amount determined by multiplying the amount of such credit by a fraction, the numerator of which is such taxpayer's city adjusted gross income, as defined in chapter seventeen of title eleven of the administrative code of the city of New York, for the period of residence, and the denominator of which is such taxpayer's city adjusted gross income determined as if he or she were a city resident for the entire taxable year. City adjusted gross income shall be adjusted as provided in section 11-1754 of the administrative code of the city of New York. The credit as so limited shall be applied as provided in paragraph two of this subsection.

(4) Subject to the provisions of paragraph three of this subsection, in the case of a husband and wife who file a joint return, but who are required to determine their city personal income taxes separately, the credit authorized pursuant to this subsection may be applied against the tax of either or divided between them as they may elect. In the case of a husband and wife who are not required to file a federal return, the credit under this subsection shall be allowed only if such taxpayers file a joint city personal income tax return.

(5) A local law enacted pursuant to this subsection shall be applicable with respect to any taxable year only if it has been enacted on or before the date that is forty-five days after the effective date of this subsection and for taxable years subsequent to taxable year two thousand four, on or before July thirty-first of such taxable year. A certified copy of such local law shall be mailed by registered mail to the state department of taxation and finance at its office in Albany within fifteen days of its enactment. However, the state department of taxation and finance may allow additional time for such certified copy to be mailed if it deems such action to be consistent with its duties under this article.

(6) If the department determines that the taxpayer is eligible to receive the credit provided under this subsection but has not claimed such credit on his or her return, the department shall compute and issue any refund for the allowable credit amount provided under this subsection. Any refund paid pursuant to this paragraph shall be deemed to be a refund of an overpayment of tax as provided in section six hundred eighty-six of this chapter, provided, however, that no interest shall be paid thereon.

(g) Credit for city pass-through entity tax. (1) A taxpayer who is a partner or member of an electing city partnership and a taxpayer shareholder of an electing city resident S corporation subject to tax under article twenty-four-B of this chapter shall be entitled to a credit against the tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this article as provided in this subsection. For purposes of this subsection, the terms "electing city partnership," "electing city resident S corporation," "city pass-through entity tax," and "direct share of city pass-through entity tax" shall have the same meanings provided in article twenty-four-B of this chapter.

(2) The amount of the credit shall be equal to the partner's, member's or shareholder's direct share of the city pass-through entity tax.

(3) If a taxpayer is a partner, member or shareholder in more than one electing city partnership and/or electing city resident S corporation that is subject to tax pursuant to article twenty-four-B of this chapter, the amount of the credit of such taxpayer shall be equal to the sum of the amounts of such credits calculated pursuant to paragraph two of this subsection with regard to each entity in which such taxpayer has a direct ownership interest.

(4) If the amount of the credit allowable pursuant to this subsection for any taxable year exceeds the tax due for such year pursuant to this article, the excess amount shall be treated as an overpayment, to be credited or refunded, without interest.

(5) Limitation on credit. No credit shall be allowed to a taxpayer under this subsection unless the electing city partnership or electing city resident S corporation provided sufficient information to identify such taxpayer on its city pass-through entity tax return as required under paragraph two of subsection (c) of section eight hundred seventy-two of this chapter for an electing city partnership or paragraph two of subsection (d) of section eight hundred seventy-two of this chapter for an electing city resident S corporation. The credit allowed to a taxpayer under this subsection shall not exceed the direct share of city pass-through entity tax reported by such electing city partnership or electing city resident S corporation attributable to such taxpayer on such electing city partnership or electing city resident S corporation's return filed pursuant to section eight hundred seventy-two of this chapter.

(h) Credit for certain taxpayers with incomes below certain thresholds. (1) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, for taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand twenty-five, a credit shall be allowed to a taxpayer against the tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this article in an amount equal to the tax otherwise due under this article for such taxable year, reduced by all the credits permitted by this article for such taxable year, if:

(A) such taxpayer is entitled to a deduction for such taxable year under subsection (c) of section one hundred fifty-one of the internal revenue code;

(B) such taxpayer meets the following income thresholds for such taxable year:

(i) for city taxpayers who filed a resident income tax return as married taxpayers filing jointly or a qualified surviving spouse:

If the number of	Income no greater than:
------------------	-------------------------

dependents is:

2	$46,350
3	$54,545
4	$61,071
5	$68,403
6	$75,204
7 or more	$91,902

(ii) for city taxpayers who filed a resident income tax return as a single taxpayer, married taxpayer filing a separate return, or head of household:

If the number of dependents is:	Income no greater than:
1	$31,503
2	$36,824
3	$46,512
4	$53,711
5	$59,928
6	$65,712
8 or more	$88,361

(iii) for any taxable year beginning on or after January first, two thousand twenty-six, the commissioner shall multiply the amounts in this subparagraph by one plus the cost-of-living adjustment, which shall be the percentage by which the consumer price index for the preceding calendar year exceeds the consumer price index for calendar year two thousand twenty-four;

(C) such taxpayer is not allowed a credit pursuant to:

(i) subsection (a) of section eight hundred sixty-three of this chapter against the tax imposed pursuant to article twenty-two of this chapter; or

(ii) subsection (a) of section eight hundred seventy of this chapter against the tax imposed pursuant to the authority of article thirty of this chapter; and

(D) such taxpayer does not report disqualified income in excess of ten thousand dollars in the taxable year, as defined in subsection (i) of section thirty-two of the internal revenue code.

(2) Where the income of a taxpayer exceeds the amount indicated in subparagraph (B) of paragraph one of this subsection for such taxpayer by five thousand dollars or less, and such taxpayer satisfies subparagraph (A) and subparagraphs (C) and (D) of paragraph one of this subsection, a credit shall be allowed in the amount determined by multiplying: (A) the tax otherwise due under this article for such taxable year reduced by all the credits permitted by this article for such taxable year by (B) a fraction the numerator of which is five thousand dollars minus the amount by which such income exceeds the amount indicated in subparagraph (B) of paragraph one of this subsection and the denominator of which is five thousand dollars.

(3) For purposes of this subsection:

(A) "Consumer price index" means the most recent consumer price index for all-urban consumers published by the United States department of labor. The consumer price index for any calendar year shall be the average of the consumer price index as of the close of the twelve-month period ending on August thirty-first of such calendar year.

§ 1311. Enforcement with other taxes. (a) If there is assessed a tax under a city income tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this article and there is also assessed a tax or taxes against the same taxpayer pursuant to article twenty-two or articles twenty-two and twenty-three of this chapter or under a local law enacted pursuant to the authority of article two-E of the general city law and payment of a single amount is required under the provisions of this article, such payment shall be deemed to have been made with respect to the taxes so assessed in proportion to the amounts of such taxes due, including tax, penalties, interest and additions to tax.

(b) If the state tax commission takes action under such article twenty-two or articles twenty-two and twenty-three or under a local law enacted pursuant to the authority of article two-E of the general city law with respect to the enforcement and collection of the tax or taxes assessed under such articles the state tax commission shall, wherever possible, accompany such action with a similar action under similar enforcement and collection provisions of such city income tax.

(c) Any moneys collected as a result of such joint action shall be deemed to have been collected in proportion to the amounts due, including tax, penalties, interest and additions to tax, under article twenty-two or articles twenty-two and twenty-three of this chapter and such city income tax.

(d) Whenever the state tax commission takes any action with respect to a deficiency of income tax under article twenty-two or articles twenty-two and twenty-three of this chapter or under a local law enacted pursuant to the authority of article two-E of the general city law, other than the action set forth in subdivision (a) of this section, it may in its discretion accompany such action with a similar action under such city income tax.

§ 1312. Administration, collection and review. (a) Except as otherwise provided in this article, any tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this article shall be administered and collected by the commissioner in the same manner as the tax imposed by article twenty-two of this chapter is administered and collected by the commissioner. All of the provisions of article twenty-two of this chapter relating to or applicable to payment of estimated tax, returns, payment of tax, claim of right adjustment, withholding of tax from wages, employer's statements and returns, employer's liability for taxes required to be withheld and all other provisions of article twenty-two of this chapter relating to or applicable to the administration, collection, liability for and review of the tax imposed by article twenty-two of this chapter, including sections six hundred fifty-two through six hundred fifty-four, sections six hundred fifty-seven through six hundred fifty-nine-a, sections six hundred sixty-one and six hundred sixty-two, sections six hundred seventy-one and six hundred seventy-two, sections six hundred seventy-four through six hundred seventy-eight and sections six hundred eighty-one through six hundred ninety-seven of this chapter, inclusive, shall apply to a tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this article with the same force and effect as if those provisions had been incorporated in full into this article, and had expressly referred to the tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this article, except where inconsistent with a provision of this article. Whenever there is joint collection of state and city personal income taxes, it shall be deemed that such collections shall represent proportionately the applicable state and city personal income taxes in determining the amount to be remitted to the city.

(b) The state tax commission, in its discretion, may require or permit any or all persons liable for any tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this article to make payments on account of estimated tax and payment of any tax, penalty or interest to such banks, banking housing or trust companies designated by the state tax commission and to file returns with such banks, banking houses or trust companies, as agent of the state tax commission, in lieu of paying a tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this article directly to the state tax commission. However, the state tax commission shall designate only such banks, banking houses or trust companies which are designated by the comptroller as depositories of the state.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this article, any law imposing a tax pursuant to the authority of this article shall provide that the state tax commission may require:

(1) the filing of any or all of the following:

(A) a combined return which, in addition to the return provided for in section thirteen hundred six, may also include any or both of the returns required to be filed by a resident individual of New York state pursuant to the provisions of section six hundred fifty-one of this chapter and which may be required to be filed by such individual pursuant to any local law enacted pursuant to the authority of section twenty-five-m of the general city law, and

(B) a combined employer's return which, in addition to the employer's return provided for by any law enacted pursuant to the authority of this article, may also include any or both of the employer's returns required to be filed by the same employer pursuant to the provisions of section six hundred seventy-four of this chapter and required to be filed by such employer pursuant to any local law enacted under the authority of section twenty-five-m of the general city law, and

(C) a combined partnership return which, in addition to the partnership return provided for by any law enacted pursuant to the authority of this article, may also include either or both of the partnership returns required to be filed by a partnership pursuant to the provisions of paragraph one of subsection (c) of section six hundred fifty-eight of this chapter and required to be filed by such partnership pursuant to any local law enacted under the authority of section twenty-five-m of the general city law, and

(2) where a combined return or employer's return is required, and with respect to the payment of estimated tax, the state tax commission may also require the payment to it of a single amount which shall equal the total of the amounts (total taxes less any credits or refunds) which would have been required to be paid with the returns or employer's returns or in payment of estimated tax pursuant to the provisions of article twenty-two of the tax law, and the provisions of local laws enacted under the authority of this article and section twenty-five-m of the general city law.

(b) The comptroller shall retain in the comptroller's hands such amount as the commissioner may determine to be necessary for refunds in respect to the taxes imposed pursuant to the authority of this article or former article two-E of the general city law and for reasonable costs of the commissioner in administering, collecting and distributing such taxes and the tax imposed pursuant to article twenty-four-B of this chapter, out of which the comptroller shall pay any refunds of such taxes to which taxpayers shall be entitled under any law enacted pursuant to the authority of this article or former article two-E of the general city law.

(c) Subject to the provisions of subsection (g) of this section, the comptroller, after reserving such refund fund and such costs shall, commencing on or before the fifteenth day of each month, pay to the New York city transitional finance authority on a daily basis the balance of taxes imposed pursuant to the authority of this article or former article two-E of the general city law to be applied by the authority, in the following order of priority: first pursuant to the authority's contracts with bondholders, then to pay the authority's operating expenses not otherwise provided for, and then pursuant to the authority's agreements with the city, which agreements shall require the authority to transfer the balance of such taxes not required to meet contractual or other obligations of the authority to the city as frequently as practicable; except that the comptroller shall:

(1) pay to the state department of social services that amount of overpayments of the taxes imposed pursuant to the authority of this article or former article two-E of the general city law and the interest on such amount which is certified to the comptroller by the commissioner as the amount to be credited against past-due support pursuant to subdivision six of section one hundred seventy-one-c of this chapter;

(2) pay to the New York state higher education services corporation that amount of overpayments of the taxes imposed pursuant to the authority of this article or former article two-E of the general city law and the interest on such amount which is certified to the comptroller by the commissioner as the amount to be credited against the amount of defaults in repayment of guaranteed student loans pursuant to subdivision five of section one hundred seventy-one-d of this chapter;

(3) pay to the state university of New York or the city university of New York respectively that amount of overpayments of the taxes imposed pursuant to the authority of this article or former article two-E of the general city law and the interest on such amount which is certified to the comptroller by the commissioner as the amount to be credited against the amount of defaults in repayment of state or city university loans pursuant to subdivision six of section one hundred seventy-one-e of this chapter;

(4) notwithstanding any provision of law, credit to the revenue arrearage account, pursuant to section ninety-one-a of the state finance law, that amount of overpayments of the taxes imposed pursuant to the authority of this article or former article two-E of the general city law and the interest on such amount which is certified to the comptroller by the commissioner as the amount to be credited against a past-due legally enforceable debt owed to a state agency pursuant to paragraph (a) of subdivision six of section one hundred seventy-one-f of this chapter, provided, however, the comptroller shall credit to the special offset fiduciary account, pursuant to section ninety-one-c of the state finance law, any such amount creditable as a liability as set forth in paragraph (b) of subdivision six of section one hundred seventy-one-f of this chapter;

(5) pay to the city of New York that amount of overpayments of tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this article and the interest on such amount which is certified to the comptroller by the commissioner as the amount to be credited against city of New York tax warrant judgment debt pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one-l of this chapter; and

(6) pay to a non-obligated spouse that amount of overpayment of tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this article or former article two-E of the general city law and the interest on such amount which has been credited pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one-c, one hundred seventy-one-d, one hundred seventy-one-e, one hundred seventy-one-f or one hundred seventy-one-l of this chapter and which is certified to the comptroller by the commissioner as the amount due such non-obligated spouse pursuant to paragraph six of subsection (b) of section six hundred fifty-one of this chapter, and the comptroller shall deduct a like amount which, the comptroller shall pay into the treasury to the credit of the general fund, from amounts subsequently payable to the office of temporary and disability assistance, the state university of New York, the city university of New York, the higher education services corporation, or the revenue arrearage account or special offset fiduciary account pursuant to section ninety-one-a or ninety-one-c of the state finance law, as the case may be, whichever had been credited the amount originally withheld from such overpayment.

(d) The amount deducted under subsection (b) of this section for administering, collecting and distributing such taxes during such monthly period shall be paid by the comptroller into the general fund of the state treasury to the credit of the state purposes account therein.

(e) The first payment to such chief fiscal officer shall be made on or before March fifteenth, nineteen hundred seventy-six, which payment shall represent the balance of revenue after provision for refund and such reasonable costs, with respect to taxes collected from January first, nineteen hundred seventy-six through February twenty-ninth, nineteen hundred seventy-six. Subsequent payments shall be made on or before April fifteenth, nineteen hundred seventy-six, and on or before the fifteenth day of each succeeding month thereafter, and shall represent the balance of revenue with respect to taxes collected the preceding calendar months.

(f) The amounts so payable under this section shall be certified to the comptroller by the commissioner or the commissioner's delegate, either of whom shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certificate. Where the amount so paid over to such chief fiscal officer is more or less than the amount then due such city, the amount of overpayment or underpayment shall be certified to the comptroller by the commissioner or the commissioner's delegate, either of whom shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certificate. The amount of overpayment or underpayment shall be so certified to the comptroller as soon after the discovery of the overpayment or underpayment as reasonably possible and subsequent payments by the comptroller to such chief fiscal officer shall be adjusted by subtracting the amount of any such overpayment from, or by adding the amount of any such underpayment to such number of subsequent payments and distributions as the comptroller and the commissioner shall consider reasonable in view of the amount of the overpayment or underpayment and all other facts and circumstances.

(g) The balance payable to the New York city transitional finance authority pursuant to this section shall instead be paid to the chief fiscal officer of the city of New York unless and until the comptroller has received from such authority a notice, which shall be conclusive and upon which the comptroller may rely without further inquiry, that such authority has incurred obligations payable by it, whether for borrowed money, operating expenses or otherwise. On and after the date of such notice and until such date as the authority shall have no obligations outstanding, the city shall have no right, title or interest in or to the taxes, except as provided in the authority's agreements with the city.

(h) Notwithstanding any provision of state or local law, ordinance or resolution to the contrary, if the commissioner of health timely certifies to the commissioner that a city having a population of one million or more which imposes tax pursuant to the authority of this article properly exercised its option pursuant to section two of the chapter of the laws of two thousand five which added this subdivision that such city be reimbursed for medical assistance expenditures as provided in such section two of such chapter, the commissioner shall make and certify the calculations and the comptroller shall, on the fifteenth day of each month, starting in January, two thousand eight, intercept and pay monthly amounts of revenue from taxes imposed in such a city pursuant to the authority of this article, as provided in subdivision (g) of section twelve hundred sixty-one of this chapter.

ARTICLE 30-A

CITY INCOME TAX SURCHARGE

Section 1320. Short title.

- 1321. Authority to impose city income tax surcharge.
- 1322. Persons subject to the city income tax surcharge.
- 1323. Net state tax.
- 1325. City resident and city nonresident defined.
- 1326. Returns and liabilities.
- 1327. Change of resident status during year.
- 1329. Requirement of withholding tax from wages.
- 1330. Credit for tax withheld.
- 1331. Enforcement with other taxes.
- 1332. Administration, collection and review.
- 1333. Deposit and disposition of revenues.

§ 1320. Short title. This article shall be known and may be cited as the "city income tax surcharge act".

§ 1321. Authority to impose city income tax surcharge. (a) General. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, but subject to the limitations and conditions set forth in this article, any city in this state having a population of more than one hundred eighty thousand but less than two hundred fifteen thousand inhabitants, acting through its local legislative body, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in any such city, for taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred eighty-three and before two thousand twenty-eight, a city income tax surcharge on residents of such city at a rate not to exceed nineteen and one-quarter percent of the net state tax as defined in section thirteen hundred twenty-three of this article, such city income tax surcharge to be administered, collected and distributed by the commissioner as provided for in this article.

(b) Earnings tax on nonresidents requirement. The city income tax surcharge authorized by this article may be imposed only if this chapter authorizes the adoption of a city tax on the earnings of nonresidents and the city imposing the tax authorized by this article also imposes such tax on the earnings of nonresidents.

(c) Effectiveness of local law and filing with commissioner. (i) A local law enacted pursuant to the authority of this section shall go into effect on the first day of January, nineteen hundred eighty-four and shall apply to taxable years beginning on or after such date and before two thousand twenty-eight. Provided, however, no such local law shall be so effective unless such local law is enacted by July thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-four and unless a certified copy of such local law is mailed by registered or certified mail to the commissioner at the commissioner's office in Albany by such date. (ii) If the requirements of paragraph (i) of this subsection are not met, a local law enacted pursuant to the authority of this section shall go into effect on the first day of the next succeeding January and shall apply to taxable years beginning on or after such date and before two thousand twenty-eight. Provided, however, no such local law shall be so effective unless such local law is enacted at least ninety days prior to the date it is to become effective and unless a certified copy of such local law is mailed by registered or certified mail to the commissioner at such commissioner's office in Albany by such date. However, the commissioner may waive and reduce such ninety day minimum requirements within a period of not less than thirty days prior to such effective date if such commissioner deems such action to be consistent with such commissioner's duties under this article. (iii) Any amendment of such a local law enacted pursuant to the authority of this section, which changes the rate of the income tax surcharge on residents, shall take effect on the first day of January in the year in which such amendment is enacted and shall apply to taxable years beginning on or after such date, if such amendment is enacted on or before July thirty-first of the year in which it is to take effect and a certified copy of such amendment is mailed by registered or certified mail to the commissioner at the commissioner's office in Albany by such date. (iv) If the requirements of paragraph (iii) of this subsection are not met, the amendment of such local law shall go into effect on the first day of the next succeeding January and shall apply to taxable years beginning on or after such date, provided that no such amendment shall take effect unless it is enacted at least ninety days prior to the date it is to become effective and a certified copy thereof is mailed by registered or certified mail to the commissioner at the commissioner's office in Albany by such date. (v) Any amendment to the provisions of article twenty-two of this chapter to the extent that such amendment is applicable to the city income tax surcharge imposed under such local law, shall be deemed to have been incorporated in the analogous provision or provisions of such local law.

(d) Filing of local law with others. Certified copies of such local law shall also be filed with the clerk of the city wherein the tax is imposed, the secretary of state and the state comptroller within thirty days of the date of enactment.

(b) Partners and partnerships. A partnership as such shall not be subject to a city income tax surcharge imposed pursuant to the authority of this article. Persons carrying on business as partners shall be liable for such city income tax surcharge only in their separate or individual capacities. As used in this article, the term "partnership" shall include, unless a different meaning is clearly required, a subchapter K limited liability company. The term "subchapter K limited liability company" shall mean a limited liability company classified as a partnership for federal income tax purposes. The term "limited liability company" means a domestic limited liability company or a foreign limited liability company, as defined in section one hundred two of the limited liability company law, a limited liability investment company formed pursuant to section five hundred seven of the banking law, or a limited liability trust company formed pursuant to section one hundred two-a of the banking law.

(c) Associations taxable as corporations. An association, trust or other unincorporated organization which is taxable as a corporation for federal income tax purposes shall not be subject to a city income tax surcharge imposed pursuant to the authority of this article.

§ 1323. Net state tax. The net state tax of a city resident individual, estate or trust shall mean the sum of all of the taxes imposed on such individual, estate or trust under article twenty-two of this chapter for the taxable year less the applicable credits (other than the credit for tax withheld) allowed to such individual, estate or trust under such article for the taxable year.

§ 1325. City resident and city nonresident defined. For purposes of any city income tax surcharge imposed pursuant to the authority of this article: (a) City resident individual. A city resident individual means an individual:

(1) who is domiciled in the city wherein the city income tax surcharge is imposed pursuant to the authority of this article, unless (A) the taxpayer maintains no permanent place of abode in such city, maintains a permanent place of abode elsewhere, and spends in the aggregate not more than thirty days of the taxable year in the city, or (B)(i) within any period of five hundred forty-eight consecutive days the taxpayer, the taxpayer's spouse (unless the spouse is legally separated) and the taxpayer's minor children are present in a foreign country or countries for at least four hundred fifty days, and (ii) during the period of five hundred forty-eight consecutive days the taxpayer is not present in the city for more than ninety days, and (iii) during any period of less than twelve months, which would be treated as a separate taxable period pursuant to section thirteen hundred twenty-seven of this article, and which period is contained within the period of five hundred forty-eight consecutive days, the taxpayer is present in the city for a number of days which does not exceed an amount which bears the same ratio to ninety as the number of days contained in that period of less than twelve months bears to five hundred forty-eight, or

(2) who is not domiciled in such city but maintains a permanent place of abode in such city and spends in the aggregate more than one hundred eighty-three days of the taxable year in such city, unless such individual is in active service in the armed forces of the United States.

(b) City nonresident individual. A city nonresident individual means an individual who is not a resident of such city.

(c) City resident estate or trust. A city resident estate or trust means:

(1) the estate of a decedent who at his death was domiciled in such city,

(2) a trust, or a portion of a trust, consisting of property transferred by will of a decedent who at his death was domiciled in such city, or

(3) a trust, or a portion of a trust, consisting of the property of:

(A) a person domiciled in such city at the time such property was transferred to the trust, if such trust or portion of a trust was then irrevocable, or if it was then revocable and has not subsequently become irrevocable; or

was transferred to the trust but has subsequently become irrevocable.

For the purposes of the foregoing, a trust or a portion of a trust is revocable if it is subject to a power, exercisable immediately or at any future time, to revest title in the person whose property constitutes such trust or portion of a trust and a trust or portion of a trust becomes irrevocable when the possibility that such power may be exercised has been terminated.

(b) Husband and wife. (1) If the New York state personal income tax liabilities of husband and wife are determined on separate returns, their city income tax surcharge liabilities and returns shall be separate.

(2) If the New York state personal income tax liabilities of husband and wife (other than a husband and wife described in paragraph three of this subsection) are determined on a joint return, they shall file a joint city income tax surcharge return, and their city income tax surcharge liabilities shall be joint and several except as provided in paragraph five of this subsection, section six hundred fifty-four and subsection (e) of section six hundred eighty-five of this chapter.

(3) If either husband or wife is a city resident and the other is a city nonresident, and their New York state personal income tax liabilities are determined on a joint return:

(A) they may elect to file a joint city income tax surcharge return as if both were residents, in which case their city income tax surcharge liabilities shall be joint and several except as provided in paragraph five of this subsection, section six hundred fifty-four and subsection

(e) of section six hundred eighty-five of this chapter, or

(B) the resident spouse may elect to file a separate city income tax surcharge return, in which case his city income tax surcharge liability shall be determined as if he were filing a separate New York state personal income tax return.

(5) If a joint return has been made pursuant to this subsection for a taxable year and only one spouse is liable for past-due support, or a past-due legally enforceable debt, or a city of New York tax warrant judgment debt, or an amount of a default in repayment of a guaranteed student, state university or city university loan of which the commissioner of taxation and finance has been notified pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one-c, one hundred seventy-one-d, one hundred seventy-one-e, one hundred seventy-one-f or one hundred seventy-one-l of this chapter, as the case may be, then an overpayment and interest thereon shall be credited against such past-due support, or a past-due legally enforceable debt, or a city of New York tax warrant judgment debt, or such amount of a default in repayment of a guaranteed student, state university or city university loan, unless the spouse not liable for such past-due support, or a past-due legally enforceable debt, or a city of New York tax warrant judgment debt, or such amount of a default in repayment of a guaranteed student, state university or city university loan demands, on a declaration made in accordance with regulations or instructions prescribed by the commissioner of taxation and finance, that the portion of the overpayment and interest attributable to such spouse not be credited against the past-due support, or a past-due legally enforceable debt, or a city of New York tax warrant judgment debt, or amount of a default in repayment of a guaranteed student, state university or city university loan owed by the other spouse. Upon such demand the commissioner of taxation and finance shall determine the amount of the overpayment attributable to each spouse in accordance with regulations prescribed by the commissioner of taxation and finance and credit only that portion of the overpayment and interest thereon attributable to the spouse liable for past-due support, or a past-due legally enforceable debt, or a city of New York tax warrant judgment debt, or amount of a default in repayment of a guaranteed student, state university or city university loan against such past-due support, or a past-due legally enforceable debt, or a city of New York tax warrant judgment debt, or such amount of a default in repayment of a guaranteed student, state university or city university loan.

(6) The commissioner shall clearly alert married taxpayers, on all appropriate publications and instructions, that their liability for tax will be joint and several if they file joint income tax returns. The commissioner shall include notice of an individual's right to relief from joint and several liability pursuant to section six hundred fifty-four of this chapter in the disclosure of rights statement required by section three thousand four of this chapter and in any notice regarding collection of tax due with respect to a liability on a joint return.

(c) Decedents. The return for any deceased individual shall be made and filed by his executor, administrator, or other person charged with his property. If a final return of a decedent is for a fractional part of a year, the due date of such return shall be the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of the twelve-month period which began with the first day of such fractional part of the year.

(d) Individuals under a disability. The return for an individual who is unable to make a return by reason of minority or other disability shall be made and filed by his guardian, committee, fiduciary or other person charged with the care of his person or property (other than a receiver in possession of only a part of his property), or by his duly authorized agent.

(e) Estates and trusts. The return for an estate or trust shall be made and filed by the fiduciary.

(f) Joint fiduciaries. If two or more fiduciaries are acting jointly, the return may be made by any one of them.

§ 1327. Change of resident status during year. (a) General. If an individual changes his status during his taxable year from city resident to city nonresident, or from city nonresident to city resident, he shall file one return as a city resident for the portion of the year during which he is a city resident, and a return under a local law authorized by article thirty-B of this chapter for the portion of the year during which he is a city nonresident, subject to such exceptions as the state tax commission may prescribe by regulation.

(b) Trusts. If the status of a trust changes during its taxable year from city resident to city nonresident, or from city nonresident to city resident, the fiduciary shall file one return as a city resident trust for the portion of the year during which the trust is a city resident trust, and a return under a local law authorized by article thirty-B of this chapter for the portion of the year during which the trust is a city nonresident trust, subject to such exceptions as the state tax commission may prescribe by regulations.

(c) Computation of net state tax. When an individual or trust changes resident status during the taxable year, the net state tax shall be the net state tax determined as if such individual or trust were a state resident for the entire taxable year, multiplied by a fraction the numerator of which is such individual's or trust's New York adjusted gross income for the period of residence, computed as if the taxable year for federal tax purposes were limited to the period of residence, and the denominator of which is such individual's or trust's New York adjusted gross income for the entire taxable year. For purposes of the preceding sentence, New York adjusted gross income means New York adjusted gross income determined under article twenty-two of this chapter.

§ 1329. Requirement of withholding tax from wages. (a) A city income tax surcharge imposed pursuant to the authority of this article shall provide that such tax shall be withheld from the wages of city residents in the same manner and subject to the same requirements, to the greatest extent possible, as provided in sections six hundred seventy-one through six hundred seventy-eight of this chapter except that the term "aggregate amount" contained in paragraphs one, two and three of subsection (a) of section six hundred seventy-four of this chapter shall mean the aggregate of the aggregate amounts of New York state personal income tax, city personal income tax on residents authorized pursuant to article thirty of this chapter, city income tax surcharge on residents authorized pursuant to this article, city earnings tax on nonresidents authorized pursuant to article two-E of the general city law and city earnings tax on nonresidents authorized pursuant to article thirty-B of this chapter required to be deducted and withheld.

(b) Withholding of tax on wages shall commence (i) in the case of a local law enacted in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (i) of subsection (c) of section thirteen hundred twenty-one of this article, not later than January first, nineteen hundred eighty-five, and (ii) in the case of a local law enacted in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (ii) of such subsection, not later than the effective date of such local law or ninety days after the date of enactment of such local law, whichever is later.

§ 1330. Credit for tax withheld. The city income tax surcharge withheld shall not reduce net state tax for purposes of computing the city income tax surcharge, but any amount of tax actually deducted and withheld under the authority of this article in any calendar year shall be deemed to have been paid to the state tax commission on behalf of the person from whom withheld, and such person shall be credited with having paid the amount of tax for the taxable year beginning in such calendar year. For a taxable year of less than twelve months, the credit shall be made under regulations of the state tax commission.

§ 1331. Enforcement with other taxes. (a) Joint assessment. If there is assessed a tax under a city income tax surcharge imposed pursuant to the authority of this article and there is also assessed a tax against the same taxpayer pursuant to article twenty-two of this chapter or under a local law enacted pursuant to the authority of article thirty or thirty-B of this chapter or article two-E of the general city law and payment of a single amount is required under the provisions of this article, such payment shall be deemed to have been made with respect to the taxes so assessed in proportion to the amounts of such taxes due, including tax, penalties, interest and additions to tax.

(b) Joint action. If the state tax commission takes action under such article twenty-two or under a local law enacted pursuant to the authority of article thirty or thirty-B of this chapter or article two-E of the general city law with respect to the enforcement and collection of the tax or taxes assessed under such articles the state tax commission shall, wherever possible, accompany such action with a similar action under similar enforcement and collection provisions of such city income tax surcharge.

(c) Apportionment of moneys collected by joint action. Any moneys collected as a result of such joint action shall be deemed to have been collected in proportion to the amounts due, including tax, penalties, interest and additions to tax, under article twenty-two of this chapter or under a local law enacted pursuant to the authority of article thirty or thirty-B of this chapter or article two-E of the general city law and such city income tax surcharge.

(d) Joint deficiency action. Whenever the state tax commission takes any action with respect to a deficiency of income tax under article twenty-two of this chapter or under a local law enacted pursuant to the authority of article thirty or thirty-B of this chapter or article two-E of the general city law, other than the action set forth in subsection (a) of this section, it may in its discretion accompany such action with a similar action under such city income tax surcharge.

§ 1332. Administration, collection and review. (a) General. Except as otherwise provided in this article, any city income tax surcharge imposed pursuant to the authority of this article shall be administered and collected by the commissioner in the same manner as the tax imposed by article twenty-two of this chapter is administered and collected by the commissioner. All of the provisions of article twenty-two of this chapter relating to or applicable to payment of estimated tax, returns, payment of tax, claim of right adjustment, withholding of tax from wages, employer's statements and returns, employer's liability for taxes required to be withheld and all other provisions of article twenty-two of this chapter relating to or applicable to the administration, collection, liability for and review of the tax imposed by article twenty-two, including sections six hundred fifty-two through six hundred fifty-four, sections six hundred fifty-seven through six hundred fifty-nine, sections six hundred sixty-one and six hundred sixty-two, sections six hundred seventy-one and six hundred seventy-two, sections six hundred seventy-four through six hundred seventy-eight and sections six hundred eighty-one through six hundred ninety-seven of this chapter, inclusive, shall apply to a city income tax surcharge imposed pursuant to the authority of this article with the same force and effect as if those provisions had been incorporated in full into this article, and had expressly referred to the city income tax surcharge imposed pursuant to the authority of this article, except where inconsistent with a provision of this article. Whenever there is joint collection of state personal income tax, city personal income tax, city income tax surcharge or city nonresident earnings taxes, it shall be deemed that such collection shall represent proportionately the applicable state personal income tax, city personal income tax, city income tax surcharge or city nonresident earnings taxes in determining the amount to be remitted to the city.

(b) Payment to designated depositories. The state tax commission, in its discretion, may require or permit any or all persons liable for any city income tax surcharge imposed pursuant to the authority of this article to make payments on account of estimated city income tax surcharge and payment of any city income tax surcharge, penalty or interest of such banks, banking houses or trust companies designated by the state tax commission and to file returns with such banks, banking houses or trust companies, as agent of the state tax commission, in lieu of paying a city income tax surcharge imposed pursuant to the authority of this article directly to the state tax commission. However, the state tax commission shall designate only such banks, banking houses or trust companies which are designated by the comptroller as depositories of the state.

(c) Combined filings. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this article, any law imposing a city income tax surcharge pursuant to the authority of this article shall provide that the state tax commission may require:

(1) the filing of any or all of the following:

(A) a combined return which, in addition to the return provided for in section thirteen hundred twenty-six, may also include any of the returns required to be filed by a resident individual of New York state pursuant to the provisions of section six hundred fifty-one of this chapter and which may be required to be filed by such individual pursuant to any local law enacted pursuant to the authority of article thirty or thirty-B of this chapter or article two-E of the general city law, and

(B) a combined employer's return which, in addition to the employer's return provided for by any law enacted pursuant to the authority of this article, may also include any of the employer's returns required to be filed by the same employer pursuant to the provisions of section six hundred seventy-four of this chapter and required to be filed by such employer pursuant to any local law enacted under the authority of article thirty or thirty-B of this chapter or article two-E of the general city law, and

(2) where a combined return or employer's return is required, and with respect to the payment of estimated tax, the state tax commission may also require the payment to it of a single amount which shall equal the total of the amounts (total taxes less any credits or refunds) which would have been required to be paid with the returns or employer's returns or in payment of estimated tax pursuant to the provisions of article twenty-two of this chapter, and the provisions of local laws enacted under the authority of this article or article thirty or thirty-B of this chapter or article two-E of the general city law.

(d) Liability for failure to pay estimated tax. For the tax year in which such local law is enacted, no addition to the tax shall be imposed, pursuant to subsection (c) of section six hundred eighty-five of this chapter, through the operation of the provisions of this section for the portion of the underpayment of estimated tax as the result of a local law enacted pursuant to paragraph (iii) of subsection (c) of section thirteen hundred twenty-one of this article.

§ 1333. Deposit and disposition of revenues. All revenue collected by the commissioner of taxation and finance from the tax imposed by any city pursuant to the authority of this article or article thirty-B of this chapter shall be deposited daily with such responsible banks, banking houses or trust companies, as may be designated by the state comptroller, to the credit of the comptroller, in trust for such city. Such deposits shall be kept in trust and separate and apart from all other moneys in the possession of the comptroller. The comptroller shall require adequate security from all such depositories of such revenue collected by the commissioner of taxation and finance. The comptroller shall retain in his hands such amount as the commissioner of taxation and finance may determine to be necessary for refunds in respect to the tax imposed by such city pursuant to the authority of this article or article thirty-B of this chapter and for reasonable costs of the commissioner of taxation and finance in administering, collecting and distributing such taxes, out of which the comptroller shall pay any refunds of such taxes to which the taxpayer shall be entitled under any law enacted by such city pursuant to the authority of this article or article thirty-B of this chapter. The comptroller, after reserving such refund fund and such cost shall, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, pay to the chief fiscal officer of such city the balance of such taxes collected, to be paid into the treasury of such city to the credit of the general fund except that he shall pay to the state department of social services that amount of overpayments of the tax imposed by such city pursuant to the authority of this article or article thirty-B of this chapter and the interest on such amount which is certified to him by the commissioner of taxation and finance as the amount to be credited against past-due support pursuant to subdivision six of section one hundred seventy-one-c of this chapter and except that he shall pay to the New York state higher education services corporation that amount of overpayments of the tax imposed by such city pursuant to the authority of this article or article thirty-B of this chapter and the interest on such amount which is certified to him by the commissioner of taxation and finance as the amount to be credited against the amount of defaults in repayment of guaranteed student loans pursuant to subdivision five of section one hundred seventy-one-d of this chapter and except that he shall pay to the state university of New York or the city university of New York respectively that amount of overpayments of the tax imposed by such city pursuant to the authority of this article or article thirty-B of this chapter and the interest on such amount which is certified to him by the commissioner of taxation and finance as the amount to be credited against the amount of defaults in repayment of state or city university loans pursuant to subdivision six of section one hundred seventy-one-e of this chapter and except that, notwithstanding any other provision of law, he shall credit to the revenue arrearage account, pursuant to section ninety-one-a of the state finance law, that amount of overpayments of the taxes imposed pursuant to the authority of this article or article thirty-B of this chapter and the interest on such amount which is certified to him by the commissioner of taxation and finance as the amount to be credited against a past-due legally enforceable debt owed to a state agency pursuant to paragraph (a) of subdivision six of section one hundred seventy-one-f of this chapter, provided, however, he shall credit to the special offset fiduciary account, pursuant to section ninety-one-c of the state finance law, any such amount creditable as a liability as set forth in paragraph (b) of subdivision six of section one hundred seventy-one-f of this chapter and except that he shall pay to the city of New York that amount of overpayments of tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this article or article thirty-B of this chapter and the interest on such amount which is certified to him by the commissioner of taxation and finance as the amount to be credited against city of New York tax warrant judgment debt pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one-l of this chapter, and except further that he/she shall pay to a non-obligated spouse that amount of overpayment of tax imposed by such city pursuant to the authority of this article or article thirty-B of this chapter and the interest on such amount which has been credited pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one-c, one hundred seventy-one-d, one hundred seventy-one-e, one hundred seventy-one-f or one hundred seventy-one-l of this chapter and which is certified to him by the commissioner of taxation and finance as the amount due such non-obligated spouse pursuant to paragraph six of subsection (b) of section six hundred fifty-one of this chapter, and he shall deduct a like amount which he shall pay into the treasury to the credit of the general fund from amounts subsequently payable to the department of social services, the state university of New York, the city university of New York, or the higher education services corporation or to the revenue arrearage account or special offset fiduciary account pursuant to section ninety-one-a or ninety-one-c of the state finance law, as the case may be, whichever had been credited the amount originally withheld from such overpayment. The amount deducted for administering, collecting and distributing such taxes during such monthly period shall be paid by the comptroller into the general fund of the state treasury to the credit of the state purposes account therein. The first payment to such chief fiscal officer shall be made on or before March fifteenth, nineteen hundred eighty-five, which payment shall represent the balance of revenue after provision for refund and such reasonable costs, with respect to taxes collected in nineteen hundred eighty-four. Subsequent payments shall be made on or before April fifteenth, nineteen hundred eighty-five, and on or before the fifteenth day of each succeeding month thereafter, and shall represent the balance of revenue with respect to taxes collected the preceding calendar months. The amounts so payable shall be certified to the comptroller by the commissioner of taxation and finance or his delegate, either of whom shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certificate. Where the amount so paid over to such chief fiscal officer is more or less than the amount then due such city, the amount of overpayment or underpayment shall be certified to the comptroller by the commissioner of taxation and finance or his delegate, either of whom shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certificate. The amount of overpayment or underpayment shall be so certified to the comptroller as soon after the discovery of the overpayment or underpayment as reasonably possible and subsequent payments by the comptroller to such chief fiscal officer shall be adjusted by subtracting the amount of any such overpayment from, or by adding the amount of any such underpayment to such number of subsequent payments and distributions as the comptroller and the commissioner of taxation and finance shall consider reasonable in view of the amount of the overpayment or underpayment and all other facts and circumstances.

CITY EARNINGS TAX ON NONRESIDENTS

Section 1340. Authorization to impose tax.

1341. Withholding requirement.

1342. Administrative provisions.

1343. Deposit and distribution of revenues.

§ 1340. Authorization to impose tax. (a) In addition to any other taxes, now authorized by law, any city having a population of more than one hundred ninety thousand but less than two hundred fifteen thousand inhabitants, determined in accordance with the 1980 federal census, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing a tax on the earnings of nonresidents of such city to be administered in the manner provided for in this article by the commissioner.

The tax authorized by this article may be imposed only if the city imposing the tax herein authorized also imposes a city income tax surcharge on its residents. The rates of such tax shall be the rates contained in section two of the model local law.

(b) (i) A local law enacted pursuant to the authority of this section shall go into effect on the first day of January, nineteen hundred eighty-four and shall apply to taxable years beginning on or after such date and before two thousand twenty-eight. Provided, however, no such local law shall be so effective unless such local law is enacted by July thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-four and unless a certified copy of such local law is mailed by registered or certified mail to the commissioner at such commissioner's office in Albany by such date. (ii) If the requirements of the preceding sentence are not met, a local law enacted pursuant to the authority of this section shall go into effect on the first day of the next succeeding January and shall apply to taxable years beginning on or after such date and before two thousand twenty-eight. Provided, however, no such local law shall be so effective unless such local law is enacted at least ninety days prior to the date it is to become effective and unless a certified copy of such local law is mailed by registered or certified mail to the commissioner at such commissioner's office in Albany by such date. However, the commissioner may waive and reduce such ninety day minimum requirements within a period of not less than thirty days prior to such effective date if such commissioner deems such action to be consistent with such commissioner's duties under this article. (iii) Any amendment of such a local law enacted pursuant to the authority of the section, which changes the rate of the income tax surcharge on residents, shall take effect on the first day of January in the year in which such amendment is enacted and shall apply to taxable years beginning on or after such date, if such amendment is enacted on or before July thirty-first of the year in which it is to take effect and a certified copy of such amendment is mailed by registered or certified mail to the commissioner at the commissioner's office in Albany by such date. (iv) If the requirements of paragraph (iii) of this subsection are not met, the amendment of such local law shall go into effect on the first day of the next succeeding January and shall apply to taxable years beginning on or after such date, provided that no such amendment shall take effect unless it is enacted at least ninety days prior to the date it is to become effective and a certified copy thereof is mailed by registered or certified mail to the commissioner at the commissioner's office in Albany by such date.

(c) The terms of such local law shall be substantially the same as the following model local law.

EARNINGS TAX ON NONRESIDENTS

Model Local Law

in subsection (c) of such section of such code.

* (c) Wages. Wages shall mean wages as defined in subsection (a) of section thirty-four hundred one of the internal revenue code, except that (1) wages shall not include payments for active service as a member of the armed forces of the United States and shall not include, in the case of a nonresident individual or partner of a partnership doing an insurance business as a member of the New York insurance exchange described in section six thousand two hundred one of the insurance law, any item of income, gain, loss or deduction of such business which is such individual's distributive or pro rata share for federal income tax purposes or which such individual is required to take into account separately for federal income tax purposes and (2) wages shall include (i) the amount of member or employee contributions to a retirement system or pension fund picked up by the employer pursuant to subdivision f of section five hundred seventeen or subdivision d of section six hundred thirteen of the retirement and social security law or section 13-225.1, 13-327.1, 13-125.1, 13-125.2 or 13-521.1 of the administrative code of the city of New York or subdivision nineteen of section twenty-five hundred seventy-five of the education law, (ii) the amount deducted or deferred from an employee's salary under a flexible benefits program established pursuant to section twenty-three of the general municipal law or section one thousand two hundred ten-a of the public authorities law, (iii) the amount by which an employee's salary is reduced pursuant to the provisions of subdivision b of section 12-126.1 and subdivision b of section 12-126.2 of the administrative code of the city of New York, and (iv) the amount of member or employee contributions to a retirement system or pension fund picked up or paid by the employer for members of the Manhattan and Bronx surface transportation authority pension plan and treated as employer contributions in determining income tax treatment under section 414(h) of the Internal Revenue Code.

* (c) Wages. Wages shall mean wages as defined in subsection (a) of section thirty-four hundred one of the internal revenue code, except that (1) wages shall not include payments for active service as a member of the armed forces of the United States and shall not include, in the case of a nonresident individual or partner of a partnership doing an insurance business as a member of the New York insurance exchange described in section six thousand two hundred one of the insurance law, any item of income, gain, loss or deduction of such business which is such individual's distributive or pro rata share for federal income tax purposes or which such individual is required to take into account separately for federal income tax purposes and (2) wages shall include (i) the amount of member or employee contributions to a retirement system or pension fund picked up by the employer pursuant to subdivision f of section five hundred seventeen, subdivision d of section six hundred thirteen or section twelve hundred four-a of the retirement and social security law or section 13-225.1, 13-327.1, 13-125.1, 13-125.2 or 13-521.1 of the administrative code of the city of New York or subdivision nineteen of section twenty-five hundred seventy-five of the education law, (ii) the amount deducted or deferred from an employee's salary under a flexible benefits program established pursuant to section twenty-three of the general municipal law or section one thousand two hundred ten-a of the public authorities law, (iii) the amount by which an employee's salary is reduced pursuant to the provisions of subdivision b of section 12-126.1 and subdivision b of section 12-126.2 of the administrative code of the city of New York, and (iv) the amount of member or employee contributions to a retirement system or pension fund picked up or paid by the employer for members of the Manhattan and Bronx surface transportation authority pension plan and treated as employer contributions in determining income tax treatment under section 414(h) of the Internal Revenue Code.

* NB See ch 525/2011 § 7 for effectiveness

(i) the amount of member or employee contributions to a retirement system or pension fund picked up by the employer pursuant to subdivision f of section five hundred seventeen or subdivision d of section six hundred thirteen of the retirement and social security law or section 13-225.1, 13-327.1 or 13-125.1 of the administrative code of the city of New York, and (ii) the amount deducted or deferred from an employee's salary under a flexible benefits program established pursuant to section twenty-three of the general municipal law or section one thousand two hundred ten-a of the public authorities law.

* NB Effective upon expiration of ch 525/2011 § 5

(d) Net earnings from self-employment. Net earnings from self-employment shall mean the same as net earnings from self-employment as defined in subsection (a) of section fourteen hundred two of the internal revenue code, except that the deduction for wages and salaries paid or incurred for the taxable year which is not allowed pursuant to section two hundred eighty-C of such code shall be allowed, and except that an estate or trust shall be deemed to have net earnings from self-employment determined in the same manner as if it were an individual subject to the tax on self-employment income imposed by section fourteen hundred one of the internal revenue code diminished by (1) the amount of any deduction allowed by subsection (c) of section six hundred forty-two of the internal revenue code and (2) the deductions allowed by sections six hundred fifty-one and six hundred sixty-one of such code to the extent that they represent distributions or payments to a resident of the city. However, "trade or business" as used in subsection (a) of section fourteen hundred two of such code shall mean the same as trade or business as defined in subsection (c) of section fourteen hundred two of such code, except that paragraphs four, five and six of such subsection shall not apply in determining net earnings from self-employment taxable under this local law. Provided however, in the case of a nonresident individual or partner of a partnership doing an insurance business described in section six thousand two hundred one of the insurance law, any item of income, gain, loss or deduction of such business which is the individual's distributive or pro rata share for federal income tax purposes or which the individual is required to take into account separately for federal income tax purposes shall not be considered to be "net earnings from self-employment".

(e) Taxable year. Taxable year shall mean the taxpayer's taxable year for federal income tax purposes.

(f) Resident individual. A resident individual shall mean an individual:

(1) who is domiciled in the city, unless (A) the taxpayer maintains no permanent place of abode in the city, maintains a permanent place of abode elsewhere, and spends in the aggregate not more than thirty days of the taxable year in the city, or (B) (i) within any period of five hundred forty-eight consecutive days the taxpayer is present in a foreign country or countries for at least four hundred fifty days, and (ii) during such period of five hundred forty-eight consecutive days the taxpayer, the taxpayer's spouse (unless the spouse is legally separated) and the taxpayer's minor children are not present in the city for more than ninety days, and (iii) during any period of less than twelve months, which would be treated as a separate taxable period based on a change of resident status, and which period is contained within the period of five hundred forty-eight consecutive days, the taxpayer is present in the city for a number of days which does not exceed an amount which bears the same ratio to ninety as the number of days contained in that period of less than twelve months bears to five hundred forty-eight, or

(2) who is not domiciled in the city but maintains a permanent place of abode in the city and spends in the aggregate more than one hundred eighty-three days of the taxable year in the city, unless such individual is in active service in the armed forces of the United States.

(g) Nonresident individual. A nonresident individual shall mean an individual who is not a resident.

(h) Resident estate or trust. A resident estate or trust shall mean:

(1) the estate of a decedent who at his death was domiciled in the city,

(2) a trust, or a portion of a trust, consisting of property transferred by will of a decedent who at his death was domiciled in the city, or

(3) a trust, or a portion of a trust, consisting of the property of:

(A) a person domiciled in such city at the time such property was transferred to the trust, if such trust or portion of a trust was then irrevocable, or if it was then revocable and has not subsequently become irrevocable; or

(B) a person domiciled in such city at the time such trust or portion of a trust became irrevocable, if it was revocable when such property was transferred to the trust but has subsequently become irrevocable.

For the purposes of the foregoing, a trust or a portion of a trust is revocable if it is subject to a power, exercisable immediately or at any future time, to revest title in the person whose property constitutes such trust or portion of a trust and a trust or portion of a trust becomes irrevocable when the possibility that such power may be exercised has been terminated.

(i) Nonresident estate or trust. A nonresident estate or trust shall mean an estate or trust which is not a resident.

(j) The term "partnership" shall include, unless a different meaning is clearly required, a subchapter K limited liability company. The term "subchapter K limited liability company" shall mean a limited liability company classified as a partnership for federal income tax purposes. The term "limited liability company" means a domestic limited liability company or a foreign limited liability company, as defined in section one hundred two of the limited liability company law, a limited liability investment company formed pursuant to section five hundred seven of the banking law, or a limited liability trust company formed pursuant to section one hundred two-a of the banking law.

(k) Comparable meaning of terms. Unless a different meaning is clearly required, any term used in this local law shall have the same meaning as when used in a comparable context in the laws of the United States relating to federal taxes but such meaning shall be subject to the exceptions or modifications prescribed in or pursuant to article thirty-B of the tax law or by the laws of this state. Any reference in this local law to the internal revenue code, the internal revenue code of nineteen hundred eighty-six or to the laws of the United States shall mean the provisions of the internal revenue code of nineteen hundred eighty-six (unless a reference to the internal revenue code of nineteen hundred fifty-four is clearly intended), and amendments thereto, and other provisions of the laws of the United States relating to federal taxes, and amendments thereto.

§ 2. Persons subject to tax. (a) Imposition of tax. A tax is hereby imposed at a rate not to exceed one-half of one percent on the wages earned, and net earnings from self-employment, within the city, of every nonresident individual, estate and trust.

(b) Exclusion. (1) In computing the amount of wages and net earnings from self-employment taxable under subsection (a) of this section, there shall be allowed an exclusion against the total of wages and net earnings from self-employment in accordance with the following table:

Total of Wages and Net Earnings
From Self-Employment	Exclusion Allowable
Not Over $10,000	$3,000
Over $10,000 But Not Over $20,000	$2,000
Over $20,000 But Not Over $30,000	$1,000
Over $30,000	NONE

(2) The exclusion allowable shall be applied pro rata against wages and net earnings from self-employment.

(3) For taxable periods of less than one year, the exclusion allowable shall be prorated pursuant to regulations of the state tax commission.

(c) Limitation. In no event shall a taxpayer be subject to the tax under this local law in an amount greater than he would be required to pay if he were a resident of the city and subject to a city income tax surcharge on residents of the city adopted by the city pursuant to authority granted by article thirty-A of the tax law.

§ 3. Taxable years to which tax imposed by this local law applies. The tax imposed by this local law is imposed for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-three and before January first, two thousand twenty-eight.

§ 4. Allocation to the city. (a) General. If net earnings from self-employment are derived from services performed, or from sources, within and without the city, there shall be allocated to the city a fair and equitable portion of such earnings.

(b) Allocation of net earnings from self-employment. (1) Place of business. If a taxpayer has no regular place of business outside the city all of his net earnings from self-employment shall be allocated to the city.

(2) Allocation by taxpayer's books. The portion of net earnings from self-employment allocable to the city may be determined from the books and records of a taxpayer's trade or business, if the methods used in keeping such books and the accuracy thereof are approved by the state tax commission as fairly and equitably reflecting net earnings from self-employment within the city.

(3) Allocation by formula. If paragraph two of this subsection does not apply to the taxpayer, the portion of net earnings from self-employment allocable to the city shall be determined by multiplying (A) net earnings from self-employment within and without the city, by (B) the average of the following three percentages:

(i) Property percentage. The percentage computed by dividing (I) the average of the value, at the beginning and end of the taxable year, of real and tangible personal property connected with the net earnings from self-employment and located within the city, by (II) the average of the value, at the beginning and end of the taxable year, of all real and tangible personal property connected with the net earnings from self-employment and located both within and without the city. For this purpose, real property shall include real property, whether owned or rented.

(ii) Payroll percentage. The percentage computed by dividing (I) the total wages, salaries and other personal service compensation paid or incurred during the taxable year to employees in connection with the net earnings from self-employment derived from a trade or business carried on within the city, by (II) the total of all wages, salaries and other personal service compensation paid or incurred during the taxable year to employees in connection with the net earnings from self-employment derived from a trade or business carried on both within and without the city.

(iii) Gross income percentage. The percentage computed by dividing (I) the gross sales or charges for services performed by or through an agency located within the city, by (II) the total of all gross sales or charges for services performed within and without the city. The sales or charges to be allocated to the city shall include all sales negotiated or consummated, and charges for services performed, by an employee, agent, agency or independent contractor chiefly situated at, connected by contract or otherwise with, or sent out from, offices or other agencies of the trade or business from which a taxpayer is deriving net earnings from self-employment, situated within the city.

(c) Other allocation methods. The portion of net earnings from self-employment allocable to the city shall be determined in accordance with rules and regulations of the state tax commission if it shall appear to the tax commission that the net earnings from self-employment are not fairly and equitably reflected under the provisions of subsection (b) of this section.

(d) Special rules for real estate. Income and deductions from the rental of real property and gain and loss from the sale, exchange or other disposition of real property, shall not be subject to allocation under subsection (b) or (c) of this section, but shall be considered as entirely derived from or connected with the place in which such property is located.

§ 5. Accounting periods and methods. (a) Accounting periods. A taxpayer's taxable year under this local law shall be the same as his taxable year for federal income tax purposes.

(b) Change of accounting periods. If a taxpayer's taxable year is changed for federal income tax purposes, his taxable year for purposes of this local law shall be similarly changed. If a taxable period of less than twelve months results from a change of taxable year, the exclusion allowable under section two of this local law shall be prorated under regulations of the state tax commission.

(c) Accounting methods. A taxpayer's method of accounting under this local law shall be the same as his method of accounting for federal income tax purposes. In the absence of any method of accounting for federal income tax purposes, net earnings from self-employment within the city shall be computed under such method as in the opinion of the state tax commission clearly reflects net earnings from self-employment within the city.

(d) Change of accounting methods. (1) If a taxpayer's method of accounting is changed for federal income tax purposes, his method of accounting for purposes of this local law shall be similarly changed.

(2) If a taxpayer's method of accounting is changed, other than from an accrual to an installment method, any additional tax which results from adjustments determined to be necessary solely by reason of the change shall not be greater than if such adjustments were ratably allocated and included for the taxable year of the change and the preceding taxable years beginning after nineteen hundred eighty-three, not in excess of two, during which the taxpayer used the method of accounting from which the change is made.

(3) If a taxpayer's method of accounting is changed from an accrual to an installment method, any additional tax for the year of such change of method and for any subsequent year which is attributable to the receipt of installment payments properly accrued in a prior year, shall be reduced by the portion of tax for any prior taxable year attributable to the accrual of such installment payments, in accordance with regulations of the state tax commission.

§ 7. Withholding of tax on wages. The provisions contained in part V of article twenty-two of the tax law (relating to withholding of tax on wages) shall be applicable with the same force and effect as if those provisions had been incorporated in full in this section and had expressly referred to the tax imposed by this local law except where inconsistent with the provisions of this local law, except that the term "aggregate amount" contained in paragraphs one, two and three of subsection (a) of section six hundred seventy-four of the tax law shall mean the aggregate of the aggregate amounts of New York state personal income tax, city earnings tax on nonresidents authorized pursuant to article two-E of the general city law, city earnings tax on nonresidents authorized pursuant to article thirty-B of the tax law, city personal income tax on residents authorized pursuant to article thirty of the tax law and city income tax surcharge on residents authorized pursuant to article thirty-A of the tax law required to be deducted and withheld.

§ 8. Returns and payment of tax. (a) General. On or before the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of the taxable year, every person subject to the tax shall make and file a return and any balance of the tax shown due on the face of such return shall be paid therewith. The state tax commission may, by regulation, provide for the filing of returns and payment of the tax at such other times as it deems necessary for the proper enforcement of this local law. The state tax commission may also provide by regulation that any return otherwise required to be made and filed under this local law by any nonresident individual need not be made and filed if such nonresident individual had, during the taxable year to which the return would relate, no net earnings from self-employment within the city. Any regulation allowing such waiver of return may provide for additional limitations on and conditions and prerequisites to the privilege of not filing a return.

(b) Decedents. The return for any deceased individual shall be made and filed by his executor, administrator, or other person charged with his property. If a final return of a decedent is for a fractional part of a year, the due date of such return shall be the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of the twelve-month period which began with the first day of such fractional part of the year.

(c) Individuals under a disability. The return for an individual who is unable to make a return by reason of minority or other disability shall be made and filed by his guardian, committee, fiduciary or other person charged with the care of his person or property (other than a receiver in possession of only a part of his property), or by his duly authorized agent.

(d) Estates and trusts. The return for an estate or trust shall be made and filed by the fiduciary.

(e) Joint fiduciaries. If two or more fiduciaries are acting jointly, the return may be made by any one of them.

(f) Cross reference. For provisions as to information returns by partnerships, employers and other persons, see section fourteen.

§ 9. Combined returns and employer's returns. The state tax commission may require:

(1) The filing of any or all of the following:

(A) A combined return which in addition to the return provided for in a local law authorized by article thirty-B of the tax law may also include returns required to be filed under a local law authorized by article two-E of the general city law or article thirty or thirty-A of the tax law and under article twenty-two of the tax law.

(B) A combined employer's return which in addition to the employer's return provided for in a local law authorized by article thirty-B of the tax law may also include employer's returns required to be filed under a local law authorized by article two-E of the general city law or article thirty or thirty-A of the tax law and under article twenty-two of the tax law.

(2) Where a combined return or employer's return is required, and with respect to the payment of estimated tax, the state tax commission may also require payment of a single amount which shall be the total of the amounts (total taxes less any credits or refunds) required to be paid with the returns or employer's returns or in payment of estimated tax pursuant to the provisions of local laws imposed under the authority of article thirty-B of the tax law, article two-E of the general city law or article thirty or thirty-A of the tax law and pursuant to the provisions of article twenty-two of the tax law.

§ 10. Time and place for filing returns and paying tax. A person required to make and file a return under this local law shall, without assessment, notice or demand, pay any tax due thereon to the state tax commission on or before the date fixed for filing such return (determined without regard to any extension of time for filing the return). The state tax commission shall prescribe by regulation the place for filing any return, statement or other document required pursuant to this local law and for payment of any tax.

§ 11. Signing of returns and other documents. (a) General. Any return, statement or other document required to be made pursuant to this local law shall be signed in accordance with regulations or instructions prescribed by the state tax commission. The fact that an individual's name is signed to a return, statement or other document, shall be prima facie evidence for all purposes that the return, statement or other document was actually signed by him.

(b) Partnerships. Any return, statement or other document required of a partnership shall be signed by one or more partners. The fact that a partner's name is signed to a return, statement or other document, shall be prima facie evidence for all purposes that such partner is authorized to sign on behalf of the partnership.

(c) Certifications. The making or filing of any return, statement or other document or copy thereof required to be made or filed pursuant to this local law, including a copy of a federal return, shall constitute a certification by the person making or filing such return, statement or other document or copy thereof that the statements contained therein are true and that any copy filed is a true copy.

§ 12. Change of residence status during year. (a) General. If an individual changes his status during his taxable year from resident to nonresident, or from nonresident to resident, he shall file a return as a nonresident for the portion of the year during which he is a nonresident if he is subject to the tax imposed by this local law or, if not subject to such tax, an information return for the portion of the year during which he is a nonresident, subject to such exceptions as the state tax commission may prescribe by regulation. Such information return shall be due at the same time as the return required by a local law authorized by article thirty-A of the tax law for the portion of the year during which such individual is a resident.

(b) City taxable wages and net earnings from self-employment for portion of year individual is a nonresident. The city taxable wages and net earnings from self-employment for the portion of the year during which the taxpayer is a nonresident shall be determined, except as provided in subsection (c), under this local law as if his taxable year for federal income tax purposes were limited to the period of his nonresident status.

(c) Special accruals. (1) If a individual changes his status from resident to nonresident, he shall, regardless of his method of accounting, accrue for the portion of the taxable year prior to such change of status any items of income, gain, loss or deduction accruing prior to the change of status, if not otherwise properly includible (whether or not because of an election to report on an installment basis) or allowable for city earnings tax purposes for such portion of the taxable year or a prior taxable year. The amounts of such accrued items shall be determined as if such accrued items were includible or allowable for federal self-employment tax purposes.

(2) If an individual changes his status from nonresident to resident, he shall, regardless of his method of accounting, accrue for the portion of the taxable year prior to such change of status any items of income, gain, loss or deduction accruing prior to the change of status, if not otherwise properly includible (whether or not because of an election to report on an installment basis) or allowable for federal self-employment tax purposes for such portion of the taxable year or a prior taxable year. The amounts of such accrued items shall be determined as if such accrued items were includible or allowable for federal self-employment tax purposes.

(3) No item of income, gain, loss or deduction which is accrued under this subsection shall be taken into account in determining city adjusted wages earned, or net earnings from self-employment, within the city, for any subsequent taxable period.

(4) Where an individual changes his status from resident to nonresident, the accruals under this subsection shall not be required if the individual files with the state tax commission a bond or other security acceptable to the commission, conditioned upon the inclusion of amounts accruable under this subsection in the determination of the city income tax surcharge under a local law authorized by article thirty-A of the tax law for one or more subsequent taxable years as if the individual had not changed his resident status. In such event, the tax under this local law shall not apply to such amounts.

(d) Prorations. Where an individual changes his status during his taxable year from resident to nonresident or from nonresident to resident, the exclusion allowable under subsection (b) of section two shall be prorated, under regulations of the state tax commission, to reflect the portions of the entire taxable year during which the individual was a resident and a nonresident.

§ 13. Extensions of time. The state tax commission may grant a reasonable extension of time for payment of a tax or estimated tax (or any installment), or for filing any return, statement or other document required pursuant to this local law, on such terms and conditions as it may require. Except for a taxpayer who is outside the United States or who intends to claim nonresident status pursuant to subparagraph (B) of paragraph one of subsection (f) of section one, no such extension for filing any return, statement or other document shall exceed six months.

§ 14. Requirements concerning returns, notices, records and statements. (a) General. The state tax commission may prescribe regulations as to the keeping of records, the content and form of returns and statements, and the filing of copies of federal income tax returns and determinations. The state tax commission may require any person, by regulation or notice served upon such person, to make such returns, render such statements, or keep such records, as the state tax commission may deem sufficient to show whether or not such person is liable under this local law for tax or for collection of tax.

(b) Partnerships. Every partnership doing business in the city and having no partners who are residents shall make a return for the taxable year setting forth all items of income, gain, loss and deduction and such other pertinent information as the state tax commission may by regulations and instructions prescribe. Such return shall be filed on or before the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of each taxable year. For purposes of this subsection, "taxable year" means a year or a period which would be a taxable year of the partnership if it were subject to tax under this local law.

(c) Information at source. The state tax commission may prescribe regulations and instructions requiring returns of information to be made and filed on or before February twenty-eighth of each year as to the payment or crediting in any calendar year of amounts of six hundred dollars or more to any taxpayer under this local law. Such returns may be required of any person, including lessees or mortgagors of real or personal property, fiduciaries, employers, and all officers and employees of this state, or any municipal corporation or political subdivision of this state, having the control, receipt, custody, disposal or payment of interest, rents, salaries, wages, premiums, annuities, compensation, remunerations, emoluments or other fixed or determinable gains, profits or income, except interest coupons payable to bearer. A duplicate of the statement as to tax withheld on wages, required to be furnished by an employer to an employee, shall constitute the return of information required to be made under this section with respect to such wages.

(d) Notice of qualification as receiver, etc. Every receiver, trustee in bankruptcy, assignee for benefit of creditors, or other like fiduciary shall give notice of his qualification as such to the state tax commission, as may be required by regulation.

§ 15. Report of change in federal or New York state taxable income. If the amount of a taxpayer's federal or New York state taxable income or self-employment income reported on his federal or New York state tax return for any taxable year is changed or corrected by the United States internal revenue service or the New York state commissioner of taxation and finance or other competent authority, or as the result of a renegotiation of a contract or subcontract with the United States or New York state or if a taxpayer, pursuant to subsection (d) of section six thousand two hundred thirteen of the internal revenue code, executes a notice of waiver of the restrictions provided in subsection (a) of said section or if a taxpayer, pursuant to subsection (f) of section six hundred eighty-one of the tax law executes a notice of waiver of the restrictions provided in subsection (c) of said section, or if any tax on self-employment income in addition to that shown on his return is assessed, the taxpayer shall report such change or correction in federal or New York state taxable income or such execution of such notice of waiver or such assessment and the changes or corrections of his federal or New York state taxable income or self-employment income on which it is based, within ninety days after the final determination of such change, correction, or renegotiation, or such execution of such notice of waiver or the making of such assessment as otherwise required by the commissioner, and shall concede the accuracy of such determination or state wherein it is erroneous. Any taxpayer filing an amended federal or New York state income or self-employment income tax return shall also file within ninety days thereafter an amended return under this local law, and shall give such information as the commissioner may require. The commissioner may by regulation prescribe such exceptions to the requirements of this section as he or she deems appropriate. For purposes of this section, (i) the term "taxpayer" shall include a partnership having any income derived from city sources, and (ii) the term "federal income tax return" shall include the returns of income required under section six thousand thirty-one of the internal revenue code. Reports made under this section by a partnership shall indicate the portion of the change in each item of income, gain, loss or deduction allocable to each partner and shall set forth such identifying information with respect to such partner as may be prescribed by the commissioner.

(a) If any clause, sentence, paragraph, subsection, section, provision or other portion of this local law or the application thereof to any person or circumstances shall be held to be invalid, such holding shall not affect, impair or invalidate the remainder of this local law or the application of such portion held invalid, to any other person or circumstances, but shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, paragraph, subsection, section, provision or other portion thereof directly involved in such holding or to the person and circumstances therein involved.

(b) If any provision of this local law is inconsistent with, in conflict with, or contrary to any other provision of law, such provision of this local law shall prevail over such other provision and such other provision shall be deemed to have been amended, superseded or repealed to the extent of such inconsistency, conflict or contrariety.

(d) Any wages received by an individual as an employee of a business located in a tax-free NY area within the city during the first five years of such business's ten year taxable period specified in subdivision (a) of section thirty-nine of this chapter and earned at such location shall be exempt from the tax authorized to be imposed by this article to the extent included in federal adjusted gross income and allowed under section thirty-nine of this chapter. During the second five years of such business's ten year taxable period, the first two hundred thousand dollars of such wages in the case of a taxpayer filing as a single individual, the first two hundred fifty thousand dollars of such wages in the case of a taxpayer filing as a head of household, and three hundred thousand dollars of such wages in the case of a taxpayer filing a joint return, to the extent included in federal adjusted gross income and allowed under section thirty-nine of this chapter.

§ 1341. Withholding requirement. Withholding of tax on wages shall commence (i) in the case of a local law enacted in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (i) of subsection (b) of section thirteen hundred forty of this article, not later than January first, nineteen hundred eighty-five, and (ii) in the case of a local law enacted in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (ii) of such subsection, not later than the effective date of such local law or ninety days after the date of enactment of such local law, whichever is later.

§ 1342. Administrative provisions. (a) The provisions contained in sections six hundred fifty-three, six hundred fifty-eight, six hundred sixty-two and thirteen hundred thirty-one of this chapter, including the provisions of judicial review by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, shall be applicable with the same force and effect as if those provisions had been incorporated in full in this section and had expressly referred to any tax imposed pursuant to the authority of this article except where inconsistent with the provisions of this article.

(b) For the tax year in which such local law is enacted, no addition to the tax shall be imposed, pursuant to subsection (c) of section six hundred eighty-five of this chapter, through the operation of the provisions of this section for the portion of the underpayment of estimated tax as the result of a local law enacted pursuant to paragraph (iii) of subsection (b) of section thirteen hundred forty of this article.

§ 1343. Deposit and disposition of revenues. Revenues resulting from the imposition of the tax authorized by this article shall be deposited and disposed of in the same manner as revenues resulting from the imposition of the tax authorized by article thirty-A of this chapter.

* NB Repealed June 30, 2031

 § 1350. Imposition of surcharge. In addition to any other tax or assessment imposed by this chapter or other law, there is hereby imposed, beginning on July first, two thousand twenty-six, a surcharge in accordance with this article on a covered property, or in the case of a covered property that is a residential cooperative property, a residential cooperative dwelling unit, that is not a primary residence, provided that (a) for fiscal years beginning on or after July first, two thousand twenty-six, and before July first, two thousand twenty-eight, the phase one market value of such covered property that is a class one property is equal to or greater than five million dollars, the phase one market value of such covered property that is a residential condominium dwelling unit is equal to or greater than one million dollars, or, in the case of a covered property that is a residential cooperative property, the phase one market value of a residential cooperative dwelling unit within such residential cooperative property is equal to or greater than one million dollars; and (b) for fiscal years beginning on or after July first, two thousand twenty-eight, the phase two market value of such covered property or, in the case of a covered property that is a residential cooperative property, such residential cooperative dwelling unit, is equal to or greater than five million dollars.

* NB Repealed June 30, 2031

* § 1351. Definitions. As used in this article, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

(a) "Administrative code" means the administrative code of the city of New York.

(b) "Class one property" means class one, as such class of property is defined in section eighteen hundred two of the real property tax law, other than such property described in subparagraph (c) of such definition.

(c) "Class two property" means class two, as such class of property is defined in section eighteen hundred two of the real property tax law.

(d) "Covered owner" means:

(1) an owner or owners of real property classified as class one property;

(2) a tenant-stockholder of a cooperative corporation whose interest in a portion of real property held by such corporation is represented by shares of stock in such corporation;

(3) an owner or owners of a residential condominium dwelling unit;

(4) where real property classified as class one or a residential condominium dwelling unit is held, or shares of stock in a cooperative corporation are held, in trust, a beneficial owner or owners of such trust, provided that such beneficial owner or owners are the sole beneficiaries of such trust; or

(5) where real property classified as class one or a residential condominium dwelling unit is held, or shares of stock in a cooperative corporation are held, by a partnership, corporation or limited liability company, a partner or partners, shareholder or shareholders or member or members of such partnership, corporation, or limited liability company, respectively, provided that such partner or partners, shareholder or shareholders, or member or members hold a majority interest in such partnership, corporation or limited liability company respectively.

(e) "Covered property" means real property, other than excluded property, classified as:

(1) class one property, other than vacant land;

(2) class two property that is a residential cooperative property in which at least one residential cooperative dwelling unit: (A) has a phase one market value equal to or greater than one million dollars or phase two market value equal to or greater than five million dollars; and (B) is not a primary residence; and

(3) class two property that is a residential condominium dwelling unit.

(f) "Department of finance" means the department of finance in a city having a population of one million or more.

(g) "Excluded property" means a class one or class two property:

(1) for which a temporary or permanent certificate of occupancy is required and has not yet been issued; or

(2) a residential condominium dwelling unit or residential cooperative dwelling unit that is subject to an offering plan required by section three hundred fifty-two-e of the general business law and such unit has not been sold, or an economic interest in such unit has not been transferred, by the person, partnership, corporation, company, trust or association who has filed such plan.

(h) "Imputed cooperative phase one market value" means the market value of a residential cooperative dwelling unit in a residential cooperative property, calculated as the product of:

(1) the market value of such residential cooperative property as determined by the department of finance pursuant to chapter fifty-eight of the New York city charter for the fiscal year in which the surcharge described in this article is imposed; and

(2) the quotient of (A) the shares in a cooperative corporation representing an interest in such residential cooperative dwelling unit; divided by (B) the total shares of stock in such cooperative corporation.

(i) "Notice of surcharge" means a notice issued by the department of finance to an owner indicating that a covered property, or, in the case of a residential cooperative property, a residential cooperative dwelling unit, is, or may be, subject to the surcharge authorized by this article, including the phase one market value or phase two market value, as applicable, of such covered property or residential cooperative dwelling unit and a determination by the department of finance that such covered property or residential cooperative dwelling unit is not a primary residence.

(j) "Owner" means:

(1) an owner or owners of real property classified as class one property;

(2) a tenant-stockholder of a cooperative corporation whose interest in a portion of real property held by such corporation is represented by shares of stock in such corporation, or such corporation; or

(3) an owner or owners of a residential condominium dwelling unit.

(k) "Phase one market value" means:

(1) for a class one property, the market value of a covered property as determined by the department of finance pursuant to chapter fifty-eight of the New York city charter for the fiscal year in which the surcharge described in this article is imposed;

(2) for a class two property that is a residential condominium dwelling unit, the market value of such residential condominium dwelling unit as determined by the department of finance pursuant to chapter fifty-eight of the New York city charter for the fiscal year in which the surcharge described in this article is imposed; and

(3) for a class two property that is a residential cooperative property, the imputed cooperative phase one market value for any residential cooperative dwelling unit in such residential cooperative property.

(l) "Phase two market value" means:

(1) for a class one property, the market value of a covered property as determined by the department of finance pursuant to chapter fifty-eight of the New York city charter for the fiscal year in which the surcharge described in this article is imposed;

(2) for a class two property that is a residential condominium dwelling unit, the market value of such residential condominium dwelling unit, as determined by the department of finance pursuant to chapter fifty-eight of the New York city charter for the fiscal year in which the surcharge described in this article is imposed, provided that such market value shall be determined using a method that considers sales of comparable residential condominium dwelling units or comparable residential cooperative dwelling units without regard to the restrictions described in section five hundred eighty-one of the real property tax law or section three hundred thirty-nine-y of the real property law; and

(3) for a class two property that is a residential cooperative property, the market value of any residential cooperative dwelling unit in such residential cooperative property, as determined by the department of finance pursuant to chapter fifty-eight of the New York city charter for the fiscal year in which the surcharge described in this article is imposed, provided that such market value shall be determined using a method that considers sales of comparable residential cooperative dwelling units or comparable residential condominium dwelling units without regard to the restrictions found in section five hundred eighty-one of the real property tax law.

(m) "Primary residence" means the use of a covered property, or, in the case of a residential cooperative property, a residential cooperative dwelling unit, as of the taxable status date immediately preceding the fiscal year in which the surcharge described by this article is imposed, as a primary residence of (1) one or more of the covered owners, or an immediate family member of one or more of the covered owners, provided such covered owners are natural persons; or (2) one or more lessees, and any sub-lessees to which a lessee has sublet the covered property or residential cooperative dwelling unit pursuant to subdivision two of section two hundred twenty-six-b of the real property law, provided any such lessee or sub-lessee is a natural person occupying such covered property or residential cooperative dwelling unit pursuant to a bona fide lease agreement negotiated in an arms-length transaction with a term of not less than one year. For purposes of this article, the phrase "immediate family member" means a spouse, child, sibling, parent, grandparent, or grandchild.

(n) "Residential condominium dwelling unit" means a unit, as defined in section three hundred thirty-nine-e of the real property law, held in a condominium form of ownership and used as residential real property, other than: (1) such a unit that is residential cooperative property; or (2) such a unit that includes more than three dwelling units and all such dwelling units are held by the same owner, except where the department of finance determines that a unit has been divided into more than three units to avoid application of the surcharge.

(o) "Residential cooperative dwelling unit" means a dwelling unit in real property held by a cooperative corporation where an owner is a tenant-stockholder of such cooperative corporation and such dwelling unit is used as residential real property.

(p) "Residential cooperative property" means real property owned or leased by a cooperative corporation and that contains one or more residential cooperative dwelling units.

(q) "Taxable status date" means the January fifth immediately preceding the fiscal year in which the surcharge is imposed pursuant to this article.

* § 1352. Primary residence. (a) Determination of primary residency. (1) The department of finance shall make, on an annual basis, an initial determination that a covered property, or, in the case of a covered property that is a residential cooperative property, a residential cooperative dwelling unit, that has a phase one or phase two market value equal to, or greater than, the threshold provided in section thirteen hundred fifty of this article, is not a primary residence. The department of finance shall make a determination of primary residence based on factors identified by rules of the department of finance, including but not limited to whether such covered property or residential cooperative dwelling unit was occupied in aggregate for a majority of days during a calendar year by a covered owner of such covered property or residential cooperative dwelling unit. The department of finance shall make such initial determination based on information available to such department.

(2) The department of finance shall provide notice to the owner of a covered property, or, in the case of a covered property that is a residential cooperative property, a residential cooperative dwelling unit, of such initial determination, provided that, for the fiscal year beginning July first, two thousand twenty-six, such department shall provide such notice no later than August thirtieth, two thousand twenty-six. Such notice shall include an opportunity for such owner to submit proof of primary residence, to the satisfaction of such department, in accordance with a time period established by rules of such department. The department of finance may require that such owner provide a certification that such covered property or residential cooperative dwelling unit is a primary residence, as well as any documentation demonstrating:

(A) that a covered owner provided the address of such covered property or residential cooperative dwelling unit as such covered owner's permanent home address on the New York state resident income tax return filed by such covered owner for the calendar year that ends immediately preceding the fiscal year in which the surcharge is imposed;

(B) such covered property or residential cooperative dwelling unit received a real property tax exemption pursuant to section four hundred twenty-five of the real property tax law during the fiscal year immediately preceding the fiscal year in which the surcharge is imposed or the owner of such covered property or residential cooperative dwelling unit received a tax credit pursuant to subsection (eee) of section six hundred six of the tax law for such covered property or residential cooperative dwelling unit for the calendar year immediately preceding the fiscal year in which the surcharge is imposed; or

(C) such covered property or residential cooperative dwelling unit is the primary residence of one or more lessees or sub-lessees to which a lessee has sublet such covered property or residential cooperative dwelling unit pursuant to subdivision two of section two hundred twenty-six-b of the real property law or an immediate family member of a covered owner.

(3) After consideration of a submission of proof of primary residence by a covered owner pursuant to paragraph two of this subsection, and other available information, the department of finance shall determine whether such covered property or residential cooperative dwelling unit is not a primary residence. Such determination shall constitute a final determination of the department of finance.

(4) The department of finance may require electronic submission of any certification or documentation described in this section.

(5) Failure to provide the notice required by this section shall not affect the validity of the imposition of the surcharge authorized by this article.

(b) Promulgation of rules. The department of finance may promulgate rules to:

(1) specify additional factors or documentation that may assist in the initial or final determination of whether a covered property, or, in the case of a covered property that is a residential cooperative property, a residential cooperative dwelling unit, is a primary residence; and

(2) establish a process through which the department of finance may audit any certification or documentation of primary residency submitted pursuant to this section within six years of such submission.

* NB Repealed June 30, 2031

* § 1353. Surcharge rates. The surcharge shall be calculated as follows:

(a) For fiscal years beginning on or after July first, two thousand twenty-six, and before July first, two thousand twenty-eight, (1) for covered property that is in class one, where the phase one market value is (A) greater than or equal to five million dollars, but less than or equal to fifteen million dollars, at a rate of 0.8 percent; (B) greater than fifteen million dollars, but less than or equal to twenty-five million dollars, at a rate of 1.05 percent; (C) greater than twenty-five million dollars, at a rate of 1.3 percent; and (2) for covered property that is a residential condominium dwelling unit or, in the case of a residential cooperative property, a residential cooperative dwelling unit, where the phase one market value is (A) greater than or equal to one million dollars, but less than or equal to three million dollars, at a rate of 4.0 percent; (B) greater than three million dollars, but less than or equal to five million dollars, at a rate of 5.25 percent; (C) greater than five million dollars, at a rate of 6.5 percent.

(b) For fiscal years beginning on or after July first, two thousand twenty-eight, for covered property or, in the case of a residential cooperative property, a residential cooperative dwelling unit, where the phase two market value is (1) greater than or equal to five million dollars, but less than or equal to fifteen million dollars, at a rate of 0.8 percent; (2) greater than fifteen million dollars, but less than or equal to twenty-five million dollars, at a rate of 1.05 percent; (3) greater than twenty-five million dollars, at a rate of 1.3 percent.

* NB Repealed June 30, 2031

* § 1354. Administration of surcharge. (a) The department of finance shall add the surcharge authorized by this article to the statement of account of a covered property. In the case of a residential cooperative property, the department of finance shall add to the statement of account of such residential cooperative property the sum of any surcharges authorized by this article for each residential cooperative dwelling unit in such residential cooperative property where such dwelling unit: (1) has a phase one or phase two market value equal to, or greater than, the threshold provided in section thirteen hundred fifty of this article; and (2) does not serve as a primary residence. Such surcharge shall be due and payable in the same manner as real property taxes are due and payable pursuant to section fifteen hundred nineteen-a of the New York city charter. The department of finance shall administer and enforce this surcharge, to the greatest extent practicable not inconsistent with this section, in the same manner used to administer and enforce real property taxes, except that any abatement, credit or exemption authorized by law shall not apply to such surcharge.

(b) Notwithstanding subsection (a) of this section, any surcharge imposed on a covered property in the fiscal year commencing on July first, two thousand twenty-six, shall be due and payable on the same date as the second semi-annual installment of real property taxes is due, as described in section fifteen hundred nineteen-a of the charter of the city of New York.

(c) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, where the department of finance adds the sum of any surcharges authorized by this article for a residential cooperative dwelling unit pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section to the statement of account of a residential cooperative property, each such surcharge shall be collected by the cooperative corporation from the tenant-stockholder of such cooperative corporation whose interest in each such residential cooperative dwelling unit is represented by shares of stock in such corporation.

(d) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, the surcharge imposed on a covered property pursuant to this article shall be separate and distinct from any other tax levied on real property. Any revenue collected as a result of the imposition of this surcharge shall not be included in the calculation of the tax levy for purposes of determining class shares pursuant to article eighteen of the real property tax law, shall not be subject to apportionment among classes of real property, and shall not be considered when establishing tax rates for any class of property. Such revenue shall be considered receipts other than taxes on real property for the purposes of section fifteen hundred fifteen of the New York city charter.

(e) The department of finance may promulgate any rules:

(1) necessary to implement this article, including, but not limited to, rules:

(A) to address a change in ownership of a covered property or a residential cooperative dwelling unit, or illness or death of an owner of a covered property or residential cooperative dwelling unit;

(B) to authorize persons other than a covered owner to submit proof of primary residency on behalf of a covered owner;

(C) relating to requirements for provision of notice of surcharge; or

(D) to establish when a sale of a residential condominium dwelling unit, or a transfer of an economic interest in a residential cooperative dwelling unit, has occurred for purposes of paragraph two of subdivision (g) of section thirteen hundred fifty-one of this article.

(2) to establish penalties not exceeding fifty percent of the surcharge imposed on a covered property by this article if, after notice and a hearing, the department of finance determines that:

(A) any certification or documentation submitted to the department of finance contains inaccurate or misleading information that: (i) is material to the determination of the imposition of such surcharge, including a determination relating to primary residence; and (ii) was submitted negligently or in bad faith; or

(B) a covered property that is a residential condominium unit has been divided into more than three units to avoid application of such surcharge and the owner of such covered property has made such division in bad faith.

(f) The department of finance may enforce and collect any penalty imposed pursuant to the authority set forth in subsection (e) of this section in the same manner as the department of finance enforces and collects the surcharge authorized by this article.

(g) The commissioner of the department of finance may subpoena and require the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers and documents to secure information pertinent to the determination of the surcharge, including a determination relating to primary residence.

* NB Repealed June 30, 2031

 § 1355. Administrative and judicial review. (a) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, an owner of a covered property, or, in the case of a residential cooperative property, a residential cooperative dwelling unit, may seek administrative and judicial review of the imposition of the surcharge on such covered property or residential cooperative dwelling unit pursuant to the provisions of the administrative code imposing such surcharge.

(b) The remedies provided by the provisions of the administrative code imposing such surcharge shall be the exclusive remedies available to any person for the review of liability of the surcharge authorized by this article.

* NB Repealed June 30, 2031

 § 1356. Information sharing. A city having a population of one million or more imposing a surcharge pursuant to this article shall, upon request by the commissioner of taxation and finance, provide the department of taxation and finance with any records in its possession used or considered in determining whether a covered property, or, in the case of a residential cooperative property, a residential cooperative dwelling unit, is not a primary residence. The department of taxation and finance shall, upon request by such city, provide such city with any records in its possession contained in any return filed pursuant to article thirty of this chapter or disclosed by any investigation of tax liability under such article for the purposes of implementing such surcharge. Information shared pursuant to this subsection shall not be subject to disclosure pursuant to article six of the public officers law.

§ 1400. Short title. This article shall be known and may be cited as the "real estate transfer tax law".

§ 1401. Definitions. When used in this article, unless otherwise expressly stated:

* (a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, limited liability company, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

* NB Effective until July 1, 2021

* (a) (1) "Person" means an individual, partnership, limited liability company, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

(2) "Person" shall include any individual, corporation, partnership or limited liability company or an officer or employee of any corporation (including a dissolved corporation), or a member or employee of any partnership, or a member, manager or employee of a limited liability company, who as such officer, employee, manager or member is under a duty to act for such corporation, partnership, limited liability company or individual proprietorship in complying with any requirement of this article, or has so acted.

* NB Effective July 1, 2021

(b) "Controlling interest" means (i) in the case of a corporation, either fifty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (ii) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

(c) "Real property" means every estate or right, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, in lands, tenements or hereditaments, including buildings, structures and other improvements thereon, which are located in whole or in part within the state of New York. It shall not include rights to sepulture.

(d) "Consideration" means the price actually paid or required to be paid for the real property or interest therein, including payment for an option or contract to purchase real property, whether or not expressed in the deed and whether paid or required to be paid by money, property, or any other thing of value. It shall include the cancellation or discharge of an indebtedness or obligation. It shall also include the amount of any mortgage, purchase money mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, whether or not the underlying indebtedness is assumed or taken subject to.

(i) In the case of a creation of a leasehold interest or the granting of an option with use and occupancy of real property, consideration shall include but not be limited to the value of the rental and other payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property or interest therein, the value of any amount paid for an option to purchase or renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew.

(ii) In the case of a creation of a subleasehold interest, consideration shall include but not be limited to the value of the sublease rental payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property, the value of any amount paid for an option to renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew less the value of the remaining prime lease rental payments required to be made.

(iii) In the case of a controlling interest in any entity that owns real property, consideration shall mean the fair market value of the real property or interest therein, apportioned based on the percentage of the ownership interest transferred or acquired in the entity.

(iv) In the case of an assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest or the assignment or surrender of an option or contract to purchase real property, consideration shall not include the value of the remaining rental payments required to be made pursuant to the terms of such lease or the amount to be paid for the real property pursuant to the terms of the option or contract being assigned or surrendered.

(v) In the case of (i) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor and (ii) the subsequent conveyance by the owner thereof of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold for a cooperative unit other than an individual residential unit, consideration shall include a proportionate share of the unpaid principal of any mortgage on the real property of the cooperative housing corporation comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings. Such share shall be determined by multiplying the total unpaid principal of the mortgage by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock being conveyed in the cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock in the cooperative housing corporation.

(e) "Conveyance" means the transfer or transfers of any interest in real property by any method, including but not limited to sale, exchange, assignment, surrender, mortgage foreclosure, transfer in lieu of foreclosure, option, trust indenture, taking by eminent domain, conveyance upon liquidation or by a receiver, or transfer or acquisition of a controlling interest in any entity with an interest in real property. Transfer of an interest in real property shall include the creation of a leasehold or sublease only where (i) the sum of the term of the lease or sublease and any options for renewal exceeds forty-nine years, (ii) substantial capital improvements are or may be made by or for the benefit of the lessee or sublessee, and (iii) the lease or sublease is for substantially all of the premises constituting the real property. Notwithstanding the foregoing, conveyance of real property shall not include a conveyance pursuant to devise, bequest or inheritance; the creation, modification, extension, spreading, severance, consolidation, assignment, transfer, release or satisfaction of a mortgage; a mortgage subordination agreement, a mortgage severance agreement, an instrument given to perfect or correct a recorded mortgage; or a release of lien of tax pursuant to this chapter or the internal revenue code.

(f) "Interest in the real property" includes title in fee, a leasehold interest, a beneficial interest, an encumbrance, development rights, air space and air rights, or any other interest with the right to use or occupancy of real property or the right to receive rents, profits or other income derived from real property. It shall also include an option or contract to purchase real property. It shall not include a right of first refusal to purchase real property.

(g) "Grantor" means the person making the conveyance of real property or interest therein. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer or an acquisition of a controlling interest in an entity with an interest in real property, "grantor" means the entity with an interest in real property or a shareholder or partner transferring stock or partnership interest, respectively.

(h) "Grantee" means the person who obtains real property or interest therein as a result of a conveyance.

(i) "Recording officer" means the county clerk of the county, except in a county having a register, where it means the register of the county, or in the city of New York where it means the city register.

§ 1402. Imposition of tax. (a) A tax is hereby imposed on each conveyance of real property or interest therein when the consideration exceeds five hundred dollars, at the rate of two dollars for each five hundred dollars or fractional part thereof; provided, however, that with respect to (A) a conveyance of a one, two or three-family house and an individual residential condominium unit, or interests therein; and (B) conveyances where the consideration is less than five hundred thousand dollars, the consideration for the interest conveyed shall exclude the value of any lien or encumbrance remaining thereon at the time of conveyance. The rate of this tax shall be: (1) two dollars for each five hundred dollars or fractional part thereof on all conveyances of real property or interest therein; plus (2) an additional one dollar and twenty-five cents for each five hundred dollars or fractional part thereof of consideration on each conveyance of real property or interest therein within any city in this state having a population of one million or more (i) when the consideration for the entire conveyance of residential real property is three million dollars or more, and (ii) when the consideration for the entire conveyance of any other property is two million dollars or more. For purposes of this section, residential real property shall include any premises that is or may be used in whole or in part as a personal residence, and shall include a one, two, or three-family house, an individual condominium unit, or a cooperative apartment unit.

(b) (1) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, in the case of any real estate investment trust transfer occurring on or after the effective date of this subdivision, the tax imposed under subdivision (a) of this section shall be imposed at the rate of one dollar for each five hundred dollars or fractional part thereof of consideration.

(2) (A) For purposes of this subdivision, the term "real estate investment trust" (hereinafter referred to as a "REIT") shall have the same meaning as in section 856 of the internal revenue code.

(B) For purposes of this subdivision, the phrase "real estate investment trust transfer" shall mean any conveyance of real property or an interest therein to a REIT, or to a partnership or corporation in which a REIT owns a controlling interest immediately following the conveyance, which conveyance (I) occurs in connection with the initial formation of the REIT, provided that the conditions set forth in clauses (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph are satisfied, or (II) in the case of any real estate investment trust transfer occurring on or after July thirteenth, nineteen hundred ninety-six and before September first, two thousand twenty-nine, is described in the last sentence of this subparagraph.

(i) The value of the ownership interests in the REIT, or in a partnership or corporation in which the REIT owns a controlling interest, received by the grantor as consideration for such conveyance must be equal to an amount not less than forty percent of the value of the equity interest in the real property or interest therein conveyed by the grantor to the grantee and such ownership interests must be retained by the grantor or owners of the grantor for a period of not less than two years following the date of conveyance; provided, however, that in the case of the death of the grantor or an owner of the grantor within such two year period, this two year retention requirement shall be deemed to be satisfied notwithstanding any conveyance of such ownership interests held by such individual as a result of such death. The value of the equity interest in such real property or interest therein shall be computed by subtracting from the consideration for the conveyance (determined in accordance with paragraph three of this subdivision) the unpaid balance of any loans secured by mortgages or other encumbrances which are liens on the real property or interest therein immediately before the conveyance. For purposes of this computation, in the case of a conveyance of real property or interest therein other than a transfer or an acquisition of a controlling interest, the amount of the unpaid balance of any loans secured by mortgages or other encumbrances to be subtracted from consideration is determined by multiplying the total unpaid balance of any loans secured by mortgages or other encumbrances on the real property or interest therein by the percentage of the ownership interest in the real property or interest therein being conveyed to the grantee. In the case of a conveyance which is a transfer or an acquisition of a controlling interest, such amount to be subtracted is equal to the sum of the following amounts: (I) a reasonable apportionment to the interests in real property owned by the entity of the amount of any loans secured by encumbrances on the ownership interests in the entity which are being transferred or acquired and (II) the amount of any loans secured by mortgages or other encumbrances on the real property of the entity multiplied by the percentage interest in the entity which is being transferred or acquired. Provided, however that, for purposes of this computation, any mortgages or other encumbrances on the real property or interest therein which are created in contemplation of the initial formation of the REIT or in contemplation of the conveyance of such real property or interest therein to the REIT or to a partnership or corporation in which the REIT owns a controlling interest immediately following the conveyance shall not be considered.

(ii) Seventy-five percent or more of the cash proceeds received by such REIT from the sale of ownership interests in such REIT upon its initial formation must be used: (I) to make payments on loans secured by any interest in real property (including an ownership interest in an entity owning real property) which is owned directly or indirectly by such REIT; (II) to pay for capital improvements to real property or any interest therein owned directly or indirectly by such REIT; (III) to pay costs, fees, and expenses (including brokerage fees and commissions, professional fees and payments to or on behalf of a tenant as an inducement to enter into a lease or sublease) incurred in connection with the creation of a leasehold or sublease pertaining to real property or any interest therein owned directly or indirectly by such REIT; (IV) to acquire any interest in real property (including an ownership interest in any entity owning real property), apart from any acquisition to which a reduced rate of tax is applicable pursuant to this subdivision (without regard to this clause); or (V) for reserves established for any of the purposes described in subclause (I), (II) or (III) of this clause. For purposes of this clause, the term real property shall include real property wherever located.

If a conveyance otherwise described in this subparagraph occurs other than in connection with the initial formation of a REIT, the condition set forth in clause (ii) of this subparagraph shall be disregarded and such conveyance shall constitute a "real estate investment trust transfer" if the condition set forth in clause (i) of this subparagraph would be satisfied if "fifty percent" were substituted for "forty percent" therein.

(3) For purposes of measuring consideration under this subdivision, the fair market value of the real property or interest therein being conveyed shall be calculated by dividing (i) the net cash flow from operations with respect to such real property for the twelve-month period ending on the last day of the second month preceding the date of the conveyance by (ii) the sum of (A) the federal long-term rate compounded semi-annually that is determined by the United States secretary of the treasury under section 1274(d) of the internal revenue code in effect thirty days prior to the date of the conveyance and (B) two percentage points. Provided however, if the commissioner of taxation and finance determines that either the amount in clause (i) of this paragraph or clause (ii) of this paragraph does not result in an accurate representation of the fair market value of such real property or interest therein as such value is to be determined under this paragraph, the commissioner may adjust either of such amounts. In lieu of utilizing the method prescribed in this paragraph for determining fair market value, the taxpayer may utilize any method for determining fair market value that the commissioner of taxation and finance has prescribed in rules or regulations or otherwise.

§ 1402-a. Additional tax. (a) In addition to the tax imposed by section fourteen hundred two of this article, a tax is hereby imposed on each conveyance of residential real property or interest therein when the consideration for the entire conveyance is one million dollars or more. For purposes of this section, residential real property shall include any premises that is or may be used in whole or in part as a personal residence, and shall include a one, two, or three-family house, an individual condominium unit, or a cooperative apartment unit. The rate of such tax shall be one percent of the consideration or part thereof attributable to the residential real property. Such tax shall be paid at the same time and in the same manner as the tax imposed by section fourteen hundred two of this article.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of section fourteen hundred four of this article, the additional tax imposed by this section shall be paid by the grantee. If the grantee has failed to pay the tax imposed by this article at the time required by section fourteen hundred ten of this article or if the grantee is exempt from such tax, the grantor shall have the duty to pay the tax. Where the grantor has the duty to pay the tax because the grantee has failed to pay, such tax shall be the joint and several liability of the grantor and the grantee.

(c) Except as otherwise provided in this section, all the provisions of this article relating to or applicable to the administration, collection, determination and distribution of the tax imposed by section fourteen hundred two of this article shall apply to the tax imposed under the authority of this section with such modifications as may be necessary to adapt such language to the tax so authorized. Such provisions shall apply with the same force and effect as if those provisions had been set forth in this section except to the extent that any provision is either inconsistent with a provision of this section or not relevant to the tax authorized by this section.

§ 1402-b. Supplemental tax in cities having a population of one million or more. (a) In addition to the taxes imposed by sections fourteen hundred two and fourteen hundred two-a of this article, a tax is hereby imposed on each conveyance of residential real property or interest therein within any city in this state having a population of one million or more when the consideration for the conveyance is two million dollars or more. For purposes of this section, residential real property shall include any premises that is or may be used in whole or in part as a personal residence, and shall include a one, two, or three-family house, an individual condominium unit, or a cooperative apartment unit. Such tax shall be paid at the same time and in the same manner as the taxes imposed by sections fourteen hundred two and fourteen hundred two-a of this article.

The rate of such tax shall be:

(1) one-quarter of one percent of the consideration or part thereof attributable to the residential real property when such consideration for the entire conveyance is at least two million dollars but less than three million dollars;

(2) one-half of one percent of the consideration or part thereof attributable to the residential real property when such consideration for the entire conveyance is at least three million dollars but less than five million dollars;

(3) one and one-quarter percent of the consideration or part thereof attributable to the residential real property when such consideration for the entire conveyance is at least five million dollars but less than ten million dollars;

(4) two and one-quarter percent of the consideration or part thereof attributable to the residential real property when such consideration for the entire conveyance is at least ten million dollars but less than fifteen million dollars;

(5) two and one-half percent of the consideration or part thereof attributable to the residential real property when such consideration for the entire conveyance is at least fifteen million dollars but less than twenty million dollars;

(6) two and three-quarters percent of the consideration or part thereof attributable to the residential real property when such consideration for the entire conveyance is at least twenty million dollars but less than twenty-five million dollars; and

(7) two and nine-tenths percent of the consideration or part thereof attributable to the residential real property when such consideration for the entire conveyance is at least twenty-five million dollars.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of section fourteen hundred four of this article, the tax imposed by this section shall be paid by the grantee. If the grantee has failed to pay the tax imposed by this article at the time required by section fourteen hundred ten of this article or if the grantee is exempt from such tax, the grantor shall have the duty to pay the tax. Where the grantor has the duty to pay the tax because the grantee has failed to pay, such tax shall be the joint and several liability of the grantor and the grantee.

(c) Except as otherwise provided in this section, all the provisions of this article relating to or applicable to the administration, collection, determination and distribution of the tax imposed by section fourteen hundred two of this article shall apply to the tax imposed under the authority of this section with such modifications as may be necessary to adapt such language to the tax so authorized. Such provisions shall apply with the same force and effect as if those provisions had been set forth in this section except to the extent that any provision is either inconsistent with a provision of this section or not relevant to the tax authorized by this section.

§ 1404. Liability for tax. * (a) The real estate transfer tax shall be paid by the grantor. If the grantor has failed to pay the tax imposed by this article at the time required by section fourteen hundred ten of this article or if the grantor is exempt from such tax, the grantee shall have the duty to pay the tax. Where the grantee has the duty to pay the tax because the grantor has failed to pay, such tax shall be the joint and several liability of the grantor and the grantee.

* NB Effective until July 1, 2021

* (a) The real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to section fourteen hundred two of this article shall be paid by the grantor and such tax shall not be payable, directly or indirectly, by the grantee except as provided in a contract between grantor and grantee or as otherwise provided in this section. If the grantor has failed to pay the tax imposed by this article at the time required by section fourteen hundred ten of this article or if the grantor is exempt from such tax, the grantee shall have the duty to pay the tax. Where the grantee has the duty to pay the tax because the grantor has failed to pay, such tax shall be the joint and several liability of the grantor and the grantee; provided that in the event of such failure, the grantee shall have a cause of action against the grantor for recovery of payment of such tax, interest and penalties by the grantee. In the case of a conveyance of residential real property as defined in subdivision (a) of section fourteen hundred two-a of this article, if the tax imposed by this article is paid by the grantee pursuant to a contract between the grantor and the grantee, the amount of such tax shall be excluded from the calculation of consideration subject to tax under this article.

* NB Effective July 1, 2021

(b) For the purpose of the proper administration of this article and to prevent evasion of the tax hereby imposed, it shall be presumed that all conveyances are taxable. Where the consideration includes property other than money, it shall be presumed that the consideration is the fair market value of the real property or interest therein. These presumptions shall prevail until the contrary is proven, and the burden of proving the contrary shall be on the person liable for payment of the tax.

§ 1405. Exemptions. (a) The following shall be exempt from payment of the real estate transfer tax:

1. The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, political subdivisions, or public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada).

2. The United Nations, the United States of America and any of its agencies and instrumentalities.

The exemption of such governmental bodies or persons shall not, however, relieve a grantee from them of liability for the tax.

(b) The tax shall not apply to the following conveyances:

1. Conveyances to the United Nations, the United States of America, the state of New York, or any of their instrumentalities, agencies or political subdivisions (or any public corporation, including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada);

2. Conveyances which are or were used to secure a debt or other obligation;

3. Conveyances which, without additional consideration, confirm, correct, modify or supplement a prior conveyance;

4. Conveyances of real property without consideration and otherwise than in connection with a sale, including conveyances conveying realty as bona fide gifts;

5. Conveyances given in connection with a tax sale;

6. Conveyances to effectuate a mere change of identity or form of ownership or organization where there is no change in beneficial ownership, other than conveyances to a cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings;

7. Conveyances which consist of a deed of partition;

8. Conveyances given pursuant to the federal bankruptcy act;

9. Conveyances of real property which consist of the execution of a contract to sell real property without the use or occupancy of such property or the granting of an option to purchase real property without the use or occupancy of such property;

10. Conveyances of an option or contract to purchase real property with the use or occupancy of such property where the consideration is less than two hundred thousand dollars and such property was used solely by the grantor as his personal residence and consists of a one, two or three-family house, an individual residential condominium unit or the sale of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold covering an individual residential cooperative unit.

11. Conveyances of real property located in tax-free NY areas approved pursuant to article twenty-one of the economic development law to businesses located in such areas that are participating in the START-UP NY program pursuant to such article twenty-one.

(c) Conveyances of real property for open space, parks, or historic preservation purposes to any not-for-profit tax exempt corporation operated for conservation, environmental, parks or historic preservation purposes shall be exempt from payment of additional taxes imposed pursuant to section fourteen hundred two-a of this article.

§ 1405-A. Credit. A grantor shall be allowed a credit against the tax due on a conveyance of real property to the extent tax was paid by such grantor on a prior creation of a leasehold of all or a portion of the same real property or on the granting of an option or contract to purchase all or a portion of the same real property, by such grantor. Such credit shall be computed by multiplying the tax paid on the creation of the leasehold or on the granting of the option or contract by a fraction, the numerator of which is the value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid which is not yet due to such grantor on the date of the subsequent conveyance (and which such grantor will not be entitled to receive after such date), and the denominator of which is the total value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid.

Notwithstanding the definition of "controlling interest" contained in subdivision (b) of section fourteen hundred one of this article or anything to the contrary contained in subdivision (e) of section fourteen hundred one of this article, the tax imposed by this article shall apply to (1) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor, and (2) the subsequent conveyance of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the owner thereof. With respect to any such subsequent conveyance where the property is an individual residential unit, the consideration for the interest conveyed shall exclude the value of any liens on certificates of stock or other evidences of an ownership interest in and a proprietary lease from a corporation or partnership formed for the purpose of cooperative ownership of residential interest in real estate remaining thereon at the time of conveyance. In determining the tax on a conveyance described in paragraph one of this subdivision, a credit shall be allowed for a proportionate part of the amount of any tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings to the extent that such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership of such property and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property. The amount of the credit shall be determined by multiplying the amount of tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation by a percentage representing the extent to which such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property, and then multiplying the resulting product by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock conveyed in a transaction described in paragraph one of this subdivision and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock of the cooperative housing corporation (including any stock held by the corporation). In no event, however, shall such credit reduce the tax, on a conveyance described in paragraph one of this subdivision, below zero, nor shall any such credit be allowed for a tax paid more than twenty-four months prior to the date on which occurs the first in a series of conveyances of shares of stock in an offering of cooperative housing corporation shares described in paragraph one of this subdivision.

(b) Every cooperative housing corporation shall be required to file an information return with the commissioner of taxation and finance by July fifteenth of each year covering the preceding period of January first through June thirty-first and by January fifteenth of each year covering the preceding period of July first through December thirty-first. The return shall contain such information regarding the conveyance of shares of stock in the cooperative housing corporation as the commissioner may deem necessary, including but not limited to, the names, addresses and employee identification numbers or social security numbers of the grantor and the grantee, the number of shares conveyed, the date of the conveyance and the consideration paid for such conveyance. The commissioner of taxation and finance may enter into an agreement with the chief fiscal officer of the city of New York to provide that a single information return may be filed for purposes of the tax imposed by this article and the real property transfer tax imposed by such city.

(c) The information contained within information returns filed under subdivision (b) of this section may be provided by the commissioner to local assessors for use in real property tax administration, and such information shall not be subject to the secrecy provisions set forth in section fourteen hundred eighteen of this chapter, provided, however, that the commissioner shall not disclose social security numbers or employer identification numbers.

§ 1406. Preparation and sale of stamps. (a) The tax commission shall prepare adhesive documentary stamps for purposes of the real estate transfer tax of such design, in such form, in such denominations and in such quantities as it may from time to time deem advisable. The tax commission shall make provision for the sale of such stamps by its duly authorized agent or agents in such places, at such times and subject to such terms and conditions as in its judgment may be necessary.

(b) The tax commission may from time to time and as often as it deems advisable provide for the issuance and exclusive use of stamps of a new design and forbid the use of stamps of any other design. In order to make such a change and discontinue the use of stamps of a former design, the tax commission shall publish once in each week for each of three months immediately preceding the time when such change shall take effect, in one or more daily newspapers published in each of the first and second class cities of the state, a notice to the effect that after a certain date, which shall be at least three months after the first publication of such notice, only the new issue or design of stamps shall be accepted or used to pay the real estate transfer tax. After such date, it shall be unlawful for any person to make use of any other than the new issue or design of stamps in payment of such tax.

(c) Any person lawfully in possession of unused stamps of an old or superseded issue or design may, within ninety days from the time when such change becomes effective, surrender the unused stamps to the tax commission together with a sworn statement setting forth the name and address of the owner and party surrendering the stamps, how, when and from whom they were acquired and such other information as the tax commission may require. The tax commission shall redeem such unused and surrendered stamps by exchanging stamps of a like denomination of the new issue or design for them.

(d) Notwithstanding the provisions of sections seven and eight of the state printing law, the tax commission is hereby directed to make, enter into and execute for and on behalf of the state such contract or contracts for dyes, plates and printing necessary for the manufacture of the stamps provided for by this article. The tax commission shall be the custodian of all stamps, dyes, plates or other material or thing furnished by it and used in the manufacture of such state tax stamps.

(e) This section shall not apply to the extent the commissioner of taxation and finance chooses not to use documentary stamps for purposes of this tax.

§ 1407. Designation of agents. (a) The commissioner of taxation and finance is authorized to designate such banks, trust companies, savings banks, New York state branches of a foreign bank, industrial banks, savings and loan associations, national banking associations, federal savings and loan associations, title insurance corporations and recording officers as he shall deem necessary to act as his agent for purposes of collecting the tax imposed by this article. The commissioner of taxation and finance shall provide for the manner in which any such person may be designated as his agent subject to such terms and conditions as he shall prescribe. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid to such agents as provided in section fourteen hundred ten of this article. At the time such a person shall be designated as an agent of the commissioner of taxation and finance, the commissioner of taxation and finance shall prescribe whether such agent shall collect the real estate transfer tax through the sale of documentary stamps, through the use of a metering machine, by any other method which the commissioner of taxation and finance, by regulation, may provide, or by one or more of such methods.

(b) Every person designated to act as an agent pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section shall remit to the commissioner of taxation and finance any funds collected by such agent and any returns filed with such agent under this article, less any fee allowed under subdivision (c) of this section, at such times as the commissioner of taxation and finance shall prescribe and shall follow such procedures and keep such records as the commissioner of taxation and finance may prescribe. Each county (other than the counties comprising New York city) and New York city shall pay all expenses occasioned by the duties of their respective recording officers to collect the tax imposed by this article, including any expense for extra clerks.

(c) 1. When a recording officer designated to act as such agent is presented with a conveyance for recording that is accompanied by a receipt issued by the commissioner pursuant to subdivision (c) of section fourteen hundred twenty-three of this article, such recording officer shall be relieved of the responsibility to collect the real estate transfer tax thereon. He or she shall nonetheless be entitled to the portion of such tax that he or she would otherwise have retained pursuant to this subdivision, as provided by subdivision (b) of section fourteen hundred twenty-three of the tax law.

2. When a recording officer is presented with a conveyance for recording that is not accompanied by a receipt described in paragraph one of this subdivision, he or she shall collect the applicable real estate transfer tax and shall retain, from the real estate transfer tax which he or she collects, the sum of one dollar for each of the first five thousand conveyances accepted for recording and for which he or she has issued a documentary stamp or metering machine stamp or upon which instrument effecting the conveyance he or she has noted payment of the tax or that no tax is due, pursuant to any other method for payment of the tax provided for in the regulations of the commissioner of taxation and finance, during each annual period commencing on the first day of August and ending on the next succeeding thirty-first day of July and seventy-five cents for each conveyance in excess of five thousand accepted for recording and for which he or she has issued such a stamp or upon which instrument effecting the conveyance he or she has noted payment of the tax or that no tax is due, pursuant to such other method, during such annual period. Such fee shall be payable even though the stamp issued or such notation shows that no tax is due. Such a fee paid to the register of the city of New York shall belong to the city of New York and such a fee paid to a recording officer of a county outside such city shall belong to such officer's county. With respect to any other agents designated to act pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section, the commissioner of taxation and finance shall have the power to provide, at his or her discretion, for payment of a fee to such agent, in such manner and amount and subject to such limitations as he or she may determine, but any such fee for any annual period shall not be greater than the sum of one dollar for each of the first five thousand conveyances for which such agent has issued a documentary stamp or metering machine stamp or upon which instrument effecting the conveyance he or she has noted payment of the tax or that no tax is due, pursuant to any other method for payment of the tax provided for in the regulations of the commissioner of taxation and finance, during such annual period and seventy-five cents for each conveyance in excess of five thousand for which such agent has issued such a stamp or upon which instrument effecting the conveyance such agent has noted payment of the tax or that no tax is due, pursuant to such other method, during such annual period.

§ 1408. Liability of recording officer. A recording officer or any other person designated to act as agent pursuant to section fourteen hundred seven of this article shall not be liable under this section for any inaccuracy in the amount of tax he shall collect under this article so long as he shall compute and collect such tax on the amount of consideration or the value of the interest conveyed as such amount is stated on the return required to be filed pursuant to section fourteen hundred nine of this article.

§ 1409. Returns. (a) (1) A joint return shall be filed by both the grantor and the grantee for each conveyance whether or not a tax is due thereon other than a conveyance of an easement or license to a public utility as defined in subdivision two of section one hundred eighty-six-a of this chapter or to a public utility which is a provider of telecommunication services as defined in subdivision one of section one hundred eighty-six-e of this chapter, where the consideration is two dollars or less and is clearly stated as actual consideration in the instrument of conveyance.

(2) When the grantor or grantee of a deed for a building used as residential real property containing up to four family dwelling units is a limited liability company, the joint return shall not be accepted for filing unless it is accompanied by a document which identifies the names and business addresses of all members, managers, and any other authorized persons, if any, of such limited liability company and the names and business addresses or, if none, the business addresses of all shareholders, directors, officers, members, managers and partners of any limited liability company or other business entity that are to be the members, managers or authorized persons, if any, of such limited liability company. The identification of such names and addresses shall not be deemed an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy pursuant to article six of the public officers law. If any such member, manager or authorized person of the limited liability company is itself a limited liability company or other business entity other than a publicly traded entity, a REIT, a UPREIT, or a mutual fund, the names and addresses of the shareholders, directors, officers, members, managers and partners of the limited liability company or other business entity shall also be disclosed until full disclosure of ultimate ownership by natural persons is achieved. For purposes of this subdivision, the terms "members",

"managers", "authorized person", "limited liability company" and "other business entity" shall have the same meaning as those terms are defined in section one hundred two of the limited liability company law.

(3) The return shall be filed with the recording officer before the instrument effecting the conveyance may be recorded. However, if the tax is paid to the commissioner pursuant to section fourteen hundred ten of this article, the return shall be filed with such commissioner at the time the tax is paid. In that instance, a receipt evidencing the filing of the return and the payment of tax shall be filed with the recording officer before the instrument effecting the conveyance may be recorded. The recording officer shall handle such receipt in the same manner as a return filed with the recording officer.

(b) Subject to the provisions of section fourteen hundred twenty-three of this article, the return shall be signed by both the grantor and the grantee. Where a conveyance has more than one grantor or more than one grantee, the return shall be signed by all of such grantors and grantees. Where any or all of the grantors or any or all of the grantees have failed to sign a return, it shall be accepted as a return if signed by any one of the grantors or by any one of the grantees. Provided, however, those not signing the return shall not be relieved of any liability for the tax imposed by this article and the period of limitations for assessment of tax or of additional tax shall not apply to any such party.

(c) Returns shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until the commissioner of taxation and finance permits them to be destroyed.

(d) The commissioner shall prescribe the form of the return, the information which it shall contain and the documentation that shall accompany the return. The commissioner shall prescribe that, for recorded conveyances, such return shall be included on the form required to be filed with a conveyance of real property by section two hundred fifty-three-b of this chapter and the regulations promulgated thereunder, except that such commissioner may prescribe a supplemental form for purposes of the tax imposed by this article when the conveyance is pursuant to or in lieu of foreclosure or the conveyance consists in part of a mere change of identity or form of ownership or organization or the conveyance is one for which a credit for tax previously paid will be claimed. In addition, the commissioner, in the commissioner's discretion, may enter into an agreement with the chief fiscal officer of the cities of New York, Yonkers or Mount Vernon to provide that a single return may be filed with a recording officer for purposes of the tax imposed under this article and the tax imposed by such city.

(e) Certifications. The making or filing of any return or other document or copy thereof, required to be made or filed pursuant to this article, shall constitute a certification by the person making or filing such return or other document or copy thereof that the statements contained therein are true and that any copy filed is a true copy.

§ 1410. Payment. (a) The tax imposed hereunder shall be paid to the commissioner, or to any agent of the commissioner appointed pursuant to section fourteen hundred seven of this article, no later than the fifteenth day after the delivery of the instrument effecting the conveyance by the grantor to the grantee. For purposes of this article, the date of the instrument effecting the conveyance shall be presumed to be the date of delivery of such instrument. A notation shall be made (or stamps affixed) on the instrument effecting the conveyance as evidence of payment. The commissioner may provide for other methods of evidencing payment. Except as hereafter provided, all moneys received as such payments by the recording officer or any agent of the commissioner during each month, excluding the fees retained by such recording officer or agent pursuant to subdivision (c) of section fourteen hundred seven of this chapter, shall be remitted to the commissioner on the tenth day of the succeeding month or on such other day as is set by regulation by the commissioner. Provided, however, if the total of such payments required to be remitted to the commissioner by such recording officer or agent during the prior calendar year exceeded one million two hundred thousand dollars, all moneys received as such payments by such recording officer or agent of the commissioner from the first through and including the fifteenth day of a month, excluding the fees retained by such recording officer or agent pursuant to subdivision (c) of section fourteen hundred seven of this chapter, shall be remitted to the commissioner on the twenty-fifth day of the same month such moneys are received by such recording officer or agent. All moneys received as such payments by such recording officer or agent from the sixteenth through and including the last day of the month, excluding the fees retained by such recording officer or agent pursuant to subdivision (c) of section fourteen hundred seven of this chapter, shall be remitted to the commissioner on the tenth day of the succeeding month.

(b) A recording officer shall not record an instrument effecting a conveyance unless one of the following conditions is satisfied:

(1) the instrument is accompanied by a receipt issued by the commissioner pursuant to subdivision (c) of section fourteen hundred twenty-three of this article; or

(2) the return required by section fourteen hundred nine of this article has been filed and the real estate transfer tax due, if any, shall have been paid as provided in this section.

§ 1411. Determination of tax. (a) If a return required by this article is not filed, or if a return when filed is incorrect or insufficient, the amount of tax due shall be determined by the commissioner of taxation and finance from such records or information as may be obtainable, including the assessed valuation of the real property or interest therein and other appropriate factors. Notice of such determination shall be given to the person liable for the payment of the tax. Such determination shall finally and irrevocably fix the tax unless the person against whom it is assessed, within ninety days after the giving of notice of such determination, shall petition the division of tax appeals for a hearing, or unless the commissioner of taxation and finance of the commissioner's own motion shall redetermine the same. In any case before the division of tax appeals under this article, the burden of proof shall be on the petitioner. After such hearing, the division of tax appeals shall give notice of the determination of the administrative law judge to the person against whom the tax is assessed and the commissioner of taxation and finance. Such determination may be reviewed by the tax appeals tribunal as provided in article forty of this chapter. The decision of the tax appeals tribunal may be reviewed as provided in section two thousand sixteen of this chapter. A proceeding for judicial review shall not be instituted unless: (1) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with penalties and interest thereon, if any, shall be first deposited with the commissioner of taxation and finance and there shall be filed with the commissioner of taxation and finance an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of financial services of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve, to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of the proceeding; or (2) at the option of the petitioner, such undertaking filed with the commissioner of taxation and finance may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, penalties and interest thereon stated in such decision, plus the costs and charges which may accrue against him in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to deposit such taxes, penalties and interest as a condition precedent to the commencement of the proceeding.

(b) A person liable for the tax imposed by this article (whether or not a determination assessing a tax pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section has been issued) shall be entitled to have a tax due finally and irrevocably fixed prior to the ninety-day period referred to in subdivision (a) of this section, by filing with the commissioner of taxation and finance a signed statement in writing in such form as the commissioner of taxation and finance shall prescribe, consenting thereto.

§ 1412. Refunds. (a) A grantor or grantee claiming to have erroneously paid the tax imposed by this article or some other person designated by such grantor or grantee may file an application for refund within two years from the date of payment. Such application shall be filed with the commissioner of taxation and finance on a form which he shall prescribe.

(b) The commissioner of taxation and finance may grant or deny such application in whole or in part and shall notify the applicant by mail accordingly. Such determination shall be final and irrevocable unless the applicant shall, within ninety days after the mailing of notice of such determination, petition the division of tax appeals for a hearing. After such hearing, the administrative law judge shall mail notice of its determination to the applicant and to the commissioner of taxation and finance. Such determination may be reviewed by the tax appeals tribunal as provided in article forty of this chapter. The decision of the tax appeals tribunal may be reviewed as provided in section two thousand sixteen of this chapter. A proceeding for judicial review shall not be instituted unless an undertaking is filed with the commissioner of taxation and finance in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

(c) A person shall not be entitled to a refund under this section of a tax, interest or penalty which had been determined to be due pursuant to the provisions of section fourteen hundred eleven of this article where he has had a hearing or an opportunity for a hearing, as provided in said section, or has failed to avail himself of the remedies therein provided. However, a person filing with the commissioner of taxation and finance a signed statement in writing, as provided in subdivision (b) of section fourteen hundred eleven of this article, before a determination assessing tax, pursuant to subdivision (a) of section fourteen hundred eleven, is issued, shall, nevertheless, be entitled to apply for a refund pursuant to subdivisions (a) and (b) of this section, as long as such application is made within the time limitation set forth in such subdivision (a). No refund shall be made of a tax, interest or penalty paid after a determination by the commissioner of taxation and finance made pursuant to section fourteen hundred eleven unless it is found that such determination was erroneous, illegal or unconstitutional or otherwise improper after review by the tax appeals tribunal or of the commissioner of taxation and finance's own motion, or in a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, pursuant to the provisions of section two thousand sixteen of this chapter, in which event refund shall be made of the tax, interest or penalty found to have been overpaid.

(d) Interest shall be allowed and paid upon any refund made pursuant to this section except that no interest shall be allowed or paid if the amount thereof would be less than one dollar. Such interest shall be at the overpayment rate set pursuant to section fourteen hundred sixteen of this article and shall have like application, or if no rate is set, at the rate of six per centum per annum from the date when the tax, penalty or interest refunded was paid to a date preceding the date of the refund check by not more than thirty days. Provided, however, for purposes of this subdivision any tax paid before the last day prescribed for its payment shall be deemed to have been paid on such last day.

§ 1413. Remedies exclusive. The remedies provided by sections fourteen hundred eleven and fourteen hundred twelve of this article shall be the exclusive remedies available to any person for the review of tax liability imposed by this article. No determination or proposed determination of tax or determination on any application for refund shall be enjoined or reviewed by any action for declaratory judgment, an action for money had and received, or by any action or proceeding other than a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules.

§ 1414. Proceedings to recover tax. (a) Whenever any person shall fail to pay any tax, penalty or interest imposed by this article, the attorney general shall, upon the request of the commissioner of taxation and finance, bring or cause to be brought an action to enforce the payment of the same on behalf of the state of New York in any court of the state of New York or of any other state or of the United States.

(b) As an additional or alternate remedy, the commissioner of taxation and finance may issue a warrant, directed to the sheriff of any county commanding him to levy upon and sell the real and personal property of any grantor or grantee liable for the tax, which may be found within his county, for the payment of the amount thereof, with any penalty and interest, and the cost of executing the warrant, and to return such warrant to the commissioner of taxation and finance and to pay the commissioner the money collected by virtue thereof within sixty days after the receipt of such warrant. The sheriff shall within five days after the receipt of the warrant file with the county clerk a copy thereof, and thereupon such clerk shall enter in the judgment docket the name of the person mentioned in the warrant and the amount of the tax, penalty and interest for which the warrant is issued and the date when such copy is filed. Thereupon the amount of such warrant so docketed shall become a lien upon the title to and the interest in real and personal property of the person against whom the warrant is issued. Such lien shall not apply to personal property unless such warrant is filed in the department of state. The sheriff shall then proceed upon the warrant, in the same manner, and with like effect, as that provided by law in respect to executions issued against property upon judgments of a court of record and for services in executing the warrant he shall be entitled to the same fees, which he may collect in the same manner. In the discretion of the commissioner of taxation and finance a warrant of like terms, force and effect may be issued and directed to any officer or employee of the division of taxation, and in the execution thereof such officer or employee shall have all the powers conferred by law upon sheriffs, but shall be entitled to no fee or compensation in excess of the actual expenses paid in the performance of such duty. Upon such filing of a copy of a warrant, the commissioner of taxation and finance shall have the same remedies to enforce the amount due thereunder as if the state had recovered the judgment therefor.

§ 1415. General powers of the commissioner of taxation and finance.

The commissioner of taxation and finance shall have the power: (a) to administer and enforce the tax imposed by this article and the commissioner is authorized to make such rules and regulations, and to require such facts and information to be reported, as the commissioner may deem necessary to enforce the provisions of this article.

(b) For the purposes of ascertaining the correctness of any return, or for the purpose of making an estimate of tax of any return, or for the purpose of making an estimate of tax of any person, to examine or to cause to have examined, by any agent or representative designated by the commissioner for that purpose, any books, papers, records or memoranda related to the matters required to be included in the return, and may require the attendance of the person rendering the return or any officer or employee of such person, or the attendance of any other person having knowledge of the matters included in the return, and may take testimony and require proof material for its information, with power to administer oaths to such person or persons.

(c) To extend, for cause shown, the time of filing any return for a period not exceeding three months.

(d) To prescribe the methods for determining the consideration and net consideration attributable to that portion of real property located partly within and partly without the state of New York which is located within the state of New York or any interest therein.

(e) To require any grantor or grantee to keep such records, and for such length of time as may be required for the proper administration of this title and to furnish such records to the commissioner of taxation and finance upon request.

(f) The commissioner of taxation and finance, of the commissioner's own motion, may abate any small unpaid balance of an assessment of the tax to be levied hereunder, or any liability in respect thereof, if such commissioner determines under uniform rules prescribed by the commissioner that the administration and collection costs involved would not warrant collection of the amount due. The commissioner may also abate, of the commissioner's own motion, the unpaid portion of the assessment of any tax or any liability in respect thereof, which is excessive in amount, or is assessed after the expiration of the period of limitation properly applicable thereto, or is erroneously or illegally assessed. No claim for abatement under this subdivision shall be filed by a taxpayer.

§ 1416. Interest and civil penalties. (a) If the commissioner of taxation and finance determines that there has been an overpayment of tax, interest at the overpayment rate set by the commissioner shall be paid by the comptroller to the grantor or grantee, on any refund paid pursuant to the provisions of section fourteen hundred twelve of this article. If the commissioner determines that there has been an underpayment of tax, the grantor or grantee shall pay interest to the commissioner at the underpayment rate set by the commissioner on the amount of any tax not paid. The commissioner shall set the rates of interest to be paid on underpayment and overpayment of the taxes imposed by this article at the underpayment and overpayment rates of interest prescribed in subsection (e) of section one thousand ninety-six of this chapter.

(b) Any grantor or grantee failing to file a return or to pay any tax within the time required by this article shall be subject to a penalty of ten per centum of the amount of tax due plus an interest penalty of two per centum of such amount for each month of delay or fraction thereof after the expiration of the first month after such return was required to be filed or such tax became due, such interest penalty shall not exceed twenty-five per centum in the aggregate. If the commissioner of taxation and finance determines that such failure or delay was due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, the commissioner shall remit, abate or waive all of such penalty and such interest penalty.

(c) If any amount of tax is not paid on or before the last date prescribed in section fourteen hundred ten of this chapter for payment, interest at the underpayment rate set by the commissioner on such amount shall be paid for the period from such last date to the date paid. The commissioner shall set the rate of interest to be paid at the underpayment rate of interest prescribed in subsection (e) of section one thousand ninety-six of this chapter. Interest under this subdivision shall not be paid if the amount thereof is less than one dollar.

(d) The penalties and interest provided for in this section shall be paid to the commissioner of taxation and finance and shall be determined, assessed, collected and distributed in the same manner as the tax imposed by this article and any reference to tax in this article shall be deemed to refer to the penalties and interest imposed in this section.

§ 1417. Criminal penalties. For criminal penalties, see article thirty-seven of this chapter.

§ 1418. Returns to be secret. (a) Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the tax appeals tribunal, the commissioner of taxation and finance, any officer or employee of the department of taxation and finance, any person engaged or retained by such department on an independent contract basis, or any person who, pursuant to this section, is permitted to inspect any return or to whom a copy, an abstract or a portion of any return is furnished, or to whom any information contained in any return is furnished, to divulge or make known in any manner the particulars set forth or disclosed in any return required under this article. Provided, however, that nothing in this section shall prohibit a recording officer from making a notation, or affixing stamps, on an instrument effecting a conveyance indicating the amount of tax paid. No recorded instrument effecting a conveyance shall be considered a return for purposes of this section.

(b) The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the commissioner of taxation and finance in any action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter or in any other action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under this chapter to which the state or the commissioner of taxation and finance is a party or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of this article when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, the commissioner of taxation and finance may permit the secretary of the treasury of the United States or his delegates, or the proper tax officer of any city imposing a similar tax, or the authorized representative of either such officer, to inspect any return filed under this article, or may furnish to such officer or his authorized representative an abstract of any such return or supply him with information concerning an item contained in any such return, or disclosed by any investigation of tax liability under this article, but such permission shall be granted or such information furnished only if the laws of the United States or of such city, as the case may be, grant substantially similar privileges to the commissioner of taxation and finance or officer of this state charged with the administration of the tax imposed by this article, and only if such information is to be used for tax purposes only; and provided further the commissioner of taxation and finance may furnish to the commissioner of internal revenue or his authorized representative such returns filed under this article and other tax information, as he may consider proper, for use in court actions or proceedings under the internal revenue code, whether civil or criminal, where a written request therefor has been made to the commissioner of taxation and finance by the secretary of the treasury of the United States or his delegates, provided the laws of the United States grant substantially similar powers to the secretary of the treasury of the United States or his delegates. Where the commissioner of taxation and finance has so authorized the use of returns and other information in such actions or proceedings, officers and employees of the department of taxation and finance may testify in such actions or proceedings in respect to such returns or other information.

(d) The tax appeals tribunal shall, nevertheless, publish a copy or a summary of any decision rendered after the hearing required pursuant to this chapter.

(e) Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a grantor or grantee of an instrument effecting a conveyance or the duly authorized representative of a grantor or grantee of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with such instrument or to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the attorney general or other legal representatives of the state of the return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon, or against whom an action or proceeding under this chapter has been recommended by the commissioner of taxation and finance or the attorney general or has been instituted, or the inspection of the returns required under this article by the comptroller or duly designated officer or employee of the state department of audit and control, for purposes of the audit of a refund of any tax paid by a taxpayer under this article.

(f) Any officer or employee of the state who willfully violates the provisions of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this state for a period of five years thereafter.

(g) Cross-reference. For criminal penalties, see article thirty-seven of this chapter.

(h) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, the commissioner may furnish information relating to real property transfers obtained or derived from returns filed pursuant to this article in relation to the real estate transfer tax, to the extent that such information is also required to be reported to the commissioner by section three hundred thirty-three of the real property law and section five hundred seventy-four of the real property tax law and the rules adopted thereunder, provided such information was collected through a combined process established pursuant to an agreement entered into with the commissioner pursuant to paragraph viii of subdivision one-e of section three hundred thirty-three of the real property law. The commissioner may redisclose such information to the extent authorized by section five hundred seventy-four of the real property tax law. The commissioner may also disclose any information reported pursuant to paragraph two of subdivision (a) of section fourteen hundred nine of this article.

(i) (1) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, upon written request from the chairperson of the committee on ways and means of the United States House of Representatives, the chairperson of the committee on finance of the United States Senate, or the chairperson of the joint committee on taxation of the United States Congress, the commissioner shall furnish such committee with any current or prior year returns filed specified in such request that were under this article by the president of the United States, vice-president of the United States, member of the United States Congress representing New York state, or any person who served in or was employed by the executive branch of the government of the United States on the executive staff of the president, in the executive office of the president, or in an acting or confirmed capacity in a position subject to confirmation by the United States senate; or, in New York state: a statewide elected official, as defined in paragraph (a) of subdivision one of section seventy-three-a of the public officers law; a state officer or employee, as defined in subparagraph (i) of paragraph (c) of subdivision one of such section seventy-three-a; a political party chairperson, as defined in paragraph (h) of subdivision one of such section seventy-three-a; a local elected official, as defined in subdivisions one and two of section eight hundred ten of the general municipal law; a person appointed, pursuant to law, to serve due to vacancy or otherwise in the position of a local elected official, as defined in subdivisions one and two of section eight hundred ten of the general municipal law; a member of the state legislature; or a judge or justice of the unified court system; or filed by a partnership, firm, association, corporation, joint-stock company, trust or similar entity directly or indirectly controlled by any individual listed in this paragraph, whether by contract, through ownership or control of a majority interest in such entity, or otherwise, or filed by a partnership, firm, association, corporation, joint-stock company, trust or similar entity of which any individual listed in this paragraph holds ten percent or more of the voting securities of such entity; provided however that, prior to furnishing any return, the commissioner shall redact any copy of a federal return (or portion thereof) attached to, or any information on a federal return that is reflected on, such return, and any social security numbers, account numbers and residential address information.

(2) No returns shall be furnished pursuant to this subdivision unless the chairperson of the requesting committee certifies in writing that such returns have been requested related to, and in furtherance of, a legitimate task of the Congress, that the requesting committee has made a written request to the United States secretary of the treasury for related federal returns or return information, pursuant to 26 U.S.C. Section 6103(f), and that if such requested returns are inspected by and/or submitted to another committee, to the United States House of Representatives, or to the United States Senate, then such inspection and/or submission shall occur in a manner consistent with federal law as informed by the requirements and procedures established in 26 U.S.C. Section 6103(f).

§ 1419. Notices. (a) Any notice authorized or required under the provisions of this article may be given by mailing the same to the person for whom it is intended in a postpaid envelope addressed to such person at the address given in the last return filed by him pursuant to the provisions of this article, in any application made by him, or in any instrument evidencing the conveyance which is the subject of the notice, or, if no return has been filed or application made or address stated in the instrument, then to such address as may be obtainable. A notice of determination shall be mailed promptly by registered or certified mail. The mailing of such notice shall be presumptive evidence of the receipt of the same by the person to whom addressed. Any period of time which is determined according to the provisions of this title by the giving of notice shall commence to run from the date of mailing of such notice.

(b) (1) If any return, claim, statement, notice, application, or other document required to be filed, or any payment required to be made, within a prescribed period or on or before a prescribed date under authority of any provision of this article is, after such period or such date, delivered by United States mail to the commissioner of taxation and finance, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom such document is required to be filed, or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made, the date of the United States postmark stamped on the envelope shall be deemed to be the date of delivery. This subdivision shall apply only if the postmark date falls within the prescribed period or on or before the prescribed date for the filing of such document, or for making the payment, including any extension granted for such filing or payment, and only if such document or payment was deposited in the mail, postage prepaid, properly addressed to the commissioner of taxation and finance, bureau, office, officer or person with which or with whom the document is required to be filed or to which or to whom such payment is required to be made. If any document is sent by United States registered mail, such registration shall be prima facie evidence that such document was delivered to the commissioner of taxation and finance, bureau, office, officer or person to which or to whom addressed. To the extent that the commissioner of taxation and finance shall prescribe by regulation, certified mail may be used in lieu of registered mail under this section. This subdivision shall apply in the case of postmarks not made by the United States post office only if and to the extent provided by regulation of the commissioner of taxation and finance.

(2)(A) Any reference in paragraph one of this subdivision to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the secretary of the treasury of the United States pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code and any reference in paragraph one of this subdivision to a postmark by the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a designated delivery service. If the commissioner finds that any delivery service designated by such secretary is inadequate for the needs of the state, the commissioner may withdraw such designation for purposes of this article. The commissioner may also designate additional delivery services meeting the criteria of section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code for purposes of this article, or may withdraw any such designation if he finds that a delivery service so designated is inadequate for the needs of the state. Any reference in paragraph one of this subdivision to the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any delivery service designated by the commissioner and any reference in paragraph one of this subdivision to a postmark by the United States mail shall be treated as including a reference to any date recorded or marked in the manner described in section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code by a delivery service designated by the commissioner.

(B) Any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by the United States secretary of the treasury, or as may be designated by the commissioner pursuant to the same criteria used by such secretary for such designation pursuant to section seventy-five hundred two of the internal revenue code, shall be included within the meaning of registered or certified mail as used in paragraph one of this subdivision. If the commissioner finds that any equivalent of registered or certified mail designated by such secretary or the commissioner is inadequate for the needs of the state, the commissioner may withdraw such designation for purposes of this article.

(c) When the last day prescribed under authority of this article (including any extension of time) for performing any act falls on Saturday, Sunday or a legal holiday in the state of New York, the performance of such act shall be considered timely if it is performed on the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or a legal holiday.

§ 1420. Limitations of time. (a) The provisions of the civil practice law and rules or any other law relative to limitations of time for the enforcement of a civil remedy shall not apply to any proceeding or action taken by the state or the commissioner of taxation and finance to levy, appraise, assess, determine or enforce the collection of any tax or penalty provided by this article. No assessment of additional tax shall be made after the expiration of more than three years from the date of the filing of a return; provided, however, that where no return has been filed as provided by law or in the case of a willfully false or fraudulent return, the tax may be assessed at any time.

(b) Where, before the expiration of the period prescribed herein for the assessment of additional tax, a taxpayer has consented in writing that such period be extended, the amount of such additional tax due may be determined at any time within such extended period. The period so extended may be further extended by subsequent consents in writing made before the expiration of the extended period. If a taxpayer has consented in writing to the extension of the period for assessment, the period for filing an application for a refund pursuant to section fourteen hundred twelve shall not expire prior to six months after the expiration of the period within which an assessment may be made pursuant to the consent to extend the time for assessment of additional tax.

§ 1421. Deposit and dispositions of revenues. (a) From the taxes, interest and penalties attributable to the tax imposed pursuant to section fourteen hundred two of this article, the amount of one hundred ninety-nine million three hundred thousand dollars shall be deposited by the comptroller in the environmental protection fund established pursuant to section ninety-two-s of the state finance law for the fiscal year beginning April first, two thousand nine; the amount of one hundred nineteen million one hundred thousand dollars shall be deposited in such fund for the fiscal year beginning April first, two thousand ten; the amount of two hundred fifty-seven million three hundred fifty thousand dollars shall be deposited into such fund for the fiscal year beginning April first, two thousand twenty-two; and for each fiscal year thereafter. On or before June twelfth, nineteen hundred ninety-five and on or before the twelfth day of each month thereafter (excepting the first and second months of each fiscal year), the comptroller shall deposit into such fund from the taxes, interest and penalties collected pursuant to such section fourteen hundred two of this article which have been deposited and remain to the comptroller's credit in the banks, banking houses or trust companies referred to in section one hundred seventy-one-a of this chapter at the close of business on the last day of the preceding month, an amount equal to one-tenth of the annual amount required to be deposited in such fund pursuant to this section for the fiscal year in which such deposit is required to be made. In the event such amount of taxes, interest and penalties so remaining to the comptroller's credit is less than the amount required to be deposited in such fund by the comptroller, an amount equal to the shortfall shall be deposited in such fund by the comptroller with subsequent deposits, as soon as the revenue is available. Beginning April first, nineteen hundred ninety-seven, the comptroller shall transfer monthly to the clean water/clean air fund established pursuant to section ninety-seven-bbb of the state finance law, all moneys remaining from such taxes, interest and penalties collected that are not required for deposit in the environmental protection fund.

(b) Notwithstanding subdivision (a) of this section, the taxes, interest and penalties attributable to (i) the tax imposed under section fourteen hundred two of this article at the rate specified in paragraph two of subdivision (a) of such section, and (ii) the tax imposed under section fourteen hundred two-b of this article, and collected or received by the commissioner shall be deposited daily with such responsible banks, banking houses or trust companies, as may be designated by the comptroller, to the credit of the comptroller in trust for the metropolitan transportation authority. An account may be established in one or more of such depositories. Such deposits will be kept separate and apart from all other money in the possession of the comptroller. The comptroller shall require adequate security from all such depositories. Of the total revenue collected or received under this article, the comptroller shall retain such amount as the commissioner may determine to be necessary for refunds under this article. On or before the twelfth and twenty-sixth day of each succeeding month, after reserving such amount for such refunds, the commissioner shall certify to the comptroller the amount of all revenues so received during the prior month as a result of the taxes, interest and penalties so imposed. The amount of revenues so certified shall be paid over by the fifteenth and the final business day of each succeeding month from such account without appropriation into the central business district tolling capital lockbox fund established pursuant to section five hundred fifty-three-j of the public authorities law, provided, however, that the comptroller shall ensure that any payments to the central business district tolling capital lockbox fund established that are due to be paid by the final business day in the month of December pursuant to this subdivision shall be received by the central business district tolling capital lockbox fund on the same business day in which it is paid.

§ 1422. Foreclosure proceedings. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer of property made as a result of an order of the court in a foreclosure proceeding ordering the sale of such property, the referee or sheriff effectuating such transfer shall not be liable for any interest or penalties that are authorized pursuant to this article or article thirty-seven of this chapter.

§ 1423. Modernization of real property transfer reporting. (a) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, the commissioner is hereby authorized to implement a system for the electronic collection of data relating to transfers of real property. In connection therewith, the commissioner may combine the two forms referred to in paragraph one of this subdivision into a consolidated real property transfer form to be filed with him or her electronically; provided:

(1) The two forms that may be so combined are the real estate transfer tax return required by section fourteen hundred nine of this article, and the real property transfer report required by subdivision one-e of section three hundred thirty-three of the real property law. However, the commissioner shall continue to maintain both such return and such report as separate forms, so that a party who prefers not to file a consolidated real property transfer form with the commissioner electronically shall have the option of filing both such return and such report with the recording officer, as otherwise provided by law. Under no circumstances shall a consolidated real property transfer form be filed with, or accepted by, the recording officer.

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of section fourteen hundred eighteen of this article, any information appearing on a consolidated real property transfer form that is required to be included on the real property transfer report required by subdivision one-e of section three hundred thirty-three of the real property law shall be subject to public disclosure.

(3) When a consolidated real property transfer form is electronically submitted to the department by either the grantor or grantee or a duly authorized agent thereof, the act of submitting such form shall be deemed to be the signing of the return as required by paragraph (v) of subdivision one-e of the real property law or subdivision (b) of section fourteen hundred nine of this article, and the requirement that all the grantors and grantees shall sign the return shall not apply. However, the fact that a grantor or grantee has not electronically submitted the form shall not relieve that grantor or grantee of any liability for the tax imposed by this article.

(b) When a consolidated real property transfer form is filed with the commissioner electronically pursuant to this section, the real estate transfer tax imposed under this article, and the fee that would otherwise be retained by the recording officer pursuant to subdivision three of section three hundred thirty-three of the real property law, shall be paid to the commissioner therewith. The commissioner shall retain on behalf of the recording officer the portion of such tax that would otherwise have been retained by the recording officer pursuant to subdivision (c) of section fourteen hundred seven of this article, and the portion of such fee that would otherwise have been retained by the recording officer pursuant to subdivision three of section three hundred thirty-three of the real property law. The moneys so retained by the commissioner on behalf of the recording officer, hereinafter referred to as the recording officer's fees, shall be deposited daily with such responsible banks, banking houses, or trust companies as may be designated by the state comptroller. Of the recording officer's fees so deposited, the comptroller shall retain in the comptroller's hands such amount as the commissioner may determine to be necessary for refunds or reimbursements of such fees collected or received pursuant to this section, out of which the comptroller shall pay any refunds or reimbursements of such fees to which persons shall be entitled under the provisions of this section. The comptroller, after reserving such refund and reimbursement fund shall, on or before the twelfth day of each month, pay to the appropriate recording officers an amount equal to the recording officer's fees reserved on their behalf. Provided, however, that the commissioner is authorized to request that the comptroller refrain from making such a payment of such fees to a recording officer until the commissioner has certified to the comptroller that the recording officer has supplied the commissioner with the liber and page numbers of the recorded instruments that gave rise to such fees.

(c) The system for the electronic submission of consolidated real property transfer forms shall be designed so that upon the successful electronic filing of such a form and the payment of the associated taxes and fees, the party submitting the same shall be provided with an electronic receipt in a form prescribed by the commissioner that confirms such filing and payment. Such party may file a printed copy of such receipt with the recording officer when offering the associated instrument for recording, in lieu of submitting to the recording officer the return, report, tax and fee that would otherwise have been required under this article and subdivisions one-e and three of section three hundred thirty-three of the real property law. The recording officer shall retain such receipt for a minimum of three years, unless otherwise directed by the commissioner, and shall provide a copy thereof to the commissioner for inspection upon his or her request.

(d) Upon recording the instrument to which the consolidated real property transfer form pertains, the recording officer shall provide the commissioner with the liber and page thereof at such time and in such manner as the commissioner shall prescribe.

(e) The provisions of this section shall not be applicable within a city or county that has implemented its own electronic system for the recording of deeds, the filing of the real estate transfer tax returns and the real property transfer reports prescribed by the commissioner, and the payment of the associated taxes and fees, unless such city or county shall notify the commissioner that such jurisdiction will follow the system authorized pursuant to this section to be used therein, in writing.

1437. Foreclosure proceedings.

§ 1424. Definitions. When used in this article, unless otherwise expressly stated:

1. "Person" means an individual, partnership, limited liability company, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

2. "Controlling interest" means (a) in the case of a corporation, either fifty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (b) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

3. "Real property" means every estate or right, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, in lands, tenements or hereditaments, including buildings, structures and other improvements thereon, which are located in whole or in part within Erie county. It shall not include rights to sepulture.

4. "Consideration" means the price actually paid or required to be paid for the real property or interest therein, including payment for an option or contract to purchase real property, whether or not expressed in the deed and whether paid or required to be paid by money, property, or any other thing of value. It shall include the cancellation or discharge of an indebtedness or obligation. It shall also include the amount of any mortgage, purchase money mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, whether or not the underlying indebtedness is assumed or taken subject to.

(a) In the case of a creation of a leasehold interest or the granting of an option with use and occupancy of real property, consideration shall include but not be limited to the value of the rental and other payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property or interest therein, the value of any amount paid for an option to purchase or renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew.

(b) In the case of a creation of a subleasehold interest, consideration shall include but not be limited to the value of the sublease rental payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property, the value of any amount paid for an option to renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew less the value of the remaining prime lease rental payments required to be made.

(c) In the case of a controlling interest in any entity that owns real property, consideration shall mean the fair market value of the real property or interest therein, apportioned based on the percentage of the ownership interest transferred or acquired in the entity.

(d) In the case of an assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest or the assignment or surrender of an option or contract to purchase real property, consideration shall not include the value of the remaining rental payments required to be made pursuant to the terms of such lease or the amount to be paid for the real property pursuant to the terms of the option or contract being assigned or surrendered.

(e) In the case of (1) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor and (2) the subsequent conveyance by the owner thereof of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold for a cooperative unit other than an individual residential unit, consideration shall include a proportionate share of the unpaid principal of any mortgage on the real property of the cooperative housing corporation comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings. Such share shall be determined by multiplying the total unpaid principal of the mortgage by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock being conveyed in the cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock in the cooperative housing corporation.

5. "Conveyance" means the transfer or transfers of any interest in real property by any method, including but not limited to sale, exchange, assignment, surrender, mortgage foreclosure, transfer in lieu of foreclosure, option, trust indenture, taking by eminent domain, conveyance upon liquidation or by a receiver, or transfer or acquisition of a controlling interest in any entity with an interest in real property. Transfer of an interest in real property shall include the creation of a leasehold or sublease only where (a) the sum of the term of the lease or sublease and any options for renewal exceeds forty-nine years, (b) substantial capital improvements are or may be made by or for the benefit of the lessee or sublessee, and (c) the lease or sublease is for substantially all of the premises constituting the real property. Notwithstanding the foregoing, conveyance of real property shall not include the creation, modification, extension, spreading, severance, consolidation, assignment, transfer, release or satisfaction of a mortgage; a mortgage subordination agreement, a mortgage severance agreement, an instrument given to perfect or correct a recorded mortgage; or a release of lien of tax pursuant to this chapter or the internal revenue code.

6. "Interest in the real property" includes title in fee, a leasehold interest, a beneficial interest, an encumbrance, development rights, air space and air rights, or any other interest with the right to use or occupancy of real property or the right to receive rents, profits or other income derived from real property. It shall also include an option or contract to purchase real property. It shall not include a right of first refusal to purchase real property.

7. "Grantor" means the person making the conveyance of real property or interest therein. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer or an acquisition of a controlling interest in an entity with an interest in real property, "grantor" means the entity with an interest in real property or a shareholder or partner transferring stock or partnership interest.

8. "Grantee" means the person who obtains real property or interest therein as a result of a conveyance.

9. "Recording officer" means the county clerk of the county of Erie.

10. "Treasurer" means the commissioner of finance of the county of Erie.

§ 1425. Imposition of tax. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the county of Erie, acting through its local legislative body, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such county a tax on each conveyance of real property or interest therein when the consideration exceeds five hundred dollars, at the rate of two dollars and fifty cents for each five hundred dollars or fractional part thereof; provided, however, that with respect to (A) a conveyance of a one, two or three-family house and an individual residential condominium unit, or interests therein; and (B) conveyances where the consideration is less than five hundred thousand dollars, the consideration for the interest conveyed shall exclude the value of any lien or encumbrance remaining thereon at the time of conveyance. Such local law shall apply to any conveyance occurring on or after June first, nineteen hundred ninety, but shall not apply to conveyances made on or after such date pursuant to binding written contracts entered into prior to such date, provided that the date of execution of such contract is confirmed by independent evidence such as the recording of the contract, payment of a deposit or other facts and circumstances as determined by the treasurer.

§ 1426. Payment of tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article shall be paid to the treasurer or the recording officer acting as the agent of the treasurer upon designation as such agent by the treasurer. Such tax shall be paid at the same time as the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter is required to be paid. Such treasurer or recording officer shall endorse upon each deed or instrument effecting a conveyance a receipt for the amount of the tax so paid.

2. A return shall be required to be filed with such treasurer or recording officer for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article at the same time as a return is required to be filed for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter. The return, for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article, shall be a photocopy or carbon copy of the real estate transfer tax return required to be filed pursuant to section fourteen hundred nine of this chapter. However, when an apportionment is required to be made pursuant to section fourteen hundred thirty-four of this article, a supplemental form shall also be required to be filed. The real estate transfer tax returns and supplemental forms required to be filed pursuant to this section shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until such treasurer or recording officer orders them to be destroyed.

§ 1427. Liability for tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid by the grantor. If the grantor has failed to pay the tax imposed pursuant to this article or if the grantor is exempt from such tax, the grantee shall have the duty to pay the tax. Where the grantee has the duty to pay the tax because the grantor has failed to pay, such tax shall be the joint and several liability of the grantor and the grantee.

2. For the purpose of the proper administration of this article and to prevent evasion of the tax hereby authorized, it shall be presumed that all conveyances are taxable. Where the consideration includes property other than money, it shall be presumed that the consideration is the fair market value of the real property or interest therein. These presumptions shall prevail until the contrary is proven, and the burden of proving the contrary shall be on the person liable for payment of the tax.

§ 1428. Exemptions. 1. The following shall be exempt from payment of the real estate transfer tax:

(a) The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, political subdivisions, or public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada).

(b) The United Nations, the United States of America and any of its agencies and instrumentalities.

The exemption of such governmental bodies or persons shall not, however, relieve a grantee from them of liability for the tax.

2. The tax shall not apply to any of the following conveyances:

(a) Conveyances to the United Nations, the United States of America, the state of New York, or any of their instrumentalities, agencies or political subdivisions (or any public corporation, including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada);

(b) Conveyances which are or were used to secure a debt or other obligation;

(c) Conveyances which, without additional consideration, confirm, correct, modify or supplement a prior conveyance;

(d) Conveyances of real property without consideration and otherwise than in connection with a sale, including conveyances conveying realty as bona fide gifts;

(e) Conveyances given in connection with a tax sale;

(f) Conveyances to effectuate a mere change of identity or form of ownership or organization where there is no change in beneficial ownership, other than conveyances to a cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings;

(g) Conveyances which consist of a deed of partition;

(h) Conveyances given pursuant to the federal bankruptcy act;

(i) Conveyances of real property owned and occupied as a principal residence by one or more persons, at least one of whom is sixty-two years of age or over, provided that such property was both owned and occupied by at least one of such persons for a period of at least one year prior to the date of transfer, and further provided that such exemption shall be limited to transfers of residential properties consisting of one or two dwelling units;

(j) Conveyances of real property which consist of the execution of a contract to sell real property without the use or occupancy of such property or the granting of an option to purchase real property without the use or occupancy of such property; and

(k) Conveyances of an option or contract to purchase real property with the use or occupancy of such property where the consideration is less than two hundred thousand dollars and such property was used solely by the grantor as his personal residence and consists of a one, two or three-family house, an individual residential condominium unit or the sale of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold covering an individual residential cooperative unit.

§ 1428-a. Credit. 1. A grantor shall be allowed a credit against the tax due on a conveyance of real property to the extent tax was paid by such grantor on a prior creation of a leasehold of all or a portion of the same real property or on the granting of an option or contract to purchase all or a portion of the same real property, by such grantor. Such credit shall be computed by multiplying the tax paid on the creation of the leasehold or on the granting of the option or contract by a fraction, the numerator of which is the value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid which is not yet due to such grantor on the date of the subsequent conveyance (and which such grantor will not be entitled to receive after such date), and the denominator of which is the total value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid.

2. A grantor shall be allowed a credit against the tax due on a conveyance of real property under the following circumstances: (a) the grantor purchased the property without its being improved by residential premises, (b) the grantor improved it by the construction of residential premises thereon, and (c) the grantor subsequently sold such improved property. At the time of the first sale of the property after the making of the improvement, the grantor shall be allowed a credit equal to the amount of the tax actually paid on the conveyance immediately prior to the making of the improvement.

§ 1428-b. Cooperative housing corporation transfers. 1. Notwithstanding the definition of "controlling interest" contained in subdivision two of section fourteen hundred twenty-four of this article or anything to the contrary contained in subdivision five of section fourteen hundred twenty-four of this article, the tax imposed pursuant to this article shall apply to (a) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor, and (b) the subsequent conveyance of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the owner thereof. With respect to any such subsequent conveyance where the property is an individual residential unit, the consideration for the interest conveyed shall exclude the value of any liens on certificates of stock or other evidences of an ownership interest in and a proprietary lease from a corporation or partnership formed for the purpose of cooperative ownership of residential interest in real estate remaining thereon at the time of conveyance. In determining the tax on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, a credit shall be allowed for a proportionate part of the amount of any tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings to the extent that such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership of such property and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property. The amount of the credit shall be determined by multiplying the amount of tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation by a percentage representing the extent to which such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property, and then multiplying the resulting product by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock conveyed in a transaction described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock of the cooperative housing corporation (including any stock held by the corporation). In no event, however, shall such credit reduce the tax, on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, below zero, nor shall any such credit be allowed for a tax paid more than twenty-four months prior to the date on which occurs the first in a series of conveyances of shares of stock in an offering of cooperative housing corporation shares described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision.

2. Every cooperative housing corporation shall be required to file an information return with the treasurer by July fifteenth of each year covering the preceding period of January first through June thirty-first and by January fifteenth of each year covering the preceding period of July first through December thirty-first. The return shall contain such information regarding the conveyance of shares of stock in the cooperative housing corporation as the treasurer may deem necessary, including but not limited to, the names, addresses and employee identification numbers or social security numbers of the grantor and the grantee, the number of shares conveyed, the date of the conveyance and the consideration paid for such conveyance.

§ 1429. Designation of agents. The treasurer is authorized to designate the recording officer to act as its agent for purposes of collecting the tax authorized by this article. The treasurer shall provide for the manner in which such person may be designated as its agent subject to such terms and conditions as it shall prescribe. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid to such agent as provided in section fourteen hundred twenty-six of this article.

§ 1430. Liability of recording officer. A recording officer shall not be liable for any inaccuracy in the amount of tax imposed pursuant to this article that he shall collect so long as he shall compute and collect such tax on the amount of consideration or the value of the interest conveyed as such amounts are provided to him by the person paying the tax.

§ 1431. Refunds. Whenever the treasurer shall determine that any moneys received under the provisions of the local law enacted pursuant to this article were paid in error, it may cause such moneys to be refunded pursuant to such rules and regulations it may prescribe, provided any application for such refund is filed with the treasurer within two years from the date the erroneous payment was made.

§ 1432. Deposit and disposition of revenue. 1. (a) All taxes collected or received by the treasurer or his duly authorized agent under the provisions of the local law enacted pursuant to this article shall be deposited in accordance with provisions of a local law adopted by the legislative body of Erie county which local law shall designate proper officers to be responsible for deposit of revenue collected or received under this article. Such local law shall also provide that any officer designated to collect, receive, or deposit such revenue shall maintain a system of accounts showing the revenue collected or received from the tax imposed pursuant to this article. Such local law shall also provide that an officer of the county shall pay to the Niagara Frontier transportation authority all revenue deposited under this section. Such payment shall be made on the tenth day of each month for the preceding month.

(b) Distributions made to the Niagara Frontier transportation authority shall be used only for operations of mass transportation services provided by the Niagara Frontier transportation authority within the county of Erie. All such distributions shall be made in accordance with the provisions of a contract between the county of Erie and the Niagara Frontier Transit Metro System, Inc. Such contract may only be amended with the consent of the Niagara Frontier Transit Metro System, Inc. and when authorized by at least a two-thirds vote of the county legislature.

2. Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision one of this section, on and after the first day of April, nineteen hundred ninety-three, distributions shall be paid into a repair reserve fund established by the county pursuant to section six-d of the general municipal law for the purpose of repair of county roads and bridges within such county.

§ 1433. Judicial review. 1. Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable under section fourteen hundred twenty-six of this article shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within four months after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of financial services of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding or (b) at the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interest and penalties stated in such determination, plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

2. Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally assessed or collected and application for the refund or revision thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund or revision, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, (i) that such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of the notice of such denial, (ii) that a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and (iii) that an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

§ 1434. Apportionment. The local law adopted by the legislative body of Erie county shall provide for a method of apportionment for determining the amount of tax due whenever the real property or interest therein is situated within and without Erie county.

§ 1435. Miscellaneous. The local law adopted by the legislative body of Erie county may contain such other provisions as such legislative body deems necessary for the proper administration of the tax imposed pursuant to this article, including provisions concerning the determination of tax, the imposition of interest on underpayments and overpayments and the imposition of civil penalties. Such provisions shall be identical to the corresponding provisions of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter, so far as such provisions can be made applicable to the tax imposed pursuant to this article.

§ 1436. Returns to be secret. (a) Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the treasurer or any officer or employee of Erie County or any person engaged or retained by such county on an independent contract basis to divulge or make known in any manner the particulars set forth or disclosed in any return required under a local law enacted pursuant to this article. Provided, however, that nothing in this section shall prohibit the recording officer from making a notation on an instrument effecting a conveyance indicating the amount of tax paid. No recorded instrument effecting a conveyance shall be considered a return for purposes of this section.

(b) The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the county in any action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under a local law enacted pursuant to this article to which such county or an officer or employee of such county is a party or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of a local law enacted pursuant to this article when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more.

(c) Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a grantor or grantee of an instrument effecting a conveyance or the duly authorized representative of a grantor or grantee of a certified copy of

any return filed in connection with such instrument or to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the legal representatives of such county of the return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon.

(d) Any officer or employee of such county who willfully violates the provisions of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this state for a period of five years thereafter.

§ 1437. Foreclosure proceedings. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer of property made as a result of an order of the court in a foreclosure proceeding ordering the sale of such property, the referee or sheriff effectuating such transfer shall not be liable for any interest or penalties that are authorized pursuant to this article or article thirty-seven of this chapter.

1438-p. Foreclosure proceedings.

* § 1438-a. Definitions. When used in this article, unless otherwise expressly stated, the following words and terms shall have the following meanings:

1. "Person" means an individual, partnership, limited liability company, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

2. "Controlling interest" means (a) in the case of a corporation, either fifty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (b) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

3. "Real property" means every estate or right, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, in lands, tenements or hereditaments, including buildings, structures and other improvements thereon, which are located in whole or in part within the town of Red Hook. It shall not include rights to sepulture.

4. "Consideration" means the price actually paid or required to be paid for the real property or interest therein, including payment for an option or contract to purchase real property, whether or not expressed in the deed and whether paid or required to be paid by money, property, or any other thing of value. It shall include the cancellation or discharge of an indebtedness or obligation. It shall also include the amount of any mortgage, purchase money mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, whether or not the underlying indebtedness is assumed or taken subject to.

(b) In the case of a creation of a subleasehold interest, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the sublease rental payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property, the value of any amount paid for an option to renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew less the value of the remaining prime lease rental payments required to be made.

(d) In the case of an assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest or the assignment or surrender of an option or contract to purchase real property, consideration shall not include the value of the remaining rental payments required to be made pursuant to the terms of such lease or the amount to be paid for the real property pursuant to the terms of the option or contract being assigned or surrendered.

conveyed in the cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock in the cooperative housing corporation.

5. "Conveyance" means the transfer or transfers of any interest in real property by any method, including but not limited to, sale, exchange, assignment, surrender, mortgage foreclosure, transfer in lieu of foreclosure, option, trust indenture, taking by eminent domain, conveyance upon liquidation or by a receiver, or transfer or acquisition of a controlling interest in any entity with an interest in real property. Transfer of an interest in real property shall include the creation of a leasehold or sublease only where (a) the sum of the term of the lease or sublease and any options for renewal exceeds forty-nine years, (b) substantial capital improvements are or may be made by or for the benefit of the lessee or sublessee, and (c) the lease or sublease is for substantially all of the premises constituting the real property. Notwithstanding the foregoing, conveyance of real property shall not include a conveyance made pursuant to devise, bequest or inheritance; the creation, modification, extension, spreading, severance, consolidation, assignment, transfer, release or satisfaction of a mortgage; a mortgage subordination agreement, a mortgage severance agreement, an instrument given to perfect or correct a recorded mortgage; or a release of lien of tax pursuant to this chapter or the internal revenue code.

6. "Interest in the real property" includes title in fee, a leasehold interest, a beneficial interest, an encumbrance, development rights, air space and air rights, or any other interest with the right to use or occupancy of real property or the right to receive rents, profits or other income derived from real property. It shall also include an option or contract to purchase real property. It shall not include a right of first refusal to purchase real property.

7. "Grantor" means the person making the conveyance of real property or interest therein. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer or an acquisition of a controlling interest in an entity with an interest in real property, "grantor" means the entity with an interest in real property or a shareholder or partner transferring stock or partnership interest, respectively.

8. "Grantee" means the person who obtains real property or interest therein as a result of a conveyance.

9. "Fund" means a community preservation fund created pursuant to section sixty-four-h of the town law.

10. "Recording officer" means the county clerk of the county of Dutchess.

11. "Town" means the town of Red Hook, county of Dutchess.

12. "Treasurer" means the treasurer of the county of Dutchess.

13. "Town supervisor" means the town supervisor of the town of Red Hook.

14. "Tax" shall mean the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to section fourteen hundred thirty-eight-b of this article or, if the context clearly indicates, shall mean the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to article thirty-one of this chapter.

15. "Residential real property" means property which satisfies at least one of the following conditions:

(a) the property classification code assigned to the property on the latest final assessment roll, as reported on the transfer report form, indicates that the property is a one, two or three family home or a rural residence; or

(b) the transfer report indicates that the property is a one, two or three family residential property that has been newly constructed on vacant land; or

(c) the transfer report form indicates that the property is a residential condominium.

 § 1438-b. Imposition of tax. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the town of Red Hook, acting through its town board, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt a local law imposing in such town a tax on each conveyance of real property or interest therein not to exceed a maximum of two percent of the consideration for such conveyance, subject to the exemptions set forth in section fourteen hundred thirty-eight-e of this article; any such local law shall fix the rate of such tax. Provided, however, any such local law imposing, repealing or reimposing such tax shall be subject to a mandatory referendum pursuant to section twenty-three of the municipal home rule law. Notwithstanding the foregoing, prior to adoption of such local law, the town must establish a community preservation fund pursuant to section sixty-four-h of the town law. Revenues from such tax shall be deposited in such fund and may be used solely for the purposes of such fund. Such local law shall apply to any conveyance occurring on or after the first day of a month to be designated by such town board, which is not less than sixty days after the enactment of such local law, but shall not apply to conveyances made on or after such date pursuant to binding written contracts entered into prior to such date, provided that the date of execution of such contract is confirmed by independent evidence such as the recording of the contract, payment of a deposit or other facts and circumstances as determined by the treasurer.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2026

 § 1438-c. Payment of tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article shall be paid to the treasurer or the recording officer acting as the agent of the treasurer upon designation as such agent by the treasurer. Such tax shall be paid at the same time as the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter is required to be paid. Such treasurer or recording officer shall endorse upon each deed or instrument effecting a conveyance a receipt for the amount of the tax so paid.

2. A return shall be required to be filed with such treasurer or recording officer for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article at the same time as a return is required to be filed for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter. The treasurer shall prescribe the form of return, the information which it shall contain, and the documentation that shall accompany the return. Said form shall be identical to the real estate transfer tax return required to be filed pursuant to section fourteen hundred nine of this chapter, except that the treasurer shall adapt said form to reflect the provisions in this chapter that are inconsistent, different, or in addition to the provisions of article thirty-one of this chapter. The real estate transfer tax returns required to be filed pursuant to this section shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until such treasurer or recording officer orders them to be destroyed.

 § 1438-d. Liability for tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid by the grantee. If the grantee has failed to pay the tax imposed pursuant to this article or if the grantee is exempt from such tax, the grantor shall have the duty to pay the tax. Where the grantor has the duty to pay the tax because the grantee has failed to pay the tax, such tax shall be the joint and several liability of the grantee and the grantor.

2. For the purpose of the proper administration of this article and to prevent evasion of the tax hereby imposed, it shall be presumed that all conveyances are subject to the tax. Where the consideration includes property other than money, it shall be presumed that the consideration is the fair market value of the real property or interest therein. These presumptions shall prevail until the contrary is proven, and the burden of proving the contrary shall be on the person liable for payment of the tax.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2026

* § 1438-e. Exemptions. 1. The following shall be exempt from the payment of the real estate transfer tax imposed by this article:

(a) The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, political subdivisions, or public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to an agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada); and

(b) The United Nations, the United States of America or any of its agencies or instrumentalities.

2. The tax shall not apply to any of the following conveyances:

(a) Conveyances to the United Nations, the United States of America, the state of New York, or any of their instrumentalities, agencies or political subdivisions (or any public corporation, including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada);

(b) Conveyances which are or were used to secure a debt or other obligation;

(c) Conveyances which, without additional consideration, confirm, correct, modify or supplement a deed previously recorded;

(d) Conveyances of real property without consideration and otherwise than in connection with a sale, including deeds conveying realty as bona fide gifts;

(e) Conveyances given in connection with a tax sale;

(f) Conveyances to effectuate a mere change of identity or form of ownership or organization where there is no change in beneficial ownership, other than conveyances to a cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings;

(g) Conveyances which consist of a deed of partition;

(h) Conveyances given pursuant to the federal bankruptcy act;

(i) Conveyances of real property which consist of the execution of a contract to sell real property without the use or occupancy of such property or the granting of an option to purchase real property without the use or occupancy of such property;

(j) Conveyances of real property or a portion or portions of real property that are the subject of one or more of the following development restrictions:

(1) agricultural, conservation, scenic, or an open space easement,
(2) covenants or restrictions prohibiting development where the property or portion of property being conveyed has had its development rights permanently removed,

(3) a purchase of development rights agreement where the property or portion of property being conveyed has had its development rights permanently removed,

(4) a transfer of development rights agreement, where the property being conveyed has had its development rights removed,

(5) real property subject to any locally adopted land preservation agreement, provided said exemption is included in the local law imposing the tax authorized by this article;

(k) Conveyances of real property, where the property is viable agricultural land as defined in subdivision seven of section three hundred one of the agriculture and markets law and the entire property to be conveyed is to be made subject to one of the development restrictions provided for in subparagraph two of paragraph (j) of this subdivision provided that said development restriction precludes the conversion of the property to a non-agricultural use for at least eight years from the date of transfer, and said development restriction is evidenced by an easement, agreement, or other suitable instrument which is to be conveyed to the town simultaneously with the conveyance of the real property; or

(l) Conveyances of real property for open space, parks, or historic preservation purposes to any not-for-profit tax exempt corporation operated for conservation, environmental, or historic preservation purposes.

3. An exemption from the tax which is equal to the median sales price of residential real property within the applicable county, as determined by the office of real property services pursuant to section four hundred twenty-five of the real property tax law, shall be allowed on the consideration of the conveyance of improved or unimproved real property or an interest therein.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2026

* § 1438-f. Credit. A grantee shall be allowed a credit against the tax due on a conveyance of real property to the extent tax was paid by such grantee on a prior creation of a leasehold of all or a portion of the same real property or on the granting of an option or contract to purchase all or a portion of the same real property by such grantee. Such credit shall be computed by multiplying the tax paid on the creation of the leasehold or on the granting of the option or contract by a fraction, the numerator of which is the value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid which is not yet due to such grantor on the date of the subsequent conveyance (and which such grantor will not be entitled to receive after such date), and the denominator of which is the total value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid.

* § 1438-g. Cooperative housing corporation transfers. 1.

Notwithstanding the definition of "controlling interest" contained in subdivision two of section fourteen hundred thirty-eight-a of this article or anything to the contrary contained in subdivision five of section fourteen hundred thirty-eight-a of this article, the tax imposed pursuant to this article shall apply to (a) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor, and (b) the subsequent conveyance of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the owner thereof. With respect to any such subsequent conveyance where the property is an individual residential unit, the consideration for the interest conveyed shall exclude the value of any liens on certificates of stock or other evidences of an ownership interest in and a proprietary lease from a corporation or partnership formed for the purpose of cooperative ownership of residential interest in real estate remaining thereon at the time of conveyance. In determining the tax on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, a credit shall be allowed for a proportionate part of the amount of any tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings to the extent that such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership of such property and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property. The amount of the credit shall be determined by multiplying the amount of tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation by a percentage representing the extent to which such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property, and then multiplying the resulting product by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock conveyed in a transaction described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock of the cooperative housing corporation (including any stock held by the corporation). In no event, however, shall such credit reduce the tax, on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, below zero, nor shall any such credit be allowed for a tax paid more than twenty-four months prior to the date on which occurs the first in a series of conveyances of shares of stock in an offering of cooperative housing corporation shares described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision.

* § 1438-k. Deposit and disposition of revenue. 1. All taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the town under the authority of section fourteen hundred thirty-eight-b of this article, which are collected by the treasurer or his or her agents, shall be deposited in a single trust fund for the town and shall be kept in trust and separate and apart from all other monies in possession of the treasurer. Moneys in such fund shall be deposited and secured in the manner provided by section ten of the general municipal law. Pending expenditure from such fund, moneys therein may be invested in the manner provided in section eleven of the general municipal law. Any interest earned or capital gain realized on the moneys so deposited or invested shall accrue to and become part of such fund.

2. The treasurer shall retain such amount as he or she may determine to be necessary for refunds with respect to the tax imposed by the town, under the authority of section fourteen hundred thirty-eight-b of this article, out of which the treasurer shall pay any refunds of such taxes to those taxpayers entitled to a refund pursuant to the provisions of this article.

3. The treasurer, after reserving such refunds, shall on or before the twelfth day of each month pay to the town supervisor the taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the town under the authority of section fourteen hundred thirty-eight-b of this article, collected by the treasurer, pursuant to this article during the next preceding calendar month. The amount so payable shall be certified to the town supervisor by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. Provided, however, any such certification may be based on such information as may be available to the treasurer at the time such certification must be made under this section. Where the amount so paid over to the town in any such distribution is more or less than the amount due to the town, the amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be certified to the town supervisor by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. The amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be so certified to the town supervisor as soon after the discovery of the overpayment or underpayment as reasonably possible and subsequent payments and distributions by the treasurer to the town shall be adjusted by subtracting the amount of any such overpayment from or by adding the amount of any such underpayment to such number of subsequent payments and distributions as the treasurer and town supervisor shall consider reasonable in view of the overpayment or underpayment and all other facts and circumstances.

4. All monies received from the treasurer shall be deposited in the fund of the town, pursuant to section sixty-four-h of the town law.

 § 1438-1. Judicial review. 1. Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable under section fourteen hundred thirty-eight-c of this article shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within four months after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the state superintendent of financial services as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding or (b) at the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interest and penalties stated in such determination, plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

2. Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally assessed or collected and application for the refund or revision thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund or revision, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules; provided, however, that (a) such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of the notice of such denial, (b) a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and (c) an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

However, that nothing in this section shall prohibit the recording officer from making a notation on an instrument effecting a conveyance indicating the amount of tax paid. No recorded instrument effecting a conveyance shall be considered a return for purposes of this section.

2. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the county or town in any action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under a local law enacted pursuant to this article to which such county or town is a party, or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of a local law enacted pursuant to this article when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more.

3. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a grantor or grantee of an instrument effecting a conveyance or the duly authorized representative of a grantor or grantee of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with such instrument or to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the legal representatives of such county or town of the return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon.

4. Any officer or employee of such county or town who willfully violates the provisions of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this state for a period of five years thereafter.

* NB There are 3 Article 31-A-2's

* § 1439-a. Definitions. When used in this article, unless otherwise expressly stated:

1. "Person" means an individual, partnership, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

2. "Controlling interest" means (a) in the case of a corporation, either fifty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (b) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

3. "Real property" means every estate or right, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, in lands, tenements or hereditaments, including buildings, structures and other improvements thereon, which are located in whole or in part within the county of Columbia. It shall not include rights to sepulture.

4. "Consideration" means the price actually paid or required to be paid for the real property or interest therein, including payment for an option or contract to purchase real property, whether or not expressed in the deed and whether paid or required to be paid by money, property, or any other thing of value. It shall include the cancellation or discharge of an indebtedness or obligation. It shall also include the amount of any mortgage, purchase money mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, whether or not the underlying indebtedness is assumed or taken subject to.

(a) In the case of a creation of a leasehold interest or the granting of an option with use and occupancy of real property, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the rental and other payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property or interest therein, the value of any amount paid for an option to purchase or renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew.

(b) In the case of a creation of a subleasehold interest, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the sublease rental payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property, the value of any amount paid for an option to renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew less the value of the remaining prime lease rental payments required to be made.

(d) In the case of an assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest or the assignment or surrender of an option or contract to purchase real property, consideration shall not include the value of the remaining rental payments required to be made pursuant to the terms of such lease or the amount to be paid for the real property pursuant to the terms of the option or contract being assigned or surrendered.

5. "Conveyance" means the transfer or transfers of any interest in real property by any method, including but not limited to, sale, exchange, assignment, surrender, mortgage foreclosure, transfer in lieu of foreclosure, option, trust indenture, taking by eminent domain, conveyance upon liquidation or by a receiver, or transfer or acquisition of a controlling interest in any entity with an interest in real property. Transfer of an interest in real property shall include the creation of a leasehold or sublease only where (a) the sum of the term of the lease or sublease and any options for renewal exceeds forty-nine years, (b) substantial capital improvements are or may be made by or for the benefit of the lessee or sublessee, and (c) the lease or sublease is for substantially all of the premises constituting the real property. Notwithstanding the foregoing, conveyance of real property shall not include the creation, modification, extension, spreading, severance, consolidation, assignment, transfer, release or satisfaction of a mortgage; a mortgage subordination agreement, a mortgage severance agreement, an instrument given to perfect or correct a recorded mortgage; or a release of lien of tax pursuant to this chapter or the internal revenue code.

6. "Interest in the real property" includes title in fee, a leasehold interest, a beneficial interest, an encumbrance, development rights, air space and air rights, or any other interest with the right to use or occupancy of real property or the right to receive rents, profits or other income derived from real property. It shall also include an option or contract to purchase real property. It shall not include a right of first refusal to purchase real property.

7. "Grantor" means the person making the conveyance of real property or interest therein. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer or an acquisition of a controlling interest in an entity with an interest in real property, "grantor" means the entity with an interest in real property or a shareholder or partner transferring stock or partnership interest.

8. "Grantee" means the person who obtains real property or interest therein as a result of a conveyance.

9. "Recording officer" means the county clerk of the county of Columbia.

10. "Treasurer" means the commissioner of finance of the county of Columbia.

 § 1439-b. Imposition of tax. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the county of Columbia, acting through its local legislative body, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such county a tax on each conveyance of real property or interest therein when the consideration exceeds five hundred dollars, at the rate of one dollar for each five hundred dollars or fractional part thereof, provided, however, that the first one hundred fifty thousand dollars of any single family residence shall be exempt from such tax. Such local law shall apply to any conveyance occurring on or after the first day of a month to be designated by such legislative body, which is not less than sixty days after the enactment of such local laws, but shall not apply to conveyances made on or after such date pursuant to binding written contracts entered into prior to such date, provided that the date of execution of such contract is confirmed by independent evidence such as the recording of the contract, payment of a deposit or other facts and circumstances as determined by the treasurer.

 § 1439-c. Payment of tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article shall be paid to the treasurer or the recording officer acting as the agent of the treasurer upon designation as such agent by the treasurer. Such tax shall be paid at the same time as the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter is required to be paid. Such treasurer or recording officer shall endorse upon each deed or instrument effecting a conveyance a receipt for the amount of the tax so paid.

2. A return shall be required to be filed with such treasurer or recording officer for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article at the same time as a return is required to be filed for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter. The return, for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article, shall be a photocopy or carbon copy of the real estate transfer tax return required to be filed pursuant to section fourteen hundred nine of this chapter. However, when an apportionment is required to be made pursuant to section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-m of this article, a supplemental form shall also be required to be filed. The real estate transfer tax returns and supplemental forms required to be filed pursuant to this section shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until such treasurer or recording officer orders them to be destroyed.

 § 1439-d. Liability for tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid by the grantor. If the grantor has failed to pay the tax imposed pursuant to this article or if the grantor is exempt from such tax, the grantee shall have the duty to pay the tax. Where the grantee has the duty to pay the tax because the grantor has failed to pay, such tax shall be the joint and several liability of the grantor and the grantee.

2. For the purpose of the proper administration of this article and to prevent evasion of the tax hereby authorized, it shall be presumed that all conveyances are taxable. Where the consideration includes property other than money, it shall be presumed that the consideration is the fair market value of the real property or interest therein. of the real estate transfer tax:

(a) The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, political subdivisions, or public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada).

(b) The United Nations, the United States of America and any of its agencies and instrumentalities.

The exemption of such governmental bodies or persons shall not, however, relieve a grantee from them of liability for the tax.

2. The tax shall not apply to any of the following conveyances:

(a) Conveyances to the United Nations, the United States of America, the state of New York, or any of their instrumentalities, agencies or political subdivisions (or any public corporation, including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada);

(b) Conveyances which are or were used to secure a debt or other obligation;

(c) Conveyances which, without additional consideration, confirm, correct, modify or supplement a prior conveyance;

(d) Conveyances of real property without consideration and otherwise than in connection with a sale, including conveyances conveying realty as bona fide gifts;

(e) Conveyances given in connection with a tax sale;

(f) Conveyances to effectuate a mere change of identity or form of ownership or organization where there is no change in beneficial ownership, other than conveyances to a cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings;

(g) Conveyances which consist of a deed of partition;

(h) Conveyances given pursuant to the federal bankruptcy act;

(i) Conveyances of real property which consist of the execution of a contract to sell real property without the use or occupancy of such property or the granting of an option to purchase real property without the use or occupancy of such property; and less than two hundred thousand dollars and such property was used solely by the grantor as his personal residence and consists of a one, two or three-family house, an individual residential condominium unit or the sale of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold covering an individual residential cooperative unit.

Notwithstanding the definition of "controlling interest" contained in subdivision two of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-a of this article or anything to the contrary contained in subdivision five of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-a of this article, the tax imposed pursuant to this article shall apply to (a) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor, and (b) the subsequent conveyance of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the owner thereof. With respect to any such subsequent conveyance where the property is an individual residential unit, the consideration for the interest conveyed shall exclude the value of any liens on certificates of stock or other evidences of an ownership interest in and a proprietary lease from a corporation or partnership formed for the purpose of cooperative ownership of residential interest in real estate remaining thereon at the time of conveyance. In determining the tax on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, a credit shall be allowed for a proportionate part of the amount of any tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings to the extent that such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership of such property and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property. 2. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the county in any action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under a local law enacted pursuant to this article to which such county or an officer or employee of such county is a party or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of a local law enacted pursuant to this article when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more.

3. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a grantor or grantee of an instrument effecting a conveyance or the duly authorized representative of a grantor or grantee of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with such instrument or to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the legal representatives of such county of the return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon.

4. Any officer or employee of such county who willfully violates the provisions of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this state for a period of five years thereafter.

* NB There are 3 Article 31-A-2's

 § 1439-a. Definitions. When used in this article, unless otherwise expressly stated, the following words and terms shall have the following meanings:

1. "Person" means an individual, partnership, limited liability company, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

2. "Controlling interest" means (a) in the case of a corporation, either fifty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (b) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

3. "Real property" means every estate or right, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, in lands, tenements or hereditaments, including buildings, structures and other improvements thereon, which are located in whole or in part within the town of Chatham. It shall not include rights to sepulture.

4. "Consideration" means the price actually paid or required to be paid for the real property or interest therein, including payment for an option or contract to purchase real property, whether or not expressed in the deed and whether paid or required to be paid by money, property, or any other thing of value. It shall include the cancellation or discharge of an indebtedness or obligation. It shall also include the amount of any mortgage, purchase money mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, whether or not the underlying indebtedness is assumed or taken subject to.

(a) In the case of a creation of a leasehold interest or the granting of an option with use and occupancy of real property, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the rental and other payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property or interest therein, the value of any amount paid for an option to purchase or renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew.

(b) In the case of a creation of a subleasehold interest, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the sublease rental payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property, the value of any amount paid for an option to renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew less the value of the remaining prime lease rental payments required to be made.

(d) In the case of an assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest or the assignment or surrender of an option or contract to purchase real property, consideration shall not include the value of the remaining rental payments required to be made pursuant to the terms of such lease or the amount to be paid for the real property pursuant to the terms of the option or contract being assigned or surrendered.

plan sponsor, and (2) the subsequent conveyance by the owner thereof of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold for a cooperative unit other than an individual residential unit, consideration shall include a proportionate share of the unpaid principal of any mortgage on the real property of the cooperative housing corporation comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings. Such share shall be determined by multiplying the total unpaid principal of the mortgage by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock being conveyed in the cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock in the cooperative housing corporation.

5. "Conveyance" means the transfer or transfers of any interest in real property by any method, including but not limited to, sale, exchange, assignment, surrender, mortgage foreclosure, transfer in lieu of foreclosure, option, trust indenture, taking by eminent domain, conveyance upon liquidation or by a receiver, or transfer or acquisition of a controlling interest in any entity with an interest in real property. Transfer of an interest in real property shall include the creation of a leasehold or sublease only where (a) the sum of the term of the lease or sublease and any options for renewal exceeds forty-nine years, (b) substantial capital improvements are or may be made by or for the benefit of the lessee or sublessee, and (c) the lease or sublease is for substantially all of the premises constituting the real property. Notwithstanding the foregoing, conveyance of real property shall not include a conveyance made pursuant to devise, bequest or inheritance; the creation, modification, extension, spreading, severance, consolidation, assignment, transfer, release or satisfaction of a mortgage; a mortgage subordination agreement, a mortgage severance agreement, an instrument given to perfect or correct a recorded mortgage; or a release of lien of tax pursuant to this chapter or the internal revenue code.

6. "Interest in the real property" includes title in fee, a leasehold interest, a beneficial interest, an encumbrance, development rights, air space and air rights, or any other interest with the right to use or occupancy of real property or the right to receive rents, profits or other income derived from real property. It shall also include an option or contract to purchase real property. It shall not include a right of first refusal to purchase real property.

7. "Grantor" means the person making the conveyance of real property or interest therein. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer or an acquisition of a controlling interest in an entity with an interest in real property, "grantor" means the entity with an interest in real property or a shareholder or partner transferring stock or partnership interest, respectively.

8. "Grantee" means the person who obtains real property or interest therein as a result of a conveyance.

9. "Fund" means a community preservation fund created pursuant to section sixty-four-i of the town law.

10. "Recording officer" means the county clerk of the county of Columbia.

11. "Town" means the town of Chatham, county of Columbia.

12. "Treasurer" means the treasurer of the county of Columbia.

13. "Town supervisor" means the town supervisor of the town of Chatham.

14. "Tax" shall mean the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-b of this article or, if the context clearly indicates, shall mean the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to article thirty-one of this chapter.

15. "Residential real property" means property which satisfies at least one of the following conditions:

(a) the property classification code assigned to the property on the latest final assessment roll, as reported on the transfer report form, indicates that the property is a one, two or three family home or a rural residence; or

(b) the transfer report indicates that the property is a one, two or three family residential property that has been newly constructed on vacant land; or

(c) the transfer report form indicates that the property is a residential condominium.

 § 1439-b. Imposition of tax. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the town of Chatham, acting through its town board, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt a local law imposing in such town a tax on each conveyance of real property or interest therein not to exceed a maximum of two percent of the consideration for such conveyance, subject to the exemptions set forth in section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-e of this article; any such local law shall fix the rate of such tax. Provided, however, any such local law imposing, repealing or reimposing such tax shall be subject to a mandatory referendum pursuant to section twenty-three of the municipal home rule law. Notwithstanding the foregoing, prior to adoption of such local law, the town must establish a community preservation fund pursuant to section sixty-four-i of the town law. Revenues from such tax shall be deposited in such fund and may be used solely for the purposes of such fund. Such local law shall apply to any conveyance occurring on or after the first day of a month to be designated by such town board, which is not less than sixty days after the enactment of such local law, but shall not apply to conveyances made on or after such date pursuant to binding written contracts entered into prior to such date, provided that the date of execution of such contract is confirmed by independent evidence such as the recording of the contract, payment of a deposit or other facts and circumstances as determined by the treasurer.

 § 1439-c. Payment of tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article shall be paid to the treasurer or the recording officer acting as the agent of the treasurer upon designation as such agent by the treasurer. Such tax shall be paid at the same time as the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter is required to be paid. Such treasurer or recording officer shall endorse upon each deed or instrument effecting a conveyance a receipt for the amount of the tax so paid.

2. A return shall be required to be filed with such treasurer or recording officer for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article at the same time as a return is required to be filed for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter. The treasurer shall prescribe the form of return, the information which it shall contain, and the documentation that shall accompany the return. Said form shall be identical to the real estate transfer tax return required to be filed pursuant to section fourteen hundred nine of this chapter, except that the treasurer shall adapt said form to reflect the provisions in this chapter that are inconsistent, different, or in addition to the provisions of article thirty-one of this chapter. The real estate transfer tax returns required to be filed pursuant to this section shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until such treasurer or recording officer orders them to be destroyed.

 § 1439-d. Liability for tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid by the grantee. If the grantee has failed to pay the tax imposed pursuant to this article or if the grantee is exempt from such tax, the grantor shall have the duty to pay the tax. Where the grantor has the duty to pay the tax because the grantee has failed to pay the tax, such tax shall be the joint and several liability of the grantee and the grantor.

2. For the purpose of the proper administration of this article and to prevent evasion of the tax hereby imposed, it shall be presumed that all conveyances are subject to the tax. Where the consideration includes property other than money, it shall be presumed that the consideration is the fair market value of the real property or interest therein. These presumptions shall prevail until the contrary is proven, and the burden of proving the contrary shall be on the person liable for payment of the tax.

 § 1439-e. Exemptions. 1. The following shall be exempt from the payment of the real estate transfer tax imposed by this article:

(a) The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, political subdivisions, or public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to an agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada); and

(b) The United Nations, the United States of America or any of its agencies or instrumentalities.

2. The tax shall not apply to any of the following conveyances:

(a) Conveyances to the United Nations, the United States of America, the state of New York, or any of their instrumentalities, agencies or political subdivisions (or any public corporation, including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada);

(b) Conveyances which are or were used to secure a debt or other obligation;

(c) Conveyances which, without additional consideration, confirm, correct, modify or supplement a deed previously recorded;

(d) Conveyances of real property without consideration and otherwise than in connection with a sale, including deeds conveying realty as bona fide gifts;

(e) Conveyances given in connection with a tax sale;

(f) Conveyances to effectuate a mere change of identity or form of ownership or organization where there is no change in beneficial ownership, other than conveyances to a cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings;

(g) Conveyances which consist of a deed of partition;

(h) Conveyances given pursuant to the federal bankruptcy act;

(i) Conveyances of real property which consist of the execution of a contract to sell real property without the use or occupancy of such property or the granting of an option to purchase real property without the use or occupancy of such property;

(j) Conveyances of real property or a portion or portions of real property that are the subject of one or more of the following development restrictions:

(1) agricultural, conservation, scenic, or an open space easement,

(2) covenants or restrictions prohibiting development where the property or portion of property being conveyed has had its development rights permanently removed,

(3) a purchase of development rights agreement where the property or portion of property being conveyed has had its development rights permanently removed,

(4) a transfer of development rights agreement, where the property being conveyed has had its development rights removed,

(5) real property subject to any locally adopted land preservation agreement, provided said exemption is included in the local law imposing the tax authorized by this article;

(k) Conveyances of real property, where the property is viable agricultural land as defined in subdivision seven of section three hundred one of the agriculture and markets law and the entire property to be conveyed is to be made subject to one of the development restrictions provided for in subparagraph two of paragraph (j) of this subdivision provided that said development restriction precludes the conversion of the property to a non-agricultural use for at least eight years from the date of transfer, and said development restriction is evidenced by an easement, agreement, or other suitable instrument which is to be conveyed to the town simultaneously with the conveyance of the real property; or

(l) Conveyances of real property for open space, parks, or historic preservation purposes to any not-for-profit tax exempt corporation operated for conservation, environmental, or historic preservation purposes.

3. An exemption from the tax which is equal to the median sales price of residential real property within the applicable county, as determined by the office of real property services pursuant to section four hundred twenty-five of the real property tax law, shall be allowed on the consideration of the conveyance of improved or unimproved real property or an interest therein.

Such credit shall be computed by multiplying the tax paid on the creation of the leasehold or on the granting of the option or contract by a fraction, the numerator of which is the value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid which is not yet due to such grantor on the date of the subsequent conveyance (and which such grantor will not be entitled to receive after such date), and the denominator of which is the total value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid.

 § 1439-g. Cooperative housing corporation transfers. 1. Notwithstanding the definition of "controlling interest" contained in subdivision two of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-a of this article or anything to the contrary contained in subdivision five of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-a of this article, the tax imposed pursuant to this article shall apply to (a) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor, and (b) the subsequent conveyance of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the owner thereof. With respect to any such subsequent conveyance where the property is an individual residential unit, the consideration for the interest conveyed shall exclude the value of any liens on certificates of stock or other evidences of an ownership interest in and a proprietary lease from a corporation or partnership formed for the purpose of cooperative ownership of residential interest in real estate remaining thereon at the time of conveyance. In determining the tax on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, a credit shall be allowed for a proportionate part of the amount of any tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings to the extent that such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership of such property and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property. The amount of the credit shall be determined by multiplying the amount of tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation by a percentage representing the extent to which such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property, and then multiplying the resulting product by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock conveyed in a transaction described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock of the cooperative housing corporation (including any stock held by the corporation). In no event, however, shall such credit reduce the tax, on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, below zero, nor shall any such credit be allowed for a tax paid more than twenty-four months prior to the date on which occurs the first in a series of conveyances of shares of stock in an offering of cooperative housing corporation shares described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision.

All taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the town under the authority of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-b of this article, which are collected by the treasurer or his or her agents, shall be deposited in a single trust fund for the town and shall be kept in trust and separate and apart from all other monies in possession of the treasurer. Moneys in such fund shall be deposited and secured in the manner provided by section ten of the general municipal law. Pending expenditure from such fund, moneys therein may be invested in the manner provided in section eleven of the general municipal law. Any interest earned or capital gain realized on the moneys so deposited or invested shall accrue to and become part of such fund.

2. The treasurer shall retain such amount as he or she may determine to be necessary for refunds with respect to the tax imposed by the town, under the authority of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-b of this article, out of which the treasurer shall pay any refunds of such taxes to those taxpayers entitled to a refund pursuant to the provisions of this article.

3. The treasurer, after reserving such refunds, shall on or before the twelfth day of each month pay to the town supervisor the taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the town under the authority of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-b of this article, collected by the treasurer, pursuant to this article during the next preceding calendar month. The amount so payable shall be certified to the town supervisor by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. Provided, however, any such certification may be based on such information as may be available to the treasurer at the time such certification must be made under this section. Where the amount so paid over to the town in any such distribution is more or less than the amount due to the town, the amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be certified to the town supervisor by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. The amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be so certified to the town supervisor as soon after the discovery of the overpayment or underpayment as reasonably possible and subsequent payments and distributions by the treasurer to the town shall be adjusted by subtracting the amount of any such overpayment from or by adding the amount of any such underpayment to such number of subsequent payments and distributions as the treasurer and town supervisor shall consider reasonable in view of the overpayment or underpayment and all other facts and circumstances.

 § 1439-a. Definitions. When used in this article, unless otherwise expressly stated, the following words and terms shall have the following meanings:

1. "Person" means an individual, partnership, limited liability company, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

2. "Controlling interest" means (a) in the case of a corporation, either fifty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (b) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

3. "Real property" means every estate or right, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, in lands, tenements or hereditaments, including buildings, structures and other improvements thereon, which are located in whole or in part within the town of Fishkill. It shall not include rights to sepulture.

4. "Consideration" means the price actually paid or required to be paid for the real property or interest therein, including payment for an option or contract to purchase real property, whether or not expressed in the deed and whether paid or required to be paid by money, property, or any other thing of value. It shall include the cancellation or discharge of an indebtedness or obligation. It shall also include the amount of any mortgage, purchase money mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, whether or not the underlying indebtedness is assumed or taken subject to.

(a) In the case of a creation of a leasehold interest or the granting of an option with use and occupancy of real property, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the rental and other payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property or interest therein, the value of any amount paid for an option to purchase or renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew.

(b) In the case of a creation of a subleasehold interest, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the sublease rental payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property, the value of any amount paid for an option to renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew less the value of the remaining prime lease rental payments required to be made.

(d) In the case of an assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest or the assignment or surrender of an option or contract to purchase real property, consideration shall not include the value of the remaining rental payments required to be made pursuant to the terms of such lease or the amount to be paid for the real property pursuant to the terms of the option or contract being assigned or surrendered.

5. "Conveyance" means the transfer or transfers of any interest in real property by any method, including but not limited to, sale, exchange, assignment, surrender, mortgage foreclosure, transfer in lieu of foreclosure, option, trust indenture, taking by eminent domain, conveyance upon liquidation or by a receiver, or transfer or acquisition of a controlling interest in any entity with an interest in real property. Transfer of an interest in real property shall include the creation of a leasehold or sublease only where (a) the sum of the term of the lease or sublease and any options for renewal exceeds forty-nine years, (b) substantial capital improvements are or may be made by or for the benefit of the lessee or sublessee, and (c) the lease or sublease is for substantially all of the premises constituting the real property. Notwithstanding the foregoing, conveyance of real property shall not include a conveyance made pursuant to devise, bequest or inheritance; the creation, modification, extension, spreading, severance, consolidation, assignment, transfer, release or satisfaction of a mortgage; a mortgage subordination agreement, a mortgage severance agreement, an instrument given to perfect or correct a recorded mortgage; or a release of lien of tax pursuant to this chapter or the internal revenue code.

6. "Interest in the real property" includes title in fee, a leasehold interest, a beneficial interest, an encumbrance, development rights, air space and air rights, or any other interest with the right to use or occupancy of real property or the right to receive rents, profits or other income derived from real property. It shall also include an option or contract to purchase real property. It shall not include a right of first refusal to purchase real property.

7. "Grantor" means the person making the conveyance of real property or interest therein. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer or an acquisition of a controlling interest in an entity with an interest in real property, "grantor" means the entity with an interest in real property or a shareholder or partner transferring stock or partnership interest, respectively.

8. "Grantee" means the person who obtains real property or interest therein as a result of a conveyance.

9. "Fund" means a community preservation fund created pursuant to section sixty-four-i of the town law.

10. "Recording officer" means the county clerk of the county of Dutchess.

11. "Town" means the town of Fishkill, county of Dutchess.

12. "Treasurer" means the treasurer of the county of Dutchess.

13. "Town supervisor" means the town supervisor of the town of Fishkill.

14. "Tax" shall mean the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-b of this article or, if the context clearly indicates, shall mean the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to article thirty-one of this chapter.

15. "Residential real property" means property which satisfies at least one of the following conditions:

(a) the property classification code assigned to the property on the latest final assessment roll, as reported on the transfer report form, indicates that the property is a one, two or three family home or a rural residence; or

(b) the transfer report indicates that the property is a one, two or three family residential property that has been newly constructed on vacant land; or

(c) the transfer report form indicates that the property is a residential condominium.

 § 1439-b. Imposition of tax. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the town of Fishkill, acting through its town board, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt a local law imposing in such town a tax on each conveyance of real property or interest therein not to exceed a maximum of two percent of the consideration for such conveyance, subject to the exemptions set forth in section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-e of this article; any such local law shall fix the rate of such tax. Provided, however, any such local law imposing, repealing or reimposing such tax shall be subject to a mandatory referendum pursuant to section twenty-three of the municipal home rule law. Notwithstanding the foregoing, prior to adoption of such local law, the town must establish a community preservation fund pursuant to section sixty-four-i of the town law. Revenues from such tax shall be deposited in such fund and may be used solely for the purposes of such fund. Such local law shall apply to any conveyance occurring on or after the first day of a month to be designated by such town board, which is not less than sixty days after the enactment of such local law, but shall not apply to conveyances made on or after such date pursuant to binding written contracts entered into prior to such date, provided that the date of execution of such contract is confirmed by independent evidence such as the recording of the contract, payment of a deposit or other facts and circumstances as determined by the treasurer.

 § 1439-c. Payment of tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article shall be paid to the treasurer or the recording officer acting as the agent of the treasurer upon designation as such agent by the treasurer. Such tax shall be paid at the same time as the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter is required to be paid. Such treasurer or recording officer shall endorse upon each deed or instrument effecting a conveyance a receipt for the amount of the tax so paid.

2. A return shall be required to be filed with such treasurer or recording officer for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article at the same time as a return is required to be filed for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter. The treasurer shall prescribe the form of return, the information which it shall contain, and the documentation that shall accompany the return. Said form shall be identical to the real estate transfer tax return required to be filed pursuant to section fourteen hundred nine of this chapter, except that the treasurer shall adapt said form to reflect the provisions in this chapter that are inconsistent, different, or in addition to the provisions of article thirty-one of this chapter. The real estate transfer tax returns required to be filed pursuant to this section shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until such treasurer or recording officer orders them to be destroyed.

 § 1439-d. Liability for tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid by the grantee. If the grantee has failed to pay the tax imposed pursuant to this article or if the grantee is exempt from such tax, the grantor shall have the duty to pay the tax. Where the grantor has the duty to pay the tax because the grantee has failed to pay the tax, such tax shall be the joint and several liability of the grantee and the grantor.

2. For the purpose of the proper administration of this article and to prevent evasion of the tax hereby imposed, it shall be presumed that all conveyances are subject to the tax. Where the consideration includes property other than money, it shall be presumed that the consideration is the fair market value of the real property or interest therein. These presumptions shall prevail until the contrary is proven, and the burden of proving the contrary shall be on the person liable for payment of the tax.

 § 1439-e. Exemptions. 1. The following shall be exempt from the payment of the real estate transfer tax imposed by this article:

(a) The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, political subdivisions, or public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to an agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada); and

(b) The United Nations, the United States of America or any of its agencies or instrumentalities.

2. The tax shall not apply to any of the following conveyances:

(a) Conveyances to the United Nations, the United States of America, the state of New York, or any of their instrumentalities, agencies or political subdivisions (or any public corporation, including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada);

(b) Conveyances which are or were used to secure a debt or other obligation;

(c) Conveyances which, without additional consideration, confirm, correct, modify or supplement a deed previously recorded;

(d) Conveyances of real property without consideration and otherwise than in connection with a sale, including deeds conveying realty as bona fide gifts;

(e) Conveyances given in connection with a tax sale;

(f) Conveyances to effectuate a mere change of identity or form of ownership or organization where there is no change in beneficial ownership, other than conveyances to a cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings;

(g) Conveyances which consist of a deed of partition;

(h) Conveyances given pursuant to the federal bankruptcy act;

(i) Conveyances of real property which consist of the execution of a contract to sell real property without the use or occupancy of such property or the granting of an option to purchase real property without the use or occupancy of such property;

(j) Conveyances of real property or a portion or portions of real property that are the subject of one or more of the following development restrictions:

(1) agricultural, conservation, scenic, or an open space easement,

(2) covenants or restrictions prohibiting development where the property or portion of property being conveyed has had its development rights permanently removed,

(3) a purchase of development rights agreement where the property or portion of property being conveyed has had its development rights permanently removed,

(4) a transfer of development rights agreement, where the property being conveyed has had its development rights removed,

(5) real property subject to any locally adopted land preservation agreement, provided said exemption is included in the local law imposing the tax authorized by this article;

(k) Conveyances of real property, where the property is viable agricultural land as defined in subdivision seven of section three hundred one of the agriculture and markets law and the entire property to be conveyed is to be made subject to one of the development restrictions provided for in subparagraph two of paragraph (j) of this subdivision provided that said development restriction precludes the conversion of the property to a non-agricultural use for at least eight years from the date of transfer, and said development restriction is evidenced by an easement, agreement, or other suitable instrument which is to be conveyed to the town simultaneously with the conveyance of the real property; or

(l) Conveyances of real property for open space, parks, or historic preservation purposes to any not-for-profit tax exempt corporation operated for conservation, environmental, or historic preservation purposes.

3. An exemption from the tax which is equal to the median sales price of residential real property within the applicable county, as determined by the office of real property services pursuant to section four hundred twenty-five of the real property tax law, shall be allowed on the consideration of the conveyance of improved or unimproved real property or an interest therein.

Notwithstanding the definition of "controlling interest" contained in subdivision two of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-a of this article or anything to the contrary contained in subdivision five of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-a of this article, the tax imposed pursuant to this article shall apply to (a) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor, and (b) the subsequent conveyance of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the owner thereof. With respect to any such subsequent conveyance where the property is an individual residential unit, the consideration for the interest conveyed shall exclude the value of any liens on certificates of stock or other evidences of an ownership interest in and a proprietary lease from a corporation or partnership formed for the purpose of cooperative ownership of residential interest in real estate remaining thereon at the time of conveyance. In determining the tax on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, a credit shall be allowed for a proportionate part of the amount of any tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings to the extent that such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership of such property and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property. The amount of the credit shall be determined by multiplying the amount of tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation by a percentage representing the extent to which such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property, and then multiplying the resulting product by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock conveyed in a transaction described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock of the cooperative housing corporation (including any stock held by the corporation). In no event, however, shall such credit reduce the tax, on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, below zero, nor shall any such credit be allowed for a tax paid more than twenty-four months prior to the date on which occurs the first in a series of conveyances of shares of stock in an offering of cooperative housing corporation shares described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision.

Moneys in such fund shall be deposited and secured in the manner provided by section ten of the general municipal law. Pending expenditure from such fund, moneys therein may be invested in the manner provided in section eleven of the general municipal law. Any interest earned or capital gain realized on the moneys so deposited or invested shall accrue to and become part of such fund.

2. The treasurer shall retain such amount as he or she may determine to be necessary for refunds with respect to the tax imposed by the town, under the authority of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-b of this article, out of which the treasurer shall pay any refunds of such taxes to those taxpayers entitled to a refund pursuant to the provisions of this article.

3. The treasurer, after reserving such refunds, shall on or before the twelfth day of each month pay to the town supervisor the taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the town under the authority of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-b of this article, collected by the treasurer, pursuant to this article during the next preceding calendar month. The amount so payable shall be certified to the town supervisor by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. Provided, however, any such certification may be based on such information as may be available to the treasurer at the time such certification must be made under this section. Where the amount so paid over to the town in any such distribution is more or less than the amount due to the town, the amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be certified to the town supervisor by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. The amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be so certified to the town supervisor as soon after the discovery of the overpayment or underpayment as reasonably possible and subsequent payments and distributions by the treasurer to the town shall be adjusted by subtracting the amount of any such overpayment from or by adding the amount of any such underpayment to such number of subsequent payments and distributions as the treasurer and town supervisor shall consider reasonable in view of the overpayment or underpayment and all other facts and circumstances.

* § 1439-aa. Definitions. When used in this article, unless otherwise expressly stated, the following words and terms shall have the following meanings:

1. "Person" means an individual, partnership, limited liability company, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

2. "Controlling interest" means (a) in the case of a corporation, either fifty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (b) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

3. "Real property" means every estate or right, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, in lands, tenements or hereditaments, including buildings, structures and other improvements thereon, which are located in whole or in part within the town of Northeast. It shall not include rights to sepulture.

4. "Consideration" means the price actually paid or required to be paid for the real property or interest therein, including payment for an option or contract to purchase real property, whether or not expressed in the deed and whether paid or required to be paid by money, property, or any other thing of value. It shall include the cancellation or discharge of an indebtedness or obligation. It shall also include the amount of any mortgage, purchase money mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, whether or not the underlying indebtedness is assumed or taken subject to.

(a) In the case of a creation of a leasehold interest or the granting of an option with use and occupancy of real property, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the rental and other payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property or interest therein, the value of any amount paid for an option to purchase or renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew.

(b) In the case of a creation of a subleasehold interest, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the sublease rental payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property, the value of any amount paid for an option to renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew less the value of the remaining prime lease rental payments required to be made.

(d) In the case of an assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest or the assignment or surrender of an option or contract to purchase real property, consideration shall not include the value of the remaining rental payments required to be made pursuant to the terms of such lease or the amount to be paid for the real property pursuant to the terms of the option or contract being assigned or surrendered.

(e) In the case of (1) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor, and (2) the subsequent conveyance by the owner thereof of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold for a cooperative unit other than an individual residential unit, consideration shall include a proportionate share of the unpaid principal of any mortgage on the real property of the cooperative housing corporation comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings. Such share shall be determined by multiplying the total unpaid principal of the mortgage by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock being conveyed in the cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock in the cooperative housing corporation.

5. "Conveyance" means the transfer or transfers of any interest in real property by any method, including but not limited to, sale, exchange, assignment, surrender, mortgage foreclosure, transfer in lieu of foreclosure, option, trust indenture, taking by eminent domain, conveyance upon liquidation or by a receiver, or transfer or acquisition of a controlling interest in any entity with an interest in real property. Transfer of an interest in real property shall include the creation of a leasehold or sublease only where (a) the sum of the term of the lease or sublease and any options for renewal exceeds forty-nine years, (b) substantial capital improvements are or may be made by or for the benefit of the lessee or sublessee, and (c) the lease or sublease is for substantially all of the premises constituting the real property. Notwithstanding the foregoing, conveyance of real property shall not include a conveyance made pursuant to devise, bequest or inheritance; the creation, modification, extension, spreading, severance, consolidation, assignment, transfer, release or satisfaction of a mortgage; a mortgage subordination agreement, a mortgage severance agreement, an instrument given to perfect or correct a recorded mortgage; or a release of lien of tax pursuant to this chapter or the

6. "Interest in the real property" includes title in fee, a leasehold interest, a beneficial interest, an encumbrance, development rights, air space and air rights, or any other interest with the right to use or occupancy of real property or the right to receive rents, profits or other income derived from real property. It shall also include an option or contract to purchase real property. It shall not include a right of first refusal to purchase real property.

7. "Grantor" means the person making the conveyance of real property or interest therein. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer or an acquisition of a controlling interest in an entity with an interest in real property, "grantor" means the entity with an interest in real property or a shareholder or partner transferring stock or partnership interest, respectively.

8. "Grantee" means the person who obtains real property or interest therein as a result of a conveyance.

9. "Fund" means a community preservation fund created pursuant to section sixty-four-j of the town law.

10. "Recording officer" means the county clerk of the county of Dutchess.

11. "Town" means the town of Northeast, county of Dutchess.

12. "Treasurer" means the treasurer of the county of Dutchess.

13. "Town supervisor" means the town supervisor of the town of Northeast.

14. "Tax" shall mean the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-bb of this article or, if the context clearly indicates, shall mean the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to article thirty-one of this chapter.

15. "Residential real property" means property which satisfies at least one of the following conditions:

(a) the property classification code assigned to the property on the latest final assessment roll, as reported on the transfer report form, indicates that the property is a one, two or three family home or a rural residence; or

(b) the transfer report indicates that the property is a one, two or three family residential property that has been newly constructed on vacant land; or

(c) the transfer report form indicates that the property is a residential condominium.

 § 1439-bb. Imposition of tax. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the town of Northeast, acting through its town board, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt a local law imposing in such town a tax on each conveyance of real property or interest therein not to exceed a maximum of two percent of the consideration for such conveyance, subject to the exemptions set forth in section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-ee of this article; any such local law shall fix the rate of such tax. Provided, however, any such local law imposing, repealing or reimposing such tax shall be subject to a mandatory referendum pursuant to section twenty-three of the municipal home rule law. Notwithstanding the foregoing, prior to adoption of such local law, the town must establish a community preservation fund pursuant to section sixty-four-j of the town law. Revenues from such tax shall be deposited in such fund and may be used solely for the purposes of such fund. Such local law shall apply to any conveyance occurring on or after the first day of a month to be designated by such town board, which is not less than sixty days after the enactment of such local law, but shall not apply to conveyances made on or after such date pursuant to binding written contracts entered into prior to such date, provided that the date of execution of such contract is confirmed by independent evidence such as the recording of the contract, payment of a deposit or other facts and circumstances as determined by the treasurer.

* § 1439-cc. Payment of tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article shall be paid to the treasurer or the recording officer acting as the agent of the treasurer upon designation as such agent by the treasurer. Such tax shall be paid at the same time as the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter is required to be paid. Such treasurer or recording officer shall endorse upon each deed or instrument effecting a conveyance a receipt for the amount of the tax so paid.

2. A return shall be required to be filed with such treasurer or recording officer for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article at the same time as a return is required to be filed for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter. The treasurer shall prescribe the form of return, the information which it shall contain, and the documentation that shall accompany the return. Said form shall be identical to the real estate transfer tax return required to be filed pursuant to section fourteen hundred nine of this chapter, except that the treasurer shall adapt said form to reflect the provisions in this chapter that are inconsistent, different, or in addition to the provisions of article thirty-one of this chapter. The real estate transfer tax returns required to be filed pursuant to this section shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until such treasurer or recording officer orders them to be destroyed.

* § 1439-dd. Liability for tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid by the grantee. If the grantee has failed to pay the tax imposed pursuant to this article or if the grantee is exempt from such tax, the grantor shall have the duty to pay the tax. Where the grantor has the duty to pay the tax because the grantee has failed to pay the tax, such tax shall be the joint and several liability of the grantee and the grantor.

2. For the purpose of the proper administration of this article and to prevent evasion of the tax hereby imposed, it shall be presumed that all conveyances are subject to the tax. Where the consideration includes property other than money, it shall be presumed that the consideration is the fair market value of the real property or interest therein. These presumptions shall prevail until the contrary is proven, and the burden of proving the contrary shall be on the person liable for payment of the tax.

 § 1439-ee. Exemptions. 1. The following shall be exempt from the payment of the real estate transfer tax imposed by this article:

(a) The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, political subdivisions, or public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to an agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada); and

(b) The United Nations, the United States of America or any of its agencies or instrumentalities.

2. The tax shall not apply to any of the following conveyances:

(a) Conveyances to the United Nations, the United States of America, the state of New York, or any of their instrumentalities, agencies or political subdivisions (or any public corporation, including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada);

(b) Conveyances which are or were used to secure a debt or other obligation;

(c) Conveyances which, without additional consideration, confirm, correct, modify or supplement a deed previously recorded;

(d) Conveyances of real property without consideration and otherwise than in connection with a sale, including deeds conveying realty as bona fide gifts;

(e) Conveyances given in connection with a tax sale;

(f) Conveyances to effectuate a mere change of identity or form of ownership or organization where there is no change in beneficial ownership, other than conveyances to a cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings;

(g) Conveyances which consist of a deed of partition;

(h) Conveyances given pursuant to the federal bankruptcy act;

(i) Conveyances of real property which consist of the execution of a contract to sell real property without the use or occupancy of such property or the granting of an option to purchase real property without the use or occupancy of such property;

(j) Conveyances of real property or a portion or portions of real property that are the subject of one or more of the following development restrictions:

(1) agricultural, conservation, scenic, or an open space easement,

(2) covenants or restrictions prohibiting development where the property or portion of property being conveyed has had its development rights permanently removed,

(3) a purchase of development rights agreement where the property or portion of property being conveyed has had its development rights permanently removed,

(4) a transfer of development rights agreement, where the property being conveyed has had its development rights removed,

(5) real property subject to any locally adopted land preservation agreement, provided said exemption is included in the local law imposing the tax authorized by this article;

(k) Conveyances of real property, where the property is viable agricultural land as defined in subdivision seven of section three hundred one of the agriculture and markets law and the entire property to be conveyed is to be made subject to one of the development restrictions provided for in subparagraph two of paragraph (j) of this subdivision provided that said development restriction precludes the conversion of the property to a non-agricultural use for at least eight years from the date of transfer, and said development restriction is evidenced by an easement, agreement, or other suitable instrument which

(l) Conveyances of real property for open space, parks, or historic preservation purposes to any not-for-profit tax exempt corporation operated for conservation, environmental, or historic preservation purposes.

3. An exemption from the tax which is equal to the median sales price of residential real property within the applicable county, as determined by the office of real property services pursuant to section four hundred twenty-five of the real property tax law, shall be allowed on the consideration of the conveyance of improved or unimproved real property or an interest therein.

* § 1439-ff. Credit. A grantee shall be allowed a credit against the tax due on a conveyance of real property to the extent tax was paid by such grantee on a prior creation of a leasehold of all or a portion of the same real property or on the granting of an option or contract to purchase all or a portion of the same real property by such grantee. Such credit shall be computed by multiplying the tax paid on the creation of the leasehold or on the granting of the option or contract by a fraction, the numerator of which is the value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid which is not yet due to such grantor on the date of the subsequent conveyance (and which such grantor will not be entitled to receive after such date), and the denominator of which is the total value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid.

Notwithstanding the definition of "controlling interest" contained in subdivision two of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-aa of this article or anything to the contrary contained in subdivision five of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-aa of this article, the tax imposed pursuant to this article shall apply to (a) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor, and (b) the subsequent conveyance of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the owner thereof. With respect to any such subsequent conveyance where the property is an individual residential unit, the consideration for the interest conveyed shall exclude the value of any liens on certificates of stock or other evidences of an ownership interest in and a proprietary lease from a corporation or partnership formed for the purpose of cooperative ownership of residential interest in real estate remaining thereon at the time of conveyance. In determining the tax on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, a credit shall be allowed for a proportionate part of the amount of any tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings to the extent that such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership of such property and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property. The amount of the credit shall be determined by multiplying the amount of tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation by a percentage representing the extent to which such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property, and then multiplying the resulting product by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock conveyed in a transaction described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock of the cooperative housing corporation (including any stock held by the corporation). In no event, however, shall such credit reduce the tax, on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, below zero, nor shall any such credit be allowed for a tax paid more than twenty-four months prior to the date on which occurs the first in a series of conveyances of shares of stock in an offering of cooperative housing corporation shares described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision.

2. Every cooperative housing corporation shall be required to file an information return with the treasurer by July fifteenth of each year covering the preceding period of January first through June thirtieth and by January fifteenth of each year covering the preceding period of July first through December thirty-first. The return shall contain such information regarding the conveyance of shares of stock in the cooperative housing corporation as the treasurer may deem necessary, including, but not limited to, the names, addresses and employee identification numbers or social security numbers of the grantor and the grantee, the number of shares conveyed, the date of the conveyance and the consideration paid for such conveyance.

* § 1439-hh. Designation of agents. The treasurer is authorized to designate the recording officer to act as his or her agent for purposes of collecting the tax authorized by this article. The treasurer shall provide for the manner in which such person may be designated as his or her agent subject to such terms and conditions as the treasurer shall prescribe. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid to such agent as provided in section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-cc of this article.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2028

* § 1439-ii. Liability of recording officer. A recording officer shall not be liable for any inaccuracy in the amount of tax imposed pursuant to this article that he or she shall collect so long as he or she shall compute and collect such tax on the amount of consideration or the value of the interest conveyed as such amounts are provided to him or her by the person paying the tax.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2028

* § 1439-jj. Refunds. Whenever the treasurer shall determine that any moneys received under the provisions of the local law enacted pursuant to this article were paid in error, he or she may cause such moneys to be refunded pursuant to such requirements as he or she may prescribe, provided that any application for such refund is filed with the treasurer within two years from the date the erroneous payment was made.

 § 1439-kk. Deposit and disposition of revenue. 1. All taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the town under the authority of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-bb of this article, which are collected by the treasurer or his or her agents, shall be deposited in a single trust fund for the town and shall be kept in trust and separate and apart from all other monies in possession of the treasurer. Moneys in such fund shall be deposited and secured in the manner provided by section ten of the general municipal law. Pending expenditure from such fund, moneys therein may be invested in the manner provided in section eleven of the general municipal law. Any interest earned or capital gain realized on the moneys so deposited or invested shall accrue to and become part of such fund.

2. The treasurer shall retain such amount as he or she may determine to be necessary for refunds with respect to the tax imposed by the town, under the authority of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-bb of this article, out of which the treasurer shall pay any refunds of such taxes to those taxpayers entitled to a refund pursuant to the provisions of this article.

3. The treasurer, after reserving such refunds, shall on or before the twelfth day of each month pay to the town supervisor the taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the town under the authority of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-bb of this article, collected by the treasurer, pursuant to this article during the next preceding calendar month. The amount so payable shall be certified to the town supervisor by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. Provided, however, any such certification may be based on such information as may be available to the treasurer at the time such certification must be made under this section. Where the amount so paid over to the town in any such distribution is more or less than the amount due to the town, the amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be certified to the town supervisor by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. The amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be so certified to the town supervisor as soon after the discovery of the overpayment or underpayment as reasonably possible and subsequent payments and distributions by the treasurer to the town shall be adjusted by subtracting the amount of any such overpayment from or by adding the amount of any such underpayment to such number of subsequent payments and distributions as the treasurer and town supervisor shall consider reasonable in view of the overpayment or underpayment and all other facts and circumstances.

4. All monies received from the treasurer shall be deposited in the fund of the town, pursuant to section sixty-four-j of the town law.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2028

* § 1439-11. Judicial review. 1. Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable under section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-cc of this article shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within four months after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the state superintendent of financial services as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding or (b) at the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interest and penalties stated in such determination, plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

2. Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally assessed or collected and application for the refund or revision thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund or revision, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules; provided, however, that (a) such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of the notice of such denial, (b) a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and (c) an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2028

* § 1439-nn. Miscellaneous. A local law adopted by the town of Northeast, pursuant to this article, may contain such other provisions as the town deems necessary for the proper administration of the tax imposed pursuant to this article, including provisions concerning the determination of tax, the imposition of interest on underpayments and overpayments and the imposition of civil penalties. Such provisions shall be identical to the corresponding provisions of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter, so far as such provisions can be made applicable to the tax imposed pursuant to this article.

 § 1439-oo. Returns to be secret. 1. Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the treasurer or any officer or employee of the county or town, including any person engaged or retained on an independent contract basis, to divulge or make known in any manner the particulars set forth or disclosed in any return required under a local law enacted pursuant to this article. However, that nothing in this section shall prohibit the recording officer from making a notation on an instrument effecting a conveyance indicating the amount of tax paid. No recorded instrument effecting a conveyance shall be considered a return for purposes of this section.

2. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the county or town in any action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under a local law enacted pursuant to this article to which such county or town is a party, or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of a local law enacted pursuant to this article when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more.

3. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a grantor or grantee of an instrument effecting a conveyance or the duly authorized representative of a grantor or grantee of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with such instrument or to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the legal representatives of such county or town of the return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon.

4. Any officer or employee of such county or town who willfully violates the provisions of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this state for a period of five years thereafter.

 § 1439-aaa. Definitions. When used in this article, unless otherwise expressly stated, the following words and terms shall have the following meanings:

1. "Person" means an individual, partnership, limited liability company, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

2. "Controlling interest" means (a) in the case of a corporation, either fifty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (b) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

3. "Real property" means every estate or right, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, in lands, tenements or hereditaments, including buildings, structures and other improvements thereon, which are located in whole or in part within the town of Chester. It shall not include rights to sepulture.

4. "Consideration" means the price actually paid or required to be paid for the real property or interest therein, including payment for an option or contract to purchase real property, whether or not expressed in the deed and whether paid or required to be paid by money, property, or any other thing of value. It shall include the cancellation or discharge of an indebtedness or obligation. It shall also include the amount of any mortgage, purchase money mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, whether or not the underlying indebtedness is assumed or taken subject to.

(a) In the case of a creation of a leasehold interest or the granting of an option with use and occupancy of real property, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the rental and other payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property or interest therein, the value of any amount paid for an option to purchase or renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew.

(b) In the case of a creation of a subleasehold interest, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the sublease rental payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property, the value of any amount paid for an option to renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew less the value of the remaining prime lease rental payments required to be made.

(d) In the case of an assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest or the assignment or surrender of an option or contract to purchase real property, consideration shall not include the value of the remaining rental payments required to be made pursuant to the terms of such lease or the amount to be paid for the real property pursuant to the terms of the option or contract being assigned or surrendered.

grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock in the cooperative housing corporation.

5. "Conveyance" means the transfer or transfers of any interest in real property by any method, including but not limited to, sale, exchange, assignment, surrender, mortgage foreclosure, transfer in lieu of foreclosure, option, trust indenture, taking by eminent domain, conveyance upon liquidation or by a receiver, or transfer or acquisition of a controlling interest in any entity with an interest in real property. Transfer of an interest in real property shall include the creation of a leasehold or sublease only where (a) the sum of the term of the lease or sublease and any options for renewal exceeds forty-nine years, (b) substantial capital improvements are or may be made by or for the benefit of the lessee or sublessee, and (c) the lease or sublease is for substantially all of the premises constituting the real property. Notwithstanding the foregoing, conveyance of real property shall not include a conveyance made pursuant to devise, bequest or inheritance; the creation, modification, extension, spreading, severance, consolidation, assignment, transfer, release or satisfaction of a mortgage; a mortgage subordination agreement, a mortgage severance agreement, an instrument given to perfect or correct a recorded mortgage; or a release of lien of tax pursuant to this chapter or the internal revenue code.

6. "Interest in the real property" includes title in fee, a leasehold interest, a beneficial interest, an encumbrance, development rights, air space and air rights, or any other interest with the right to use or occupancy of real property or the right to receive rents, profits or other income derived from real property. It shall also include an option or contract to purchase real property. It shall not include a right of first refusal to purchase real property.

property or a shareholder or partner transferring stock or partnership interest, respectively.

8. "Grantee" means the person who obtains real property or interest therein as a result of a conveyance.

9. "Fund" means a community preservation fund created pursuant to section sixty-four-1 of the town law.

10. "Recording officer" means the county clerk of the county of Orange.

11. "Town" means the town of Chester, county of Orange.

12. "Treasurer" means the treasurer of the county of Orange.

13. "Town supervisor" means the town supervisor of the town of Chester.

14. "Tax" shall mean the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-bbb of this article or, if the context clearly indicates, shall mean the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to article thirty-one of this chapter.

15. "Residential real property" means property which satisfies at least one of the following conditions:

(a) the property classification code assigned to the property on the latest final assessment roll, as reported on the transfer report form, indicates that the property is a one, two or three family home or a rural residence; or

(b) the transfer report indicates that the property is a one, two or three family residential property that has been newly constructed on vacant land; or

(c) the transfer report form indicates that the property is a residential condominium.

 § 1439-eee. Exemptions. 1. The following shall be exempt from the payment of the real estate transfer tax imposed by this article:

(a) The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, political subdivisions, or public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to an agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada); and

(b) The United Nations, the United States of America or any of its agencies or instrumentalities.

2. The tax shall not apply to any of the following conveyances:

(a) Conveyances to the United Nations, the United States of America, the state of New York, or any of their instrumentalities, agencies or political subdivisions (or any public corporation, including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada);

(b) Conveyances which are or were used to secure a debt or other obligation;

(c) Conveyances which, without additional consideration, confirm, correct, modify or supplement a deed previously recorded;

(d) Conveyances of real property without consideration and otherwise than in connection with a sale, including deeds conveying realty as bona fide gifts;

(e) Conveyances given in connection with a tax sale;

(f) Conveyances to effectuate a mere change of identity or form of ownership or organization where there is no change in beneficial ownership, other than conveyances to a cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings;

(g) Conveyances which consist of a deed of partition;

(h) Conveyances given pursuant to the federal bankruptcy act;

(i) Conveyances of real property which consist of the execution of a contract to sell real property without the use or occupancy of such property or the granting of an option to purchase real property without the use or occupancy of such property;

(j) Conveyances of real property or a portion or portions of real property that are the subject of one or more of the following development restrictions:

(1) agricultural, conservation, scenic, or an open space easement,

(2) covenants or restrictions prohibiting development where the property or portion of property being conveyed has had its development rights permanently removed,

(3) a purchase of development rights agreement where the property or portion of property being conveyed has had its development rights permanently removed,

(4) a transfer of development rights agreement, where the property being conveyed has had its development rights removed,

(5) real property subject to any locally adopted land preservation agreement, provided said exemption is included in the local law imposing the tax authorized by this article;

(k) Conveyances of real property, where the property is viable agricultural land as defined in subdivision seven of section three hundred one of the agriculture and markets law and the entire property to be conveyed is to be made subject to one of the development restrictions provided for in subparagraph two of paragraph (j) of this subdivision provided that said development restriction precludes the conversion of the property to a non-agricultural use for at least eight years from the date of transfer, and said development restriction is evidenced by an easement, agreement, or other suitable instrument which is to be conveyed to the town simultaneously with the conveyance of the real property; or

(l) Conveyances of real property for open space, parks, or historic preservation purposes to any not-for-profit tax exempt corporation operated for conservation, environmental, or historic preservation purposes.

3. An exemption of one hundred thousand dollars shall be allowed on the consideration of the conveyance of improved real property or an interest therein, and an exemption of fifty thousand dollars shall be allowed on the consideration of the conveyance of unimproved real property.

Notwithstanding the definition of "controlling interest" contained in subdivision two of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-aaa of this article or anything to the contrary contained in subdivision five of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-aaa of this article, the tax imposed pursuant to this article shall apply to (a) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor, and (b) the subsequent conveyance of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the owner thereof. With respect to any such subsequent conveyance where the property is an individual residential unit, the consideration for the interest conveyed shall exclude the value of any liens on certificates of stock or other evidences of an ownership interest in and a proprietary lease from a corporation or partnership formed for the purpose of cooperative ownership of residential interest in real estate remaining thereon at the time of conveyance. In determining the tax on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, a credit shall be allowed for a proportionate part of the amount of any tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings to the extent that such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership of such property and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property. The amount of the credit shall be determined by multiplying the amount of tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation by a percentage representing the extent to which such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property, and then multiplying the resulting product by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock conveyed in a transaction described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock of the cooperative housing corporation (including any stock held by the corporation). In no event, however, shall such credit reduce the tax, on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, below zero, nor shall any such credit be allowed for a tax paid more than twenty-four months prior to the date on which occurs the first in a series of conveyances of shares of stock in an offering of cooperative housing corporation shares described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision.

penalties and interest imposed by the town under the authority of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-bbb of this article, which are collected by the treasurer or their agents, shall be deposited in a single trust fund for the town and shall be kept in trust and separate and apart from all other monies in possession of the treasurer. Moneys in such fund shall be deposited and secured in the manner provided by section ten of the general municipal law. Pending expenditure from such fund, moneys therein may be invested in the manner provided in section eleven of the general municipal law. Any interest earned or capital gain realized on the moneys so deposited or invested shall accrue to and become part of such fund.

2. The treasurer shall retain such amount as they may determine to be necessary for refunds with respect to the tax imposed by the town, under the authority of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-bbb of this article, out of which the treasurer shall pay any refunds of such taxes to those taxpayers entitled to a refund pursuant to the provisions of this article.

3. The treasurer, after reserving such refunds, shall on or before the twelfth day of each month pay to the town supervisor the taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the town under the authority of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-bbb of this article, collected by the treasurer, pursuant to this article during the next preceding calendar month. The amount so payable shall be certified to the town supervisor by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. Provided, however, any such certification may be based on such information as may be available to the treasurer at the time such certification must be made under this section. Where the amount so paid over to the town in any such distribution is more or less than the amount due to the town, the amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be certified to the town supervisor by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. The amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be so certified to the town supervisor as soon after the discovery of the overpayment or underpayment as reasonably possible and subsequent payments and distributions by the treasurer to the town shall be adjusted by subtracting the amount of any such overpayment from or by adding the amount of any such underpayment to such number of subsequent payments and distributions as the treasurer and town supervisor shall consider reasonable in view of the overpayment or underpayment and all other facts and circumstances.

* § 1439-aaa. Definitions. When used in this article, unless otherwise expressly stated, the following words and terms shall have the following meanings:

1. "Person" means an individual, partnership, limited liability company, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

2. "Controlling interest" means (a) in the case of a corporation, either fifty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (b) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

3. "Real property" means every estate or right, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, in lands, tenements or hereditaments, including buildings, structures and other improvements thereon, which are located in whole or in part within the town of Orangetown. It shall not include rights to sepulture.

4. "Consideration" means the price actually paid or required to be paid for the real property or interest therein, including payment for an option or contract to purchase real property, whether or not expressed in the deed and whether paid or required to be paid by money, property, or any other thing of value. It shall include the cancellation or discharge of an indebtedness or obligation. It shall also include the amount of any mortgage, purchase money mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, whether or not the underlying indebtedness is assumed or taken subject to.

(b) In the case of a creation of a subleasehold interest, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the sublease rental payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property, the value of any amount paid for an option to renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew less the value of the remaining prime lease rental payments required to be made.

(d) In the case of an assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest or the assignment or surrender of an option or contract to purchase real property, consideration shall not include the value of the remaining rental payments required to be made pursuant to the terms of such lease or the amount to be paid for the real property pursuant to the terms of the option or contract being assigned or surrendered.

conveyed in the cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock in the cooperative housing corporation.

5. "Conveyance" means the transfer or transfers of any interest in real property by any method, including but not limited to, sale, exchange, assignment, surrender, mortgage foreclosure, transfer in lieu of foreclosure, option, trust indenture, taking by eminent domain, conveyance upon liquidation or by a receiver, or transfer or acquisition of a controlling interest in any entity with an interest in real property. Transfer of an interest in real property shall include the creation of a leasehold or sublease only where (a) the sum of the term of the lease or sublease and any options for renewal exceeds forty-nine years, (b) substantial capital improvements are or may be made by or for the benefit of the lessee or sublessee, and (c) the lease or sublease is for substantially all of the premises constituting the real property. Notwithstanding the foregoing, conveyance of real property shall not include a conveyance made pursuant to devise, bequest or inheritance; the creation, modification, extension, spreading, severance, consolidation, assignment, transfer, release or satisfaction of a mortgage; a mortgage subordination agreement, a mortgage severance agreement, an instrument given to perfect or correct a recorded mortgage; or a release of lien of tax pursuant to this chapter or the internal revenue code.

6. "Interest in the real property" includes title in fee, a leasehold interest, a beneficial interest, an encumbrance, development rights, air space and air rights, or any other interest with the right to use or occupancy of real property or the right to receive rents, profits or other income derived from real property. It shall also include an option or contract to purchase real property. It shall not include a right of first refusal to purchase real property.

7. "Grantor" means the person making the conveyance of real property or interest therein. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer or an acquisition of a controlling interest in an entity with an interest in real property, "grantor" means the entity with an interest in real property or a shareholder or partner transferring stock or partnership interest, respectively.

8. "Grantee" means the person who obtains real property or interest therein as a result of a conveyance.

9. "Fund" means a community preservation fund created pursuant to section sixty-four-1 of the town law.

10. "Recording officer" means the county clerk of the county of Rockland.

11. "Town" means the town of Orangetown, county of Rockland.

12. "Treasurer" means the treasurer of the county of Rockland.

13. "Town supervisor" means the town supervisor of the town of Orangetown.

14. "Tax" shall mean the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-bbb of this article or, if the context clearly indicates, shall mean the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to article thirty-one of this chapter.

15. "Residential real property" means property which satisfies at least one of the following conditions:

(a) the property classification code assigned to the property on the latest final assessment roll, as reported on the transfer report form, indicates that the property is a one, two or three family home or a rural residence; or

(b) the transfer report indicates that the property is a one, two or three family residential property that has been newly constructed on vacant land; or

(c) the transfer report form indicates that the property is a residential condominium.

Such tax shall be paid at the same time as the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter is required to be paid. Such treasurer or recording officer shall endorse upon each deed or instrument effecting a conveyance a receipt for the amount of the tax so paid.

2. A return shall be required to be filed with such treasurer or recording officer for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article at the same time as a return is required to be filed for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter. The treasurer shall prescribe the form of return, the information which it shall contain, and the documentation that shall accompany the return. Said form shall be identical to the real estate transfer tax return required to be filed pursuant to section fourteen hundred nine of this chapter, except that the treasurer shall adapt said form to reflect the provisions in this chapter that are inconsistent, different, or in addition to the provisions of article thirty-one of this chapter. The real estate transfer tax returns required to be filed pursuant to this section shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until such treasurer or recording officer orders them to be destroyed.

Notwithstanding the definition of "controlling interest" contained in subdivision two of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-aaa of this article or anything to the contrary contained in subdivision five of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-aaa of this article, the tax imposed pursuant to this article shall apply to (a) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor, and (b) the subsequent conveyance of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the owner thereof. With respect to any such subsequent conveyance where the property is an individual residential unit, the consideration for the interest conveyed shall exclude the value of any liens on certificates of stock or other evidences of an ownership interest in and a proprietary lease from a corporation or partnership formed for the purpose of cooperative ownership of residential interest in real estate remaining thereon at the time of conveyance. In determining the tax on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, a credit shall be allowed for a proportionate part of the amount of any tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings to the extent that such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership of such property and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property. The amount of the credit shall be determined by multiplying the amount of tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation by a percentage representing the extent to which such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property, and then multiplying the resulting product by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock conveyed in a transaction described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock of the cooperative housing corporation (including any stock held by the corporation). In no event, however, shall such credit reduce the tax, on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, below zero, nor shall any such credit be allowed for a tax paid more than twenty-four months prior to the date on which occurs the first in a series of conveyances of shares of stock in an offering of cooperative housing corporation shares described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision.

grantee, the number of shares conveyed, the date of the conveyance and the consideration paid for such conveyance.

 § 1439-kkk. Deposit and disposition of revenue. 1. All taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the town under the authority of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-bbb of this article, which are collected by the treasurer or the treasurer's agents, shall be deposited in a single trust fund for the town and shall be kept in trust and separate and apart from all other monies in possession of the treasurer. Moneys in such fund shall be deposited and secured in the manner provided by section ten of the general municipal law. Pending expenditure from such fund, moneys therein may be invested in the manner provided in section eleven of the general municipal law. Any interest earned or capital gain realized on the moneys so deposited or invested shall accrue to and become part of such fund.

2. The treasurer shall retain such amount as the treasurer may determine to be necessary for refunds with respect to the tax imposed by the town, under the authority of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-bbb of this article, out of which the treasurer shall pay any refunds of such taxes to those taxpayers entitled to a refund pursuant to the provisions of this article.

3. The treasurer, after reserving such refunds, shall on or before the twelfth day of each month pay to the town supervisor the taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the town under the authority of section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-bbb of this article, collected by the treasurer, pursuant to this article during the next preceding calendar month. The amount so payable shall be certified to the town supervisor by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. Provided, however, any such certification may be based on such information as may be available to the treasurer at the time such certification must be made under this section. Where the amount so paid over to the town in any such distribution is more or less than the amount due to the town, the amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be certified to the town supervisor by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. The amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be so certified to the town supervisor as soon after the discovery of the overpayment or underpayment as reasonably possible and subsequent payments and distributions by the treasurer to the town shall be adjusted by subtracting the amount of any such overpayment from or by adding the amount of any such underpayment to such number of subsequent payments and distributions as the treasurer and town supervisor shall consider reasonable in view of the overpayment or underpayment and all other facts and circumstances.

 § 1439-lll. Judicial review. 1. Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable under section fourteen hundred thirty-nine-ccc of this article shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within four months after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the state superintendent of financial services as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding or (b) at the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interest and penalties stated in such determination, plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

2. Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally assessed or collected and application for the refund or revision thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund or revision, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules; provided, however, that (a) such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of the notice of such denial, (b) a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and (c) an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

However, that nothing in this section shall prohibit the recording officer from making a notation on an instrument effecting a conveyance indicating the amount of tax paid. No recorded instrument effecting a conveyance shall be considered a return for purposes of this section.

2. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the county or town in any action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under a local law enacted pursuant to this article to which such county or town is a party, or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of a local law enacted pursuant to this article when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more.

3. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a grantor or grantee of an instrument effecting a conveyance or the duly authorized representative of a grantor or grantee of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with such instrument or to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the legal representatives of such county or town of the return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based

4. Any officer or employee of such county or town who willfully violates the provisions of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this state for a period of five years thereafter.

1448-s. Apportionment.

1448-t. Miscellaneous.

1448-u. Returns to be secret.

§ 1448-g. Definitions. When used in this article, unless otherwise expressly stated:

1. "Person" means an individual, partnership, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

2. "Controlling interest" means (a) in the case of a corporation, either fifty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (b) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

3. "Real property" means every estate or right, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, in lands, tenements or hereditaments, including buildings, structures and other improvements thereon, which are located in whole or in part within the county of Essex. It shall not include rights to sepulture.

4. "Consideration" means the price actually paid or required to be paid for the real property or interest therein, including payment for an option or contract to purchase real property, whether or not expressed in the deed and whether paid or required to be paid by money, property, or any other thing of value. It shall include the cancellation or discharge of an indebtedness or obligation. It shall also include the amount of any mortgage, purchase money mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, whether or not the underlying indebtedness is assumed or taken subject to.

(a) In the case of a creation of a leasehold interest or the granting of an option with use and occupancy of real property, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the rental and other payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property or interest therein, the value of any amount paid for an option to purchase or renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew.

(b) In the case of a creation of a subleasehold interest, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the sublease rental payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property, the value of any amount paid for an option to renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew less the value of the remaining prime lease rental payments required to be made.

(d) In the case of an assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest or the assignment or surrender of an option or contract to purchase real property, consideration shall not include the value of the remaining rental payments required to be made pursuant to the terms of such lease or the amount to be paid for the real property pursuant to the terms of the option or contract being assigned or surrendered.

grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock in the cooperative housing corporation.

5. "Conveyance" means the transfer or transfers of any interest in real property by any method, including but not limited to, sale, exchange, assignment, surrender, mortgage foreclosure, transfer in lieu of foreclosure, option, trust indenture, taking by eminent domain, conveyance upon liquidation or by a receiver, or transfer or acquisition of a controlling interest in any entity with an interest in real property. Transfer of an interest in real property shall include the creation of a leasehold or sublease only where (a) the sum of the term of the lease or sublease and any options for renewal exceeds forty-nine years, (b) substantial capital improvements are or may be made by or for the benefit of the lessee or sublessee, and (c) the lease or sublease is for substantially all of the premises constituting the real property. Notwithstanding the foregoing, conveyance of real property shall not include the creation, modification, extension, spreading, severance, consolidation, assignment, transfer, release or satisfaction of a mortgage; a mortgage subordination agreement, a mortgage severance agreement, an instrument given to perfect or correct a recorded mortgage; or a release of lien of tax pursuant to this chapter or the internal revenue code.

7. "Grantor" means the person making the conveyance of real property or interest therein. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer or an acquisition of a controlling interest in an entity with an interest in real property, "grantor" means the entity with an interest in real property or a shareholder or partner transferring stock or partnership interest.

8. "Grantee" means the person who obtains real property or interest therein as a result of a conveyance.

9. "Recording officer" means the county clerk of the county of Essex.

10. "Treasurer" means the treasurer of the county of Essex.

§ 1448-h. Imposition of tax. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the county of Essex, acting through its local legislative body, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such county a tax on each conveyance of real property or interest therein when the consideration exceeds five hundred dollars, at the rate of one dollar for each five hundred dollars or fractional part thereof. Such local law shall apply to any conveyance occurring on or after the first day of a month to be designated by such legislative body, which is not less than sixty days after the enactment of such local laws, but shall not apply to conveyances made on or after such date pursuant to binding written contracts entered into prior to such date, provided that the date of execution of such contract is confirmed by independent evidence such as the recording of the contract, payment of a deposit or other facts and circumstances as determined by the treasurer.

§ 1448-i. Payment of tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article shall be paid to the treasurer or the recording officer acting as the agent of the treasurer upon designation as such agent by the treasurer. Such tax shall be paid at the same time as the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter is required to be paid. Such treasurer or recording officer shall endorse upon each deed or instrument effecting a conveyance a receipt for the amount of the tax so paid.

2. A return shall be required to be filed with such treasurer or recording officer for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article at the same time as a return is required to be filed for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter. The return, for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article, shall be a photocopy or carbon copy of the real estate transfer tax return required to be filed pursuant to section fourteen hundred nine of this chapter. However, when an apportionment is required to be made pursuant to section fourteen hundred forty-eight-s of this article, a supplemental form shall also be required to be filed. The real estate transfer tax returns and supplemental forms required to be filed pursuant to this section shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until such treasurer or recording officer orders them to be destroyed.

§ 1448-j. Liability for tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid by the grantor. If the grantor has failed to pay the tax imposed pursuant to this article or if the grantor is exempt from such tax, the grantee shall have the duty to pay the tax. Where the grantee has the duty to pay the tax because the grantor has failed to pay, such tax shall be the joint and several liability of the grantor and the grantee.

2. For the purpose of the proper administration of this article and to prevent evasion of the tax hereby authorized, it shall be presumed that all conveyances are taxable. Where the consideration includes property other than money, it shall be presumed that the consideration is the fair market value of the real property or interest therein. These presumptions shall prevail until the contrary is proven, and the burden of proving the contrary shall be on the person liable for payment of the tax.

§ 1448-k. Exemptions. 1. The following shall be exempt from payment of the real estate transfer tax:

(a) The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, political subdivisions, or public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada).

(b) The United Nations, the United States of America and any of its agencies and instrumentalities.

The exemption of such governmental bodies or persons shall not, however, relieve a grantee from them of liability for the tax.

2. The tax shall not apply to any of the following conveyances:

(a) Conveyances to the United Nations, the United States of America, the state of New York, or any of their instrumentalities, agencies or political subdivisions (or any public corporation, including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada);

(b) Conveyances which are or were used to secure a debt or other obligation;

(c) Conveyances which, without additional consideration, confirm, correct, modify or supplement a prior conveyance;

(d) Conveyances of real property without consideration and otherwise than in connection with a sale, including conveyances conveying realty as bona fide gifts;

(e) Conveyances given in connection with a tax sale;

(f) Conveyances to effectuate a mere change of identity or form of ownership or organization where there is no change in beneficial ownership, other than conveyances to a cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings;

(g) Conveyances which consist of a deed of partition;

(h) Conveyances given pursuant to the federal bankruptcy act;

(i) Conveyances of real property which consist of the execution of a contract to sell real property without the use or occupancy of such property or the granting of an option to purchase real property without the use or occupancy of such property; and

(j) Conveyances of an option or contract to purchase real property with the use or occupancy of such property where the consideration is less than two hundred thousand dollars and such property was used solely by the grantor as his personal residence and consists of a one, two or three-family house, an individual residential condominium unit or the sale of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold covering an individual residential cooperative unit.

§ 1448-l. Credit. A grantor shall be allowed a credit against the tax due on a conveyance of real property to the extent tax was paid by such grantor on a prior creation of a leasehold of all or a portion of the same real property or on the granting of an option or contract to purchase all or a portion of the same real property, by such grantor. Such credit shall be computed by multiplying the tax paid on the creation of the leasehold or on the granting of the option or contract by a fraction, the numerator of which is the value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid which is not yet due to such grantor on the date of the subsequent conveyance (and which such grantor will not be entitled to receive after such date), and the denominator of which is the total value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid.

§ 1448-m. Cooperative housing corporation transfers. 1. Notwithstanding the definition of "controlling interest" contained in subdivision two of section fourteen hundred forty-eight-g of this article or anything to the contrary contained in subdivision five of section fourteen hundred forty-eight-g of this article, the tax imposed pursuant to this article shall apply to (a) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor, and (b) the subsequent conveyance of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the owner thereof. With respect to any such subsequent conveyance where the property is an individual residential unit, the consideration for the interest conveyed shall exclude the value of any liens on certificates of stock or other evidences of an ownership interest in and a proprietary lease from a corporation or partnership formed for the purpose of cooperative ownership of residential interest in real estate remaining thereon at the time of conveyance. In determining the tax on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, a credit shall be allowed for a proportionate part of the amount of any tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings to the extent that such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership of such property and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property. The amount of the credit shall be determined by multiplying the amount of tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation by a percentage representing the extent to which such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property, and then multiplying the resulting product by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock conveyed in a transaction described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock of the cooperative housing corporation (including any stock held by the corporation). In no event, however, shall such credit reduce the tax, on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, below zero, nor shall any such credit be allowed for a tax paid more than twenty-four months prior to the date on which occurs the first in a series of conveyances of shares of stock in an offering of cooperative housing corporation shares described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision.

grantee, the number of shares conveyed, the date of the conveyance and the consideration paid for such conveyance.

§ 1448-n. Designation of agents. The treasurer is authorized to designate the recording officer to act as its agent for purposes of collecting the tax authorized by this article. The treasurer shall provide for the manner in which such person may be designated as its agent subject to such terms and conditions as it shall prescribe. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid to such agent as provided in section fourteen hundred forty-eight-i of this article.

§ 1448-o. Liability of recording officer. A recording officer shall not be liable for any inaccuracy in the amount of tax imposed pursuant to this article that he or she shall collect so long as he or she shall compute and collect such tax on the amount of consideration or the value of the interest conveyed as such amounts are provided to him or her by the person paying the tax.

§ 1448-p. Refunds. Whenever the treasurer shall determine that any moneys received under the provisions of the local law enacted pursuant to this article were paid in error, it may cause such moneys to be refunded pursuant to such rules and regulations it may prescribe, provided any application for such refund is filed with the treasurer within two years from the date the erroneous payment was made.

§ 1448-q. Deposit and disposition of revenue. All taxes collected or received by the treasurer or his duly authorized agent under the provisions of the local law enacted pursuant to this article shall be deposited in accordance with provisions of a local law adopted by the legislative body of the county of Essex which local law shall designate proper officers to be responsible for deposit of revenue collected or received under this article. Such local law shall also provide that any officer designated to collect, receive, or deposit such revenue shall maintain a system of accounts showing the revenue collected or received from the tax imposed pursuant to this article. Such local law shall also provide that all revenue derived from the imposition of such tax shall be deposited into a separate account maintained by the county of Essex and the monies therein shall be disbursed exclusively for any and all costs, expenses and debt incurred by such county for the establishment of the Essex county public safety radio communications system; and upon payment of all such costs, expenses and debt shall be deposited into the general fund of the county of Essex.

§ 1448-r. Judicial review. 1. Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable under section fourteen hundred forty-eight-i of this article shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within four months after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of financial services of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding or (b) at the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interest and penalties stated in such determination, plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

2. Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally assessed or collected and application for the refund or revision thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund or revision, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules; provided, however, that (a) such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of the notice of such denial, (b) a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and (c) an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

§ 1448-s. Apportionment. The local law adopted by the legislative body of the county of Essex shall provide for a method of apportionment for determining the amount of tax due whenever the real property or interest therein is situated within and without the county of Essex.

§ 1448-t. Miscellaneous. The local law adopted by the legislative body of the county of Essex may contain such other provisions as such legislative body deems necessary for the proper administration of the tax imposed pursuant to this article, including provisions concerning the determination of tax, the imposition of interest on underpayments and overpayments and the imposition of civil penalties. Such provisions shall be identical to the corresponding provisions of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter, so far as such provisions can be made applicable to the tax imposed pursuant to this article.

§ 1448-u. Returns to be secret. 1. Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the treasurer or any officer or employee of the county of Essex or any person engaged or retained by such county on an independent contract basis to divulge or make known in any manner the particulars set forth or disclosed in any return required under a local law enacted pursuant to this article. However, that nothing in this section shall prohibit the recording officer from making a notation on an instrument effecting a conveyance indicating the amount of tax paid. No recorded instrument effecting a conveyance shall be considered a return for purposes of this section.

2. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the county in any action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under a local law enacted pursuant to this article to which such county or an officer or employee of such county is a party or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of a local law enacted pursuant to this article when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more.

3. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a grantor or grantee of an instrument effecting a conveyance or the duly authorized representative of a grantor or grantee of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with such instrument or to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the legal representatives of such county of the return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon.

4. Any officer or employee of such county who willfully violates the provisions of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this state for a period of five years thereafter.

§ 1448-v. Foreclosure proceedings. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer of property made as a result of an order of the court in a foreclosure proceeding ordering the sale of such property, the referee or sheriff effectuating such transfer shall not be liable for any interest or penalties that are authorized pursuant to this article or article thirty-seven of this chapter.

1449-t. Returns to be secret.

1449-u. Foreclosure proceedings.

§ 1449-f. Definitions. When used in this article, unless otherwise expressly stated:

1. "Person" means an individual, partnership, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

2. "Controlling interest" means (a) in the case of a corporation, either fifty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (b) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

3. "Real property" means every estate or right, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, in lands, tenements or hereditaments, including buildings, structures and other improvements thereon, which are located in whole or in part within the county of Broome. It shall not include rights to sepulture.

4. "Consideration" means the price actually paid or required to be paid for the real property or interest therein, including payment for an option or contract to purchase real property, whether or not expressed in the deed and whether paid or required to be paid by money, property, or any other thing of value. It shall include the cancellation or discharge of an indebtedness or obligation. It shall also include the amount of any mortgage, purchase money mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, whether or not the underlying indebtedness is assumed or taken subject to.

(a) In the case of a creation of a leasehold interest or the granting of an option with use and occupancy of real property, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the rental and other payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property or interest therein, the value of any amount paid for an option to purchase or renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew.

(b) In the case of a creation of a subleasehold interest, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the sublease rental payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property, the value of any amount paid for an option to renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew less the value of the remaining prime lease rental payments required to be made.

(d) In the case of an assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest or the assignment or surrender of an option or contract to purchase real property, consideration shall not include the value of the remaining rental payments required to be made pursuant to the terms of such lease or the amount to be paid for the real property pursuant to the terms of the option or contract being assigned or surrendered.

5. "Conveyance" means the transfer or transfers of any interest in real property by any method, including but not limited to, sale, exchange, assignment, surrender, mortgage foreclosure, transfer in lieu of foreclosure, option, trust indenture, taking by eminent domain, conveyance upon liquidation or by a receiver, or transfer or acquisition of a controlling interest in any entity with an interest in real property. Transfer of an interest in real property shall include the creation of a leasehold or sublease only where (a) the sum of the term of the lease or sublease and any options for renewal exceeds forty-nine years, (b) substantial capital improvements are or may be made by or for the benefit of the lessee or sublessee, and (c) the lease or sublease is for substantially all of the premises constituting the real property. Notwithstanding the foregoing, conveyance of real property shall not include the creation, modification, extension, spreading, severance, consolidation, assignment, transfer, release or satisfaction of a mortgage; a mortgage subordination agreement, a mortgage severance agreement, an instrument given to perfect or correct a recorded mortgage; or a release of lien of tax pursuant to this chapter or the internal revenue code.

6. "Interest in the real property" includes title in fee, a leasehold interest, a beneficial interest, an encumbrance, development rights, air space and air rights, or any other interest with the right to use or occupancy of real property or the right to receive rents, profits or other income derived from real property. It shall also include an option or contract to purchase real property. It shall not include a right of first refusal to purchase real property.

7. "Grantor" means the person making the conveyance of real property or interest therein. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer or an acquisition of a controlling interest in an entity with an interest in real property, "grantor" means the entity with an interest in real property or a shareholder or partner transferring stock or partnership interest.

8. "Grantee" means the person who obtains real property or interest therein as a result of a conveyance.

9. "Recording officer" means the county clerk of the county of Broome.

10. "Treasurer" means the commissioner of finance of the county of Broome.

§ 1449-g. Imposition of tax. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the county of Broome, acting through its local legislative body, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such county a tax on each conveyance of real property or interest therein when the consideration exceeds five hundred dollars, at the rate of fifty cents for each five hundred dollars or fractional part thereof. Such local law shall apply to any conveyance occurring on or after the first day of a month to be designated by such legislative body, which is not less than sixty days after the enactment of such local laws, but shall not apply to conveyances made on or after such date pursuant to binding written contracts entered into prior to such date, provided that the date of execution of such contract is confirmed by independent evidence such as the recording of the contract, payment of a deposit or other facts and circumstances as determined by the treasurer.

§ 1449-h. Payment of tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article shall be paid to the treasurer or the recording officer acting as the agent of the treasurer upon designation as such agent by the treasurer. Such tax shall be paid at the same time as the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter is required to be paid. Such treasurer or recording officer shall endorse upon each deed or instrument effecting a conveyance a receipt for the amount of the tax so paid.

2. A return shall be required to be filed with such treasurer or recording officer for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article at the same time as a return is required to be filed for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter. The return, for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article, shall be a photocopy or carbon copy of the real estate transfer tax return required to be filed pursuant to section fourteen hundred nine of this chapter. However, when an apportionment is required to be made pursuant to section fourteen hundred forty-nine-r of this article, a supplemental form shall also be required to be filed. The real estate transfer tax returns and supplemental forms required to be filed pursuant to this section shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until such treasurer or recording officer orders them to be destroyed.

§ 1449-i. Liability for tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid by the grantor. If the grantor has failed to pay the tax imposed pursuant to this article or if the grantor is exempt from such tax, the grantee shall have the duty to pay the tax. Where the grantee has the duty to pay the tax because the grantor has failed to pay, such tax shall be the joint and several liability of the grantor and the grantee.

2. For the purpose of the proper administration of this article and to prevent evasion of the tax hereby authorized, it shall be presumed that all conveyances are taxable. Where the consideration includes property other than money, it shall be presumed that the consideration is the fair market value of the real property or interest therein. These presumptions shall prevail until the contrary is proven, and the burden of proving the contrary shall be on the person liable for payment of the tax.

§ 1449-j. Exemptions. 1. The following shall be exempt from payment of the real estate transfer tax:

(a) The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, political subdivisions, or public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada).

(b) The United Nations, the United States of America and any of its agencies and instrumentalities.

The exemption of such governmental bodies or persons shall not, however, relieve a grantee from them of liability for the tax.

2. The tax shall not apply to any of the following conveyances:

(a) Conveyances to the United Nations, the United States of America, the state of New York, or any of their instrumentalities, agencies or political subdivisions (or any public corporation, including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada);

(b) Conveyances which are or were used to secure a debt or other obligation;

(c) Conveyances which, without additional consideration, confirm, correct, modify or supplement a prior conveyance;

(d) Conveyances of real property without consideration and otherwise than in connection with a sale, including conveyances conveying realty as bona fide gifts;

(e) Conveyances given in connection with a tax sale;

(f) Conveyances to effectuate a mere change of identity or form of ownership or organization where there is no change in beneficial ownership, other than conveyances to a cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings;

(g) Conveyances which consist of a deed of partition;

(h) Conveyances given pursuant to the federal bankruptcy act;

(i) Conveyances of real property which consist of the execution of a contract to sell real property without the use or occupancy of such property or the granting of an option to purchase real property without the use or occupancy of such property; and

(j) Conveyances of an option or contract to purchase real property with the use or occupancy of such property where the consideration is less than two hundred thousand dollars and such property was used solely by the grantor as his personal residence and consists of a one, two or three-family house, an individual residential condominium unit or the sale of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold covering an individual residential cooperative unit.

§ 1449-k. Credit. A grantor shall be allowed a credit against the tax due on a conveyance of real property to the extent tax was paid by such grantor on a prior creation of a leasehold of all or a portion of the same real property or on the granting of an option or contract to purchase all or a portion of the same real property, by such grantor. Such credit shall be computed by multiplying the tax paid on the creation of the leasehold or on the granting of the option or contract by a fraction, the numerator of which is the value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid which is not yet due to such grantor on the date of the subsequent conveyance (and which such grantor will not be entitled to receive after such date), and the denominator of which is the total value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid.

Notwithstanding the definition of "controlling interest" contained in subdivision two of section fourteen hundred forty-nine-f of this article or anything to the contrary contained in subdivision five of section fourteen hundred forty-nine-f of this article, the tax imposed pursuant to this article shall apply to (a) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor, and (b) the subsequent conveyance of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the owner thereof. With respect to any such subsequent conveyance where the property is an individual residential unit, the consideration for the interest conveyed shall exclude the value of any liens on certificates of stock or other evidences of an ownership interest in and a proprietary lease from a corporation or partnership formed for the purpose of cooperative ownership of residential interest in real estate remaining thereon at the time of conveyance. In determining the tax on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, a credit shall be allowed for a proportionate part of the amount of any tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings to the extent that such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership of such property and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property. The amount of the credit shall be determined by multiplying the amount of tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation by a percentage representing the extent to which such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property, and then multiplying the resulting product by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock conveyed in a transaction described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock of the cooperative housing corporation (including any stock held by the corporation). In no event, however, shall such credit reduce the tax, on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, below zero, nor shall any such credit be allowed for a tax paid more than twenty-four months prior to the date on which occurs the first in a series of conveyances of shares of stock in an offering of cooperative housing corporation shares described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision.

§ 1449-m. Designation of agents. The treasurer is authorized to designate the recording officer to act as its agent for purposes of collecting the tax authorized by this article. The treasurer shall provide for the manner in which such person may be designated as its agent subject to such terms and conditions as it shall prescribe. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid to such agent as provided in section fourteen hundred forty-nine-h of this article.

§ 1449-n. Liability of recording officer. A recording officer shall not be liable for any inaccuracy in the amount of tax imposed pursuant to this article that he shall collect so long as he shall compute and collect such tax on the amount of consideration or the value of the interest conveyed as such amounts are provided to him or her by the person paying the tax.

§ 1449-o. Refunds. Whenever the treasurer shall determine that any moneys received under the provisions of the local law enacted pursuant to this article were paid in error, it may cause such moneys to be refunded pursuant to such rules and regulations it may prescribe, provided any application for such refund is filed with the treasurer within two years from the date the erroneous payment was made.

§ 1449-p. Deposit and disposition of revenue. All taxes collected or received by the treasurer or his duly authorized agent under the provisions of the local law enacted pursuant to this article shall be deposited in accordance with provisions of a local law adopted by the legislative body of the county of Broome which local law shall designate proper officers to be responsible for deposit of revenue collected or received under this article. Such local law shall also provide that any officer designated to collect, receive, or deposit such revenue shall maintain a system of accounts showing the revenue collected or received from the tax imposed pursuant to this article. Such local law shall also provide that all revenue derived from the imposition of such tax shall be deposited into the general fund of the county of Broome and shall only be appropriated by the county legislature of the county of Broome to fund veterans' services programs within such county.

§ 1449-q. Judicial review. 1. Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable under section fourteen hundred forty-nine-h of this article shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within four months after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of financial services of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding or (b) at the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interest and penalties stated in such determination, plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

2. Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally assessed or collected and application for the refund or revision thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund or revision, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules; provided, however, that (a) such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of the notice of such denial, (b) a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and (c) an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

§ 1449-r. Apportionment. The local law adopted by the legislative body of the county of Broome shall provide for a method of apportionment for determining the amount of tax due whenever the real property or interest therein is situated within and without the county of Broome.

§ 1449-s. Miscellaneous. The local law adopted by the legislative body of the county of Broome may contain such other provisions as such legislative body deems necessary for the proper administration of the tax imposed pursuant to this article, including provisions concerning the determination of tax, the imposition of interest on underpayments and overpayments and the imposition of civil penalties. Such provisions shall be identical to the corresponding provisions of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter, so far as such provisions can be made applicable to the tax imposed pursuant to this article.

§ 1449-t. Returns to be secret. (a) Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the treasurer or any officer or employee of the county of Broome or any person engaged or retained by such county on an independent contract basis to divulge or make known in any manner the particulars set forth or disclosed in any return required under a local law enacted pursuant to this article. However, that nothing in this section shall prohibit the recording officer from making a notation on an instrument effecting a conveyance indicating the amount of tax paid. No recorded instrument effecting a conveyance shall be considered a return for purposes of this section.

(b) The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the county in any action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under a local law enacted pursuant to this article to which such county or an officer or employee of such county is a party or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of a local law enacted pursuant to this article when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more.

(c) Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a grantor or grantee of an instrument effecting a conveyance or the duly authorized representative of a grantor or grantee of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with such instrument or to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the legal representatives of such county of the return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon.

(d) Any officer or employee of such county who willfully violates the provisions of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this state for a period of five years thereafter.

§ 1449-u. Foreclosure proceedings. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer of property made as a result of an order of the court in a foreclosure proceeding ordering the sale of such property, the referee or sheriff effectuating such transfer shall not be liable for any interest or penalties that are authorized pursuant to this article or article thirty-seven of this chapter.

 § 1449-aa. Definitions. When used in this article, unless otherwise expressly stated, the following words and terms shall have the following meanings:

1. "Person" means an individual, partnership, limited liability company, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

2. "Controlling interest" means (a) in the case of a corporation, either fifty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (b) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

3. "Real property" means every estate or right, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, in lands, tenements or hereditaments, including buildings, structures and other improvements thereon, which are located in whole or in part within any town in the Peconic Bay region. It shall not include rights to sepulture.

4. "Consideration" means the price actually paid or required to be paid for the real property or interest therein, including payment for an option or contract to purchase real property, whether or not expressed in the deed and whether paid or required to be paid by money, property, or any other thing of value. It shall include the cancellation or discharge of an indebtedness or obligation. It shall also include the amount of any mortgage, purchase money mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, whether or not the underlying indebtedness is assumed or taken subject to.

(a) In the case of a creation of a leasehold interest or the granting of an option with use and occupancy of real property, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the rental and other payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property or interest therein, the value of any amount paid for an option to purchase or renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew.

(b) In the case of a creation of a subleasehold interest, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the sublease rental payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property, the value of any amount paid for an option to renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew less the value of the remaining prime lease rental payments required to be made.

(d) In the case of an assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest or the assignment or surrender of an option or contract to purchase real property, consideration shall not include the value of the remaining rental payments required to be made pursuant to the terms of such lease or the amount to be paid for the real property pursuant to the terms of the option or contract being assigned or surrendered.

other than an individual residential unit, consideration shall include a proportionate share of the unpaid principal of any mortgage on the real property of the cooperative housing corporation comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings. Such share shall be determined by multiplying the total unpaid principal of the mortgage by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock being conveyed in the cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock in the cooperative housing corporation.

5. "Conveyance" means the transfer or transfers of any interest in real property by any method, including but not limited to, sale, exchange, assignment, surrender, mortgage foreclosure, transfer in lieu of foreclosure, option, trust indenture, taking by eminent domain, conveyance upon liquidation or by a receiver, or transfer or acquisition of a controlling interest in any entity with an interest in real property. Transfer of an interest in real property shall include the creation of a leasehold or sublease only where (a) the sum of the term of the lease or sublease and any options for renewal exceeds forty-nine years, (b) substantial capital improvements are or may be made by or for the benefit of the lessee or sublessee, and (c) the lease or sublease is for substantially all of the premises constituting the real property. Notwithstanding the foregoing, conveyance of real property shall not include a conveyance made pursuant to devise, bequest or inheritance; the creation, modification, extension, spreading, severance, consolidation, assignment, transfer, release or satisfaction of a mortgage; a mortgage subordination agreement, a mortgage severance agreement, an instrument given to perfect or correct a recorded mortgage; or a release of lien of tax pursuant to this chapter or the internal revenue code.

6. "Interest in the real property" includes title in fee, a leasehold interest, a beneficial interest, an encumbrance, development rights, air space and air rights, or any other interest with the right to use or occupancy of real property or the right to receive rents, profits or other income derived from real property. It shall also include an option or contract to purchase real property. It shall not include a right of first refusal to purchase real property.

7. "Grantor" means the person making the conveyance of real property or interest therein. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer or an acquisition of a controlling interest in an entity with an interest in real property, "grantor" means the entity with an interest in real property or a shareholder or partner transferring stock or partnership interest, respectively.

8. "Grantee" means the person who obtains real property or interest therein as a result of a conveyance.

9. "Fund" means a community preservation fund created pursuant to section sixty-four-e of the town law.

10. "Recording officer" means the county clerk of the county of Suffolk.

11. "Town" means any town in the Peconic Bay region, county of Suffolk.

12. "Treasurer" means the treasurer of the county of Suffolk.

13. "Town supervisor" means the town supervisor of a town.

14. "Peconic Bay region" means the towns of East Hampton, Riverhead, Shelter Island, Southampton and Southold.

15. "Household income" means the total combined income of all the owners, and of any owners' spouses residing on the premises for the income tax year preceding the date of making application for the exemption.

16. "Income" means the adjusted gross income for federal income tax purposes as reported on the applicant's latest available federal or state income tax return subject to any subsequent amendments or revisions, reduced by distributions, to the extent included in federal adjusted gross income, received from an individual retirement account and an individual retirement annuity; provided that if no such return was filed within the one year period preceding taxable status date, income shall mean the adjusted gross income that would have been so reported if such a return had been filed.

17. "Latest available return" shall mean the federal or state income tax return for the year immediately preceding the date of making application, provided however, that if the tax return for such tax year has not been filed, then the income tax return for the tax year two years preceding the date of making application shall be considered the latest available.

18. "First-time homebuyer" means a person who has not owned a primary residential property and is not married to a person who has owned a residential property during the three-year period prior to his or her purchase of the primary residential property, and who does not own a vacation or investment home.

19. "Primary residential property" means any one or two family house, townhouse or condominium located in the town which is to be owner occupied by such homebuyer.

 § 1449-bb. Imposition of tax. 1. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, any town in the Peconic Bay region, acting through its town board, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt a local law imposing in such town a tax on each conveyance of real property or interest therein where the consideration exceeds five hundred dollars, at the rate of two percent of the consideration for such conveyance. Provided, however, any such local law imposing, repealing or reimposing such tax shall be subject to a mandatory referendum pursuant to section twenty-three of the municipal home rule law. Notwithstanding the foregoing, prior to adoption of such local law, the town must establish a community preservation fund pursuant to section sixty-four-e of the town law. Revenues from such tax shall be deposited in such fund and may be used solely for the purposes of such fund. Such local law shall apply to any conveyance occurring on or after the first day of a month to be designated by such town board, which is not less than sixty days after the enactment of such local law, but shall not apply to conveyances made on or after such date pursuant to binding written contracts entered into prior to such date, provided that the date of execution of such contract is confirmed by independent evidence such as the recording of the contract, payment of a deposit or other facts and circumstances as determined by the treasurer.

2. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, in addition to the tax authorized by subdivision one of this section, any town in the Peconic Bay region, acting through its town board, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt a local law imposing in such town a supplemental tax on each conveyance of real property or interest therein where the consideration exceeds five hundred dollars, at the rate of one half of one percent of the consideration for such conveyance. Provided, however, any such local law imposing, repealing or re-imposing such supplemental tax shall be subject to a mandatory referendum pursuant to section twenty-three of the municipal home rule law. Notwithstanding the foregoing, prior to adoption of such local law, the town must establish a community housing fund pursuant to section sixty-four-k of the town law. Revenues from such supplemental tax shall be deposited in such fund and may be used solely for the purposes of such fund. Such local law shall apply to any conveyance occurring on or after the first day of a month to be designated by such town board, which is not less than sixty days after the enactment of such local law, but shall not apply to conveyances made on or after such date pursuant to binding written contracts entered into prior to such date, provided that the date of execution of such contract is confirmed by independent evidence such as the recording of the contract, payment of a deposit or other facts and circumstances as determined by the treasurer. Any tax imposed pursuant to this subdivision shall be administered and collected in a like manner as the tax imposed by subdivision one of this section.

 § 1449-cc. Payment of tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article shall be paid to the treasurer or the recording officer acting as the agent of the treasurer upon designation as such agent by the treasurer. Such tax shall be paid at the same time as the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter is required to be paid. Such treasurer or recording officer shall endorse upon each deed or instrument effecting a conveyance a receipt for the amount of the tax so paid.

2. A return shall be required to be filed with such treasurer or recording officer for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article at the same time as a return is required to be filed for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter. The treasurer shall prescribe the form of return, the information which it shall contain, and the documentation that shall accompany the return. Said form shall be identical to the real estate transfer tax return required to be filed pursuant to section fourteen hundred nine of this chapter, except that the treasurer shall adapt said form to reflect the provisions in this chapter that are inconsistent, different, or in addition to the provisions of article thirty-one of this chapter. The real estate transfer tax returns required to be filed pursuant to this section shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until such treasurer or recording officer orders them to be destroyed.

 § 1449-dd. Liability for tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid by the grantee. If the grantee has failed to pay the tax imposed pursuant to this article or if the grantee is exempt from such tax, the grantor shall have the duty to pay the tax. Where the grantor has the duty to pay the tax because the grantee has failed to pay the tax, such tax shall be the joint and several liability of the grantee and the grantor.

2. For the purpose of the proper administration of this article and to prevent evasion of the tax hereby imposed, it shall be presumed that all conveyances are taxable. Where the consideration includes property other than money, it shall be presumed that the consideration is the fair market value of the real property or interest therein. These presumptions shall prevail until the contrary is proven, and the burden of proving the contrary shall be on the person liable for payment of the tax.

 § 1449-ee. Exemptions. 1. The following shall be exempt from the payment of the real estate transfer tax:

(a) The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, political subdivisions, or public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to an agreement or compact with another state or Dominion of Canada); and

(b) The United Nations, the United States of America or any of its agencies or instrumentalities.

2. The tax shall not apply to any of the following conveyances:

(a) Conveyances to the United Nations, the United States of America, the state of New York, or any of their instrumentalities, agencies or political subdivisions (or any public corporation, including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada);

(b) Conveyances which are or were used to secure a debt or other obligation;

(c) Conveyances which, without additional consideration, confirm, correct, modify or supplement a deed previously recorded;

(d) Conveyances of real property without consideration and otherwise than in connection with a sale, including deeds conveying realty as bona fide gifts;

(e) Conveyances given in connection with a tax sale;

(f) Conveyances to effectuate a mere change of identity or form of ownership or organization where there is no change in beneficial ownership, other than conveyances to a cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings;

(g) Conveyances which consist of a deed of partition;

(h) Conveyances given pursuant to the federal bankruptcy act;

(i) Conveyances of real property which consist of the execution of a contract to sell real property without the use or occupancy of such property or the granting of an option to purchase real property without the use or occupancy of such property;

(j) Conveyances of real property, where the entire parcel of real property to be conveyed is the subject of one or more of the following development restrictions:

(1) agricultural, conservation, scenic, or an open space easement,

(2) covenants or restrictions prohibiting development,

(3) a purchase of development rights agreement,

(4) a transfer of development rights agreement, where the property being conveyed has had its development rights removed,

(5) said real property is subject to the development restriction of an agricultural district or individual commitment, pursuant to article twenty-five-AA of the agriculture and markets law,

(6) real property subject to any locally adopted land preservation agreement, provided said exemption is included in the local law imposing the tax authorized by this article;

(k) Conveyances of real property, where the property is viable agricultural land as defined in subdivision seven of section three hundred one of the agriculture and markets law and the entire property to be conveyed is to be made subject to one of the development restrictions provided for in subparagraph two of paragraph (j) of this subdivision provided that said development restriction precludes the conversion of the property to a non-agricultural use for at least three years from the date of transfer, and said development restriction is evidenced by an easement, agreement, or other suitable instrument which is to be conveyed to the town simultaneously with the conveyance of the real property; or

(l) Conveyances of real property for open space, parks, or historic preservation purposes to any not-for-profit tax exempt corporation operated for conservation, environmental, or historic preservation purposes.

(m) Conveyances of real property to any tax exempt corporation, incorporated pursuant to the not-for-profit corporation law or the private housing finance law, where such conveyance is for the purposes of providing affordable housing opportunities within the towns and such corporation is incorporated for the purposes of providing housing opportunities. For the purposes of this paragraph, "affordable housing" shall mean housing opportunities exclusively for town residents of the towns whose income is at or below the median income for the town.

3. (a) In the towns of East Hampton, Shelter Island and Southampton, an exemption of four hundred thousand dollars shall be allowed on the consideration of the conveyance of improved real property or an interest therein and an exemption of one hundred thousand dollars shall be allowed on the consideration of the conveyance of unimproved real property.

(b) In the towns of Riverhead and Southold, an exemption of two hundred thousand dollars shall be allowed on the consideration of the conveyance of improved real property or an interest therein and an exemption of seventy-five thousand dollars shall be allowed on the consideration of the conveyance of unimproved real property.

(c) The exemption granted pursuant to the provisions of this subdivision shall only apply to conveyances for residential property where the consideration is two million dollars or less.

4. Primary residential property purchased by one or more persons, each of whom is a first-time homebuyer shall be exempt from the payment of the real estate transfer tax, in the towns of Southampton, East Hampton, Shelter Island and Southold, provided that:

(a) (1) in the towns of Southampton, East Hampton and Shelter Island, the primary residential property is within one hundred fifty percent of the purchase price limits defined by the state of New York mortgage agency low interest rate mortgage program in the non-target one family categories for Suffolk county in effect on the contract date for the sale of such property;

(2) in the town of Southold, the primary residential property is within sixty percent of the purchase price limits defined by the state of New York mortgage agency low interest rate mortgage program in the non-target one family categories for Suffolk county in effect on the contract date for the sale of such property; and

(b) the buyer's household income does not exceed the income limits defined by the state of New York mortgage agency low interest rate mortgage program in the non-target, one and two person household category for Suffolk county in effect on the contract date for the sale of such property.

5. Such exemption shall be granted only upon application by the owner of such building on a form prescribed by the town. The application shall be filed with the town. If satisfied that the applicant is entitled to an exemption pursuant to this section, the town shall approve the application and the conveyance of such primary residential property shall be exempt from the real estate transfer tax imposed by this article.

* § 1449-ff. Credit. A grantee shall be allowed a credit against the tax due on a conveyance of real property to the extent tax was paid by such grantee on a prior creation of a leasehold of all or a portion of the same real property or on the granting of an option or contract to purchase all or a portion of the same real property by such grantee. Such credit shall be computed by multiplying the tax paid on the creation of the leasehold or on the granting of the option or contract by a fraction, the numerator of which is the value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid which is not yet due to such grantor on the date of the subsequent conveyance (and which such grantor will not be entitled to receive after such date), and the denominator of which is the total value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid.

* § 1449-gg. Cooperative housing corporation transfers. 1.

Notwithstanding the definition of "controlling interest" contained in subdivision two of section fourteen hundred forty-nine-aa of this article or anything to the contrary contained in subdivision five of section fourteen hundred forty-nine-aa of this article, the tax imposed pursuant to this article shall apply to (a) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor, and (b) the subsequent conveyance of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the owner thereof. With respect to any such subsequent conveyance where the property is an individual residential unit, the consideration for the interest conveyed shall exclude the value of any liens on certificates of stock or other evidences of an ownership interest in and a proprietary lease from a corporation or partnership formed for the purpose of cooperative ownership of residential interest in real estate remaining thereon at the time of conveyance. In determining the tax on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, a credit shall be allowed for a proportionate part of the amount of any tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings to the extent that such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership of such property and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property. The amount of the credit shall be determined by multiplying the amount of tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation by a percentage representing the extent to which such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property, and then multiplying the resulting product by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock conveyed in a transaction described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock of the cooperative housing corporation (including any stock held by the corporation). In no event, however, shall such credit reduce the tax, on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, below zero, nor shall any such credit be allowed for a tax paid more than twenty-four months prior to the date on which occurs the first in a series of conveyances of shares of stock in an offering of cooperative housing corporation shares described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision.

* § 1449-hh. Designation of agents. The treasurer is authorized to designate the recording officer to act as his or her agent for purposes of collecting the tax authorized by this article. The treasurer shall provide for the manner in which such person may be designated as his or her agent subject to such terms and conditions as the treasurer shall prescribe. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid to such agent as provided in section fourteen hundred forty-nine-cc of this article.

* § 1449-ii. Liability of recording officer. A recording officer shall not be liable for any inaccuracy in the amount of tax imposed pursuant to this article that he or she shall collect so long as he or she shall compute and collect such tax on the amount of consideration or the value of the interest conveyed as such amounts are provided to him or her by the person paying the tax.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2050

* § 1449-jj. Refunds. Whenever the treasurer shall determine that any moneys received under the provisions of the local law enacted pursuant to this article were paid in error, he or she may cause such moneys to be refunded pursuant to such rules and regulations he or she may prescribe, provided that any application for such refund is filed with the treasurer within two years from the date the erroneous payment was made.

* § 1449-kk. Deposit and disposition of revenue. 1. All taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the town under the authority of section fourteen hundred forty-nine-bb of this article, which are collected by the treasurer or his or her agents, shall be deposited in a single trust fund for the town and shall be kept in trust and separate and apart from all other monies in possession of the treasurer. Moneys in such fund shall be deposited and secured in the manner provided by section ten of the general municipal law. Pending expenditure from such fund, moneys therein may be invested in the manner provided in section eleven of the general municipal law. Any interest earned or capital gain realized on the moneys so deposited or invested shall accrue to and become part of such fund.

2. The treasurer shall retain such amount as he or she may determine to be necessary for refunds with respect to the tax imposed by the town, under the authority of section fourteen hundred forty-nine-bb of this article, out of which the treasurer shall pay any refunds of such taxes to those taxpayers entitled to a refund pursuant to the provisions of this article.

3. The treasurer, after reserving such refunds, shall on or before the twelfth day of each month pay to the town supervisor the taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the town under the authority of section fourteen hundred forty-nine-bb of this article, collected by the treasurer, pursuant to this article during the next preceding calendar month. The amount so payable shall be certified to the town supervisor by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. Provided, however, any such certification may be based on such information as may be available to the treasurer at the time such certification must be made under this section. Where the amount so paid over to the town in any such distribution is more or less than the amount due to the town, the amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be certified to the town supervisor by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. The amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be so certified to the town supervisor as soon after the discovery of the overpayment or underpayment as reasonably possible and subsequent payments and distributions by the treasurer to such town shall be adjusted by subtracting the amount of any such overpayment from or by adding the amount of any such underpayment to such number of subsequent payments and distributions as the treasurer and town supervisor shall consider reasonable in view of the overpayment or underpayment and all other facts and circumstances.

4. All monies received from the treasurer shall be deposited in the fund of the town, pursuant to section sixty-four-e of the town law.

* § 1449-11. Judicial review. 1. Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable under section fourteen hundred forty-nine-cc of this article shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within four months after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the state superintendent of financial services as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding or (b) at the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interest and penalties stated in such determination, plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

2. Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally assessed or collected and application for the refund or revision thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund or revision, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules; provided, however, that (a) such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of the notice of such denial, (b) a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and (c) an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

* § 1449-mm. Apportionment. A local law adopted by any town in the Peconic Bay region, pursuant to this article, shall provide for a method of apportionment for determining the amount of tax due whenever the real property or interest therein is situated within and without the town.

* § 1449-nn. Miscellaneous. 1. A local law adopted by any town in the Peconic Bay region, pursuant to this article, may contain such other provisions as the town deems necessary for the proper administration and enforcement of the tax imposed pursuant to this article, including but not limited to provisions concerning the determination of tax, the imposition of interest on underpayments and overpayments, proceedings to recover the tax, and the imposition of civil penalties. Such provisions shall be identical to the corresponding provisions of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter, so far as such provisions can be made applicable to the tax imposed pursuant to this article.

2. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, the commissioner may permit the supervisor of the town, or authorized representative of said supervisor to inspect any return filed under this chapter, or may furnish to such supervisor or his or her representative an abstract of any such return, or supply him or her with information concerning an item contained in any such return, or disclosed by any investigation of tax liability under this chapter, but such permission shall be granted or such information furnished only if such information is to be used for tax purposes.

3. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, the supervisor of the towns or the authorized representative of such supervisor may permit the commissioner to inspect any return filed under this chapter, or may furnish to the commissioner or supervisor an abstract of any such return, or supply him or her with information concerning an item contained in any such return, or disclosed by any investigation of tax liability under this article, but such permission shall only be granted or such information furnished only if such information is to be used for tax purposes.

4. The commissioner and the towns imposing the tax authorized by this article may enter into a cooperative agreement to facilitate the administration and enforcement of this article.

* § 1449-oo. Returns to be secret. 1. Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the treasurer or any officer or employee of the county or town, including any person engaged or retained on an independent contract basis, to divulge or make known in any manner the particulars set forth or disclosed in any return required under a local law enacted pursuant to this article. However, that nothing in this section shall prohibit the recording officer from making a notation on an instrument effecting a conveyance indicating the amount of tax paid. No recorded instrument effecting a conveyance shall be considered a return for purposes of this section.

2. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the county or town in any action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under a local law enacted pursuant to this article to which such county or town is a party, or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of a local law enacted pursuant to this article when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more.

3. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a grantor or grantee of an instrument effecting a conveyance or the duly authorized representative of a grantor or grantee of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with such instrument or to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the legal representatives of such county or town of the return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon.

4. Any officer or employee of such county or town who willfully violates the provisions of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this state for a period of five years thereafter.

1449-kkk. Deposit and disposition of revenue.

1449-lll. Judicial review.

1449-mmm. Apportionment.

1449-nnn. Miscellaneous.

1449-ooo. Returns to be secret.

1449-ppp. Foreclosure proceedings.

§ 1449-aaa. Definitions. When used in this article, unless otherwise expressly stated:

1. "Person" means an individual, partnership, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

2. "Controlling interest" means (a) in the case of a corporation, either fifty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (b) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

3. "Real property" means every estate or right, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, in lands, tenements or hereditaments, including buildings, structures and other improvements thereon, which are located in whole or in part within the county of Nassau. It shall not include rights to sepulture.

4. "Consideration" means the price actually paid or required to be paid for the real property or interest therein, including payment for an option or contract to purchase real property, whether or not expressed in the deed and whether paid or required to be paid by money, property, or any other thing of value. It shall include the cancellation or discharge of an indebtedness or obligation. It shall also include the amount of any mortgage, purchase money mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, whether or not the underlying indebtedness is assumed or taken subject to.

(b) In the case of a creation of a subleasehold interest, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the sublease rental payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property, the value of any amount paid for an option to renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew less the value of the remaining prime lease rental payments required to be made.

(d) In the case of an assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest or the assignment or surrender of an option or contract to purchase real property, consideration shall not include the value of the remaining rental payments required to be made pursuant to the terms of such lease or the amount to be paid for the real property pursuant to the terms of the option or contract being assigned or surrendered.

5. "Conveyance" means the transfer or transfers of any interest in real property by any method, including but not limited to, sale, exchange, assignment, surrender, mortgage foreclosure, transfer in lieu of foreclosure, option, trust indenture, taking by eminent domain, conveyance upon liquidation or by a receiver, or transfer or acquisition of a controlling interest in any entity with an interest in real property. Transfer of an interest in real property shall include the creation of a leasehold or sublease only where (a) the sum of the term of the lease or sublease and any options for renewal exceeds forty-nine years, (b) substantial capital improvements are or may be made by or for the benefit of the lessee or sublessee, and (c) the lease or sublease is for substantially all of the premises constituting the real property. Notwithstanding the foregoing, conveyance of real property shall not include the creation, modification, extension, spreading, severance, consolidation, assignment, transfer, release or satisfaction of a mortgage; a mortgage subordination agreement, a mortgage severance agreement, an instrument given to perfect or correct a recorded mortgage; or a release of lien of tax pursuant to this chapter or the internal revenue code.

6. "Interest in the real property" includes title in fee, a leasehold interest, a beneficial interest, an encumbrance, development rights, air space and air rights, or any other interest with the right to use or occupancy of real property or the right to receive rents, profits or other income derived from real property. It shall also include an option or contract to purchase real property. It shall not include a right of first refusal to purchase real property.

7. "Grantor" means the person making the conveyance of real property or interest therein. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer or an acquisition of a controlling interest in an entity with an interest in real property, "grantor" means the entity with an interest in real property or a shareholder or partner transferring stock or partnership interest.

8. "Grantee" means the person who obtains real property or interest therein as a result of a conveyance.

9. "Recording officer" means the county clerk of the county of Nassau.

10. "Treasurer" means the treasurer of the county of Nassau.

§ 1449-bbb. Imposition of tax. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the county of Nassau, acting through its local legislative body, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such county a tax on each conveyance of real property or interest therein when the consideration exceeds five hundred dollars, at the rate of five dollars for each five hundred dollars or fractional part thereof. The authority of the county to adopt and amend local laws imposing the tax authorized by this section and the imposition of all taxes pursuant thereto shall expire on January thirty-first, two thousand one. Such local law may apply to any conveyance occurring on or after the date designated by such legislative body, but shall not apply to conveyances made on or after such date pursuant to binding written contracts entered into prior to such date, provided that the date of execution of such contract is confirmed by independent evidence such as the recording of the contract, payment of a deposit or other facts and circumstances as determined by the treasurer.

§ 1449-ccc. Payment of tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article shall be paid to the treasurer or the recording officer acting as the agent of the treasurer. Such tax shall be paid at the same time as the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter is required to be paid. Such treasurer or recording officer shall endorse upon each deed or instrument effecting a conveyance a receipt for the amount of the tax so paid.

2. A return shall be required to be filed with such treasurer or recording officer for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article at the same time as a return is required to be filed for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter. The return, for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article, shall be a photocopy or carbon copy of the real estate transfer tax return required to be filed pursuant to section fourteen hundred nine of this chapter. However, when an apportionment is required to be made pursuant to section fourteen hundred forty-nine-~~mm~~ of this article, a supplemental form shall also be required to be filed. The real estate transfer tax returns and supplemental forms required to be filed pursuant to this section shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until such treasurer or recording officer orders them to be destroyed.

§ 1449-ddd. Liability for tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid by the grantor. If the grantor has failed to pay the tax imposed pursuant to this article or if the grantor is exempt from such tax, the grantee shall have the duty to pay the tax. Where the grantee has the duty to pay the tax because the grantor has failed to pay, such tax shall be the joint and several liability of the grantor and the grantee.

2. For the purpose of the proper administration of this article and to prevent evasion of the tax hereby authorized, it shall be presumed that all conveyances are taxable. Where the consideration includes property other than money, it shall be presumed that the consideration is the fair market value of the real property or interest therein. These presumptions shall prevail until the contrary is proven, and the burden of proving the contrary shall be on the person liable for payment of the tax.

§ 1449-eee. Exemptions. 1. The following shall be exempt from payment of the real estate transfer tax:

(a) The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, political subdivisions, or public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada).

(b) The United Nations, the United States of America and any of its agencies and instrumentalities.

The exemption of such governmental bodies or persons shall not, however, relieve a grantee from them of liability for the tax.

2. The tax shall not apply to any of the following conveyances:

(a) Conveyances to the United Nations, the United States of America, the state of New York, or any of their instrumentalities, agencies or political subdivisions (or any public corporation, including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada);

(b) Conveyances which are or were used to secure a debt or other obligation;

(c) Conveyances which, without additional consideration, confirm, correct, modify or supplement a prior conveyance;

(d) Conveyances of real property without consideration and otherwise than in connection with a sale, including conveyances conveying realty as bona fide gifts;

(e) Conveyances given in connection with a tax sale;

(f) Conveyances to effectuate a mere change of identity or form of ownership or organization where there is no change in beneficial ownership, other than conveyances to a cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings;

(g) Conveyances which consist of a deed of partition;

(h) Conveyances given pursuant to the federal bankruptcy act; and

§ 1449-fff. Credit. A grantor shall be allowed a credit against the tax due on a conveyance of real property to the extent tax was paid by such grantor on a prior creation of a leasehold of all or a portion of the same real property or on the granting of an option or contract to purchase all or a portion of the same real property, by such grantor. Such credit shall be computed by multiplying the tax paid on the creation of the leasehold or on the granting of the option or contract by a fraction, the numerator of which is the value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid which is not yet due to such grantor on the date of the subsequent conveyance (and which such grantor will not be entitled to receive after such date), and the denominator of which is the total value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid.

Notwithstanding the definition of "controlling interest" contained in subdivision two of section fourteen hundred forty-nine-aaa of this article or anything to the contrary contained in subdivision five of section fourteen hundred forty-nine-aaa of this article, the tax imposed pursuant to this article shall apply to (a) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor, and (b) the subsequent conveyance of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the owner thereof. With respect to any such subsequent conveyance where the property is an individual residential unit, the consideration for the interest conveyed shall exclude the value of any liens on certificates of stock or other evidences of an ownership interest in and a proprietary lease from a corporation or partnership formed for the purpose of cooperative ownership of residential interest in real estate remaining thereon at the time of conveyance. In determining the tax on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, a credit shall be allowed for a proportionate part of the amount of any tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings to the extent that such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership of such property and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property. The amount of the credit shall be determined by multiplying the amount of tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation by a percentage representing the extent to which such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property, and then multiplying the resulting product by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock conveyed in a transaction described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock of the cooperative housing corporation (including any stock held by the corporation). In no event, however, shall such credit reduce the tax, on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, below zero, nor shall any such credit be allowed for a tax paid more than twenty-four months prior to the date on which occurs the first in a series of conveyances of shares of stock in an offering of cooperative housing corporation shares described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision.

§ 1449-hhh. Designation of agents. The treasurer is authorized to designate the recording officer to act as its agent for purposes of collecting the tax authorized by this article. The treasurer shall provide for the manner in which such person may be designated as its agent subject to such terms and conditions as it shall prescribe. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid to such agent as provided in section fourteen hundred forty-nine-ccc of this article.

§ 1449-iii. Liability of recording officer. A recording officer shall not be liable for any inaccuracy in the amount of tax imposed pursuant to this article that he shall collect so long as he shall compute and collect such tax on the amount of consideration or the value of the interest conveyed as such amounts are provided to him or her by the person paying the tax.

§ 1449-jjj. Refunds. Whenever the treasurer shall determine that any moneys received under the provisions of the local law enacted pursuant to this article were paid in error, it may cause such moneys to be refunded pursuant to such rules and regulations it may prescribe, provided any application for such refund is filed with the treasurer within two years from the date the erroneous payment was made. When making any findings or determinations the treasurer may rely upon any findings or determinations of the commissioner and any rules and regulations promulgated pursuant to article thirty-one of this chapter.

§ 1449-kkk. Deposit and disposition of revenue. All taxes collected or received by the treasurer or his duly authorized agent under the provisions of the local law enacted pursuant to this article shall be deposited in accordance with provisions of a local law adopted by the legislative body of the county of Nassau which local law shall designate proper officers to be responsible for deposit of revenue collected or received under this article. Such local law shall also provide that any officer designated to collect, receive, or deposit such revenue shall maintain a system of accounts showing the revenue collected or received from the tax imposed pursuant to this article. Such local law shall also provide that all revenue derived from the imposition of such tax shall be deposited into the general fund of the county of Nassau and shall only be appropriated by the county legislature of the county of Nassau for the payment of debt service.

§ 1449-lll. Judicial review. 1. Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable under section fourteen hundred forty-nine-ccc of this article shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within four months after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of financial services of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding or (b) at the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interest and penalties stated in such determination, plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

2. Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally assessed or collected and application for the refund or revision thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund or revision, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules; provided, however, that (a) such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of the notice of such denial, (b) a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and (c) an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

3. In any proceedings instituted pursuant to this article the rules and regulations of the commissioner shall be applied where applicable.

§ 1449-mmm. Apportionment. The local law adopted by the legislative body of the county of Nassau shall provide for a method of apportionment for determining the amount of tax due whenever the real property or interest therein is situated within and without the county of Nassau.

§ 1449-nnn. Miscellaneous. The local law adopted by the legislative body of the county of Nassau may contain such other provisions as such legislative body deems necessary for the proper administration of the tax imposed pursuant to this article, including provisions concerning the determination of tax, the imposition of interest on underpayments and overpayments and the imposition of civil penalties. Such provisions shall be identical to the corresponding provisions of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter, so far as such provisions can be made applicable to the tax imposed pursuant to this article.

§ 1449-ooo. Returns to be secret. 1. Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the treasurer or any officer or employee of the county of Nassau or any person engaged or retained by such county on an independent contract basis to divulge or make known in any manner the particulars set forth or disclosed in any return required under a local law enacted pursuant to this article. However, that nothing in this section shall prohibit the recording officer from making a notation on an instrument effecting a conveyance indicating the amount of tax paid. No recorded instrument effecting a conveyance shall be considered a return for purposes of this section.

2. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the county in any action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under a local law enacted pursuant to this article to which such county or an officer or employee of such county is a party or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of a local law enacted pursuant to this article when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more.

3. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a grantor or grantee of an instrument effecting a conveyance or the duly authorized representative of a grantor or grantee of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with such instrument or to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the legal representatives of such county of the return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon.

4. Any officer or employee of such county who willfully violates the provisions of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this state for a period of five years thereafter.

§ 1449-ppp. Foreclosure proceedings. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer of property made as a result of an order of the court in a foreclosure proceeding ordering the sale of such property, the referee or sheriff effectuating such transfer shall not be liable for any interest or penalties that are authorized pursuant to this article or article thirty-seven of this chapter.

 § 1449-aaaa. Definitions. When used in this article, unless otherwise expressly stated, the following words and terms shall have the following meanings:

1. "Person" means an individual, partnership, limited liability company, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

2. "Controlling interest" means (a) in the case of a corporation, either fifty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (b) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

3. "Real property" means every estate or right, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, in lands, tenements or hereditaments, including buildings, structures and other improvements thereon, which are located in whole or in part within the town of Warwick. It shall not include rights to sepulture.

4. "Consideration" means the price actually paid or required to be paid for the real property or interest therein, including payment for an option or contract to purchase real property, whether or not expressed in the deed and whether paid or required to be paid by money, property, or any other thing of value. It shall include the cancellation or discharge of an indebtedness or obligation. It shall also include the amount of any mortgage, purchase money mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, whether or not the underlying indebtedness is assumed or taken subject to.

(a) In the case of a creation of a leasehold interest or the granting of an option with use and occupancy of real property, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the rental and other payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property or interest therein, the value of any amount paid for an option to purchase or renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew.

(b) In the case of a creation of a subleasehold interest, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the sublease rental payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property, the value of any amount paid for an option to renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew less the value of the remaining prime lease rental payments required to be made.

(d) In the case of an assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest or the assignment or surrender of an option or contract to purchase real property, consideration shall not include the value of the remaining rental payments required to be made pursuant to the terms of such lease or the amount to be paid for the real property pursuant to the terms of the option or contract being assigned or surrendered.

5. "Conveyance" means the transfer or transfers of any interest in real property by any method, including but not limited to, sale, exchange, assignment, surrender, mortgage foreclosure, transfer in lieu of foreclosure, option, trust indenture, taking by eminent domain, conveyance upon liquidation or by a receiver, or transfer or acquisition of a controlling interest in any entity with an interest in real property. Transfer of an interest in real property shall include the creation of a leasehold or sublease only where (a) the sum of the term of the lease or sublease and any options for renewal exceeds forty-nine years, (b) substantial capital improvements are or may be made by or for the benefit of the lessee or sublessee, and (c) the lease or sublease is for substantially all of the premises constituting the real property. Notwithstanding the foregoing, conveyance of real property shall not include a conveyance made pursuant to devise, bequest or inheritance; the creation, modification, extension, spreading, severance, consolidation, assignment, transfer, release or satisfaction of a mortgage; a mortgage subordination agreement, a mortgage severance agreement, an instrument given to perfect or correct a recorded mortgage; or a release of lien of tax pursuant to this chapter or the internal revenue code.

6. "Interest in the real property" includes title in fee, a leasehold interest, a beneficial interest, an encumbrance, development rights, air space and air rights, or any other interest with the right to use or occupancy of real property or the right to receive rents, profits or other income derived from real property. It shall also include an option or contract to purchase real property. It shall not include a right of first refusal to purchase real property.

7. "Grantor" means the person making the conveyance of real property or interest therein. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer or an acquisition of a controlling interest in an entity with an interest in real property, "grantor" means the entity with an interest in real property or a shareholder or partner transferring stock or partnership interest, respectively.

8. "Grantee" means the person who obtains real property or interest therein as a result of a conveyance.

9. "Fund" means a community preservation fund created pursuant to section sixty-four-g of the town law.

10. "Recording officer" means the county clerk of the county of Orange.

11. "Town" means the town of Warwick, county of Orange.

12. "Treasurer" means the treasurer of the county of Orange.

13. "Town supervisor" means the town supervisor of the town of Warwick.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2050

* § 1449-bbbb. Imposition of tax. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the town of Warwick, acting through its town board, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt a local law imposing in such town a tax on each conveyance of real property or interest therein where the consideration exceeds five hundred dollars, at the rate of three-quarters of one percent of the consideration for such conveyance. Provided, however, any such local law imposing, repealing or reimposing such tax shall be subject to a mandatory referendum pursuant to section twenty-three of the municipal home rule law. Notwithstanding the foregoing, prior to adoption of such local law, the town must establish a community preservation fund pursuant to section sixty-four-g of the town law. Revenues from such tax shall be deposited in such fund and may be used solely for the purposes of such fund. Such local law shall apply to any conveyance occurring on or after the first day of a month to be designated by such town board, which is not less than sixty days after the enactment of such local law, but shall not apply to conveyances made on or after such date pursuant to binding written contracts entered into prior to such date, provided that the date of execution of such contract is confirmed by independent evidence such as the recording of the contract, payment of a deposit or other facts and circumstances as determined by the treasurer.

 § 1449-cccc. Payment of tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article shall be paid to the treasurer or the recording officer acting as the agent of the treasurer upon designation as such agent by the treasurer. Such tax shall be paid at the same time as the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter is required to be paid. Such treasurer or recording officer shall endorse upon each deed or instrument effecting a conveyance a receipt for the amount of the tax so paid.

2. A return shall be required to be filed with such treasurer or recording officer for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article at the same time as a return is required to be filed for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter. The treasurer shall prescribe the form of return, the information which it shall contain, and the documentation that shall accompany the return. Said form shall be identical to the real estate transfer tax return required to be filed pursuant to section fourteen hundred nine of this chapter, except that the treasurer shall adapt said form to reflect the provisions in this chapter that are inconsistent, different, or in addition to the provisions of article thirty-one of this chapter. The real estate transfer tax returns required to be filed pursuant to this section shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until such treasurer or recording officer orders them to be destroyed.

* § 1449-dddd. Liability for tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid by the grantee. If the grantee has failed to pay the tax imposed pursuant to this article or if the grantee is exempt from such tax, the grantor shall have the duty to pay the tax. Where the grantor has the duty to pay the tax because the grantee has failed to pay the tax, such tax shall be the joint and several liability of the grantee and the grantor.

2. For the purpose of the proper administration of this article and to prevent evasion of the tax hereby imposed, it shall be presumed that all conveyances are taxable. Where the consideration includes property other than money, it shall be presumed that the consideration is the fair market value of the real property or interest therein. These presumptions shall prevail until the contrary is proven, and the burden of proving the contrary shall be on the person liable for payment of the tax.

* § 1449-eeee. Exemptions. 1. The following shall be exempt from the payment of the real estate transfer tax:

(a) The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, political subdivisions, or public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to an agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada); and

(b) The United Nations, the United States of America or any of its agencies or instrumentalities.

2. The tax shall not apply to any of the following conveyances:

(a) Conveyances to the United Nations, the United States of America, the state of New York, or any of their instrumentalities, agencies or political subdivisions (or any public corporation, including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada);

(b) Conveyances which are or were used to secure a debt or other obligation;

(c) Conveyances which, without additional consideration, confirm, correct, modify or supplement a deed previously recorded;

(d) Conveyances of real property without consideration and otherwise than in connection with a sale, including deeds conveying realty as bona fide gifts;

(e) Conveyances given in connection with a tax sale;

(f) Conveyances to effectuate a mere change of identity or form of ownership or organization where there is no change in beneficial ownership, other than conveyances to a cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings;

(g) Conveyances which consist of a deed of partition;

(h) Conveyances given pursuant to the federal bankruptcy act;

(i) Conveyances of real property which consist of the execution of a contract to sell real property without the use or occupancy of such property or the granting of an option to purchase real property without the use or occupancy of such property;

(j) Conveyances of real property, where the entire parcel of real property to be conveyed is the subject of one or more of the following development restrictions:

- (1) agricultural, conservation, scenic, or an open space easement,
- (2) covenants or restrictions prohibiting development,
- (3) a purchase of development rights agreement,

(4) a transfer of development rights agreement, where the property being conveyed has had its development rights removed,

(5) said real property is subject to the development restriction of an agricultural district or individual commitment, pursuant to article twenty-five-AA of the agriculture and markets law,

(6) real property subject to any locally adopted land preservation agreement, provided said exemption is included in the local law imposing the tax authorized by this article;

(k) Conveyances of real property, where the property is viable agricultural land as defined in subdivision seven of section three hundred one of the agriculture and markets law and the entire property to be conveyed is to be made subject to one of the development restrictions provided for in subparagraph two of paragraph (j) of this subdivision provided that said development restriction precludes the conversion of the property to a non-agricultural use for at least three years from the date of transfer, and said development restriction is evidenced by an easement, agreement, or other suitable instrument which is to be conveyed to the town simultaneously with the conveyance of the real property; or

(l) Conveyances of real property for open space, parks, or historic preservation purposes to any not-for-profit tax exempt corporation operated for conservation, environmental, or historic preservation purposes.

3. An exemption of one hundred thousand dollars shall be allowed on the consideration of the conveyance of improved real property or an interest therein, and an exemption of fifty thousand dollars shall be allowed on the consideration of the conveyance of unimproved real property.

* § 1449-ffff. Credit. A grantee shall be allowed a credit against the tax due on a conveyance of real property to the extent tax was paid by such grantee on a prior creation of a leasehold of all or a portion of the same real property or on the granting of an option or contract to purchase all or a portion of the same real property by such grantee.

Such credit shall be computed by multiplying the tax paid on the creation of the leasehold or on the granting of the option or contract by a fraction, the numerator of which is the value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid which is not yet due to such grantor on the date of the subsequent conveyance (and which such grantor will not be entitled to receive after such date), and the denominator of which is the total value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid.

Notwithstanding the definition of "controlling interest" contained in subdivision two of section fourteen hundred forty-nine-aaaa of this article or anything to the contrary contained in subdivision five of section fourteen hundred forty-nine-aaaa of this article, the tax imposed pursuant to this article shall apply to (a) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor, and (b) the subsequent conveyance of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the owner thereof. With respect to any such subsequent conveyance where the property is an individual residential unit, the consideration for the interest conveyed shall exclude the value of any liens on certificates of stock or other evidences of an ownership interest in and a proprietary lease from a corporation or partnership formed for the purpose of cooperative ownership of residential interest in real estate remaining thereon at the time of conveyance. In determining the tax on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, a credit shall be allowed for a proportionate part of the amount of any tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings to the extent that such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership of such property and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property. The amount of the credit shall be determined by multiplying the amount of tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation by a percentage representing the extent to which such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property, and then multiplying the resulting product by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock conveyed in a transaction described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock of the cooperative housing corporation (including any stock held by the corporation). In no event, however, shall such credit reduce the tax, on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, below zero, nor shall any such credit be allowed for a tax paid more than twenty-four months prior to the date on which occurs the first in a series of conveyances of shares of stock in an offering of cooperative housing corporation shares described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision.

* § 1449-hhhh. Designation of agents. The treasurer is authorized to designate the recording officer to act as his or her agent for purposes of collecting the tax authorized by this article. The treasurer shall provide for the manner in which such person may be designated as his or her agent subject to such terms and conditions as the treasurer shall prescribe. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid to such agent as provided in section fourteen hundred forty-nine-cccc of this article.

* § 1449-iiii. Liability of recording officer. A recording officer shall not be liable for any inaccuracy in the amount of tax imposed pursuant to this article that he or she shall collect so long as he or she shall compute and collect such tax on the amount of consideration or the value of the interest conveyed as such amounts are provided to him or her by the person paying the tax.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2050

* § 1449-jjjj. Refunds. Whenever the treasurer shall determine that any moneys received under the provisions of the local law enacted pursuant to this article were paid in error, he or she may cause such moneys to be refunded pursuant to such rules and regulations he or she may prescribe, provided that any application for such refund is filed with the treasurer within two years from the date the erroneous payment was made.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2050

* § 1449-kkkk. Deposit and disposition of revenue. 1. All taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the town under the authority of section fourteen hundred forty-nine-bbbb of this article, which are collected by the treasurer or his or her agents, shall be deposited in a single trust fund for the town and shall be kept in trust and separate and apart from all other monies in possession of the treasurer. Moneys in such fund shall be deposited and secured in the manner provided by section ten of the general municipal law. Pending expenditure from such fund, moneys therein may be invested in the manner provided in section eleven of the general municipal law. Any interest earned or capital gain realized on the moneys so deposited or invested shall accrue to and become part of such fund.

2. The treasurer shall retain such amount as he or she may determine to be necessary for refunds with respect to the tax imposed by the town, under the authority of section fourteen hundred forty-nine-bbbb of this article, out of which the treasurer shall pay any refunds of such taxes to those taxpayers entitled to a refund pursuant to the provisions of this article.

3. The treasurer, after reserving such refunds, shall on or before the twelfth day of each month pay to the town supervisor the taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the town under the authority of section fourteen hundred forty-nine-bbbb of this article, collected by the treasurer, pursuant to this article during the next preceding calendar month. The amount so payable shall be certified to the town supervisor by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. Provided, however, any such certification may be based on such information as may be available to the treasurer at the time such certification must be made under this section. Where the amount so paid over to the town in any such distribution is more or less than the amount due to the town, the amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be certified to the town supervisor by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. The amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be so certified to the town supervisor as soon after the discovery of the overpayment or underpayment as reasonably possible and subsequent payments and distributions by the treasurer to the town shall be adjusted by subtracting the amount of any such overpayment from or by adding the amount of any such underpayment to such number of subsequent payments and distributions as the treasurer and town supervisor shall consider reasonable in view of the overpayment or underpayment and all other facts and circumstances.

4. All monies received from the treasurer shall be deposited in the fund of the town, pursuant to section sixty-four-g of the town law.

* § 1449-llll. Judicial review. 1. Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable under section fourteen hundred forty-nine-cccc of this article shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within four months after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the state superintendent of financial services as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding or (b) at the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interest and penalties stated in such determination, plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

2. Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally assessed or collected and application for the refund or revision thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund or revision, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules; provided, however, that (a) such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of the notice of such denial, (b) a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and (c) an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

* § 1449-mmmm. Apportionment. A local law adopted by the town of Warwick, pursuant to this article, shall provide for a method of apportionment for determining the amount of tax due whenever the real property or interest therein is situated within and without the town.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2050

* § 1449-nnnn. Miscellaneous. A local law adopted by the town of Warwick, pursuant to this article, may contain such other provisions as the town deems necessary for the proper administration of the tax imposed pursuant to this article, including provisions concerning the determination of tax, the imposition of interest on underpayments and overpayments and the imposition of civil penalties. Such provisions shall be identical to the corresponding provisions of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter, so far as such provisions can be made applicable to the tax imposed pursuant to this article.

* § 1449-oooo. Returns to be secret. 1. Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the treasurer or any officer or employee of the county or town, including any person engaged or retained on an independent contract basis, to divulge or make known in any manner the particulars set forth or disclosed in any return required under a local law enacted pursuant to this article. However, that nothing in this section shall prohibit the recording officer from making a notation on an instrument effecting a conveyance indicating the amount of tax paid. No recorded instrument effecting a conveyance shall be considered a return for purposes of this section.

2. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the county or town in any action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under a local law enacted pursuant to this article to which such county or town is a party, or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of a local law enacted pursuant to this article when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more.

3. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a grantor or grantee of an instrument effecting a conveyance or the duly authorized representative of a grantor or grantee of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with such instrument or to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the legal representatives of such county or town of the return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon.

4. Any officer or employee of such county or town who willfully violates the provisions of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this state for a period of five years thereafter.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2050

* § 1449-pppp. Foreclosure proceedings. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer of property made as a result of an order of the court in a foreclosure proceeding ordering the sale of such property, the referee or sheriff effectuating such transfer shall not be liable for any interest or penalties that are authorized pursuant to this article or article thirty-seven of this chapter.

§ 1449-aaaaa. Definitions. When used in this article, unless otherwise expressly stated:

1. "Person" means an individual, partnership, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

2. "Controlling interest" means (a) in the case of a corporation, either fifty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (b) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

3. "Real property" means every estate or right, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, in lands, tenements or hereditaments, including buildings, structures and other improvements thereon, which are located in whole or in part within the county of Tompkins. It shall not include rights to sepulture.

4. "Consideration" means the price actually paid or required to be paid for the real property or interest therein, including payment for an option or contract to purchase real property, whether or not expressed in the deed and whether paid or required to be paid by money, property, or any other thing of value. It shall include the cancellation or discharge of an indebtedness or obligation. It shall also include the amount of any mortgage, purchase money mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, whether or not the underlying indebtedness is assumed or taken subject to.

(a) In the case of a creation of a leasehold interest or the granting of an option with use and occupancy of real property, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the rental and other payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property or interest therein, the value of any amount paid for an option to purchase or renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew.

(b) In the case of a creation of a subleasehold interest, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the sublease rental payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property, the value of any amount paid for an option to renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew less the value of the remaining prime lease rental payments required to be made.

(d) In the case of an assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest or the assignment or surrender of an option or contract to purchase real property, consideration shall not include the value of the remaining rental payments required to be made pursuant to the terms of such lease or the amount to be paid for the real property pursuant to the terms of the option or contract being assigned or surrendered.

(e) In the case of (1) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor and (2) the subsequent conveyance by the owner thereof of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold for a cooperative unit other than an individual residential unit, consideration shall include a proportionate share of the unpaid principal of any mortgage on the real property of the cooperative housing corporation comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings. Such share shall be determined by multiplying the total unpaid principal of the mortgage by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock being conveyed in the cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock in the cooperative housing corporation.

5. "Conveyance" means the transfer or transfers of any interest in real property by any method, including but not limited to, sale, exchange, assignment, surrender, mortgage foreclosure, transfer in lieu of foreclosure, option, trust indenture, taking by eminent domain, conveyance upon liquidation or by a receiver, or transfer or acquisition of a controlling interest in any entity with an interest in real property. Transfer of an interest in real property shall include the creation of a leasehold or sublease only where (a) the sum of the term of the lease or sublease and any options for renewal exceeds forty-nine years, (b) substantial capital improvements are or may be made by or for the benefit of the lessee or sublessee, and (c) the lease or sublease is for substantially all of the premises constituting the real property. Notwithstanding the foregoing, conveyance of real property shall not include the creation, modification, extension, spreading, severance, consolidation, assignment, transfer, release or satisfaction of a mortgage; a mortgage subordination agreement, a mortgage severance agreement, an instrument given to perfect or correct a recorded mortgage; or a release of lien of tax pursuant to this chapter or the internal revenue code.

6. "Interest in the real property" includes title in fee, a leasehold interest, a beneficial interest, an encumbrance, development rights, air space and air rights, or any other interest with the right to use or occupancy of real property or the right to receive rents, profits or other income derived from real property. It shall also include an option or contract to purchase real property. It shall not include a right of first refusal to purchase real property.

7. "Grantor" means the person making the conveyance of real property or interest therein. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer or an acquisition of a controlling interest in an entity with an interest in real property, "grantor" means the entity with an interest in real property or a shareholder or partner transferring stock or partnership interest.

8. "Grantee" means the person who obtains real property or interest therein as a result of a conveyance.

9. "Recording officer" means the county clerk of the county of Tompkins.

10. "Treasurer" means the commissioner of finance of the county of Tompkins.

§ 1449-bbbbb. Imposition of tax. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the county of Tompkins, acting through its local legislative body, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such county a tax on each conveyance of real property or interest therein when the consideration exceeds five hundred dollars, at the rate of one dollar for each five hundred dollars or fractional part thereof. Such local law shall apply to any conveyance occurring on or after the first day of a month to be designated by such legislative body, which is not less than sixty days after the enactment of such local laws, but shall not apply to conveyances made on or after such date pursuant to binding written contracts entered into prior to such date, provided that the date of execution of such contract is confirmed by independent evidence such as the recording of the contract, payment of a deposit or other facts and circumstances as determined by the treasurer.

§ 1449-cccc. Payment of tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article shall be paid to the treasurer or the recording officer acting as the agent of the treasurer upon designation as such agent by the treasurer. Such tax shall be paid at the same time as the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter is required to be paid. Such treasurer or recording officer shall endorse upon each deed or instrument effecting a conveyance a receipt for the amount of the tax so paid.

§ 1449-ddddd. Liability for tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid by the grantor. If the grantor has failed to pay the tax imposed pursuant to this article or if the grantor is exempt from such tax, the grantee shall have the duty to pay the tax. Where the grantee has the duty to pay the tax because the grantor has failed to pay, such tax shall be the joint and several liability of the grantor and the grantee.

2. For the purpose of the proper administration of this article and to prevent evasion of the tax hereby authorized, it shall be presumed that all conveyances are taxable. Where the consideration includes property other than money, it shall be presumed that the consideration is the fair market value of the real property or interest therein. These presumptions shall prevail until the contrary is proven, and the burden of proving the contrary shall be on the person liable for payment of the tax.

§ 1449-eeeeee. Exemptions. 1. The following shall be exempt from payment of the real estate transfer tax:

(a) The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, political subdivisions, or public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada).

(b) The United Nations, the United States of America and any of its agencies and instrumentalities.

The exemption of such governmental bodies or persons shall not, however, relieve a grantee from them of liability for the tax.

2. The tax shall not apply to any of the following conveyances:

(a) Conveyances to the United Nations, the United States of America, the state of New York, or any of their instrumentalities, agencies or political subdivisions (or any public corporation, including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada);

(b) Conveyances which are or were used to secure a debt or other obligation;

(c) Conveyances which, without additional consideration, confirm, correct, modify or supplement a prior conveyance;

(d) Conveyances of real property without consideration and otherwise than in connection with a sale, including conveyances conveying realty as bona fide gifts;

(e) Conveyances given in connection with a tax sale;

(f) Conveyances to effectuate a mere change of identity or form of ownership or organization where there is no change in beneficial ownership, other than conveyances to a cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings;

(g) Conveyances which consist of a deed of partition;

(h) Conveyances given pursuant to the federal bankruptcy act;

(i) Conveyances of real property which consist of the execution of a contract to sell real property without the use or occupancy of such property or the granting of an option to purchase real property without the use or occupancy of such property; and

(j) Conveyances of an option or contract to purchase real property with the use or occupancy of such property where the consideration is less than two hundred thousand dollars and such property was used solely by the grantor as his personal residence and consists of a one, two or three-family house, an individual residential condominium unit or the sale of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold covering an individual residential cooperative unit.

§ 1449-fffff. Credit. A grantor shall be allowed a credit against the tax due on a conveyance of real property to the extent tax was paid by such grantor on a prior creation of a leasehold of all or a portion of the same real property or on the granting of an option or contract to purchase all or a portion of the same real property, by such grantor. Such credit shall be computed by multiplying the tax paid on the creation of the leasehold or on the granting of the option or contract by a fraction, the numerator of which is the value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid which is not yet due to such grantor on the date of the subsequent conveyance (and which such grantor will not be entitled to receive after such date), and the denominator of which is the total value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid.

Notwithstanding the definition of "controlling interest" contained in subdivision two of section fourteen hundred forty-nine-aaaaa of this article or anything to the contrary contained in subdivision five of section fourteen hundred forty-nine-aaaaa of this article, the tax imposed pursuant to this article shall apply to (a) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor, and (b) the subsequent conveyance of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the owner thereof. With respect to any such subsequent conveyance where the property is an individual residential unit, the consideration for the interest conveyed shall exclude the value of any liens on certificates of stock or other evidences of an ownership interest in and a proprietary lease from a corporation or partnership formed for the purpose of cooperative ownership of residential interest in real estate remaining thereon at the time of conveyance. In determining the tax on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, a credit shall be allowed for a proportionate part of the amount of any tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings to the extent that such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership of such property and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property. The amount of the credit shall be determined by multiplying the amount of tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation by a percentage representing the extent to which such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property, and then multiplying the resulting product by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock conveyed in a transaction described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock of the cooperative housing corporation (including any stock held by the corporation). In no event, however, shall such credit reduce the tax, on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, below zero, nor shall any such credit be allowed for a tax paid more than twenty-four months prior to the date on which occurs the first in a series of conveyances of shares of stock in an offering of cooperative housing corporation shares described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision.

§ 1449-hhhhh. Designation of agents. The treasurer is authorized to designate the recording officer to act as its agent for purposes of collecting the tax authorized by this article. The treasurer shall provide for the manner in which such person may be designated as its agent subject to such terms and conditions as it shall prescribe. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid to such agent as provided in section fourteen hundred forty-nine-cccc of this article.

§ 1449-iiiiii. Liability of recording officer. A recording officer shall not be liable for any inaccuracy in the amount of tax imposed pursuant to this article that he shall collect so long as he shall compute and collect such tax on the amount of consideration or the value of the interest conveyed as such amounts are provided to him or her by the person paying the tax.

§ 1449-jjjjj. Refunds. Whenever the treasurer shall determine that any moneys received under the provisions of the local law enacted pursuant to this article were paid in error, it may cause such moneys to be refunded pursuant to such rules and regulations it may prescribe, provided any application for such refund is filed with the treasurer within two years from the date the erroneous payment was made.

§ 1449-kkkkk. Deposit and disposition of revenue. All taxes collected or received by the treasurer or his duly authorized agent under the provisions of the local law enacted pursuant to this article shall be deposited in accordance with provisions of a local law adopted by the legislative body of the county of Tompkins which local law shall designate proper officers to be responsible for deposit of revenue collected or received under this article. Such local law shall also provide that any officer designated to collect, receive, or deposit such revenue shall maintain a system of accounts showing the revenue collected or received from the tax imposed pursuant to this article. Such local law shall also provide that all revenue derived from the imposition of such tax shall be deposited into the general fund of the county of Tompkins.

§ 1449-lllll. Judicial review. 1. Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable under section fourteen hundred forty-nine-cccc of this article shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within four months after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of financial services of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding or (b) at the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interest and penalties stated in such determination, plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

2. Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally assessed or collected and application for the refund or revision thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund or revision, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules; provided, however, that (a) such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of the notice of such denial, (b) a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and (c) an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

§ 1449-mmmmm. Apportionment. The local law adopted by the legislative body of the county of Tompkins shall provide for a method of apportionment for determining the amount of tax due whenever the real property or interest therein is situated within and without the county of Tompkins.

§ 1449-nnnnn. Miscellaneous. The local law adopted by the legislative body of the county of Tompkins may contain such other provisions as such legislative body deems necessary for the proper administration of the tax imposed pursuant to this article, including provisions concerning the determination of tax, the imposition of interest on underpayments and overpayments and the imposition of civil penalties. Such provisions shall be identical to the corresponding provisions of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter, so far as such provisions can be made applicable to the tax imposed pursuant to this article.

§ 1449-00000. Returns to be secret. 1. Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the treasurer or any officer or employee of the county of Tompkins or any person engaged or retained by such county on an independent contract basis to divulge or make known in any manner the particulars set forth or disclosed in any return required under a local law enacted pursuant to this article. However, that nothing in this section shall prohibit the recording officer from making a notation on an instrument effecting a conveyance indicating the amount of tax paid. No recorded instrument effecting a conveyance shall be considered a return for purposes of this section.

2. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the county in any action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under a local law enacted pursuant to this article to which such county or an officer or employee of such county is a party or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of a local law enacted pursuant to this article when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more.

3. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a grantor or grantee of an instrument effecting a conveyance or the duly authorized representative of a grantor or grantee of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with such instrument or to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the legal representatives of such county of the return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon.

4. Any officer or employee of such county who willfully violates the provisions of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this state for a period of five years thereafter.

§ 1449-ppppp. Foreclosure proceedings. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer of property made as a result of an order of the court in a foreclosure proceeding ordering the sale of such property, the referee or sheriff effectuating such transfer shall not be liable for any interest or penalties that are authorized pursuant to this article or article thirty-seven of this chapter.

§ 1449-aaaaaa. Definitions. When used in this article, unless otherwise expressly stated:

1. "Person" means an individual, partnership, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

2. "Controlling interest" means (a) in the case of a corporation, either fifty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (b) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

3. "Real property" means every estate or right, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, in lands, tenements or hereditaments, including buildings, structures and other improvements thereon, which are located in whole or in part within the county of Madison. It shall not include rights to sepulture.

4. "Consideration" means the price actually paid or required to be paid for the real property or interest therein, including payment for an option or contract to purchase real property, whether or not expressed in the deed and whether paid or required to be paid by money, property, or any other thing of value. It shall include the cancellation or discharge of an indebtedness or obligation. It shall also include the amount of any mortgage, purchase money mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, whether or not the underlying indebtedness is assumed or taken subject to.

(b) In the case of a creation of a subleasehold interest, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the sublease rental payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property, the value of any amount paid for an option to renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew less the value of the remaining prime lease rental payments required to be made.

(d) In the case of an assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest or the assignment or surrender of an option or contract to purchase real property, consideration shall not include the value of the remaining rental payments required to be made pursuant to the terms of such lease or the amount to be paid for the real property pursuant to the terms of the option or contract being assigned or surrendered.

conveyed in the cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock in the cooperative housing corporation.

5. "Conveyance" means the transfer or transfers of any interest in real property by any method, including but not limited to, sale, exchange, assignment, surrender, mortgage foreclosure, transfer in lieu of foreclosure, option, trust indenture, taking by eminent domain, conveyance upon liquidation or by a receiver, or transfer or acquisition of a controlling interest in any entity with an interest in real property. Transfer of an interest in real property shall include the creation of a leasehold or sublease only where (a) the sum of the term of the lease or sublease and any options for renewal exceeds forty-nine years, (b) substantial capital improvements are or may be made by or for the benefit of the lessee or sublessee, and (c) the lease or sublease is for substantially all of the premises constituting the real property. Notwithstanding the foregoing, conveyance of real property shall not include the creation, modification, extension, spreading, severance, consolidation, assignment, transfer, release or satisfaction of a mortgage; a mortgage subordination agreement, a mortgage severance agreement, an instrument given to perfect or correct a recorded mortgage; or a release of lien of tax pursuant to this chapter or the internal revenue code.

6. "Interest in the real property" includes title in fee, a leasehold interest, a beneficial interest, an encumbrance, development rights, air space and air rights, or any other interest with the right to use or occupancy of real property or the right to receive rents, profits or other income derived from real property. It shall also include an option or contract to purchase real property. It shall not include a right of first refusal to purchase real property.

7. "Grantor" means the person making the conveyance of real property or interest therein. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer or an acquisition of a controlling interest in an entity with an interest in real property, "grantor" means the entity with an interest in real property or a shareholder or partner transferring stock or partnership interest.

8. "Grantee" means the person who obtains real property or interest therein as a result of a conveyance.

9. "Recording officer" means the county clerk of the county of Madison.

10. "Treasurer" means the chief fiscal officer of the county of Madison.

§ 1449-bbbbbbb. Imposition of tax. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the county of Madison, acting through its local legislative body, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt and amend local laws imposing in such county a tax on each conveyance of real property or interest therein when the consideration exceeds five hundred dollars, at the rate of two dollars for each five hundred dollars or fractional part thereof. Such local law may apply to any conveyance occurring on or after the date designated by such legislative body, but shall not apply to conveyances made on or after such date pursuant to binding written contracts entered into prior to such date, provided that the date of execution of such contract is confirmed by independent evidence such as the recording of the contract, payment of a deposit or other facts and circumstances as determined by the treasurer.

2. A return shall be required to be filed with such treasurer or recording officer for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article at the same time as a return is required to be filed for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter. The return, for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article, shall be a photocopy or carbon copy of the real estate transfer tax return required to be filed pursuant to section fourteen hundred nine of this chapter. However, when an apportionment is required to be made pursuant to section fourteen hundred forty-nine-mmmmmm of this article, a supplemental form shall also be required to be filed. The real estate transfer tax returns and supplemental forms required to be filed pursuant to this section shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until such treasurer or recording officer orders them to be destroyed.

§ 1449-ddddddd. Liability for tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid by the grantor. If the grantor has failed to pay the tax imposed pursuant to this article or if the grantor is exempt from such tax, the grantee shall have the duty to pay the tax. Where the grantee has the duty to pay the tax because the grantor has failed to pay, such tax shall be the joint and several liability of the grantor and the grantee.

2. For the purpose of the proper administration of this article and to prevent evasion of the tax hereby authorized, it shall be presumed that all conveyances are taxable. Where the consideration includes property other than money, it shall be presumed that the consideration is the fair market value of the real property or interest therein. These presumptions shall prevail until the contrary is proven, and the burden of proving the contrary shall be on the person liable for payment of the tax.

§ 1449-eeeeee. Exemptions. 1. The following shall be exempt from payment of the real estate transfer tax:

(a) The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, political subdivisions, or public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada).

(b) The United Nations, the United States of America and any of its agencies and instrumentalities.

The exemption of such governmental bodies or persons shall not, however, relieve a grantee from the liability for the tax.

2. The tax shall not apply to any of the following conveyances:

(a) Conveyances to the United Nations, the United States of America, the state of New York, or any of their instrumentalities, agencies or political subdivisions (or any public corporation, including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada);

(b) Conveyances which are or were used to secure a debt or other obligation;

(c) Conveyances which, without additional consideration, confirm, correct, modify or supplement a prior conveyance;

(d) Conveyances of real property without consideration and otherwise than in connection with a sale, including conveyances conveying realty as bona fide gifts;

(e) Conveyances given in connection with a tax sale;

(f) Conveyances to effectuate a mere change of identity or form of ownership or organization where there is no change in beneficial ownership, other than conveyances to a cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings;

(g) Conveyances which consist of a deed of partition;

(h) Conveyances given pursuant to the federal bankruptcy act;

(i) Conveyances of real property which consist of the execution of a contract to sell real property without the use or occupancy of such property or the granting of an option to purchase real property without the use or occupancy of such property; and

(j) Conveyances of an option or contract to purchase real property with the use or occupancy of such property where the consideration is less than two hundred thousand dollars and such property was used solely by the grantor as his or her personal residence and consists of a one, two or three-family house, an individual residential condominium unit or the sale of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold covering an individual residential cooperative unit.

§ 1449-ffffff. Credit. A grantor shall be allowed a credit against the tax due on a conveyance of real property to the extent tax was paid by such grantor on a prior creation of a leasehold of all or a portion of the same real property or on the granting of an option or contract to purchase all or a portion of the same real property, by such grantor. Such credit shall be computed by multiplying the tax paid on the creation of the leasehold or on the granting of the option or contract by a fraction, the numerator of which is the value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid which is not yet due to such grantor on the date of the subsequent conveyance (and which such grantor will not be entitled to receive after such date), and the denominator of which is the total value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid.

§ 1449-gggggg. Cooperative housing corporation transfers. 1. Notwithstanding the definition of "controlling interest" contained in subdivision two of section fourteen hundred forty-nine-aaaaaa of this article or anything to the contrary contained in subdivision five of section fourteen hundred forty-nine-aaaaaa of this article, the tax imposed pursuant to this article shall apply to (a) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor, and (b) the subsequent conveyance of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the owner thereof. With respect to any such subsequent conveyance where the property is an individual residential unit, the consideration for the interest conveyed shall exclude the value of any liens on certificates of stock or other evidences of an ownership interest in and a proprietary lease from a corporation or partnership formed for the purpose of cooperative ownership of residential interest in real estate remaining thereon at the time of conveyance. In determining the tax on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, a credit shall be allowed for a proportionate part of the amount of any tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings to the extent that such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership of such property and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property. The amount of the credit shall be determined by multiplying the amount of tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation by a percentage representing the extent to which such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property, and then multiplying the resulting product by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock conveyed in a transaction described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock of the cooperative housing corporation (including any stock held by the corporation). In no event, however, shall such credit reduce the tax, on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, below zero, nor shall any such credit be allowed for a tax paid more than twenty-four months prior to the date on which occurs the first in a series of conveyances of shares of stock in an offering of cooperative housing corporation shares described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision.

identification numbers or social security numbers of the grantor and the grantee, the number of shares conveyed, the date of the conveyance and the consideration paid for such conveyance.

§ 1449-hhhhhh. Designation of agents. The treasurer is authorized to designate the recording officer to act as its agent for purposes of collecting the tax authorized by this article. The treasurer shall provide for the manner in which such person may be designated as its agent subject to such terms and conditions as it shall prescribe. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid to such agent as provided in section fourteen hundred forty-nine-cccccc of this article.

§ 1449-iiiiii. Liability of recording officer. A recording officer shall not be liable for any inaccuracy in the amount of tax imposed pursuant to this article that he or she shall collect so long as he or she shall compute and collect such tax on the amount of consideration or the value of the interest conveyed as such amounts are provided to him or her by the person paying the tax.

§ 1449-jjjjjj. Refunds. Whenever the treasurer shall determine that any moneys received under the provisions of the local law enacted pursuant to this article were paid in error, it may cause such moneys to be refunded pursuant to such rules and regulations it may prescribe, provided any application for such refund is filed with the treasurer within two years from the date the erroneous payment was made. When making any findings or determinations the treasurer may rely upon any findings or determinations of the commissioner and any rules and regulations promulgated pursuant to article thirty-one of this chapter.

§ 1449-kkkkkk. Deposit and disposition of revenue. All taxes collected or received by the treasurer or his or her duly authorized agent under the provisions of the local law enacted pursuant to this article shall be deposited in accordance with provisions of a local law adopted by the legislative body of the county of Madison which local law shall designate proper officers to be responsible for deposit of revenue collected or received under this article. Such local law shall also provide that any officer designated to collect, receive, or deposit such revenue shall maintain a system of accounts showing the revenue collected or received from the tax imposed pursuant to this article. Such local law shall also provide that all revenue derived from the imposition of such tax shall be deposited into the general fund of the county of Madison and shall be used for purposes deemed appropriate by the legislative body of the county of Madison.

§ 1449-llllll. Judicial review. 1. Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable under section fourteen hundred forty-nine-cccccc of this article shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within four months after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of financial services of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding or (b) at the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interest and penalties stated in such determination, plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

2. Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally assessed or collected and application for the refund or revision thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund or revision, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules; provided, however, that (a) such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of the notice of such denial, (b) a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and (c) an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

3. In any proceedings instituted pursuant to this article the rules and regulations of the commissioner shall be applied where applicable.

§ 1449-mmmmmm. Apportionment. The local law adopted by the legislative body of the county of Madison shall provide for a method of apportionment for determining the amount of tax due whenever the real property or interest therein is situated within and without the county of Madison.

§ 1449-nnnnnn. Miscellaneous. The local law adopted by the legislative body of the county of Madison may contain such other provisions as such legislative body deems necessary for the proper administration of the tax imposed pursuant to this article, including provisions concerning the determination of tax, the imposition of interest on underpayments and overpayments and the imposition of civil penalties. Such provisions shall be identical to the corresponding provisions of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter, so far as such provisions can be made applicable to the tax imposed pursuant to this article.

§ 1449-000000. Returns to be secret. 1. Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the treasurer or any officer or employee of the county of Madison or any person engaged or retained by such county on an independent contract basis to divulge or make known in any manner the particulars set forth or disclosed in any return required under a local law enacted pursuant to this article. However, that nothing in this section shall prohibit the recording officer from making a notation on an instrument effecting a conveyance indicating the amount of tax paid. No recorded instrument effecting a conveyance shall be considered a return for purposes of this section.

2. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the county in any action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under a local law enacted pursuant to this article to which such county or an officer or employee of such county is a party or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of a local law enacted pursuant to this article when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more.

3. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a grantor or grantee of an instrument effecting a conveyance or the duly authorized representative of a grantor or grantee of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with such instrument or to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the legal representatives of such county of the return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon.

4. Any officer or employee of such county who willfully violates the provisions of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this state for a period of five years thereafter.

§ 1449-pppppp. Foreclosure. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer of property made as a result of an order of the court in a foreclosure proceeding ordering the sale of such property, the referee or sheriff effectuating such transfer shall not be liable for any interest or penalties that are authorized pursuant to this article or article thirty-seven of this chapter.

* § 1449-aaaaaaa. Definitions. When used in this article, unless otherwise expressly stated:

1. "Person" means an individual, partnership, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

2. "Controlling interest" means (a) in the case of a corporation, either fifty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (b) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

3. "Real property" means every estate or right, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, in lands, tenements or hereditaments, including buildings, structures and other improvements thereon, which are located in whole or in part within the county of Cortland. It shall not include rights to sepulture.

4. "Consideration" means the price actually paid or required to be paid for the real property or interest therein, including payment for an option or contract to purchase real property, whether or not expressed in the deed and whether paid or required to be paid by money, property, or any other thing of value. It shall include the cancellation or discharge of an indebtedness or obligation. It shall also include the amount of any mortgage, purchase money mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, whether or not the underlying indebtedness is assumed or taken subject to.

(a) In the case of a creation of a leasehold interest or the granting of an option with use and occupancy of real property, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the rental and other payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property or interest therein, the value of any amount paid for an option to purchase or renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew.

(b) In the case of a creation of a subleasehold interest, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the sublease rental payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property, the value of any amount paid for an option to renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew less the value of the remaining prime lease rental payments required to be made.

(d) In the case of an assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest or the assignment or surrender of an option or contract to purchase real property, consideration shall not include the value of the remaining rental payments required to be made pursuant to the terms of such lease or the amount to be paid for the real property pursuant to the terms of the option or contract being assigned or surrendered.

5. "Conveyance" means the transfer or transfers of any interest in real property by any method, including but not limited to, sale, exchange, assignment, surrender, mortgage foreclosure, transfer in lieu of foreclosure, option, trust indenture, taking by eminent domain, conveyance upon liquidation or by a receiver, or transfer or acquisition of a controlling interest in any entity with an interest in real property. Transfer of an interest in real property shall include the creation of a leasehold or sublease only where (a) the sum of the term of the lease or sublease and any options for renewal exceeds forty-nine years, (b) substantial capital improvements are or may be made by or for the benefit of the lessee or sublessee, and (c) the lease or sublease is for substantially all of the premises constituting the real property. Notwithstanding the foregoing, conveyance of real property shall not include the creation, modification, extension, spreading, severance, consolidation, assignment, transfer, release or satisfaction of a mortgage; a mortgage subordination agreement, a mortgage severance agreement, an instrument given to perfect or correct a recorded mortgage; or a release of lien of tax pursuant to this chapter or the internal revenue code.

6. "Interest in the real property" includes title in fee, a leasehold interest, a beneficial interest, an encumbrance, development rights, air space and air rights, or any other interest with the right to use or occupancy of real property or the right to receive rents, profits or other income derived from real property. It shall also include an option or contract to purchase real property. It shall not include a right of first refusal to purchase real property.

7. "Grantor" means the person making the conveyance of real property or interest therein. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer or an acquisition of a controlling interest in an entity with an interest in real property, "grantor" means the entity with an interest in real property or a shareholder or partner transferring stock or partnership interest.

8. "Grantee" means the person who obtains real property or interest therein as a result of a conveyance.

9. "Recording officer" means the county clerk of the county of Cortland.

10. "Treasurer" means the chief fiscal officer of the county of Cortland.

(a) The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, political subdivisions, or public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada).

(b) The United Nations, the United States of America and any of its agencies and instrumentalities.

The exemption of such governmental bodies or persons shall not, however, relieve a grantee from them of liability for the tax.

2. The tax shall not apply to any of the following conveyances:

(a) Conveyances to the United Nations, the United States of America, the state of New York, or any of their instrumentalities, agencies or political subdivisions (or any public corporation, including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada);

(b) Conveyances which are or were used to secure a debt or other obligation;

(c) Conveyances which, without additional consideration, confirm, correct, modify or supplement a prior conveyance;

(d) Conveyances of real property without consideration and otherwise than in connection with a sale, including conveyances conveying realty as bona fide gifts;

(e) Conveyances given in connection with a tax sale;

(f) Conveyances to effectuate a mere change of identity or form of ownership or organization where there is no change in beneficial ownership, other than conveyances to a cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings;

(g) Conveyances which consist of a deed of partition;

(h) Conveyances given pursuant to the federal bankruptcy act;

 § 1449-hhhhhh. Designation of agents. The treasurer is authorized to designate the recording officer to act as its agent for purposes of collecting the tax authorized by this article. The treasurer shall provide for the manner in which such person may be designated as its agent subject to such terms and conditions as it shall prescribe. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid to such agent as provided in section fourteen hundred forty-nine-cccccc of this article.

* NB Repealed October 25, 2030

 § 1449-iiiii. Liability of recording officer. A recording officer shall not be liable for any inaccuracy in the amount of tax imposed pursuant to this article that he shall collect so long as he shall compute and collect such tax on the amount of consideration or the value of the interest conveyed as such amounts are provided to him or her by the person paying the tax.

* NB Repealed October 25, 2030

 § 1449-jjjjjjj. Refunds. Whenever the treasurer shall determine that any moneys received under the provisions of the local law enacted pursuant to this article were paid in error, it may cause such moneys to be refunded pursuant to such rules and regulations it may prescribe, provided any application for such refund is filed with the treasurer within two years from the date the erroneous payment was made. When making any findings or determinations the treasurer may rely upon any findings or determinations of the commissioner and any rules and regulations promulgated pursuant to article thirty-one of this chapter.

* NB Repealed October 25, 2030

 § 1449-kkkkkkk. Deposit and disposition of revenue. All taxes collected or received by the treasurer or his duly authorized agent under the provisions of the local law enacted pursuant to this article shall be deposited in accordance with provisions of a local law adopted by the legislative body of the county of Cortland which local law shall designate proper officers to be responsible for deposit of revenue collected or received under this article. Such local law shall also provide that any officer designated to collect, receive, or deposit such revenue shall maintain a system of accounts showing the revenue collected or received from the tax imposed pursuant to this article. Such local law shall also provide that all revenue derived from the imposition of such tax shall be deposited into the general fund of the county of Cortland and shall be used for purposes deemed appropriate by the legislative body of the county of Cortland.

* NB Repealed October 25, 2030

 § 1449-lllllll. Judicial review. 1. Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable under section fourteen hundred forty-nine-ccccccc of this article shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within four months after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the superintendent of financial services of this state as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding or (b) at the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interest and penalties stated in such determination, plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

2. Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally assessed or collected and application for the refund or revision thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund or revision, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules; provided, however, that (a) such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of the notice of such denial, (b) a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and (c) an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

3. In any proceedings instituted pursuant to this article the rules and regulations of the commissioner shall be applied where applicable.

* NB Repealed October 25, 2030

* § 1449-mmmmmmm. Apportionment. The local law adopted by the legislative body of the county of Cortland shall provide for a method of apportionment for determining the amount of tax due whenever the real property or interest therein is situated within and without the county of Cortland.

* NB Repealed October 25, 2030

* § 1449-nnnnnnn. Miscellaneous. The local law adopted by the legislative body of the county of Cortland may contain such other provisions as such legislative body deems necessary for the proper administration of the tax imposed pursuant to this article, including provisions concerning the determination of tax, the imposition of interest on underpayments and overpayments and the imposition of civil penalties. Such provisions shall be identical to the corresponding provisions of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter, so far as such provisions can be made applicable to the tax imposed pursuant to this article.

* NB Repealed October 25, 2030

 § 1449-oooooooo. Returns to be secret. 1. Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the treasurer or any officer or employee of the county of Cortland or any person engaged or retained by such county on an independent contract basis to divulge or make known in any manner the particulars set forth or disclosed in any return required under a local law enacted pursuant to this article. However, that nothing in this section shall prohibit the recording officer from making a notation on an instrument effecting a conveyance indicating the amount of tax paid. No recorded instrument effecting a conveyance shall be considered a return for purposes of this section.

2. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the county in any action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under a local law enacted pursuant to this article to which such county or an officer or employee of such county is a party or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of a local law enacted pursuant to this article when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more.

3. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a grantor or grantee of an instrument effecting a conveyance or the duly authorized representative of a grantor or grantee of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with such instrument or to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the legal representatives of such county of the return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon.

4. Any officer or employee of such county who willfully violates the provisions of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this state for a period of five years thereafter.

* NB Repealed October 25, 2030

* § 1449-ppppppp. Foreclosure. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer of property made as a result of an order of the court in a foreclosure proceeding ordering the sale of such property, the referee or sheriff effectuating such transfer shall not be liable for any interest or penalties that are authorized pursuant to this article or article thirty-seven of this chapter.

* § 1450-a. Definitions. When used in this article, unless otherwise expressly stated, the following words and terms shall have the following meanings:

1. "Person" means an individual, partnership, limited liability company, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

2. "Controlling interest" means (a) in the case of a corporation, either fifty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (b) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

3. "Real property" means every estate or right, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, in lands, tenements or hereditaments, including buildings, structures and other improvements thereon, which are located in whole or in part within the town of Copake. It shall not include rights to sepulture.

4. "Consideration" means the price actually paid or required to be paid for the real property or interest therein, including payment for an option or contract to purchase real property, whether or not expressed in the deed and whether paid or required to be paid by money, property, or any other thing of value. It shall include the cancellation or discharge of an indebtedness or obligation. It shall also include the amount of any mortgage, purchase money mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, whether or not the underlying indebtedness is assumed or taken subject to.

(a) In the case of a creation of a leasehold interest or the granting of an option with use and occupancy of real property, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the rental and other payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property or interest therein, the value of any amount paid for an option to purchase or renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew.

(b) In the case of a creation of a subleasehold interest, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the sublease rental payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property, the value of any amount paid for an option to renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew less the value of the remaining prime lease rental payments required to be made.

(d) In the case of an assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest or the assignment or surrender of an option or contract to purchase real property, consideration shall not include the value of the remaining rental payments required to be made pursuant to the terms of such lease or the amount to be paid for the real property pursuant to the terms of the option or contract being assigned or surrendered.

proportionate share of the unpaid principal of any mortgage on the real property of the cooperative housing corporation comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings. Such share shall be determined by multiplying the total unpaid principal of the mortgage by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock being conveyed in the cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock in the cooperative housing corporation.

5. "Conveyance" means the transfer or transfers of any interest in real property by any method, including but not limited to, sale, exchange, assignment, surrender, mortgage foreclosure, transfer in lieu of foreclosure, option, trust indenture, taking by eminent domain, conveyance upon liquidation or by a receiver, or transfer or acquisition of a controlling interest in any entity with an interest in real property. Transfer of an interest in real property shall include the creation of a leasehold or sublease only where (a) the sum of the term of the lease or sublease and any options for renewal exceeds forty-nine years, (b) substantial capital improvements are or may be made by or for the benefit of the lessee or sublessee, and (c) the lease or sublease is for substantially all of the premises constituting the real property. Notwithstanding the foregoing, conveyance of real property shall not include a conveyance made pursuant to devise, bequest or inheritance; the creation, modification, extension, spreading, severance, consolidation, assignment, transfer, release or satisfaction of a mortgage; a mortgage subordination agreement, a mortgage severance agreement, an instrument given to perfect or correct a recorded mortgage; or a release of lien of tax pursuant to this chapter or the internal revenue code.

6. "Interest in the real property" includes title in fee, a leasehold interest, a beneficial interest, an encumbrance, development rights, air space and air rights, or any other interest with the right to use or occupancy of real property or the right to receive rents, profits or other income derived from real property. It shall also include an option or contract to purchase real property. It shall not include a right of first refusal to purchase real property.

7. "Grantor" means the person making the conveyance of real property or interest therein. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer or an acquisition of a controlling interest in an entity with an interest in real property, "grantor" means the entity with an interest in real property or a shareholder or partner transferring stock or partnership interest, respectively.

8. "Grantee" means the person who obtains real property or interest therein as a result of a conveyance.

9. "Fund" means a community preservation fund created pursuant to section sixty-four-1 of the town law.

10. "Recording officer" means the county clerk of the county of Columbia.

11. "Town" means the town of Copake, county of Columbia.

12. "Treasurer" means the treasurer of the county of Columbia.

13. "Town supervisor" means the town supervisor of the town of Copake.

14. "Tax" shall mean the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to section fourteen hundred fifty-b of this article or, if the context clearly indicates, shall mean the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to article thirty-one of this chapter.

15. "Residential real property" means property which satisfies at least one of the following conditions:

(a) the property classification code assigned to the property on the latest final assessment roll, as reported on the transfer report form, indicates that the property is a one, two or three family home or a rural residence; or

(b) the transfer report indicates that the property is a one, two or three family residential property that has been newly constructed on vacant land; or

(c) the transfer report form indicates that the property is a residential condominium.

 § 1450-b. Imposition of tax. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the town of Copake, acting through its town board, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt a local law imposing in such town a tax on each conveyance of real property or interest therein not to exceed a maximum of two percent of the consideration for such conveyance, subject to the exemptions set forth in section fourteen hundred fifty-e of this article; any such local law shall fix the rate of such tax. Provided, however, any such local law imposing, repealing or reimposing such tax shall be subject to a mandatory referendum pursuant to section twenty-three of the municipal home rule law. Notwithstanding the foregoing, prior to adoption of such local law, the town must establish a community preservation fund pursuant to section sixty-four-l of the town law. Revenues from such tax shall be deposited in such fund and may be used solely for the purposes of such fund. Such local law shall apply to any conveyance occurring on or after the first day of a month to be designated by such town board, which is not less than sixty days after the enactment of such local law, but shall not apply to conveyances made on or after such date pursuant to binding written contracts entered into prior to such date, provided that the date of execution of such contract is confirmed by independent evidence such as the recording of the contract, payment of a deposit or other facts and circumstances as determined by the treasurer.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2045

 § 1450-c. Payment of tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article shall be paid to the treasurer or the recording officer acting as the agent of the treasurer upon designation as such agent by the treasurer. Such tax shall be paid at the same time as the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter is required to be paid. Such treasurer or recording officer shall endorse upon each deed or instrument effecting a conveyance a receipt for the amount of the tax so paid.

2. A return shall be required to be filed with such treasurer or recording officer for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article at the same time as a return is required to be filed for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter. The treasurer shall prescribe the form of return, the information which it shall contain, and the documentation that shall accompany the return. Said form shall be identical to the real estate transfer tax return required to be filed pursuant to section fourteen hundred nine of this chapter, except that the treasurer shall adapt said form to reflect the provisions in this chapter that are inconsistent, different, or in addition to the provisions of article thirty-one of this chapter. The real estate transfer tax returns required to be filed pursuant to this section shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until such treasurer or recording officer orders them to be destroyed.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2045

 § 1450-d. Liability for tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid by the grantee. If the grantee has failed to pay the tax imposed pursuant to this article or if the grantee is exempt from such tax, the grantor shall have the duty to pay the tax. Where the grantor has the duty to pay the tax because the grantee has failed to pay the tax, such tax shall be the joint and several liability of the grantee and the grantor.

2. For the purpose of the proper administration of this article and to prevent evasion of the tax hereby imposed, it shall be presumed that all conveyances are subject to the tax. Where the consideration includes property other than money, it shall be presumed that the consideration is the fair market value of the real property or interest therein. These presumptions shall prevail until the contrary is proven, and the burden of proving the contrary shall be on the person liable for payment of the tax.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2045

* § 1450-e. Exemptions. 1. The following shall be exempt from the payment of the real estate transfer tax imposed by this article:

(a) The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, political subdivisions, or public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to an agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada); and

(b) The United Nations, the United States of America or any of its agencies or instrumentalities.

2. The tax shall not apply to any of the following conveyances:

(a) Conveyances to the United Nations, the United States of America, the state of New York, or any of their instrumentalities, agencies or political subdivisions (or any public corporation, including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada);

(b) Conveyances which are or were used to secure a debt or other obligation;

(c) Conveyances which, without additional consideration, confirm, correct, modify or supplement a deed previously recorded;

(d) Conveyances of real property without consideration and otherwise than in connection with a sale, including deeds conveying realty as bona fide gifts;

(e) Conveyances given in connection with a tax sale;

(f) Conveyances to effectuate a mere change of identity or form of ownership or organization where there is no change in beneficial ownership, other than conveyances to a cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings;

(g) Conveyances which consist of a deed of partition;

(h) Conveyances given pursuant to the federal bankruptcy act;

(i) Conveyances of real property which consist of the execution of a contract to sell real property without the use or occupancy of such property or the granting of an option to purchase real property without the use or occupancy of such property;

(j) Conveyances of real property or a portion or portions of real property that are the subject of one or more of the following development restrictions:

(1) agricultural, conservation, scenic, or an open space easement;

(2) covenants or restrictions prohibiting development where the property or portion of property being conveyed has had its development rights permanently removed;

(3) a purchase of development rights agreement where the property or portion of property being conveyed has had its development rights permanently removed;

(4) a transfer of development rights agreement, where the property being conveyed has had its development rights removed;

(5) real property subject to any locally adopted land preservation agreement, provided said exemption is included in the local law imposing the tax authorized by this article;

(k) Conveyances of real property, where the property is viable agricultural land as defined in subdivision seven of section three hundred one of the agriculture and markets law and the entire property to be conveyed is to be made subject to one of the development restrictions provided for in subparagraph two of paragraph (j) of this subdivision provided that said development restriction precludes the conversion of the property to a non-agricultural use for at least eight years from the date of transfer, and said development restriction is evidenced by an easement, agreement, or other suitable instrument which is to be conveyed to the town simultaneously with the conveyance of the real property; or

(l) Conveyances of real property for open space, parks, or historic preservation purposes to any not-for-profit tax exempt corporation operated for conservation, environmental, or historic preservation purposes.

3. An exemption from the tax which is equal to the median sales price of residential real property within the applicable county, as determined by the office of real property services pursuant to section four hundred twenty-five of the real property tax law, shall be allowed on the consideration of the conveyance of improved or unimproved real property or an interest therein.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2045

* § 1450-f. Credit. A grantee shall be allowed a credit against the tax due on a conveyance of real property to the extent tax was paid by such grantee on a prior creation of a leasehold of all or a portion of the same real property or on the granting of an option or contract to purchase all or a portion of the same real property by such grantee. Such credit shall be computed by multiplying the tax paid on the creation of the leasehold or on the granting of the option or contract by a fraction, the numerator of which is the value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid which is not yet due to such grantor on the date of the subsequent conveyance (and which such grantor will not be entitled to receive after such date), and the denominator of which is the total value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid.

* § 1450-g. Cooperative housing corporation transfers. 1.

Notwithstanding the definition of "controlling interest" contained in subdivision two of section fourteen hundred fifty-a of this article or anything to the contrary contained in subdivision five of section fourteen hundred fifty-a of this article, the tax imposed pursuant to this article shall apply to (a) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor, and (b) the subsequent conveyance of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the owner thereof. With respect to any such subsequent conveyance where the property is an individual residential unit, the consideration for the interest conveyed shall exclude the value of any liens on certificates of stock or other evidences of an ownership interest in and a proprietary lease from a corporation or partnership formed for the purpose of cooperative ownership of residential interest in real estate remaining thereon at the time of conveyance. In determining the tax on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, a credit shall be allowed for a proportionate part of the amount of any tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings to the extent that such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership of such property and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property. The amount of the credit shall be determined by multiplying the amount of tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation by a percentage representing the extent to which such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property, and then multiplying the resulting product by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock conveyed in a transaction described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock of the cooperative housing corporation (including any stock held by the corporation). In no event, however, shall such credit reduce the tax, on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, below zero, nor shall any such credit be allowed for a tax paid more than twenty-four months prior to the date on which occurs the first in a series of conveyances of shares of stock in an offering of cooperative housing corporation shares described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision.

* § 1450-h. Designation of agents. The treasurer is authorized to designate the recording officer to act as their agent for purposes of collecting the tax authorized by this article. The treasurer shall provide for the manner in which such person may be designated as their agent subject to such terms and conditions as the treasurer shall prescribe. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid to such agent as provided in section fourteen hundred fifty-c of this article.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2045

* § 1450-i. Liability of recording officer. A recording officer shall not be liable for any inaccuracy in the amount of tax imposed pursuant to this article that they shall collect so long as they shall compute and collect such tax on the amount of consideration or the value of the interest conveyed as such amounts are provided to them by the person paying the tax.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2045

* § 1450-j. Refunds. Whenever the treasurer shall determine that any moneys received under the provisions of the local law enacted pursuant to this article were paid in error, they may cause such moneys to be refunded pursuant to such requirements as they may prescribe, provided that any application for such refund is filed with the treasurer within two years from the date the erroneous payment was made.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2045

* § 1450-k. Deposit and disposition of revenue. 1. All taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the town under the authority of section fourteen hundred fifty-b of this article, which are collected by the treasurer or their agents, shall be deposited in a single trust fund for the town and shall be kept in trust and separate and apart from all other monies in possession of the treasurer. Moneys in such fund shall be deposited and secured in the manner provided by section ten of the general municipal law. Pending expenditure from such fund, moneys therein may be invested in the manner provided in section eleven of the general municipal law. Any interest earned or capital gain realized on the moneys so deposited or invested shall accrue to and become part of such fund.

2. The treasurer shall retain such amount as they may determine to be necessary for refunds with respect to the tax imposed by the town, under the authority of section fourteen hundred fifty-b of this article, out of which the treasurer shall pay any refunds of such taxes to those taxpayers entitled to a refund pursuant to the provisions of this article.

3. The treasurer, after reserving such refunds, shall on or before the twelfth day of each month pay to the town supervisor the taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the town under the authority of section fourteen hundred fifty-b of this article, collected by the treasurer, pursuant to this article during the next preceding calendar month. The amount so payable shall be certified to the town supervisor by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. Provided, however, any such certification may be based on such information as may be available to the treasurer at the time such certification must be made under this section. Where the amount so paid over to the town in any such distribution is more or less than the amount due to the town, the amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be certified to the town supervisor by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. The amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be so certified to the town supervisor as soon after the discovery of the overpayment or underpayment as reasonably possible and subsequent payments and distributions by the treasurer to the town shall be adjusted by subtracting the amount of any such overpayment from or by adding the amount of any such underpayment to such number of subsequent payments and distributions as the treasurer and town supervisor shall consider reasonable in view of the overpayment or underpayment and all other facts and circumstances.

4. All monies received from the treasurer shall be deposited in the fund of the town, pursuant to section sixty-four-1 of the town law.

* § 1450-1. Judicial review. 1. Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable under section fourteen hundred fifty-c of this article shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within four months after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the state superintendent of insurance as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding or (b) at the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interest and penalties stated in such determination, plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

2. Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally assessed or collected and application for the refund or revision thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund or revision, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules; provided, however, that (a) such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of the notice of such denial, (b) a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and (c) an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2045

* § 1450-m. Apportionment. A local law adopted by the town of Copake, pursuant to this article, shall provide for a method of apportionment for determining the amount of tax due whenever the real property or interest therein is situated within and without the town.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2045

* § 1450-n. Miscellaneous. A local law adopted by the town of Copake, pursuant to this article, may contain such other provisions as the town deems necessary for the proper administration of the tax imposed pursuant to this article, including provisions concerning the determination of tax, the imposition of interest on underpayments and overpayments and the imposition of civil penalties. Such provisions shall be identical to the corresponding provisions of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter, so far as such provisions can be made applicable to the tax imposed pursuant to this article.

* NB Repealed December 31, 2045

* § 1450-o. Returns to be secret. 1. Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the treasurer or any officer or employee of the county or town, including any person engaged or retained on an independent contract basis, to divulge or make known in any manner the particulars set forth or disclosed in any return required under a local law enacted pursuant to this article. However, that nothing in this section shall prohibit the recording officer from making a notation on an instrument effecting a conveyance indicating the amount of tax paid. No recorded instrument effecting a conveyance shall be considered a return for purposes of this section.

2. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the county or town in any action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under a local law enacted pursuant to this article to which such county or town is a party, or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of a local law enacted pursuant to this article when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more.

3. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a grantor or grantee of an instrument effecting a conveyance or the duly authorized representative of a grantor or grantee of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with such instrument or to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the legal representatives of such county or town of the return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon.

4. Any officer or employee of such county or town who willfully violates the provisions of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this state for a period of five years thereafter.

* § 1450-aa. Definitions. When used in this article, unless otherwise expressly stated, the following words and terms shall have the following meanings:

1. "Person" means an individual, partnership, limited liability company, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

2. "Controlling interest" means: (a) in the case of a corporation, either fifty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation; and (b) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

3. "Real property" means every estate or right, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, in lands, tenements or hereditaments, including buildings, structures and other improvements thereon, which are located in whole or in part within the town of Clarkstown. It shall not include rights to sepulture.

4. "Consideration" means the price actually paid or required to be paid for the real property or interest therein, including payment for an option or contract to purchase real property, whether or not expressed in the deed and whether paid or required to be paid by money, property, or any other thing of value. It shall include the cancellation or discharge of an indebtedness or obligation. It shall also include the amount of any mortgage, purchase money mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, whether or not the underlying indebtedness is assumed or taken subject to.

(b) In the case of a creation of a subleasehold interest, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the sublease rental payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property, the value of any amount paid for an option to renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew less the value of the remaining prime lease rental payments required to be made.

(d) In the case of an assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest or the assignment or surrender of an option or contract to purchase real property, consideration shall not include the value of the remaining rental payments required to be made pursuant to the terms of such lease or the amount to be paid for the real property pursuant to the terms of the option or contract being assigned or surrendered.

5. "Conveyance" means the transfer or transfers of any interest in real property by any method, including but not limited to, sale, exchange, assignment, surrender, mortgage foreclosure, transfer in lieu of foreclosure, option, trust indenture, taking by eminent domain, conveyance upon liquidation or by a receiver, or transfer or acquisition of a controlling interest in any entity with an interest in real property. Transfer of an interest in real property shall include the creation of a leasehold or sublease only where (a) the sum of the term of the lease or sublease and any options for renewal exceeds forty-nine years, (b) substantial capital improvements are or may be made by or for the benefit of the lessee or sublessee, and (c) the lease or sublease is for substantially all of the premises constituting the real property. Notwithstanding the foregoing, conveyance of real property shall not include a conveyance made pursuant to devise, bequest or inheritance; the creation, modification, extension, spreading, severance, consolidation, assignment, transfer, release or satisfaction of a mortgage; a mortgage subordination agreement, a mortgage severance agreement, an instrument given to perfect or correct a recorded mortgage; or a release of lien of tax pursuant to this chapter or the internal revenue code.

6. "Interest in the real property" includes title in fee, a leasehold interest, a beneficial interest, an encumbrance, development rights, air space and air rights, or any other interest with the right to use or occupancy of real property or the right to receive rents, profits or other income derived from real property. It shall also include an option or contract to purchase real property. It shall not include a right of first refusal to purchase real property.

7. "Grantor" means the person making the conveyance of real property or interest therein. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer or an acquisition of a controlling interest in an entity with an interest in real property, "grantor" means the entity with an interest in real property or a shareholder or partner transferring stock or partnership interest, respectively.

8. "Grantee" means the person who obtains real property or interest therein as a result of a conveyance.

9. "Fund" means a community preservation fund created pursuant to section sixty-four-m of the town law.

10. "Recording officer" means the county clerk of the county of Rockland.

11. "Town" means the town of Clarkstown, county of Rockland.

12. "Treasurer" means the treasurer of the county of Rockland.

13. "Town supervisor" means the town supervisor of the town of Clarkstown.

14. "Tax" shall mean the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to section fourteen hundred fifty-bb of this article or, if the context clearly indicates, shall mean the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to article thirty-one of this chapter.

15. "Residential real property" means property which satisfies at least one of the following conditions:

(a) the property classification code assigned to the property on the latest final assessment roll, as reported on the transfer report form, indicates that the property is a one, two or three family home or a rural residence; or

(b) the transfer report indicates that the property is a one, two or three family residential property that has been newly constructed on vacant land; or

(c) the transfer report form indicates that the property is a residential condominium.

 § 1450-bb. Imposition of tax. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the town of Clarkstown, acting through its town board, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt a local law imposing in such town a tax on each conveyance of real property or interest therein not to exceed a maximum of three-quarters of one percent of the consideration for such conveyance, subject to the exemptions set forth in section fourteen hundred fifty-ee of this article; any such local law shall fix the rate of such tax. Provided, however, any such local law imposing, repealing or reimposing such tax shall be subject to a mandatory referendum pursuant to section twenty-three of the municipal home rule law. Notwithstanding the foregoing, prior to adoption of such local law, the town must establish a community preservation fund pursuant to section sixty-four-m of the town law. Revenues from such tax shall be deposited in such fund and may be used solely for the purposes of such fund. Such local law shall apply to any conveyance occurring on or after the first day of a month to be designated by such town board, which is not less than sixty days after the enactment of such local law, but shall not apply to conveyances made on or after such date pursuant to binding written contracts entered into prior to such date, provided that the date of execution of such contract is confirmed by independent evidence such as the recording of the contract, payment of a deposit or other facts and circumstances as determined by the treasurer.

 § 1450-cc. Payment of tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article shall be paid to the treasurer or the recording officer acting as the agent of the treasurer upon designation as such agent by the treasurer. Such tax shall be paid at the same time as the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter is required to be paid. Such treasurer or recording officer shall endorse upon each deed or instrument effecting a conveyance a receipt for the amount of the tax so paid.

2. A return shall be required to be filed with such treasurer or recording officer for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article at the same time as a return is required to be filed for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter. The treasurer shall prescribe the form of return, the information which it shall contain, and the documentation that shall accompany the return. Said form shall be identical to the real estate transfer tax return required to be filed pursuant to section fourteen hundred nine of this chapter, except that the treasurer shall adapt said form to reflect the provisions in this chapter that are inconsistent, different, or in addition to the provisions of article thirty-one of this chapter. The real estate transfer tax returns required to be filed pursuant to this section shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until such treasurer or recording officer orders them to be destroyed.

 § 1450-dd. Liability for tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid by the grantee. If the grantee has failed to pay the tax imposed pursuant to this article or if the grantee is exempt from such tax, the grantor shall have the duty to pay the tax. Where the grantor has the duty to pay the tax because the grantee has failed to pay the tax, such tax shall be the joint and several liability of the grantee and the grantor.

2. For the purpose of the proper administration of this article and to prevent evasion of the tax hereby imposed, it shall be presumed that all conveyances are subject to the tax. Where the consideration includes property other than money, it shall be presumed that the consideration is the fair market value of the real property or interest therein. These presumptions shall prevail until the contrary is proven, and the burden of proving the contrary shall be on the person liable for payment of the tax.

 § 1450-ee. Exemptions. 1. The following shall be exempt from the payment of the real estate transfer tax imposed by this article:

(a) The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, political subdivisions, or public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to an agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada); and

(b) The United Nations, the United States of America or any of its agencies or instrumentalities.

2. The tax shall not apply to any of the following conveyances:

(a) Conveyances to the United Nations, the United States of America, the state of New York, or any of their instrumentalities, agencies or political subdivisions (or any public corporation, including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada);

(b) Conveyances which are or were used to secure a debt or other obligation;

(c) Conveyances which, without additional consideration, confirm, correct, modify or supplement a deed previously recorded;

(d) Conveyances of real property without consideration and otherwise than in connection with a sale, including deeds conveying realty as bona fide gifts;

(e) Conveyances given in connection with a tax sale;

(f) Conveyances to effectuate a mere change of identity or form of ownership or organization where there is no change in beneficial ownership, other than conveyances to a cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings;

(g) Conveyances which consist of a deed of partition;

(h) Conveyances given pursuant to the federal bankruptcy act;

(i) Conveyances of real property which consist of the execution of a contract to sell real property without the use or occupancy of such property or the granting of an option to purchase real property without the use or occupancy of such property;

(j) Conveyances of real property or a portion or portions of real property that are the subject of one or more of the following development restrictions:

(1) agricultural, conservation, scenic, or an open space easement;

(2) covenants or restrictions prohibiting development where the property or portion of property being conveyed has had its development rights permanently removed;

(3) a purchase of development rights agreement where the property or portion of property being conveyed has had its development rights permanently removed;

(4) a transfer of development rights agreement, where the property being conveyed has had its development rights removed;

(5) real property subject to any locally adopted land preservation agreement, provided said exemption is included in the local law imposing the tax authorized by this article;

(k) Conveyances of real property, where the property is viable agricultural land as defined in subdivision seven of section three hundred one of the agriculture and markets law and the entire property to be conveyed is to be made subject to one of the development restrictions provided for in subparagraph two of paragraph (j) of this subdivision provided that said development restriction precludes the conversion of the property to a non-agricultural use for at least eight years from the date of transfer, and said development restriction is evidenced by an easement, agreement, or other suitable instrument which is to be conveyed to the town simultaneously with the conveyance of the real property; or

(l) Conveyances of real property for open space, parks, or historic preservation purposes to any not-for-profit tax exempt corporation operated for conservation, environmental, or historic preservation purposes.

3. An exemption from the tax which is equal to the median sales price of residential real property within the applicable county, as determined by the office of real property services pursuant to section four hundred twenty-five of the real property tax law, shall be allowed on the consideration of the conveyance of improved or unimproved real property or an interest therein.

the same real property or on the granting of an option or contract to purchase all or a portion of the same real property by such grantee. Such credit shall be computed by multiplying the tax paid on the creation of the leasehold or on the granting of the option or contract by a fraction, the numerator of which is the value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid which is not yet due to such grantor on the date of the subsequent conveyance (and which such grantor will not be entitled to receive after such date), and the denominator of which is the total value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid.

Notwithstanding the definition of "controlling interest" contained in subdivision two of section fourteen hundred fifty-aa of this article or anything to the contrary contained in subdivision five of section fourteen hundred fifty-aa of this article, the tax imposed pursuant to this article shall apply to (a) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor, and (b) the subsequent conveyance of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the owner thereof. With respect to any such subsequent conveyance where the property is an individual residential unit, the consideration for the interest conveyed shall exclude the value of any liens on certificates of stock or other evidences of an ownership interest in and a proprietary lease from a corporation or partnership formed for the purpose of cooperative ownership of residential interest in real estate remaining thereon at the time of conveyance. In determining the tax on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, a credit shall be allowed for a proportionate part of the amount of any tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings to the extent that such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership of such property and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property.

The amount of the credit shall be determined by multiplying the amount of tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation by a percentage representing the extent to which such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property, and then multiplying the resulting product by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock conveyed in a transaction described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock of the cooperative housing corporation (including any stock held by the corporation). In no event, however, shall such credit reduce the tax, on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, below zero, nor shall any such credit be allowed for a tax paid more than twenty-four months prior to the date on which occurs the first in a series of conveyances of shares of stock in an offering of cooperative housing corporation shares described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision.

* § 1450-hh. Designation of agents. The treasurer is authorized to designate the recording officer to act as their agent for purposes of collecting the tax authorized by this article. The treasurer shall provide for the manner in which such person may be designated as their agent subject to such terms and conditions as the treasurer shall prescribe. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid to such agent as provided in section fourteen hundred fifty-cc of this article.

* NB Effective August 30, 2026

* NB Repealed December 31, 2046

* § 1450-ii. Liability of recording officer. A recording officer shall not be liable for any inaccuracy in the amount of tax imposed pursuant to this article that they shall collect so long as they shall compute and collect such tax on the amount of consideration or the value of the interest conveyed as such amounts are provided to them by the person paying the tax.

* NB Effective August 30, 2026

* NB Repealed December 31, 2046

* § 1450-jj. Refunds. Whenever the treasurer shall determine that any moneys received under the provisions of the local law enacted pursuant to this article were paid in error, they may cause such moneys to be refunded pursuant to such requirements as they may prescribe, provided that any application for such refund is filed with the treasurer within two years from the date the erroneous payment was made.

* NB Effective August 30, 2026

* NB Repealed December 31, 2046

* § 1450-kk. Deposit and disposition of revenue. 1. All taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the town under the authority of section fourteen hundred fifty-bb of this article, which are collected by the treasurer or their agents, shall be deposited in a single trust fund for the town and shall be kept in trust and separate and apart from all other monies in possession of the treasurer. Moneys in such fund shall be deposited and secured in the manner provided by section ten of the general municipal law. Pending expenditure from such fund, moneys therein may be invested in the manner provided in section eleven of the general municipal law. Any interest earned or capital gain realized on the moneys so deposited or invested shall accrue to and become part of such fund.

2. The treasurer shall retain such amount as they may determine to be necessary for refunds with respect to the tax imposed by the town, under the authority of section fourteen hundred fifty-bb of this article, out of which the treasurer shall pay any refunds of such taxes to those taxpayers entitled to a refund pursuant to the provisions of this article.

3. The treasurer, after reserving such refunds, shall on or before the twelfth day of each month pay to the town supervisor the taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the town under the authority of section fourteen hundred fifty-bb of this article, collected by the treasurer, pursuant to this article during the next preceding calendar month. The amount so payable shall be certified to the town supervisor by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. Provided, however, any such certification may be based on such information as may be available to the treasurer at the time such certification must be made under this section. Where the amount so paid over to the town in any such distribution is more or less than the amount due to the town, the amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be certified to the town supervisor by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. The amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be so certified to the town supervisor as soon after the discovery of the overpayment or underpayment as reasonably possible and subsequent payments and distributions by the treasurer to the town shall be adjusted by subtracting the amount of any such overpayment from or by adding the amount of any such underpayment to such number of subsequent payments and distributions as the treasurer and town supervisor shall consider reasonable in view of the overpayment or underpayment and all other facts and circumstances.

4. All monies received from the treasurer shall be deposited in the fund of the town, pursuant to section sixty-four-m of the town law.

 § 1450-11. Judicial review. 1. Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable under section fourteen hundred fifty-cc of this article shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within four months after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the state superintendent of insurance as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding or (b) at the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interest and penalties stated in such determination, plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

2. Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally assessed or collected and application for the refund or revision thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund or revision, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules; provided, however, that (a) such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of the notice of such denial, (b) a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and (c) an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

 § 1450-oo. Returns to be secret. 1. Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the treasurer or any officer or employee of the county or town, including any person engaged or retained on an independent contract basis, to divulge or make known in any manner the particulars set forth or disclosed in any return required under a local law enacted pursuant to this article. However, that nothing in this section shall prohibit the recording officer from making a notation on an instrument effecting a conveyance indicating the amount of tax paid. No recorded instrument effecting a conveyance shall be considered a return for purposes of this section.

2. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the county or town in any action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under a local law enacted pursuant to this article to which such county or town is a party, or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of a local law enacted pursuant to this article when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more.

3. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a grantor or grantee of an instrument effecting a conveyance or the duly authorized representative of a grantor or grantee of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with such instrument or to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the legal representatives of such county or town of the return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon.

4. Any officer or employee of such county or town who willfully violates the provisions of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this state for a period of five years thereafter.

Section 1500. General definitions. The following words, as used in this article, shall have the meanings hereinafter set forth.

(a) The term "insurance corporation" includes a corporation, association, joint stock company or association, person, society, aggregation or partnership, by whatever name known, doing an insurance business, and, notwithstanding the provisions of section fifteen hundred twelve of this article, shall include (1) a risk retention group as defined in subsection (n) of section five thousand nine hundred two of the insurance law, (2) the state insurance fund and (3) a corporation, association, joint stock company or association, person, society, aggregation or partnership doing an insurance business as a member of the New York insurance exchange described in section six thousand two hundred one of the insurance law. The definition of the "state insurance fund" contained in this subdivision shall be limited in its effect to the provisions of this article and the related provisions of this chapter and shall have no force and effect other than with respect to such provisions. The term "insurance corporation" shall also include a captive insurance company doing a captive insurance business, as defined in subsections (c) and (b), respectively, of section seven thousand two of the insurance law; provided, however, "insurance corporation" shall not include the metropolitan transportation authority, the power authority of New York or any statutory subsidiary thereof, the New York convention center operating corporation or any statutory subsidiary thereof, or a public benefit corporation or not-for-profit corporation formed by a city with a population of one million or more pursuant to subsection (a) of section seven thousand five of the insurance law, each of which is expressly exempt from the payment of fees, taxes or assessments, whether state or local; and provided further "insurance corporation" does not include any combinable captive insurance company. The term "insurance corporation" shall also include an unauthorized insurer operating from an office within the state, pursuant to paragraph five of subsection (b) of section one thousand one hundred one and subsection (i) of section two thousand one hundred seventeen of the insurance law. The term "insurance corporation" also includes a health maintenance organization required to obtain a certificate of authority under article forty-four of the public health law.

(b) The term "domestic insurance corporation" means an insurance corporation incorporated or organized under the laws of this state. Provided, however, the savings banks life insurance fund and savings and insurance banks which are authorized to transact the business authorized by the provisions of article six-a of the banking law shall be subject to taxation as domestic insurance corporations on such insurance business under this article.

(c) The term "foreign insurance corporation" means an insurance corporation incorporated or organized under the laws of any other state of the United States, the District of Columbia or the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

(d) The term "alien insurance corporation" means an insurance corporation incorporated or organized under the laws of any other foreign nation, or of any province or territory not included under the definition of "foreign insurance corporation."

(e) The term "taxpayer" means any insurance corporation subject to the tax imposed under section fifteen hundred one, fifteen hundred two-a, or fifteen hundred ten or any captive insurance company subject to the tax imposed under section fifteen hundred two-b of this article.

(f) The term "taxable year" means the taxpayer's taxable year for federal income tax purposes, or the part thereof during which the taxpayer is subject to the tax under this article.

(g) The term "subsidiary" means a corporation of which over fifty percent of the number of shares of stock entitling the holders thereof to vote for the election of directors or trustees is owned by the taxpayer.

(h) The term "subsidiary capital" means investments in the stock of subsidiaries and any indebtedness from subsidiaries, exclusive of accounts receivable acquired in the ordinary course of trade or business for services rendered or for sales of property held primarily for sale to customers, whether or not evidenced by a written instrument, on which interest is not claimed and deducted by the subsidiary for purposes of taxation under any article of this chapter, provided, however, that in the discretion of the tax commission, there shall be deducted from subsidiary capital any liabilities payable by their terms on demand within one year from the date incurred, other than loans or advances outstanding for more than one year as of any date during the taxable year covered by the return, which are attributable to subsidiary capital.

(i) The term "investment capital" means investments in stocks, bonds and other securities, corporate and governmental, not held for sale to customers in the regular course of business, exclusive of subsidiary capital and stock issued by the taxpayer, provided, however, that in the discretion of the tax commission, there shall be deducted from investment capital any liabilities payable by their terms on demand or within one year from the date incurred, other than loans or advances outstanding for more than a year as of any date during the year covered by the return, which are attributable to investment capital, provided, also, there shall be excluded from investment capital, such investments which are held to maintain reserves of the taxpayer required under sections one thousand three hundred three, one thousand three hundred four and one thousand three hundred five of the insurance law.

(j) The term "business capital" means all assets, other than subsidiary capital, investment capital and stock issued by the taxpayer, less liabilities not deducted from subsidiary or investment capital which are payable by their terms on demand or within one year from the date incurred, other than loans or advances outstanding for more than a year as of any date during the year covered by the return, except that cash on hand and on deposit shall be treated as investment or as business capital as the taxpayer may elect, provided, however, that there shall be excluded from business capital such assets which are held to maintain reserves of the taxpayer required under sections one thousand three hundred three, one thousand three hundred four and one thousand three hundred five of the insurance law.

(k) The term "special risk premium" means any premium received on insurance provided the insurance is exempt from the filing requirements with respect to rates and policy forms pursuant to article sixty-three of the insurance law.

§ 1501. Imposition of tax. (a) Every domestic insurance corporation and every foreign or alien insurance corporation, for the privilege of exercising its corporate franchise, or of doing business, or of employing capital, or of owning or leasing property in this state in a corporate or organized capacity, or of maintaining an office in this state, for all or any part of its taxable year, except corporations specified in subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred twelve, shall annually pay a franchise tax which shall be computed as provided in section fifteen hundred two.

(b) Every life insurance corporation which shall obtain a certificate of authority to transact business in this state or a renewal of such certificate from the superintendent of financial services shall, upon the expiration of such certificate for any cause or upon its ceasing to transact new business in this state, continue to pay a tax upon its business remaining in force in this state as provided in section fifteen hundred two.

§ 1502. Computation of tax. (a) The tax imposed under section fifteen hundred one shall be the greatest of:

(1) for taxable years beginning before July first, two thousand, nine percent of the taxpayer's entire net income, or portion thereof allocated within this state, for the taxable year, or part thereof, except that for taxable years beginning prior to January first, nineteen hundred seventy-eight, the rate shall be four and five-tenths percent; for taxable years beginning after June thirtieth, two thousand and before July first, two thousand one, eight and one-half percent of the taxpayer's entire net income, or portion thereof allocated within this state, for the taxable year, or part thereof; for taxable years beginning after June thirtieth, two thousand one and before July first, two thousand two, eight percent of the taxpayer's entire net income, or portion thereof allocated within this state, for the taxable year, or part thereof; for taxable years beginning after June thirtieth, two thousand two and before January first, two thousand seven, seven and one-half percent of the taxpayer's entire net income, or portion thereof allocated within this state, for the taxable year, or part thereof; and for taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand seven, seven and one-tenth percent of the taxpayer's entire net income, or portion thereof allocated within this state, for the taxable year, or part thereof; or

(2) one and six-tenths mills for each dollar of the taxpayer's total business and investment capital allocated within this state for the taxable year, or part thereof, except that for taxable years beginning prior to January first, nineteen hundred seventy-eight, the rate shall be eight-tenths mills; or

(3) nine percent on thirty percent of the taxpayer's entire net income

plus salaries and other compensation paid to the taxpayer's elected or appointed officers and to every stockholder owning in excess of five percent of its issued capital stock minus fifteen thousand dollars and any net loss for the reported year, or the portion of such sum allocated within the state as hereinafter provided, except that for taxable years beginning prior to January first, nineteen hundred seventy-eight, the rate shall be four and five-tenths percent rather than nine percent; or

(4) two hundred fifty dollars; plus

(b) eight-tenths of a mill for each dollar of the portion of the taxpayer's subsidiary capital allocated within the state for the taxable year, or part thereof, except that for taxable years beginning prior to January first, nineteen hundred seventy-eight, the rate shall be four-tenths of a mill.

§ 1502-a. Tax on non-life insurance corporations. In lieu of the tax imposed by section fifteen hundred one of this article, every domestic insurance corporation, every foreign insurance corporation and every alien insurance corporation, other than such corporations transacting the business of life insurance, (1) authorized to transact business in this state under a certificate of authority from the superintendent of financial services, (2) that is a risk retention group as defined in subsection (n) of section five thousand nine hundred two of the insurance law, or (3) that is a health maintenance organization required to obtain a certificate of authority under article forty-four of the public health law, shall, for the privilege of exercising corporate franchises or for carrying on business in a corporate or organized capacity within this state, and in addition to any other taxes imposed for such privilege, pay a tax on all gross direct premiums, less return premiums thereon, written on risks located or resident in this state. The tax imposed by this section shall be computed in the manner set forth in subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred ten of this article as such subdivision applied to taxable years beginning before January first, two thousand three, except that the rate of tax imposed by this section shall be one and seventy-five hundredths percent on all gross direct premiums, less return premiums thereon, for accident and health insurance contracts, including contracts with health maintenance organizations for health services, and two percent on all other such premiums. All the other provisions in section fifteen hundred ten of this article as amended from time to time, other than subdivision (b) of such section, shall apply to the tax imposed by this section. In no event shall the tax imposed under this section be less than two hundred fifty dollars.

§ 1502-b. Computation of tax for captive insurance companies. (a) In lieu of the taxes and tax surcharge imposed by sections fifteen hundred one, fifteen hundred two-a, fifteen hundred five-a, and fifteen hundred ten of this article, every captive insurance company licensed by the superintendent of financial services pursuant to the provisions of article seventy of the insurance law, other than the metropolitan transportation authority, the power authority of New York or any statutory subsidiary thereof, the New York convention center operating corporation or any statutory subsidiary thereof, and a public benefit corporation or not-for-profit corporation formed by a city with a population of one million or more pursuant to subsection (a) of section seven thousand five of the insurance law, each of which is expressly exempt from the payment of fees, taxes or assessments whether state or local, and other than combinable captive insurance company, shall, for the privilege of exercising its corporate franchise, pay a tax on (1) all gross direct premiums, less return premiums thereon, written on risks located or resident in this state and (2) all assumed reinsurance premiums, less return premiums thereon, written on risks located or resident in this state. The rate of the tax imposed on gross direct premiums shall be four-tenths of one percent on all or any part of the first twenty million dollars of premiums, three-tenths of one percent on all or any part of the second twenty million dollars of premiums, two-tenths of one percent on all or any part of the third twenty million dollars of premiums, and seventy-five thousandths of one percent on each dollar of premiums thereafter. The rate of the tax on assumed reinsurance premiums shall be two hundred twenty-five thousandths of one percent on all or any part of the first twenty million dollars of premiums, one hundred and fifty thousandths of one percent on all or any part of the second twenty million dollars of premiums, fifty thousandths of one percent on all or any part of the third twenty million dollars of premiums and twenty-five thousandths of one percent on each dollar of premiums thereafter. The tax imposed by this section shall be equal to the greater of (i) the sum of the tax imposed on gross direct premiums and the tax imposed on assumed reinsurance premiums or (ii) five thousand dollars.

(b) In determining the amount of gross direct premiums or assumed reinsurance premiums taxable in this state, all premiums written, procured or received in this state shall be deemed written on property or risks located or resident in this state except such premiums as are properly allocated or apportioned and reported as taxable premiums or which have been used as a measure of a tax of any other state or states.

(c) The definition of the term "premium" set forth in subdivision (c) of section fifteen hundred ten of this article shall apply to this section. In addition, "gross direct premium" shall be determined as provided in such subdivision (c). Provided, however, that the term "premium" shall also include any amount received by a captive insurance company as consideration for insurance provided, in the case of a pure captive insurance company, to its parents and affiliated companies, and, in the case of a group captive insurance company, to the industrial insureds that comprise the industrial insured group. The terms "pure captive insurance company", "group captive insurance company", "industrial insureds" and "industrial insured group" shall have the same meanings as such terms have in section seven thousand two of the insurance law. The reporting of premiums for the purpose of the tax imposed by this section shall be on a written basis or on a paid-for basis consistent with the basis required by the annual statement filed with the superintendent of financial services pursuant to section seven thousand six of the insurance law.

(d) The superintendent of financial services shall have the same power, duty and responsibility to examine the returns of captive insurance companies as such superintendent has with respect to insurance corporations as set forth in subdivision (e) of section fifteen hundred ten of this article.

(e) The credits set forth in section fifteen hundred eleven of this article shall not be allowed against the tax imposed by this section.

§ 1503. Computation of entire net income. (a) The entire net income of a taxpayer shall be its total net income from all sources which shall be presumably the same as the life insurance company taxable income (which shall include, in the case of a stock life insurance company that has a balance, as determined as of the close of such company's last taxable year beginning before January first, two thousand eighteen, in an existing policyholders surplus account, as such term is defined in section 815 of the internal revenue code as such section was in effect for taxable years beginning before January first, two thousand eighteen, the amount of one-eighth of such balance), taxable income of a partnership or taxable income, but not alternative minimum taxable income, as the case may be, which the taxpayer is required to report to the United States treasury department, for the taxable year or, in the case of a corporation exempt from federal income tax (other than the tax on unrelated business taxable income imposed under section 511 of the internal revenue code) but not exempt from tax under section fifteen hundred one, the taxable income which such taxpayer would have been required to report but for such exemption, except as hereinafter provided.

(b) Modifications. In computing entire net income, the following modifications shall be made:

(1) Entire net income shall not include:

(A) income, gains and losses from subsidiary capital which do not include the amount of a recovery in respect of any war loss, except that this modification shall not apply to the amount described in subparagraph (S) of this paragraph;

(B) fifty percent of dividends other than from subsidiaries, except that this modification shall not apply to the amount described in subparagraph (S) of this paragraph, and except that, in the case of a life insurance company, such modification shall apply only with respect to the company's share of such dividends, which share means the percentage determined under paragraph one of subsection (a) of section eight hundred twelve of the internal revenue code;

(C) any refund or credit of a tax imposed under this article or section one hundred eighty-seven, or article twenty-three of this chapter heretofore in effect to the extent properly included as income for federal income tax purposes, for which no exclusion or deduction was allowed in determining the taxpayer's entire net income under this article for any prior year;

(D) that portion of wages or salaries paid or incurred for the taxable year for which a deduction is not allowed pursuant to the provisions of section two hundred eighty-C of the internal revenue code;

(E) in the case of a taxpayer who is separately or as a partner of a partnership doing an insurance business as a member of the New York insurance exchange described in section six thousand two hundred one of the insurance law, any item of income, gain, loss or deduction of such business which is the taxpayer's distributive or pro rata share for federal income tax purposes or which the taxpayer is required to take into account separately for federal income tax purposes;

(F) for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property which is a qualified mass commuting vehicle described in subparagraph (D) of paragraph eight of subsection (f) of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code (relating to qualified mass commuting vehicles), any amount which is included in the taxpayer's taxable income for federal income tax purposes solely as a result of an election made pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph eight as it was in effect for agreements entered into prior to January first, nineteen hundred eighty-four;

(G) for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property which is a qualified mass commuting vehicle described in subparagraph (D) of paragraph eight of subsection (f) of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code (relating to qualified mass commuting vehicles), any amount which the taxpayer could have excluded from its taxable income for federal income tax purposes had it not made the election provided for in such paragraph eight as it was in effect for agreements entered into prior to January first, nineteen hundred eighty-four;

(H) the amount deductible pursuant to paragraph ten of this subdivision;

(I) upon the disposition of property to which paragraph ten of this subdivision applies, the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of the amounts described in subparagraph (M) of paragraph two of this subdivision attributable to such property exceeds the aggregate of the amounts described in paragraph ten of this subdivision attributable to such property;

(J) the amount of unearned premiums on outstanding business at the end of the taxable year included in premiums earned pursuant to the provisions of section 832(b)(4)(B) of the internal revenue code;

(K) the amount of unearned premiums on outstanding business at the end of the taxable year included in premiums earned pursuant to the provisions of section 832(b)(7)(B)(i) of the internal revenue code;

(L) the amount included in premiums earned pursuant to the provisions of section 832(b)(8)(A)(i) of the internal revenue code which is the difference between the amount of discounted unearned premiums on outstanding business at the end of the taxable year and the amount of unearned premiums on outstanding business at the end of the taxable year;

(M) for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-six and before January first, nineteen hundred ninety-two, the amount of unearned premiums on outstanding business included in premiums earned pursuant to the provisions of sections 832(b)(4)(C) and 832(b)(7)(B)(ii) of the internal revenue code;

(N) the amount which is the difference between the amount of discounted unpaid losses at the end of the taxable year used in the computation of losses incurred pursuant to section 832(b)(5)(A) of the internal revenue code, and the amount of unpaid losses that would be used in such computation for the taxable year if such losses were not discounted pursuant to the provisions of section 846(a) of the internal revenue code;

(O) the amount by which losses incurred as defined in section 832(b)(5)(A) of the internal revenue code are reduced in accordance with section 832(b)(5)(B) of such code; and

(P) the amount included in federal gross income pursuant to sections 847(5) and 847(6) of the internal revenue code.

(Q) The amount deductible pursuant to paragraph twelve of this subsection.

(R) for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, two thousand two, the amount deductible pursuant to paragraph fourteen of this subdivision.

(S) The income required to be included in the taxpayer's federal gross income pursuant to subsection (a) of section 951 of the internal revenue code by reason of subsection (a) of section 965 of such code as adjusted by subsection (b) of such section but without regard to subsection (c) of such section to the extent such income is received from a corporation that is not included in a combined return with the taxpayer.

(T) Any amount excepted, for purposes of subsection (a) of section one hundred eighteen of the internal revenue code, from the term "contribution to the capital of the taxpayer" by paragraph two of subsection (b) of section one hundred eighteen of the internal revenue code.

(U) To the extent not excluded from income pursuant to subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, ninety-five percent of the income required to be included in the taxpayer's federal gross income pursuant to subsection (a) of section 951A of the internal revenue code, without regard to the deduction under section 250 of the internal revenue code, that is generated by a corporation that is not included in a combined report with the taxpayer.

(V) To the extent not excluded from income pursuant to subparagraph (A) or (B) of this paragraph, any amount treated as a dividend received by the taxpayer under section 78 of the internal revenue code that is attributable to the income required to be included in the taxpayer's federal gross income pursuant to subsection (a) of section 951A of such code.

(W) The amount of any gain added back to determine entire net income in a previous taxable year pursuant to subparagraph (Z) of paragraph two of this subdivision that is included in federal gross income for the taxable year.

(X) For taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand twenty-five, in the case of qualified production property described in paragraph two of subsection (n) of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code, the amount of any deduction allowed pursuant to subsection (a) of section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code as if the taxpayer has not made an election pursuant to subsection (n) of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code.

(Y) For taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand twenty-five, the amount of any foreign and domestic research or experimental expenditures, as defined in sections one hundred seventy-four and 174A of the internal revenue code, paid or incurred in each taxable year on and after January first, two thousand twenty-five, amortized over a sixty-month period as if the election in subsection (c) of section 174A of the internal revenue code applied to such foreign and domestic research or experimental expenditures.

(Z) For taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand twenty-five, the remaining amount of any foreign and domestic research or experimental expenditures, as defined in sections one hundred seventy-four and 174A of the internal revenue code, paid or incurred prior to January first, two thousand twenty-five, determined as if section one hundred seventy-four of the internal revenue code in effect as of January first, two thousand twenty-two, applied to such expenditures.

(2) Entire net income shall be determined without the exclusion, deduction or credit of:

(A) the amount of any specific exemption or credit allowed in any law of the United States imposing any tax on or measured by the income of corporations;

(B) any part of any income from dividends or interest on any kind of stock, securities or indebtedness, except as provided in subparagraphs (A), (B) and (S) of paragraph one hereof;

(C) taxes paid or accrued to the United States on or measured by income or premiums;

(D) taxes imposed under this article;

(E) In those instances where a credit for the special additional mortgage recording tax is allowed under paragraph one of subdivision (e) of section fifteen hundred eleven of this article, the amount allowed as an exclusion or deduction for the special additional mortgage recording tax imposed by subdivision one-a of section two hundred fifty-three of this chapter in determining the entire net income which the taxpayer is required to report to the United States treasury department for such taxable year;

(F) unless the credit allowed pursuant to subdivision (e) of section fifteen hundred eleven of this article is reflected in the computation of the gain or loss so as to result in an increase in such gain or decrease in such loss, for federal income tax purposes, from the sale or other disposition of the property with respect to which the special additional mortgage recording tax imposed pursuant to subdivision one-a of section two hundred fifty-three of this chapter was paid, the amount of the special additional mortgage recording tax imposed by subdivision one-a of section two hundred fifty-three of this chapter which was paid and which is reflected in the computation of the basis of the property so as to result in a decrease in such gain or increase in such loss for federal income tax purposes from the sale or other disposition of the property with respect to which such tax was paid;

(G) ninety percent of interest on indebtedness directly or indirectly owed to any stockholder or shareholder (including subsidiaries of a corporate stockholder or shareholder), or members of the immediate family of an individual stockholder or shareholder, owning in the aggregate in excess of five per centum of the issued capital stock of the taxpayer, except that such interest may, in any event, be deducted

(i) up to an amount not exceeding one thousand dollars,

(ii) in full to the extent that it relates to bonds or other evidences of indebtedness issued, with stock, pursuant to a bona fide plan of reorganization, to persons, who, prior to such reorganization, were bona fide creditors of the corporation or its predecessors, but were not stockholders or shareholders thereof,

(iii) in full to the extent that it is paid to a federally licensed small business investment company;

(H) in the discretion of the commissioner, any amount of interest directly or indirectly and any other amount directly attributable as a carrying charge or otherwise to subsidiary capital or to income, gains or losses from subsidiary capital, or to the income described in subparagraphs (S), (U) and (V) of paragraph one of this subdivision;

(I) in the case of a life insurance company, the provisions of subparagraph (B) of this paragraph shall not apply to the policyholders' share of the items described in such subparagraph. For purposes of this subparagraph, the policyholders' share means the percentage determined under paragraph two of subsection (a) of section eight hundred twelve of the internal revenue code.

(J) in the case of a taxpayer who is separately or as a partner of a partnership doing an insurance business as a member of the New York insurance exchange described in section six thousand two hundred one of the insurance law, such taxpayer's distributive or pro rata share of the allocated entire net income of such business as determined under this section and section fifteen hundred four of this article, provided however, in the event such allocated entire net income is a loss, such taxpayer's distributive or pro rata share of such loss shall not be subtracted from federal taxable income in computing entire net income under this section.

(K) for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property which is a qualified mass commuting vehicle described in subparagraph (D) of paragraph eight of subsection (f) of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code (relating to qualified mass commuting vehicles), any amount which the taxpayer claimed as a deduction for federal income tax purposes solely as a result of an election made pursuant to the provisions of such paragraph eight as it was in effect for agreements entered into prior to January first, nineteen hundred eighty-four;

(L) for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property which is a qualified mass commuting vehicle described in subparagraph (D) of paragraph eight of subsection (f) of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code (relating to qualified mass commuting vehicles), any amount which the taxpayer would have been required to include in the computation of its taxable income for federal income tax purposes had it not made the election permitted pursuant to such paragraph eight as it was in effect for agreements entered into prior to January first, nineteen hundred eighty-four;

(M) in the case of property placed in service in taxable years beginning before nineteen hundred ninety-four, for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property subject to the provisions of section two hundred eighty-F of the internal revenue code and property subject to the provisions of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code which is placed in service in this state in taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-four, the amount allowable as a deduction determined under section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code;

(N) upon the disposition of property to which paragraph ten of this subdivision applies, the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of the amounts described in such paragraph ten attributable to such property exceeds the aggregate of the amounts described in subparagraph (M) of this paragraph attributable to such property;

(N-1) premiums paid for environmental remediation insurance, as defined in section twenty-three of this chapter, and deducted in determining federal taxable income, to the extent of the amount of the environmental remediation insurance credit allowed under such section twenty-three and subdivision (w) of section fifteen hundred eleven of this article;

(O) the amount of unearned premiums on outstanding business at the end of the preceding taxable year excluded from premiums earned pursuant to the provisions of section 832(b)(4)(B) of the internal revenue code;

(P) the amount of unearned premiums on outstanding business at the end of the preceding year excluded from premiums earned pursuant to the provisions of section 832(b)(7)(B)(i) of the internal revenue code;

(Q) the amount excluded from premiums earned pursuant to the provisions of section 832(b)(8)(A)(i) of the internal revenue code which is the difference between the amount of discounted unearned premiums on outstanding business at the end of the preceding taxable year and the amount of unearned premiums on outstanding business at the end of the preceding taxable year;

(R) the amount which is the difference between the amount of discounted unpaid losses at the end of the preceding federal taxable year used in the computation of losses incurred for the taxable year pursuant to section 832(b)(5)(A) of the internal revenue code, and the amount of unpaid losses at the end of the preceding federal taxable year that would have been used in such computation for the taxable year if such losses were not discounted pursuant to the provisions of section 846(a) of the internal revenue code; and

(S) the amount of the deduction claimed by the taxpayer pursuant to the provisions of section 847(1) of the internal revenue code.

(T) for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, two thousand two, in the case of qualified property described in paragraph two of subsection k of section 168 of the internal revenue code, other than qualified resurgence zone property described in paragraph sixteen of this subdivision, and other than qualified New York Liberty Zone property described in paragraph two of subsection b of section 1400L of the internal revenue code (without regard to clause (i) of subparagraph (C) of such paragraph), which was placed in service on or after June first, two thousand three, the amount allowable as a deduction under section 167 of the internal revenue code.

(U) The amount of any deduction allowed pursuant to section one hundred ninety-nine of the internal revenue code.

(V) The amount of any federal deduction for taxes imposed under article twenty-three of this chapter.

(W) The amount of any federal deduction allowed pursuant to subsection (c) of section 965 of the internal revenue code.

(X) The amount of any federal deduction allowed pursuant to section 250(a)(1)(A) of the internal revenue code.

(Y) The amount of the federal deduction allowed pursuant to section 250(a)(1)(B) of the internal revenue code.

(Z) The amount of any gain excluded from federal gross income for the taxable year by subparagraph (A) of paragraph (1) of subsection (a) of section 1400Z-2 of the internal revenue code.

(AA) For taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand twenty-five, in the case of qualified production property described in paragraph two of subsection (n) of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code, any amount which the taxpayer claimed as a deduction under subsection (a) of section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code that included an allowance solely as a result of an election made pursuant to subsection (n) of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code.

(BB) For taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand twenty-five, any amount claimed as a deduction under sections one hundred seventy-four and 174A of the internal revenue code in effect as of January first, two thousand twenty-five, and any amount claimed as a deduction pursuant to federal Public Law 119-21, title VII, section 70302(f)(2)(a), for foreign and domestic research or experimental expenditures, as defined in sections one hundred seventy-four and 174A of the internal revenue code.

(3) In determining entire net income, there shall be subtracted, to the extent not deductible in determining federal taxable income:

(A) interest on indebtedness incurred or continued to purchase or carry obligations or securities the income from which is subject to tax under this article but exempt from federal income tax;

(B) ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred during the taxable year attributable to income which is subject to tax under this article but exempt from federal income tax; and

(C) the amortizable bond premium for the taxable year on any bond the interest on which is subject to tax under this article but exempt from federal income tax.

(4) Any "net operating loss deduction" or "operations loss deduction" allowable under sections one hundred seventy-two or eight hundred ten of the internal revenue code, respectively, which is allowable to the taxpayer for federal income tax purposes:

(A) shall be adjusted to reflect the modifications required by the other paragraphs of this subdivision;

(B) shall not, however, exceed any such deduction allowable to the taxpayer for the taxable year for federal income tax purposes; and

(C) shall not include any such loss incurred in a taxable year beginning prior to January first, nineteen hundred seventy-four or during any taxable year in which the taxpayer was not subject to the tax imposed under section fifteen hundred one.

(5) In case of property of a taxpayer acquired prior to January first, nineteen hundred seventy-four, and disposed of thereafter, the computation of entire net income shall be modified as follows:

(A) no gain shall be deemed to have been derived if either the cost or the fair market price or value on January first, nineteen hundred seventy-four, exceeds the value realized;

(B) no loss shall be deemed to have been sustained if either the cost or the fair market price or value on January first, nineteen hundred seventy-four, is less than the value realized;

(C) where both the cost and the fair market price or value on January first, nineteen hundred seventy-four, are less than the value realized, the basis for computing gain shall be the cost or the fair market price or value on such date, whichever is higher;

(D) where both the cost and the fair market price or value on January first, nineteen hundred seventy-four, are in excess of the value realized, the basis for computing loss shall be the cost or the fair market price or value on such date, whichever is lower.

(6) There shall be excluded from the computation of entire net income any amount allowed as a deduction for federal income tax purposes for the taxable year under section twelve hundred twelve of the internal revenue code as a capital loss carryforward to the taxable year which resulted from a capital loss occurring in any taxable year in which the taxpayer was not subject to tax under section fifteen hundred one.

(7) There shall be excluded from the computation of entire net income the amount of any income or gain from the sale of real or personal property which is includible in determining federal taxable income for the taxable year pursuant to the installment method under section four hundred fifty-three of the internal revenue code to the extent such income or gain is from a sale of such property which occurred in a taxable year when the taxpayer was not subject to tax under section fifteen hundred one.

(8) Entire net income shall be computed without regard to subsection (b) of section eight hundred thirty-one of the internal revenue code.

(9) In computing the entire net income of a taxpayer

(A) which is a fire or life insurance company organized and operated, without profit to any private shareholder or individual, exclusively for the purpose of aiding and strengthening charitable, religious, missionary, educational or philanthropic institutions, by issuing insurance and annuity contracts only to or for the benefit of such institutions, to individuals engaged in the services of such institutions and to members of the immediate families of such individuals, or

(B) which is a life insurance company which has been organized for the purpose of establishing a non-profit voluntary employees beneficiary association to provide life, sick, accident or other benefits to eligible employees or their beneficiaries, and is operated exclusively for said purposes and without profit, direct or indirect, to any private shareholder or individual, and is duly exempt from income taxation pursuant to the United States internal revenue code, the life insurance company taxable income (which shall include, in the case of a stock life insurance company which has an existing policyholders surplus account, the amount of direct and indirect distributions during the taxable year to shareholders from such account) or taxable income, as the case may be, of such taxpayer for the taxable year shall be computed without regard to any income, gains, losses, deductions, reserves, surplus or any other item, derived from, or attributable or allocable to, contracts described in subsection (a) of section eight hundred eighteen of the internal revenue code.

(10) In the case of property placed in service in taxable years beginning before nineteen hundred ninety-four, for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-one, except with respect to property subject to the provisions of section two hundred eighty-F of the internal revenue code and property subject to the provisions of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code which is placed in service in this state in taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-four, and provided a deduction has not been excluded from the determination of entire net income pursuant to subparagraph (K) of paragraph two of this subdivision, a taxpayer shall be allowed with respect to property which is subject to the provisions of section one hundred sixty-eight of the internal revenue code the depreciation deduction allowable under section one hundred sixty-seven of the internal revenue code as such section would have applied to property placed in service on December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty.

(11)(A) Notwithstanding the provisions of subparagraph (P) of paragraph one of this subdivision, for taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-two and ending before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-six, entire net income shall include the amount determined under subparagraph (B) of this paragraph. This amount shall be included in entire net income only if the taxpayer claimed the deduction allowed by subdivision one of section eight hundred forty-seven of the internal revenue code in any taxable year beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-seven and ending before January first, nineteen hundred ninety-three.

(B) The amount to be included in entire net income under this paragraph shall be determined as follows. The taxpayer shall calculate the total amount that will be required to be included in federal gross income pursuant to the provisions of subdivisions five and six of section eight hundred forty-seven of the internal revenue code for federal taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-two as a result of the deduction claimed by the taxpayer in federal taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-seven and before January first, nineteen hundred ninety-three pursuant to the provisions of subdivision one of section eight hundred forty-seven of the internal revenue code. The taxpayer shall divide such total amount by three. An amount equal to the resulting quotient shall be included in entire net income in each of the taxpayer's first three taxable years beginning on or after January one, nineteen hundred ninety-three.

12. Emerging technology investment deferral. In the case of any sale of a qualified emerging technologies investment held for more than thirty-six months and with respect to which the taxpayer elects the application of this subsection, gain from such sale shall be recognized only to the extent that the amount realized on such sale exceeds the cost of any qualified emerging technologies investment purchased by the taxpayer during the three hundred sixty-five-day period beginning on the date of such sale, reduced by any portion of such cost previously taken into account under this paragraph. For purposes of this paragraph the following shall apply:

(1) A qualified investment is stock of a corporation or an interest, other than as a creditor, in a partnership or limited liability company that was acquired by the taxpayer as provided in Internal Revenue Code § 1202(c)(1)(B), except that the reference to the term "stock" in such section shall be read as "investment," or by the taxpayer from a person who had acquired such stock or interest in such a manner.

(2) A qualified emerging technology investment is a qualified investment, that was held by the taxpayer for at least thirty-six months, in a company defined in paragraph (c) of subdivision one of section thirty-one hundred two-e of the public authorities law or an investment in a partnership or limited liability company that is taxed as a partnership to the extent that such partnership or limited liability company invests in qualified emerging technology companies.

(3) For purposes of determining whether the nonrecognition of gain under this subsection applies to a qualified emerging technologies investment that is sold, the taxpayer's holding period for such investment and the qualified emerging technologies investment that is purchased shall be determined without regard to Internal Revenue Code § 1223.

13. Amounts deferred. The amount deferred under paragraph twelve of this subdivision shall be added to entire net income when the reinvestment in the New York qualified emerging technology company which qualified a taxpayer for such deferral is sold.

* (14) For taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, two thousand two, in the case of qualified property described in paragraph two of subsection k of section 168 of the internal revenue code, other than qualified resurgence zone property described in paragraph sixteen of this subdivision, and other than qualified New York Liberty Zone property described in paragraph two of subsection b of section 1400L of the internal revenue code (without regard to clause (i) of subparagraph (C) of such paragraph), which was placed in service on or after June first, two thousand three, a taxpayer shall be allowed with respect to such property the depreciation deduction allowable under section 167 of the internal revenue code as such section would have applied to such property had it been acquired by the taxpayer on September tenth, two thousand one.

* NB There are 2 par (14)'s

* (14) Related members expense add back. (A) Definitions. (i) Related member. "Related member" means a related person as defined in subparagraph (c) of paragraph three of subsection (b) of section four hundred sixty-five of the internal revenue code, except that "fifty percent" shall be substituted for "ten percent".

(ii) Effective rate of tax. "Effective rate of tax" means, as to any state or U.S. possession, the maximum statutory rate of tax imposed by the state or possession on or measured by a related member's net income multiplied by the apportionment percentage, if any, applicable to the related member under the laws of said jurisdiction. For purposes of this definition, the effective rate of tax as to any state or U.S. possession is zero where the related member's net income tax liability in said jurisdiction is reported on a combined or consolidated return including both the taxpayer and the related member where the reported transactions between the taxpayer and the related member are eliminated or offset. Also, for purposes of this definition, when computing the effective rate of tax for a jurisdiction in which a related member's net income is eliminated or offset by a credit or similar adjustment that is dependent upon the related member either maintaining or managing intangible property or collecting interest income in that jurisdiction, the maximum statutory rate of tax imposed by said jurisdiction shall be decreased to reflect the statutory rate of tax that applies to the related member as effectively reduced by such credit or similar adjustment.

(iii) Royalty payments. Royalty payments are payments directly connected to the acquisition, use, maintenance or management, ownership, sale, exchange, or any other disposition of licenses, trademarks, copyrights, trade names, trade dress, service marks, mask works, trade secrets, patents and any other similar types of intangible assets as determined by the commissioner, and include amounts allowable as interest deductions under section one hundred sixty-three of the internal revenue code to the extent such amounts are directly or indirectly for, related to or in connection with the acquisition, use, maintenance or management, ownership, sale, exchange or disposition of such intangible assets.

(iv) Valid business purpose. A valid business purpose is one or more business purposes, other than the avoidance or reduction of taxation, which alone or in combination constitute the primary motivation for some business activity or transaction, which activity or transaction changes in a meaningful way, apart from tax effects, the economic position of the taxpayer. The economic position of the taxpayer includes an increase in the market share of the taxpayer, or the entry by the taxpayer into new business markets.

(B) Royalty expense add backs. (i) Except where a taxpayer is included in a combined return with a related member pursuant to subdivision (f) of section fifteen hundred fifteen of this article, for the purpose of computing entire net income, a taxpayer must add back royalty payments directly or indirectly paid, accrued, or incurred in connection with one or more direct or indirect transactions with one or more related members during the taxable year to the extent deductible in calculating federal taxable income.

(ii) Exceptions. (I) The adjustment required in this paragraph shall not apply to the portion of the royalty payment that the taxpayer establishes, by clear and convincing evidence of the type and in the form specified by the commissioner, meets all of the following requirements: (a) the related member was subject to tax in this state or another state or possession of the United States or a foreign nation or some combination thereof on a tax base that included the royalty payment paid, accrued or incurred by the taxpayer; (b) the related member during the same taxable year directly or indirectly paid, accrued or incurred such portion to a person that is not a related member; and (c) the transaction giving rise to the royalty payment between the taxpayer and the related member was undertaken for a valid business purpose.

(II) The adjustment required in this paragraph shall not apply if the taxpayer establishes, by clear and convincing evidence of the type and in the form specified by the commissioner, that: (a) the related member was subject to tax on or measured by its net income in this state or another state or possession of the United States or some combination thereof; (b) the tax base for said tax included the royalty payment paid, accrued or incurred by the taxpayer; and (c) the aggregate effective rate of tax applied to the related member in those jurisdictions is no less than eighty percent of the statutory rate of tax that applied to the taxpayer under section fifteen hundred two, fifteen hundred two-a, or fifteen hundred two-b of this article for the taxable year.

(III) The adjustment required in this paragraph shall not apply if the taxpayer establishes, by clear and convincing evidence of the type and in the form specified by the commissioner, that: (a) the royalty payment was paid, accrued or incurred to a related member organized under the laws of a country other than the United States; (b) the related member's income from the transaction was subject to a comprehensive income tax treaty between such country and the United States; (c) the related member was subject to tax in a foreign nation on a tax base that included the royalty payment paid, accrued or incurred by the taxpayer; (d) the related member's income from the transaction was taxed in such country at an effective rate of tax at least equal to that imposed by this state; and (e) the royalty payment was paid, accrued or incurred pursuant to a transaction that was undertaken for a valid business purpose and using terms that reflect an arm's length relationship.

(IV) The adjustment required in this paragraph shall not apply if the taxpayer and the commissioner agree in writing to the application or use of alternative adjustments or computations. The commissioner may, in his or her discretion, agree to the application or use of alternative adjustments or computations when he or she concludes that in the absence of such agreement the income of the taxpayer would not be properly reflected.

(15) For taxable years beginning after December thirty-first, two thousand two, upon the disposition of property to which paragraph fourteen of this subdivision applies, the amount of any gain or loss includible in entire net income shall be adjusted to reflect the inclusions and exclusions from entire net income pursuant to subparagraph (R) of paragraph one and subparagraph (T) of paragraph two of this subdivision attributable to such property.

(16) For purposes of paragraphs fourteen and fifteen of this subdivision, qualified resurgence zone property shall mean qualified property described in paragraph two of subsection k of section 168 of the internal revenue code substantially all of the use of which is in the resurgence zone, as defined below, and is in the active conduct of a trade or business by the taxpayer in such zone, and the original use of which in the resurgence zone commences with the taxpayer after December thirty-first, two thousand two. The resurgence zone shall mean the area of New York county bounded on the south by a line running from the intersection of the Hudson River with the Holland Tunnel, and running thence east to Canal Street, then running along the centerline of Canal Street to the intersection of the Bowery and Canal Street, running thence in a southeasterly direction diagonally across Manhattan Bridge Plaza, to the Manhattan Bridge and thence along the centerline of the Manhattan Bridge to the point where the centerline of the Manhattan Bridge would intersect with the easterly bank of the East River, and bounded on the north by a line running from the intersection of the Hudson River with the Holland Tunnel and running thence north along West Avenue to the intersection of Clarkson Street then running east along the centerline of Clarkson Street to the intersection of Washington Avenue, then running south along the centerline of Washington Avenue to the intersection of West Houston Street, then east along the centerline of West Houston Street, then at the intersection of the Avenue of the Americas continuing east along the centerline of East Houston Street to the easterly bank of the East River.

(17) Depreciation and interest adjustments for covered properties owned by an institutional real estate investor. (A) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, in the case of a taxpayer that is an institutional real estate investor or partner, member or shareholder of an entity that is an institutional real estate investor as defined in paragraph (c-4) of subdivision nine of section two hundred eight of this chapter, entire net income shall be computed with adjustments for depreciation and interest related to covered properties as set forth in this paragraph.

(B) Depreciation deductions. With respect to covered properties, no deduction for depreciation allowed under the internal revenue code or this section shall be allowed.

(C) Federal interest deductions. With respect to covered properties, the interest deduction for federal income tax purposes allowed under section one hundred sixty-three of the internal revenue code shall not be allowed and must be added back in the computation of entire net income, except with respect to interest paid or accrued in the taxable year when such covered property is sold to an individual for use as the principal residence of such individual or sold to a nonprofit organization that has as its principal purpose the creation, development, or preservation of affordable housing. For purposes of this subparagraph, any amount of interest that would have been allowed under section one hundred sixty-three of the internal revenue code in connection with a covered property but for an election to treat such interest as chargeable to capital account shall be treated as an amount allowed under section one hundred sixty-three of the internal revenue code.

(c) Attribution of income to different taxable years. The tax commission may, whenever necessary in order to properly reflect the entire net income of any taxpayer, determine the year or period in which any item of income or deduction shall be included, without regard to the method of accounting employed by the taxpayer.

§ 1504. Allocation. (a) Allocation of entire net income. The portion of entire net income of a taxpayer to be allocated within the state shall be the amount determined by multiplying such income by the income allocation percentage determined by:

(1) ascertaining the percentage which the taxpayer's New York premiums for the taxable year bear to the taxpayer's total premiums for the taxable year, and multiplying such percentage by nine,

(2) ascertaining the percentage which total wages, salaries, personal service compensation and commissions for the taxable year of employees, agents and representatives of the taxpayer within New York bear to the total wages, salaries, personal service compensation and commissions for the taxable year of all the taxpayer's employees, agents and representatives, and

(3) adding the amounts determined under paragraphs one and two and dividing the sum by ten.

(b) Definition of premiums. (1) For purposes of paragraph one of subdivision (a), the term "premium" includes all amounts received as consideration for insurance contracts, reinsurance contracts and annuity contracts and shall include premium deposits, assessments, policy fees, membership fees and every other compensation for such contract. The term "total premiums" means total gross premiums or deposit premiums or assessments, less returns thereon, on all policies, annuity contracts, certificates, renewals, policies subsequently cancelled, insurance and reinsurance executed, issued or delivered on property or risks, including premiums for reinsurance assumed, less dividends on such total premiums, including unused or unabsorbed portions of premium deposits paid or credited to policyholders but not including deferred dividends paid in cash to policyholders on maturing policies, nor cash surrender values, and less premiums on reinsurance ceded.

(2) For purposes of paragraph one of subdivision (a), "New York premiums" shall be determined as follows:

(A) For all premiums other than premiums described in subparagraph (B) or (C) of this paragraph, "New York premiums" means that portion of total premiums written, procured or received on property or risks located or resident in New York and shall also include premiums written, procured or received in this state on business which cannot be specifically assigned as located or resident in any other state or states, other than premiums described in subdivision (b) of section fifteen hundred twelve. Provided however, in the case of special risk premiums, "New York premiums" shall include only those premiums written, procured or received in this state on property or risks located or resident in this state.

(B) For premiums on reinsurance, "New York premiums" shall be determined as provided in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph except that where the location or residence of the property or risk covered by the reinsurance cannot be ascertained, "New York premiums" shall mean the portion of premiums for reinsurance determined by multiplying the amount of premiums from reinsurance ceded by each company to the taxpayer by the percentage determined under paragraph one of subdivision (a) of this section for each such ceding company for the preceding taxable year.

(C) For premiums from marine insurance, "New York premiums" means (i) that portion of premiums from such marine insurance as are written, procured or received on property or risks located or resident in this state and, (ii) to the extent not otherwise includible in "New York premiums" under clause (i) hereof, the premiums for such marine insurance written within this state on property or risks which cannot be specifically assigned as located or resident in any other state or country, provided however, in the case of special risk premiums, "New York premiums" shall include only those premiums written, procured or received in this state on property or risks located or resident in this state. For purposes of this subparagraph, marine insurance means insurance written, procured or received upon hulls, freights or disbursements, or upon goods, wares, merchandise and all other personal property and interests therein, in the course of exportation from, importation into any country, or transportation coastwise, including transportation by land or water from point of origin to final destination in respect to, appertaining to, or in connection with, any and all risks or perils of navigation, transit or transportation, and while being prepared for, and while awaiting shipment, and during any delays, storage, transshipment or reshipment incident thereto, including war risks and marine builder's risks.

(3) For the purpose of paragraph one of subdivision (a), "total premiums" shall not include special risk premiums unless the special risk premium was written, procured or received in this state on property or risks located or resident in this state. "Total premiums" shall be reported on a written basis or on a paid-for basis, consistent with the basis required by the annual statement filed with the superintendent of financial services pursuant to section three hundred seven of the insurance law.

(c) Allocation of capital. (1) Business capital and investment capital. The portion of the taxpayer's business and investment capital of a taxpayer to be allocated within the state shall be determined by multiplying the amount thereof by the allocation percentage determined as provided in subdivision (a) of this section.

(2) Subsidiary capital. The portion of the taxpayer's subsidiary capital to be allocated within the state shall be determined by multiplying the amount of subsidiary capital invested in each subsidiary during the period covered by its return (or, in the case of any such capital so invested during only a portion of such period, such portion of such capital) by the percentage, if any, of the entire capital, or the issued capital stock, or the net income, as the case may be, of such subsidiary required to be allocated within the state on the return or returns, if any, required of such subsidiary under this chapter for the preceding year, and adding the sums so obtained.

(d) If it shall appear to the tax commission that the income allocation percentage determined as hereinabove provided does not properly reflect the activity, business or income of a taxpayer within the state, the tax commission shall be authorized, in its discretion, to adjust it by:

(1) excluding one or more factors therein;

(2) including one or more other factors therein, such as expenses, purchases, receipts other than premiums, real property or tangible personal property;

(3) or any other similar or different method calculated to effect a fair and proper allocation of the income and capital reasonably attributable to the state. The tax commission from time to time shall publish all rulings of general public interest with respect to any application of the provisions of this subdivision.

§ 1505. Limitation on tax. (a) (1) Domestic, foreign and alien insurance corporations except life insurance corporations. Notwithstanding the provisions of sections fifteen hundred one and fifteen hundred ten of this article, and except as otherwise provided in paragraph two of this subdivision, the amount of taxes imposed under such sections for taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-seven and before January first, two thousand three, computed without regard to any credits allowable against such tax other than those credits provided under subdivisions (g) and (h) of section fifteen hundred eleven of this article, shall not exceed an amount computed as if such taxes were determined solely under section fifteen hundred ten, except that for purposes of the limitation provided herein, the rate of tax under such section shall be deemed to be (i) two and six-tenths percent for taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-seven and before July first, two thousand, (ii) two and four tenths percent for taxable years beginning after June thirtieth, two thousand and before July first, two thousand one, (iii) two and two tenths percent for taxable years beginning after June thirtieth, two thousand one and before July first, two thousand two, and (iv) two percent for taxable years beginning after June thirtieth, two thousand two.

(2) Domestic, foreign and alien life insurance corporations. The provisions of this paragraph shall apply to taxpayers subject to tax under paragraph one of subdivision (b) of section fifteen hundred ten of this article. Notwithstanding the provisions of sections fifteen hundred one and fifteen hundred ten of this article, the amount of taxes imposed under such sections for taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-seven, computed without regard to any credits allowable against such tax other than those credits provided under subdivisions (g) and (h) of section fifteen hundred eleven of this article, shall not exceed an amount computed as if such taxes were determined solely under section fifteen hundred ten, except that for purposes of the limitation provided herein, the rate of tax under such section shall be deemed to be (i) two and six-tenths percent for taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-seven and before January first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight, and (ii) two percent for taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of sections fifteen hundred one and fifteen hundred ten of this article, in the case of taxpayers subject to tax under subdivision (b) of section fifteen hundred ten, the total amount of tax imposed under this article, computed before the application of any credits allowable against such tax, shall in no event be less than the amount computed as if such tax was determined solely under section fifteen hundred ten, except that the rate of tax under section fifteen hundred ten shall be deemed to be one and five-tenths percent.

(c) For purposes of the limitation set forth in subdivision (a) of this section, in the case of an insurance corporation more than ninety-five percent of whose premiums are received as consideration for annuity contracts or are for policies and insurance described in paragraph two of subdivision (c) of section fifteen hundred ten of this article, in determining the amount of tax computed solely under section fifteen hundred ten of this article, gross direct premiums subject to tax under such section shall include such amounts received as consideration for annuity contracts and premiums for policies and insurance, including any separate costs assessed by such insurance corporation upon its policyholders, described in paragraph two of subdivision (c) of such section that exceed ninety-five percent of all premiums received, including consideration for annuity contracts and premiums for policies and insurance (and any separate costs assessed by such insurance corporations upon its policyholders) described in paragraph two of subdivision (c) of such section.

§ 1505-a. Metropolitan transportation business tax surcharge on insurance corporations.

(a) (1) Every domestic insurance corporation and every foreign or alien insurance corporation, and every life insurance corporation described in subdivision (b) of section fifteen hundred one of this article, for the privilege of exercising its corporate franchise, or of doing business, or of employing capital, or of owning or leasing property in the metropolitan commuter transportation district in a corporate or organized capacity, or of maintaining an office in the metropolitan commuter transportation district, except corporations specified in subdivision (c) of section fifteen hundred twelve of this article, shall annually pay, in addition to the taxes otherwise imposed by this article, a tax surcharge on the taxes imposed under this article after the deduction of any credits otherwise allowable under this article as allocated to such district. Such taxes shall be allocated to such district for purposes of computing such tax surcharge upon taxpayers subject to tax under subdivision (b) of section fifteen hundred ten of this article by applying the methodology, procedures and computations set forth in subdivisions (a) and (b) of section fifteen hundred four of this article, except that references to terms denoting New York premiums, and total wages, salaries, personal service compensation and commissions within New York shall be read as denoting within the metropolitan commuter transportation district and terms denoting total premiums and total wages, salaries, personal service compensation and commissions shall be read as denoting within the state. If it shall appear to the commissioner that the application of the methodology, procedures and computations set forth in such subdivisions (a) and (b) does not properly reflect the activity, business or income of a taxpayer within the metropolitan commuter transportation district, then the commissioner shall be authorized, in the commissioner's discretion, to adjust such methodology, procedures and computations for the purpose of allocating such taxes by:

(A) excluding one or more factors therein;

(B) including one or more other factors therein, such as expenses, purchases, receipts other than premiums, real property or tangible personal property; or

(C) any other similar or different method which allocates such taxes by attributing a fair and proper portion of such taxes to the metropolitan commuter transportation district. The commissioner from time to time shall publish all rulings of general public interest with respect to any application of the provisions of the preceding sentence. The commissioner may promulgate rules and regulations to further implement the provisions of this section.

(2) Such taxes shall be allocated to such district for purposes of computing such tax surcharge upon taxpayers subject to tax under section fifteen hundred two-a of this article pursuant to a fraction, the denominator of which shall be the direct premiums subject to tax under section fifteen hundred ten of this article, and the numerator of which shall be the direct premiums subject to tax under section fifteen hundred ten of this article that are written on risks located or resident in the metropolitan commuter transportation district, including premiums written, procured or received in the metropolitan commuter transportation district on business that cannot be specifically assigned as located or resident in an area of New York state outside the metropolitan commuter transportation district, or in another state or states; provided, however, in the case of special risk premiums, the numerator shall include only those premiums written, procured or received in the metropolitan commuter transportation district on property or risks located or resident in the metropolitan commuter transportation district. If it shall appear to the commissioner that the application of the methodology, procedures and computations set forth in this paragraph does not properly reflect the activity, business or income of a taxpayer within the metropolitan commuter transportation district, then the commissioner shall be authorized, in the commissioner's discretion, to adjust such methodology, procedures and computations for the purpose of allocating such taxes by: (A) excluding the factor therein and including one or more other factors such as expenses, purchases, receipts other than premiums, real property or tangible personal property; or (B) any other similar or different method which allocates such taxes by attributing a fair and proper portion of such taxes to the metropolitan commuter transportation district. The commissioner from time to time shall publish all rulings of general public interest with respect to any application of the provisions of the preceding sentence. The commissioner may promulgate rules and regulations to further implement the provisions of this section.

(3) Such tax surcharge shall be computed at the rate of seventeen percent of the taxes imposed under sections fifteen hundred one, fifteen hundred two-a, and fifteen hundred ten of this article, as limited or otherwise determined by subdivision (a) or (b) of section fifteen hundred five of this article, as allocated to such district, after the deduction of any credits otherwise allowable under this article. Provided however, that for taxable years commencing on or after July first, two thousand, and in the case of taxpayers subject to tax under section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, for taxable years of such taxpayers beginning on or after July first, two thousand and before January first, two thousand three, such surcharge shall be calculated as if (i) the rate of the tax computed under paragraph one of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two of this article was nine percent and (ii) the rate of the limitation on tax set forth in section fifteen hundred five of this article for domestic, foreign and alien insurance corporations except life insurance corporations was two and six-tenths percent.

(b) The term metropolitan commuter transportation district as used in this section shall be defined pursuant to section twelve hundred sixty-two of the public authorities law.

(c) Notwithstanding any contrary provisions of state or local law, the tax surcharge imposed under this section shall not be allowed as a deduction in the computation of any state or local tax imposed under this chapter or any chapter or local law. The credits set forth in section fifteen hundred eleven of this article shall not be allowed against the tax surcharge imposed by this section.

(d) (1) If, by the laws of any state other than this state, or by the action of any public official of such other state, any insurer organized or domiciled in this state, or the duly authorized agents thereof, subject to the business tax surcharge imposed by this section shall be required to pay taxes for the privilege of doing business in such other state which taxes are imposed or assessed because of the taxes imposed or assessed under this section, in computing the tax imposed by this section a credit shall be allowed for taxes paid to other states, which credit shall be determined pursuant to the provisions of this section; provided, however, the credit allowed any insurer under this subdivision shall in no event be greater than the tax surcharge payable by such insurer pursuant to this section for the taxable year with respect to which such amount has been imposed or assessed by such other states.

(2) In addition to any other requirements of this article, an insurer claiming a credit under this subdivision shall attach to the returns required pursuant to this section and section fifteen hundred fifteen of this article a computation identifying the credit attributable to taxes paid to other states because of the tax surcharge imposed by this section, which credit shall be further broken down to reflect amounts and taxable years to which the retaliatory taxes giving rise to the credit relate. The credit attributable to taxes paid to other states because of the tax surcharge imposed by this section shall be the difference between: (i) the credit which would be claimed by the insurer pursuant to subdivision (c) of section fifteen hundred eleven of this chapter if the tax surcharge imposed by this section were permitted in the computation of such credit, and (ii) the credit which is claimed by such insurer pursuant to such subdivision (c).

(3) To the extent not inconsistent with the provisions of this subdivision, the provisions of paragraphs four and five of subdivision (c) of section fifteen hundred eleven of this chapter shall apply with respect to the credit allowed under this subdivision.

(4) No credit against taxes paid to other jurisdictions under subdivision (c) of section fifteen hundred eleven of this article shall be allowed for any taxes paid under this section by any domestic insurance corporation, including life insurance corporations subject to tax under this section.

(e) The provisions concerning returns under section fifteen hundred fifteen of this article shall be applicable to this section, except that for purposes of an automatic extension for six months for filing a return covering the tax surcharges imposed by this section, such automatic extension shall be allowed only if a taxpayer files with the commissioner an application for extension in such form and manner as said commissioner may prescribe by regulation and such taxpayer pays on or before the date of such filing in addition to any other amounts required under this article, either ninety percent of the entire tax required to be paid under this section for the applicable period, or not less than the tax surcharge shown on the taxpayer's return for the preceding taxable year, if such preceding taxable year was a taxable year of twelve months. The tax surcharge imposed by this section shall be payable to the commissioner in full at the time the return is required to be filed, and such tax surcharge or the balance thereof, imposed on any taxpayer which ceases to exercise its franchise or be subject to the tax surcharge imposed by this section shall be payable to the commissioner at the time the return is required to be filed, provided such tax surcharge of such domestic, foreign or alien insurance corporation including life insurance corporations, as described in subdivision (b) of section fifteen hundred one of this article, shall be subject to adjustment as the circumstances may require; all other tax surcharges of any such taxpayer, which pursuant to the foregoing provisions of this section would otherwise be payable subsequent to the time such return is required to be filed, shall nevertheless be payable at such time. All of the provisions of this article presently applicable are applicable to the tax surcharge imposed by this section.

§ 1510. Additional franchise tax on insurance corporations. (a)

Domestic, foreign and alien insurance corporations except life insurance corporations. Except as hereinafter provided, for taxable years beginning before January first, two thousand three every domestic insurance corporation, every foreign insurance corporation and every alien insurance corporation, other than such corporations transacting the business of life insurance, (1) authorized to transact business in this state under a certificate of authority from the superintendent of financial services or (2) which is a risk retention group as defined in subsection (n) of section five thousand nine hundred two of the insurance law, shall, for the privilege of exercising corporate franchises or for carrying on business in a corporate or organized capacity within this state, and in addition to any other taxes imposed for such privilege, pay a tax on all gross direct premiums, less return premiums thereon, written on risks located or resident in this state. The rate of tax imposed by this subdivision shall be two percent on premiums written on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-four and before January first, nineteen hundred seventy-five, one and nine-tenths percent on premiums written on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-five and before January first, nineteen hundred seventy-six, one and eight-tenths percent on premiums written on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-six and before January first, nineteen hundred seventy-eight, one and two-tenths percent on premiums written on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-eight and before January first, nineteen hundred ninety-two and one and three-tenths percent on premiums written on and after such date. Provided, however, that the rate of tax imposed by this subdivision on all gross direct premiums, less return premiums thereon, for accident and health insurance contracts shall be one and six-tenths percent for such premiums written on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-four and before January first, nineteen hundred seventy-eight, and one percent for such premiums written on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-eight.

(b) Domestic, foreign and alien life insurance corporations. (1) Except as hereinafter provided, every domestic life insurance corporation, and every foreign and alien life insurance corporation authorized to transact business in this state under a certificate of authority from the superintendent of financial services, shall, for the privilege of exercising corporate franchises or for carrying on business in a corporate or organized capacity within this state, and in addition to any other taxes imposed for such privilege, pay a tax on all gross direct premiums, less return premiums thereon, received in cash or otherwise on risks resident in this state, including supplemental contracts for total and permanent disability benefits and accidental death benefits. The rate of such tax shall be (i) one and six-tenths percent on such premiums received on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-four and before January first, nineteen hundred seventy-eight, (ii) one percent on such premiums received on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-eight and before January first, nineteen hundred eighty-seven, (iii) eight-tenths percent on such premiums received on or after January first, nineteen hundred eighty-seven and before January first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight, and (iv) seven-tenths percent on such premiums received on or after January first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight.

(2) Every such life insurance corporation which shall obtain a certificate of authority to transact business in this state or a renewal of such certificate from the superintendent of financial services shall, upon the expiration of such certificate for any cause or upon its ceasing to transact new business in this state, continue to pay a tax upon its business remaining in force in this state at the rate and as computed in this subdivision.

(c) Determination of direct premiums--general provisions. (1) The term "premium" includes all amounts received as consideration for insurance contracts, reinsurance contracts or contracts with health maintenance organizations for health services, other than for annuity contracts, and shall include premium deposits, assessments, policy fees, membership fees, any separate costs by carriers assessed upon their policyholders and every other compensation for such contract. In ascertaining the amount of direct premiums upon which a tax is payable under this section there shall be first determined the amount of total gross premiums or deposit premiums or assessments, less returns thereon, on all policies, certificates, renewals, policies subsequently cancelled, insurance and reinsurance executed, issued or delivered on property or risks located or resident in this state, including premiums for reinsurance assumed, and also including premiums written, procured or received in this state on business which cannot specifically be allocated or apportioned and reported as taxable premiums or which have been used as a measure of a tax on business of any other state or states. Provided however, in the case of special risk premiums, direct premiums shall include only those premiums written, procured or received in this state on property or risks located or resident in this state. The reporting of premiums for the purpose of the tax imposed by this section shall be on a written basis or on a paid-for basis consistent with the basis required by the annual statement filed with the superintendent of financial services pursuant to section three hundred seven of the insurance law.

(2) The term "gross direct premiums," as used in this section, shall not include premiums for policies issued pursuant to section four thousand two hundred thirty-six of the insurance law and premiums for insurance upon hulls, freights, or disbursements, or upon goods, wares, merchandise and all other personal property and interests therein, in the course of exportation from, importation into any country, or transportation coastwise, including transportation by land or water from point of origin to final destination in respect to, appertaining to, or in connection with, any and all risks or perils of navigation, transit or transportation, and while being prepared for, and while awaiting shipment, and during any delays, storage, transshipment or reshipment incident thereto, including war risks and marine builder's risks. The term "gross direct premiums," as used in this section, also shall not include any premiums that this state is prohibited from taxing pursuant to federal law, including (i) subsection (f) of section 8909 of title 5 of the united states code, (ii) subsection (g) of section 1395w-24 of title 42 of the united states code, (iii) subsection (g) of section 1395w-112 of title 42 of the United States code, and (iv) subparagraph (B) of paragraph (4) of subsection (k) of section 1395mm of title 42 of the United States code.

(3) After determining the amount of total gross premiums, less returns thereon, as hereinbefore provided, there shall be deducted the following items:

(A) Such premiums, less return premiums thereon, which have been received by way of reinsurance from corporations or other insurers authorized to transact business in this state;

(B) Such premiums, less return premiums thereon, which have been received by way of reinsurance from corporations or other insurers not authorized to transact business in this state to the extent that such premiums relate to transactions (i) that are authorized by section two thousand one hundred five of the insurance law with respect to excess line insurance, and (ii) with respect to which sums are payable by licensed excess line brokers to the superintendent of financial services pursuant to section two thousand one hundred eighteen of the insurance law; and

(C) Dividends on such direct business, including unused or unabsorbed portions of premium deposits paid or credited to policyholders, but not including deferred dividends paid in cash to policyholders on maturing policies, nor cash surrender values.

(4) In determining the amount of direct premiums taxable in this state, all such premiums written, procured or received in this state shall be deemed written on property or risks located or resident in this state except such premiums as are properly allocated or apportioned and reported as taxable premiums or which have been used as a measure of a tax of any other state or states, provided however, in the case of special risk premiums, direct premiums shall include only those premiums written, procured or received in this state on property or risks located or resident in this state.

(e) Powers and duties of the superintendent of financial services.

(1) The superintendent of financial services shall, on behalf of the commissioner, have the power, duty and responsibility to examine returns of an insurance corporation filed with him pursuant to section fifteen hundred fifteen and, together with any other information within his possession or that may come into his possession, to ascertain the correct amount of tax imposed under this section of any insurance corporation. For the purpose of ascertaining the correctness of any such tax imposed under this section or for the purpose of making an estimate of the tax liability under this section of any insurance corporation, the superintendent shall have the power to examine or cause to have examined by any agent or representative designated by him for that purpose, any books, papers, records or memoranda bearing upon the matters required to be included in the return.

(2) If the superintendent of financial services ascertains that the amount of tax imposed under this section as shown on the return of any insurance corporation is less than the amount of tax disclosed by his or her examination, he or she shall propose, in writing, to the commissioner the issuance of a notice of deficiency for the amount due. If an insurance corporation fails to file a return with the superintendent of financial services within the time required for the filing of such return (with regard to any extension of time for the filing thereof), the superintendent of financial services shall make an estimate of the amount of tax due for the period in respect to which such insurance corporation failed to file the return. The estimate shall be made from any available information which is in the possession or may come into the possession of the superintendent of financial services and he shall propose, in writing, to the commissioner the issuance of a notice of deficiency for the amount of such estimated tax. Any proposal pursuant to this paragraph shall set forth the basis thereof and the details of its computation.

(3) The commissioner shall, on receipt of a proposal from the superintendent of financial services pursuant to paragraph two of this subdivision, review such proposal and if satisfied as to the correctness thereof shall take appropriate action under this chapter for the assessment and collection of the amount of tax, together with interest and penalties, either shown by such proposal to be due or which the commissioner ascertains to be due. The provisions of this subdivision shall not in any way be deemed to limit the power of the commissioner to conduct such examination, or investigation as it deems necessary in order to carry out its duties with respect to the taxes imposed under this section.

(4) Subject to the consent of the superintendent of financial services and notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, the commissioner may delegate such other of his or her powers and duties with respect to the administration and collection of the taxes imposed under this section to the superintendent of financial services, as the commissioner finds necessary in order to facilitate such administration and collection.

§ 1511. Credits. (a) Credit for certain other premium taxes. In computing the tax imposed by this article there shall be allowed a credit for the amount of taxes paid or accrued by the taxpayer during the taxable year on premiums for any insurance against loss or damage by fire under section nine thousand one hundred four or section nine thousand one hundred five of the insurance law or under the charters of the cities of Buffalo or New York; provided, however, that any unused credit remaining may not be carried over to any other year.

(b) Credit against reciprocal taxes imposed by this state. In assessing taxes under the reciprocal provisions of section one thousand one hundred twelve of the insurance law, credit shall be allowed for any taxes paid under this article.

(c) Credit for certain taxes payable to other jurisdictions. (1) If, by the laws of any state other than this state, or by the action of any public official of such other state, any insurer organized or domiciled in this state, or the duly authorized agents thereof, shall be required to pay taxes for the privilege of doing business in such other state and such amounts are imposed or assessed because the taxes which are or would be imposed under this chapter and the insurance law upon insurers organized or domiciled in such other state are greater than those required of insurers organized or domiciled in this state by the laws of such other state for the privilege of doing business therein, then and in every case, to the extent such amounts are legally due to such other states, an insurer organized or domiciled in this state may claim a credit, as hereinafter provided, against the tax payable pursuant to this article of a sum not to exceed ninety per cent of such amount. Provided, such credit shall in no event be greater than the tax payable pursuant to this article during the taxable year with respect to which such amount has been imposed or assessed by such other states. For purposes of this section, the term "taxes for the privilege of doing business" shall include, but shall not be limited to, a tax on or measured by income.

(2) A credit may be claimed for the amount computed as provided in paragraph one of this subdivision, on the return required pursuant to section fifteen hundred fifteen, against the tax imposed pursuant to this article for the taxable year in which such amount shall be paid. To the extent such credit shall exceed the amount payable pursuant to section fifteen hundred sixteen of this article for the taxable year against which the credit is allowed, the difference between the amount allowed as a credit and the tax payable pursuant to section fifteen hundred sixteen shall be credited or refunded by the tax commission, without interest.

(3) The credit allowed pursuant to this subdivision shall be in addition to the credits allowed pursuant to subdivisions (a) and (b) of this section.

(4) The superintendent of financial services and the tax commission shall examine claims for credit or refund made under this subdivision. If the superintendent of financial services or the tax commission shall determine that any amount for which a credit shall have been claimed was not legally due to another state or that an error exists in the amount of credit shown on such return, or the amount claimed as a refund or refunded, the tax commission shall take appropriate action under this chapter for the assessment and collection of any tax resulting from the disallowance of a claim for credit made under this subdivision or to disallow any such claim for refund.

(5) Any taxpayer which commences an action or proceeding in any state or federal court to contest the validity of any assessment made against the taxpayer by another state pursuant to a statute similar to section one thousand one hundred twelve of the insurance law or any other statute or regulation of another state under which retaliatory taxes or other charges are imposed or assessed against such taxpayer shall give the state tax commission and the superintendent of financial services written notice of the commencement of such action or proceeding within five days after such commencement.

(d) Credit relating to eligible business facilities. (1) On or after April first, nineteen hundred eighty-three, for taxable years beginning before January first, two thousand, a credit against the tax imposed by this article shall be allowed only to an insurance corporation owning or operating an eligible business facility where such corporation has received a certificate of eligibility for tax credits, or a renewal or extension thereof, for such facility from the New York state job incentive board prior to April first, nineteen hundred eighty-three, or has received a certificate of eligibility for tax credits, or a renewal or extension thereof, for such facility from the state tax commission subsequent to such date pursuant to paragraph eight of this subdivision, and only with respect to such facility, to be computed as hereinafter provided.

(2) The amount of the credit allowable in any taxable year shall be the sum determined by multiplying the tax otherwise due by a percentage to be determined by:

(A) ascertaining the percentage which the total of eligible property values during the taxable year, as defined in paragraph four of this subdivision, bears to the average value of all real and tangible personal property connected with the insurance corporation and located within the state, during such year. For the purposes of this subparagraph only, real and tangible personal property connected with the insurance corporation shall include not only such property owned by the insurance corporation but also property rented to it, and the value of rented property shall be deemed to be eight times the net annual rental rate, that is, the annual rental rate paid by the insurance corporation less any annual rental rate received by it from subrentals.

(B) ascertaining the percentage which the total wages, salaries and other personal service compensation during the taxable year to employees, except general executive officers, serving in jobs created or retained in an eligible area (as the term "eligible area" was defined by section one hundred fifteen of the commerce law as it existed on March thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-three) by such business facility, bears to the total wages, salaries and other personal service compensation during such taxable year of such insurance corporation's employees within the state, except general executive officers.

(C) adding together the percentages so determined and dividing the result by two; provided, however, that if no wages, salaries or other personal service compensation was paid or incurred by the insurance corporation during such year to employees in this state, subparagraph (B) of this paragraph shall be disregarded and the amount of credit allowable shall be determined by multiplying the tax otherwise due by the percentage specified in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph.

(3) In no event shall the credit herein provided for be allowed in an amount which will reduce the tax payable to less than the minimum fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two of such chapter.

(4) (A) Eligible property values, for the purposes of this subsection, shall include such part of the value of depreciable real and tangible personal property included in an eligible business facility as represents:

(i) expenditures paid or incurred by the taxpayer for capital improvements consisting of the construction, reconstruction, erection or improvement of real property included in an eligible business facility, which construction, reconstruction, erection or improvement was commenced on or after July first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight and expenditures paid or incurred by the taxpayer for the acquisition of real property, included in an eligible business facility, on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-seven.

(ii) in the case of real property leased by the taxpayer from another party, eight times the portion of the net annual rental rate attributable to such expenditures paid or incurred by the lessor for such construction, reconstruction, erection or improvement commenced on or after July first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight and, with respect to real property leased by the taxpayer from another party on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-seven, eight times any remaining portion of the net annual rental rate.

(iii) expenditures paid or incurred by the taxpayer for the purchase of tangible personal property, other than vehicles, included in an eligible business facility, provided such property was purchased on or after July first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight; and

(iv) in the case of tangible personal property, other than vehicles, leased by the taxpayer from another party and included in an eligible business facility, eight times the net annual rental rate, provided the period for which such property was leased by the taxpayer began on or after July first, nineteen hundred sixty-eight.

(B) Provided, however, eligible property values for purposes of this subsection shall not include expenditures paid or incurred more than one year prior to the filing of an application for a certificate of eligibility pursuant to section one hundred nineteen of the commerce law, as such section existed on March thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-three.

(5) The total of all credits allowed pursuant to this subdivision in any taxable year or years with reference to any eligible business facility shall not exceed the total eligible property values included in such facility.

(6) If a credit is allowed for any taxable year as herein provided on the basis of a certificate of eligibility, and if such certificate is revoked or modified, the taxpayer shall report such revocation or modification in its report for the taxable year during which it occurs and the tax commission shall recompute such credit and may assess any additional tax resulting from such recomputation within the time fixed by paragraph nine of subsection (c) of section ten hundred eighty-three of this chapter.

(7) If a business facility owned or operated by an insurance corporation shall be an eligible business facility for only part of a taxable year, the credit allowed by this subdivision shall be prorated according to the period such facility was an eligible business facility, and if the total of the eligible property values shall have changed during any taxable year, a pro-rata adjustment shall be made in computing such credit.

(8) The state tax commission shall be empowered, on or after April first, nineteen hundred eighty-three, to issue a certificate of eligibility for tax credits to a taxpayer for an eligible business facility with regard to which such taxpayer has, prior to July first, nineteen hundred eighty-three, received from the New York state job incentive board initial approval of an application for such certificate by such board as evidenced by the minutes of the meeting of the board at which such application was approved, or a letter of intent authorized by section 102.4 of part one hundred two of title five of the codes, rules and regulations of the state of New York regarding such certificate of eligibility and to renew, extend, revoke or modify a certificate of eligibility for tax credits, pursuant to section one hundred twenty of the commerce law as such section existed on March thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-three.

(9) For purposes of the requirement for eligibility for the credit allowed under this subdivision that a business facility create or retain not less than five jobs as provided in subdivision (c) of section one hundred eighteen of the commerce law as such section existed on March thirty-first, nineteen hundred eighty-three, a business facility shall have (i) created not less than five jobs only if the number of jobs for the taxable year exceeds the number of jobs at the time of the commencement of the project as stated on its application for initial approval by five or more; or (ii) retained not less than five jobs only if initial approval was based on the retention of five or more jobs and (A) the number of jobs for the taxable year is at least equal to the number of jobs at the time of the commencement of the project as stated on its application for initial approval or (B) where initial approval was based on the retention of fewer jobs than the number of jobs at the time of the commencement of the project as stated on its application for initial approval, the number of jobs for the taxable year is at least equal to the number approved for retention. For purposes of this paragraph, the phrase "initial approval was based on the retention of five or more jobs" shall mean that such initial approval was given by the job incentive board to an applicant that had not stated in its application for initial approval that it would increase the number of jobs at its facility by at least five.

(e) Mortgage recording tax credit. (1) A taxpayer shall be allowed a credit, to be credited against the tax imposed by this article. The amount of the credit shall be the amount of the special additional mortgage recording tax paid by the taxpayer pursuant to the provisions of subdivision one-a of section two hundred fifty-three of this chapter on mortgages recorded on and after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-nine. Provided, however, no credit shall be allowed with respect to a mortgage of real property principally improved or to be improved by one or more structures containing in the aggregate not more than six residential dwelling units, each dwelling unit having its own separate cooking facilities, where the real property is located in one or more of the counties comprising the metropolitan commuter transportation district and where the mortgage is recorded on or after May first, nineteen hundred eighty-seven. Provided, however, no credit shall be allowed with respect to a mortgage of real property principally improved or to be improved by one or more structures containing in the aggregate not more than six residential dwelling units, each dwelling unit having its own separate cooking facilities, where the real property is located in the county of Erie and where the mortgage is recorded on or after May first, nineteen hundred eighty-seven.

(2) In no event shall the credit herein provided for be allowed in an amount which will reduce the tax payable to less than the minimum tax fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two of this article or section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, whichever is applicable. If, however, the amount of credit allowable under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the tax to such amount, any amount of credit not deductible in such taxable year may be carried over to the following year or years and may be deducted from the taxpayer's tax for such year or years.

(f) Credit relating to life and health insurance guaranty corporation assessments. (1) Allowance of credit. For taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand twenty-four, a credit shall be allowed against the tax imposed pursuant to this article (other than section fifteen hundred five-a of this article) as hereinafter provided.

(2) Amount of credit. The amount of the credit for each taxpayer shall equal the amount shown on the certificate of tax credit, or the amounts shown on such certificates, issued to such taxpayer pursuant to section seven thousand seven hundred twelve of the insurance law. With respect to each such certificate, the amount of the credit must be claimed in the taxable year that begins in the calendar year that such certificate is issued.

(3) Carryover. The credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall not reduce the tax due for such year to less than the minimum fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two of this article or section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, whichever is applicable. However, if the amount of credit allowable under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the tax to such amount, any amount of credit not deductible in such taxable year may be carried over to the following year or years and may be deducted from the taxpayer's tax for such year or years.

(4) Eligibility. To be eligible for the credit, the taxpayer shall have been issued a certificate, or certificates, of tax credit by the department of financial services pursuant to section seven thousand seven hundred twelve of the insurance law, each of which certificates shall set forth the amount of the credit that may be claimed and the certificate date. A taxpayer that is a partner in a partnership, member of a limited liability company or shareholder in a subchapter S corporation that has received a certificate, or certificates, of tax credit shall be allowed its pro rata share of the credit earned by the partnership, limited liability company or subchapter S corporation.

(5) Tax return requirement. The taxpayer is required to include with its tax return in the form prescribed by the commissioner, proof of receipt of its certificate, or certificates, of tax credit issued by the department of financial services.

(6) Information sharing. Notwithstanding any provision of this chapter, employees of the department of financial services and the department shall be allowed and are directed to share and exchange:

(A) information regarding the credit allowed or claimed pursuant to this subdivision and taxpayers that are claiming the credit; and

(B) information contained in or derived from credit claim forms submitted to the department. All information exchanged between the department of financial services and the department shall not be subject to public disclosure or inspection under article six of the public officers law.

(7) Credit recapture. If a certificate of tax credit issued by the department of financial services under section seven thousand seven hundred twelve of the insurance law is revoked by such department, the amount of credit described in this subdivision and claimed by the taxpayer prior to such revocation shall be added back to tax in the taxable year in which any such revocation becomes final. If an amount of credit on any such certificate of tax credit is modified by the department of financial services, the difference between the amount of credit described in this subdivision and claimed by the taxpayer prior to such modification and the modified amount shall be added back to tax in the taxable year in which any such modification becomes final.

(8) Net assessments. No amount of any net assessments paid by such taxpayer included as the basis for the calculation of the amount shown on any such certificate shall be the basis for any other tax credit under this chapter.

(g) Empire zone wage tax credit. (1) A taxpayer shall be allowed a credit, to be computed as hereinafter provided, against the tax imposed by this article where the taxpayer has been certified pursuant to article eighteen-B of the general municipal law. The amount of the credit shall be as prescribed in paragraph four hereof.

(2) For purposes of this subdivision, the following terms shall have the following meanings: (A) "Empire zone wages" means wages paid by the taxpayer for full-time employment, other than to general executive officers, during the taxable year, in an area designated or previously designated as an empire zone or zone equivalent area pursuant to article eighteen-B of the general municipal law, where such employment is in a job created in the area (i) during the period of its designation as an empire zone, (ii) within four years of the expiration of such designation, or (iii) during the ten year period immediately following the date of designation as a zone equivalent area, provided, however, that if the taxpayer's certification under article eighteen-B of the general municipal law is revoked with respect to an empire zone or zone equivalent area, any wages paid by the taxpayer, on or after the effective date of such decertification, for employment in such zone shall not constitute empire zone wages.

(B) "Targeted employee" means a New York resident who receives empire zone wages and who is (i) an eligible individual under the provision of the targeted jobs tax credit (section fifty-one of the internal revenue code), (ii) eligible for benefits under the provisions of the workforce investment act as a dislocated worker or a low-income individual (P.L. 105-220, as amended), (iii) a recipient of public assistance benefits, (iv) an individual whose income is below the most recently established poverty rate promulgated by the United States department of commerce, or a member of a family whose family income is below the most recently established poverty rate promulgated by the appropriate federal agency or (v) an honorably discharged member of any branch of the armed forces of the United States.

An individual who satisfies the criteria set forth in clause (i), (ii), (iv) or (v) at the time of initial employment in the job with respect to which the credit is claimed, or who satisfies the criterion set forth in clause (iii) at such time or at any time within the previous two years, shall be a targeted employee so long as such individual continues to receive empire zone wages.

(C) "Average number of individuals, excluding general executive officers, employed full-time" shall be computed by ascertaining the number of such individuals employed by the taxpayer on the thirty-first day of March, the thirtieth day of June, the thirtieth day of September and the thirty-first day of December during each taxable year or other applicable period, by adding together the number of such individuals ascertained on each of such dates and dividing the sum so obtained by the number of such dates occurring within such taxable year or other applicable period.

(3) The credit provided for herein shall be allowed only where the average number of individuals, excluding general executive officers, employed full-time by the taxpayer in (i) the state and, (ii) the empire zone or area previously constituting such zone or zone equivalent area, during the taxable year exceeds the average number of such individuals employed full-time by the taxpayer in (i) the state and (ii) such zone or area subsequently or previously constituting such zone or such zone equivalent area, respectively, during the four years immediately preceding the first taxable year in which the credit is claimed with respect to such zone or area. Where the taxpayer provided full-time employment within (i) the state or (ii) such zone or area during only a portion of such four-year period, then for purposes of this paragraph the term "four years" shall be deemed to refer instead to such portion, if any.

The credit shall be allowed only with respect to the first taxable year during which payments of empire zone wages are made and the conditions set forth in this paragraph are satisfied, and with respect to each of the four taxable years next following (but only, with respect to each of such years, if such conditions are satisfied), in accordance with paragraph four of this subdivision. Subsequent certifications of the taxpayer pursuant to article eighteen-B of the general municipal law, at the same or a different location in the same empire zone or zone equivalent area or at a location in a different empire zone or zone equivalent area, shall not extend the five taxable year time limitation on the allowance of the credit set forth in the preceding sentence. Provided, further, however, that no credit shall be allowed with respect to any taxable year beginning more than four years following the taxable year in which designation as an empire zone expired or more than ten years after the designation as a zone equivalent area.

(4) The amount of the credit shall equal the sum of

(A) the product of three thousand dollars and the average number of individuals (excluding general executive officers) employed full-time by the taxpayer, computed pursuant to the provisions of subparagraph (C) of paragraph two of this subdivision, who (i) received empire zone wages for more than half of the taxable year,

(ii) received, with respect to more than half of the period of employment by the taxpayer during the taxable year, an hourly wage which was at least one hundred thirty-five percent of the minimum wage specified in section six hundred fifty-two of the labor law, and

(iii) are targeted employees; and

(B) the product of fifteen hundred dollars and the average number of individuals (excluding general executive officers and individuals described in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph) employed full-time by the taxpayer, computed pursuant to the provisions of subparagraph (C) of paragraph two of this subdivision, who received empire zone wages for more than half of the taxable year.

(C) For purposes of calculating the amount of the credit, individuals employed within an empire zone or zone equivalent area within the immediately preceding sixty months by a related person, as such term is defined in subparagraph (c) of paragraph three of subsection (b) of section four hundred sixty-five of the internal revenue code, shall not be included in the average number of individuals described in subparagraph (A) or subparagraph (B) of this paragraph, unless such related person was never allowed a credit under this subdivision with respect to such employees. For the purposes of this subparagraph, a "related person" shall include an entity which would have qualified as a "related person" to the taxpayer if it had not been dissolved, liquidated, merged with another entity or otherwise ceased to exist or operate.

(D) If a taxpayer is certified in an empire zone designated under subdivision (a) or (d) of section nine hundred fifty-eight of the general municipal law, the dollar amounts specified under subparagraph (A) or (B) of this paragraph shall be increased by five hundred dollars for each qualifying individual under such subparagraph who received, during the taxable year, wages in excess of forty thousand dollars.

(E) The requirement in this paragraph that an employee must receive empire zone wages for more than half the taxable year shall not apply in the first taxable year of a taxpayer satisfying the criteria set forth in this subparagraph. In such a case, the credit allowed under this subdivision shall be computed by utilizing the number of individuals (excluding general executive officers) employed full time by the taxpayer on the last day of its first taxable year. A taxpayer shall satisfy the following criteria: (i) such taxpayer acquired real or tangible personal property during its first taxable year from an entity which is not a related person (as such term is defined in subdivision (g) of section fourteen of this chapter); (ii) the first taxable year of such taxpayer shall be a short taxable year of not more than seven months in duration; and (iii) the number of individuals employed full-time on the last day of such first taxable year shall be at least one hundred ninety and substantially all of such individuals must have been previously employed by the entity from whom such enterprise purchased its assets.

Provided, further, however, that the credit provided for herein with respect to the taxable year, and carryovers of such credit to the taxable year, deducted from the tax otherwise due, may not, in the aggregate, exceed fifty percent of (i) in the case of taxpayers subject to tax under subdivision (b) of section fifteen hundred ten of this article, the lesser of (I) the limitation on tax computed pursuant to subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred five, or (II) the greater of the sum of the taxes imposed under sections fifteen hundred one and fifteen hundred ten or the amount of tax computed pursuant to subdivision (b) of section fifteen hundred five, or (ii) for all other insurance corporations, the tax imposed under section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, computed without regard to any credit provided for under this article.

(5) The credit or carryovers of such credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall not, in the aggregate, reduce the tax due for such year to less than the minimum tax fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two of this article or by section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, whichever is applicable. However, if the amount of credit or carryovers of such credit, or both, allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the tax to such amount, or if any part of the credit or carryovers of such credit may not be deducted from the tax otherwise due by reason of the final sentence in paragraph four hereof, any amount of credit or carryovers of such credit thus not deductible in such taxable year may be carried over to the following year or years and may be deducted from the taxpayer's tax for such year or years.

(5-a) Any carry over of a credit from prior taxable years will not be allowed if an empire zone retention certificate is not issued pursuant to subdivision (w) of section nine hundred fifty-nine of the general municipal law to the empire zone enterprise which is the basis of the credit.

(g-1) Hire a vet credit. (1) Allowance of credit. For taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand fifteen and before January first, two thousand twenty-nine, a taxpayer shall be allowed a credit, to be computed as provided in this subdivision, against the tax imposed by this article, for hiring and employing, for not less than twelve continuous and uninterrupted months (hereinafter referred to as the twelve-month period) in a full-time or part-time position, a qualified veteran within the state. The taxpayer may claim the credit in the year in which the qualified veteran completes the twelve-month period of employment by the taxpayer. If the taxpayer claims the credit allowed under this subdivision, the taxpayer may not use the hiring of a qualified veteran that is the basis for this credit in the basis of any other credit allowed under this article.

(2) Qualified veteran. A qualified veteran is an individual:

(A) who served on active duty in the United States army, navy, air force, space force, marine corps, coast guard or the reserves thereof, or who served in active military service of the United States as a member of the army national guard, air national guard, New York guard or New York naval militia, or who served in the active uniformed services of the United States as a member of the commissioned corps of the national oceanic and atmospheric administration or the commissioned corps of the United States public health service; who (i) was released from active duty by general or honorable discharge, or (ii) has a qualifying condition, as defined in section one of the veterans' services law, and has received a discharge other than bad conduct or dishonorable from such service, or (iii) is a discharged LGBT veteran, as defined in section one of the veterans' services law, and has received a discharge other than bad conduct or dishonorable from such service;

(B) who commences employment by the qualified taxpayer on or after January first, two thousand fourteen, and before January first, two thousand twenty-eight; and

(C) who certifies by signed affidavit, under penalty of perjury, that he or she has not been employed for thirty-five or more hours during any week in the one hundred eighty day period immediately prior to his or her employment by the taxpayer.

(3) Employer prohibition. An employer shall not discharge an employee and hire a qualifying veteran solely for the purpose of qualifying for this credit.

(4) Amount of credit. The amount of the credit shall be fifteen percent of the total amount of wages paid to the qualified veteran during the veteran's first twelve-month period of employment. Provided, however, that, if the qualified veteran is a disabled veteran, as defined in paragraph (b) of subdivision one of section eighty-five of the civil service law, the amount of the credit shall be twenty percent of the total amount of wages paid to the qualified veteran during the veteran's first twelve-month period of employment. The credit allowed pursuant to this subdivision shall not exceed in any taxable year: (i) fifteen thousand dollars for any qualified veteran, other than a disabled veteran, employed in a full-time position for one thousand eight hundred twenty or more hours in one twelve-month period, (ii) twenty thousand dollars for any qualified veteran who is a disabled veteran employed in a full-time position for one thousand eight hundred twenty or more hours in one twelve-month period, (iii) seven thousand five hundred dollars for any qualified veteran, other than a disabled veteran, employed in a part-time position for at least one thousand forty hours but not more than one thousand eight hundred nineteen hours in one twelve-month period, and (iv) ten thousand dollars for any qualified veteran who is a disabled veteran employed in a part-time position for at least one thousand forty hours but not more than one thousand eight hundred nineteen hours in one twelve-month period.

(5) Carryover. The credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall not reduce the tax due for such year to less than the amount prescribed in paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two of this article or the minimum tax prescribed in section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, whichever is applicable. However, if the amount of credit allowable under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the tax to such amount, any amount of credit not deductible in such taxable year may be carried over to the following three years and may be deducted from the taxpayer's tax for such year or years.

(h) Empire zone capital credit. (1) A taxpayer shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this article. The amount of the credit shall be equal to twenty-five percent of the sum of the following investments and contributions made during the taxable year and certified by the commissioner of economic development: (A) for taxable years beginning before January first, two thousand five, qualified investments made in, or contributions in the form of donations made to, one or more empire zone capital corporations established pursuant to section nine hundred sixty-four of the general municipal law prior to January first, two thousand five, (B) qualified investments in certified zone businesses which during the twelve month period immediately preceding the month in which such investment is made employed full-time within the state an average number of individuals, excluding general executive officers, of two hundred fifty or fewer, computed pursuant to the provisions of subparagraph (C) of paragraph two of subsection (g) of this section, except for investments made by or on behalf of an owner of the business, including, but not limited to, a stockholder, partner or sole proprietor, or any related person, as defined in subparagraph (C) of paragraph three of subsection (b) of section four hundred sixty-five of the internal revenue code, and (C) contributions of money to community development projects as defined in regulations promulgated by the commissioner of economic development. "Qualified investments" means the contribution of property to a corporation in exchange for original issue capital stock or other ownership interest, the contribution of property to a partnership in exchange for an interest in the partnership, and similar contributions in the case of a business entity not in corporate or partnership form in exchange for an ownership interest in such entity. The total amount of credit allowable to a taxpayer under this provision for all years, taken in the aggregate, shall not exceed three hundred thousand dollars, and shall not exceed one hundred thousand dollars with respect to the investments and contributions described in each of subparagraphs (A), (B) and (C) of this paragraph.

(2) The credit and carryover of such credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall not, in the aggregate, reduce the tax due for such year to less than the minimum fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two of this article or by section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, whichever is applicable. However, if the amount of credit or carryovers of such credit, or both, allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the tax to such amount, or if any part of the credit or carryovers of such credit may not be deducted from the tax otherwise due by reason of the final sentence of this paragraph, any amount of credit or carryovers of such credit thus not deductible in such taxable year may be carried over to the following year or years and may be deducted from the tax for such year or years. In addition, the amount of such credit, and carryovers of such credit to the taxable year, deducted from the tax otherwise due may not, in the aggregate, exceed fifty percent of (i) in the case of taxpayers subject to tax under subdivision (b) of section fifteen hundred ten of this article, the lesser of (I) the limitation on tax computed pursuant to subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred five, or (II) the greater of the sum of the taxes imposed under sections fifteen hundred one and fifteen hundred ten or the amount of tax computed pursuant to subdivision (b) of section fifteen hundred five, or (ii) for all other insurance corporations, the tax imposed under section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, computed without regard to any credit provided for under this article.

(2-a) Any carry over of a credit from prior taxable years will not be allowed to an empire zone enterprise which is the basis of the credit, if an empire zone retention certificate is not issued to such entity pursuant to subdivision (w) of section nine hundred fifty-nine of the general municipal law.

(3) Where the stock, partnership interest or other ownership interest arising from a qualified investment as described in subparagraphs (A) and (B) of paragraph one of this subdivision is disposed of, the taxpayer's entire net income shall be computed, pursuant to regulations promulgated by the commissioner, so as to properly reflect the reduced cost thereof arising from the application of the credit provided for herein.

(4)(A) Where a taxpayer sells, transfers or otherwise disposes of corporate stock, a partnership interest or other ownership interest arising from the making of a qualified investment which was the basis, in whole or in part, for the allowance of the credit provided for under this subdivision, or where a contribution or investment which was the basis for such allowance is in any manner, in whole or in part, recovered by such taxpayer, and such disposition or recovery occurs during the taxable year or within thirty-six months from the close of the taxable year with respect to which such credit is allowed, subparagraph (B) of this paragraph shall apply.

(B) The taxpayer shall add back with respect to the taxable year in which the disposition or recovery described in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph occurred the required portion of the credit originally allowed.

(C) The required portion of the credit originally allowed shall be the product of (i) the portion of such credit attributable to the property disposed of or the payment or contribution recovered and (ii) the applicable percentage.

(D) The applicable percentage shall be:

(i) one hundred percent, if the disposition or recovery occurs within the taxable year with respect to which the credit is allowed or within twelve months of the end of such taxable year,

(ii) sixty-seven percent, if the disposition or recovery occurs more than twelve but not more than twenty-four months after the end of the taxable year with respect to which the credit is allowed, or

(iii) thirty-three percent, if the disposition or recovery occurs more than twenty-four but not more than thirty-six months after the end of the taxable year with respect to which the credit is allowed.

(5) If the designation of an area as an empire zone is no longer in effect because the designations of all empire zones pursuant to article eighteen-B of the general municipal law have expired, a taxpayer that has made a contribution of money on or before the day immediately preceding the day the empire zones expired to a community development project approved by the commissioner of economic development shall be deemed eligible to claim the empire zone capital credit under subparagraph (C) of paragraph one of this subdivision for additional contributions made prior to April first, two thousand fourteen and certified by the commissioner of economic development to that community development project as payment of a commitment made by the taxpayer to that community development project before the empire zones expired.

(i) Credit for certain other taxes payable to other jurisdictions. (1) If, by the laws of any state other than this state, or by the action of any public official of such other state, an insurer organized or domiciled in this state, or the duly authorized agents thereof, shall be required to pay taxes for the privilege of doing business in such other state, which taxes are imposed or assessed because of amounts imposed upon and required to be paid by insurers organized or domiciled in such other state pursuant to section twenty-eight hundred seven-t of the public health law, then and in every case, to the extent such taxes are legally due to such other state, such insurer organized or domiciled in this state may claim a credit, as hereinafter provided, against the tax payable pursuant to this article of a sum not to exceed ninety per cent of such amount. Provided, such credit shall in no event be greater than the tax payable pursuant to this article during the taxable year with respect to which such taxes have been imposed or assessed by such other state. For purposes of this section, the term "taxes for the privilege of doing business" shall include, but shall not be limited to, a tax on or measured by income.

(2) A credit may be claimed for the amount computed as provided in paragraph one of this subdivision, on the return required pursuant to section fifteen hundred fifteen, against the tax imposed pursuant to this article for the taxable year in which such amount shall be paid. To the extent such credit shall exceed the amount payable pursuant to section fifteen hundred sixteen for the taxable year against which the credit is allowed, the difference between the amount allowed as a credit and the tax payable pursuant to section fifteen hundred sixteen shall be credited or refunded by the commissioner, without interest.

(3) The credit allowed pursuant to this subdivision shall be in addition to the credits allowed pursuant to subdivisions (a), (b) and (c) of this section.

(4) The superintendent of financial services and the commissioner shall examine claims for credit or refund made under this subdivision. If the superintendent of financial services or the commissioner shall determine that any tax for which a credit shall have been claimed was not legally due to another state or that an error exists in the amount of credit shown on such return or in the amount claimed as a refund or refunded, the commissioner shall take appropriate action under this chapter for the assessment and collection of any tax resulting from the disallowance of a claim for credit made under this subdivision or to disallow any such claim for refund.

(5) Any taxpayer which commences an action or proceeding in any state or federal court to contest the validity of any assessment made against the taxpayer by another state pursuant to a statute similar to section one thousand one hundred twelve of the insurance law or any other statute or regulation of another state under which retaliatory taxes or other charges are imposed or assessed against such taxpayer shall give the commissioner and the superintendent of financial services written notice of the commencement of such action or proceeding within five days after such commencement.

(6) The commissioner shall report annually, on or before the first day of March, on the amount of credits claimed pursuant to this subdivision on returns filed during the preceding calendar year. Such report shall be provided to the director of the budget, the commissioner of health and the superintendent of financial services.

(7) In addition to any other requirements of this article, an insurer claiming a credit under this subdivision shall attach to the returns required pursuant to section fifteen hundred fifteen a computation identifying the credit attributable to taxes paid to other states because of the amounts imposed and required to be paid pursuant to section twenty-eight hundred seven-t of the public health law, which credit shall be further broken down to reflect amounts and taxable years to which the retaliatory taxes giving rise to the credit relate.

(j) Credit for employment of persons with disabilities. (1) Allowance of credit. A taxpayer shall be allowed a credit, to be computed as hereinafter provided, against the tax imposed by this article, for employing within the state a qualified employee.

(2) Qualified employee. A qualified employee is an individual:

(A) who is certified by the education department, or in the case of an individual who is blind or visually handicapped, by the state agency responsible for provision of vocational rehabilitation services to the blind and visually handicapped: (i) as a person with a disability which constitutes or results in a substantial handicap to employment and (ii) as having completed or as receiving services under an individualized written rehabilitation plan approved by the education department or other state agency responsible for providing vocational rehabilitation services to such individual; and

(B) who has worked on a full-time basis for the employer who is claiming the credit for at least one hundred eighty days or four hundred hours.

(3) Amount of credit. Except as provided in paragraph four of this subdivision, the amount of credit shall be thirty-five percent of the first six thousand dollars in qualified first-year wages earned by each qualified employee. "Qualified first-year wages" means wages paid or incurred by the taxpayer during the taxable year to qualified employees which are attributable, with respect to any such employee, to services rendered during the one-year period beginning with the day the employee begins work for the taxpayer.

(4) Credit where federal work opportunity tax credit applies. With respect to any qualified employee whose qualified first-year wages under paragraph three of this subdivision also constitute qualified first-year wages for purposes of the work opportunity tax credit for vocational rehabilitation referrals under section fifty-one of the internal revenue code, the amount of credit under this subdivision shall be thirty-five percent of the first six thousand dollars in qualified second-year wages earned by each such employee. "Qualified second-year wages" means wages paid or incurred by the taxpayer during the taxable year to qualified employees which are attributable, with respect to any such employee, to services rendered during the one-year period beginning one year after the employee begins work for the taxpayer.

(5) Carryover. The credit and carryovers of such credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall not, in the aggregate, reduce the tax due for such year to less than the minimum tax fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two of this article or by section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, whichever is applicable. However, if the amount of credit or carryovers of such credit, or both, allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the tax to such amount, then any amount of credit or carryovers of such credit thus not deductible in such taxable year may be carried over to the following year or years and may be deducted from the taxpayer's tax for such year or years.

(6) Coordination with federal work opportunity tax credit. The provisions of sections fifty-one and fifty-two of the internal revenue code, as such sections applied on October first, nineteen hundred ninety-six, that apply to the work opportunity tax credit for vocational rehabilitation referrals shall apply to the credit under this subdivision to the extent that such sections are consistent with the specific provisions of this subdivision, provided that in the event of a conflict the provisions of this subdivision shall control.

(k) Credit for certain investments in certified capital companies. (1) A taxpayer shall be allowed a credit, to be computed as hereinafter provided, against the tax imposed by this article. The amount of the credit shall be equal to one hundred percent of an investment of certified capital in a certified capital company program made by the taxpayer pursuant to section eleven of this chapter.

(2) Ten percent of such credit shall be allowed in the taxable year to which such investment is allocated pursuant to subdivision (h) of section eleven of this chapter and in each of the nine following taxable years. In addition, in any taxable year subsequent to the taxable year for which such investment is so allocated, any amount carried forward under paragraphs three and four of this subdivision may be carried forward indefinitely until such credits are utilized.

(3) No credit allowable pursuant to this subdivision shall reduce the tax payable under this article to less than the minimum tax fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two of this article or by section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, whichever is applicable. If, however, the amount of credit allowable under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the tax to such amount, any amount of credit not taken in such taxable year may be carried over to the following year or years and may be deducted from the taxpayer's tax for such year or years.

(4) If for any taxable year the credit allowable under paragraph two of this subdivision exceeds such minimum tax for such taxable year, then the amount by which such credit exceeds such minimum tax liability shall be carried forward as a credit under paragraph two of this subdivision to the following year or years and may be deducted from the taxpayer's tax for such year or years.

(5) Decertification of a certified capital company from a certified capital company program shall cause the disallowance and the recapture of the credit allowed under paragraph one of this subdivision, as follows:

(A) Decertification of a certified capital company from a certified capital company program within two years of its starting date prior to meeting the requirements of subparagraph (A) of paragraph one of subdivision (c) of section eleven of this chapter shall cause disallowance of one hundred percent of the credit allowed under paragraph one of this subdivision with respect to such certified capital company program and the recapture of any portion of such credit that was previously taken.

(B) Decertification of a certified capital company from a certified capital company program which, having met all requirements of subparagraph (A) of paragraph one of subdivision (c) of section eleven of this chapter, subsequently fails to meet the requirements for continued certification under the provisions of subparagraph (B) of such paragraph one, shall cause the disallowance of eighty-five percent of the credit allowed under paragraph one of this subdivision with respect to such certified capital company program and recapture of any portion of such credit in excess of fifteen percent that was previously taken.

(C) Decertification of a certified capital company from a certified capital company program which, having met all requirements of subparagraphs (A) and (B) of paragraph one of subdivision (c) of section eleven of this chapter, subsequently fails to meet the requirements for continued certification under the provisions of subparagraph (C) of such paragraph one, shall cause the disallowance of seventy percent of the credit allowed under paragraph one of this subdivision with respect to such certified capital company program and the recapture of any portion of such credit in excess of thirty percent that was previously taken.

(D) Decertification of a certified capital company from a certified capital company program pursuant to paragraph two of subdivision (e) of section eleven of this chapter, other than on the grounds of the failure of such certified capital company to meet the requirements of subparagraphs (A), (B) or (C) of paragraph one of subdivision (c) of such section, shall not cause the disallowance of any of the credits allowed under paragraph one of this subdivision with respect to such certified capital company program, nor the recapture of any portion of such credits that was previously taken.

(E) If, after twelve years after a certified capital company receives an investment of certified capital under certified capital company program four and any subsequent program, such certified capital company has failed to invest one hundred percent of its certified capital allocable to such certified capital company program in qualified investments, such certified capital company shall be required to pay to the department, for deposit in the general fund, an amount equal to two times the amount of net profits on qualified investments as required under paragraph five of subdivision (d) of section eleven of this chapter at such subsequent time when it has fully invested one hundred percent and has begun to make a distribution of its net profits; provided that such requirement shall not apply to a certified capital company in which at least fifty percent of the voting stock, capital, membership interests, or other beneficial ownership interests, as the case may be, are owned by an entity that is managed, directly or indirectly, by a non-profit corporation. This amount of payment to the department shall not be reduced by the amount set forth in paragraph six of subdivision (d) of section eleven of this chapter, and a certified capital company making a payment under this paragraph shall not be eligible to create a fund pursuant to such paragraph six of subdivision (d) of section eleven of this chapter for that particular certified capital company program.

(6) Revocation of certification from a certified capital company program pursuant to subdivision (f) of section eleven of this chapter, before the later of (i) the third anniversary of the certification date of the certified capital company or (ii) the date on which the certified capital company satisfies the requirements of subparagraph (C) of paragraph one of subdivision (c) of section eleven of this chapter, shall cause disallowance of one hundred percent of the credit allowed under paragraph one of this subdivision with respect to such certified capital company program and the recapture of any portion of such credit that was previously taken.

(7) No credit shall be allowed in any tax year in which the taxpayer shall, individually or with or through one or more affiliates, be a managing general partner of or underwrite or control the direction of investments of a certified capital company for which the credit was allowed under paragraph one of this subdivision. This provision shall not preclude a certified investor, insurance company or any other party from exercising its legal rights and remedies (which may include interim management of a certified capital company) in the event that a certified capital company is in default of its statutory obligations or its contractual obligations to such certified investor, insurance company or other party or from monitoring the certified capital company to ensure its compliance with section eleven of this chapter or disallowing any investments that have not been approved by the superintendent pursuant to subparagraph (D) of paragraph one of subdivision (c) of such section eleven. For purposes of this paragraph, affiliate shall mean a business entity in which the taxpayer holds at least a ten percent beneficial interest.

(8) A certified investor allowed a credit against its state tax liability earned through an investment in a certified capital company shall not be required to pay any additional retaliatory tax levied pursuant to section eleven hundred twelve of the insurance law as a result of claiming such credit.

(9) A taxpayer is permitted to transfer or sell tax credits allowed under this subdivision, in whole or in part, to any affiliate within an affiliated group of taxpayers, who are subject to tax in this state under this article. Such transfer or sale shall not affect the time schedule for claiming the credit transferred or sold. Any credit recaptured shall be the liability of the taxpayer who actually claimed the credit. The claim of a transferee shall be permitted in the same manner and subject to the same provisions and limitations of section eleven of this chapter as applied to the taxpayer to whom the credit was originally allowed. For purposes of this paragraph, the term "affiliated group" shall have the same meaning as described in section fifteen hundred four of the internal revenue code, without exclusion for a company listed under paragraph two of subsection (b) of section fifteen hundred four of the internal revenue code, except that the references to "at least eighty percent" in such section fifteen hundred four shall be read as "more than fifty percent". Whenever a taxpayer transfers or sells a tax credit pursuant to this paragraph, such taxpayer shall notify the department and the department of financial services of such transfer or sale within forty-five days.

(l) Credit for purchase of an automated external defibrillator. A taxpayer shall be allowed a credit as hereinafter provided, against the tax imposed by this article for the purchase, other than for resale, of an automated external defibrillator, as such term is defined in section three thousand-b of the public health law. The amount of the credit shall be the cost to the taxpayer of automated external defibrillators purchased during the taxable year, such credit not to exceed five hundred dollars with respect to each unit purchased. The credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall not reduce the tax due for such year to less than the minimum tax fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two of this article or by section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, whichever is applicable.

(m) (1) A taxpayer shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this article equal to twenty percent of the premium paid during the taxable year for long-term care insurance. In order to qualify for such credit, the taxpayer's premium payment must be for the purchase of or for continuing coverage under a long-term care insurance policy that qualifies for such credit pursuant to section one thousand one hundred seventeen of the insurance law.

(2) In no event shall the credit herein provided for be allowed in an amount which will reduce the tax payable to less than the minimum tax fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two of this article or by section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, whichever is applicable. If, however, the amount of credit allowable under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the tax to such amount, any amount of credit not deductible in such taxable year may be carried over to the following year or years and may be deducted from the taxpayer's tax for such year or years.

(n) Low-income housing credit. (1) Allowance of credit. A taxpayer shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this article with respect to the ownership of eligible low-income buildings, computed as provided in section eighteen of this chapter.

(2) Application of credit. The credit and carryovers of such credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall not, in the aggregate, reduce the tax due for such year to less than the minimum tax fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two of this article or by section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, whichever is applicable. However, if the amount of credit or carryovers of such credit, or both, allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the tax to such amount, then any amount of credit or carryovers of such credit thus not deductible in such taxable year may be carried over to the following year or years and may be deducted from the taxpayer's tax for such year or years.

(3) Credit recapture. For provisions requiring recapture of credit, see subdivision (b) of section eighteen of this chapter.

(o) Green building credit. (1) Allowance of credit. A taxpayer shall be allowed a credit, to be computed as provided in section nineteen of this chapter, against the taxes imposed by this article.

(2) Carryover. The credit and carryovers of such credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall not, in the aggregate, reduce the tax due for such year to less than the minimum tax fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two of this article or by section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, whichever is applicable. However, if the amount of credit or carryovers of such credit, or both, allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the tax to such amount, then any amount of credit or carryovers of such credit thus not deductible in such taxable year may be carried over to the following year or years and may be deducted from the taxpayer's tax for such year or years.

(p) Credit for transportation improvement contributions. (1) Allowance of credit. A taxpayer shall be allowed a credit, to be computed as provided in section twenty of this chapter, against the taxes imposed by this article.

(2) Application of credit. The credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall not reduce the tax due for such year to less than the minimum tax fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two of this article or by section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, whichever is applicable. However, if the amount of credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the tax to such amount, then any amount of credit thus not deductible in such taxable year shall be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded in accordance with the provisions of section ten hundred eighty-six of this chapter. Provided, however, the provisions of subsection (c) of section ten hundred eighty-eight of this chapter notwithstanding, no interest shall be paid thereon.

(3) Credit recapture. For provisions requiring recapture of credit, see subdivision (c) of section twenty of this chapter.

(q) Investment tax credit (ITC). (1) A taxpayer shall be allowed a credit, to be computed as hereinafter provided, against the tax imposed by this article. Provided, however, a taxpayer shall not be allowed such credit provided by this subdivision unless (A) eighty percent or more of the employees performing the administrative and support functions resulting from or related to the qualifying uses of such equipment are located in this state, or (B) the average number of employees that perform the administrative and support functions resulting from or related to the qualifying uses of such equipment and are located in this state during the taxable year for which the credit is claimed is equal to or greater than ninety-five percent of the average number of employees that perform these functions and are located in this state during the thirty-six months immediately preceding the year for which the credit is claimed, or (C) the number of employees located in this state during the taxable year for which the credit is claimed is equal to or greater than ninety percent of the number of employees located in this state on December thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight or, if the taxpayer was not a calendar year taxpayer in nineteen hundred ninety-eight, the last day of its first taxable year ending after December thirty-first, nineteen hundred ninety-eight. If the taxpayer becomes subject to tax in this state after the taxable year beginning in nineteen hundred ninety-eight, then the taxpayer is not required to satisfy the employment test provided in the preceding sentence of this subparagraph for its first taxable year. For purposes of subparagraph (C) of this paragraph the employment test will be based on the number of employees located in this state on the last day of the first taxable year the taxpayer is subject to tax in this state. If the uses of the property must be aggregated to determine whether the property is principally used in qualifying uses, then either each affiliate using the property must satisfy this employment test or this employment test must be satisfied through the aggregation of the employees of the taxpayer, its affiliated regulated broker, dealer, and registered investment adviser using the property. The amount of the credit shall be the percent provided for herein below of the investment credit base. The investment credit base is the cost or other basis for federal income tax purposes of tangible personal property and other tangible property, including buildings and structural components of buildings, described in paragraph two of this subdivision, less the amount of the nonqualified nonrecourse financing with respect to such property to the extent such financing would be excludible from the credit base pursuant to section 46(c)(8) of the Internal Revenue Code (treating such property as section thirty-eight property irrespective of whether or not it in fact constitutes section thirty-eight property). If, at the close of a taxable year following the taxable year in which such property was placed in service, there is a net decrease in the amount of nonqualified nonrecourse financing with respect to such property, such net decrease shall be treated as if it were the cost or other basis of property described in paragraph two of this subdivision acquired, constructed, reconstructed or erected during the year of the decrease in the amount of nonqualified nonrecourse financing. In the case of a combined return, the term investment credit base shall mean the sum of the investment credit base of each corporation included on such return. The percentage to be used to compute the credit allowed pursuant to this subdivision shall be five percent with respect to the first three hundred fifty million dollars of the investment credit base, and four percent with respect to the investment credit base in excess of three hundred fifty million dollars.

(2) A credit shall be allowed under this subdivision with respect to tangible personal property and other tangible property, including buildings and structural components of buildings, which are: depreciable pursuant to section one hundred sixty-seven of the Internal Revenue Code, have a useful life of four years or more, are acquired by purchase as defined in section one hundred seventy-nine (d) of the Internal Revenue Code, have a situs in this state and are (A) principally used in the ordinary course of the taxpayer's trade or business as a broker or dealer in connection with the purchase or sale (which shall include but not be limited to the issuance, entering into, assumption, offset, assignment, termination, or transfer) of stocks, bonds or other securities as defined in section four hundred seventy-five (c)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code, or of commodities as defined in section four hundred seventy-five (e) of the Internal Revenue Code, or (B) principally used in the ordinary course of the taxpayer's trade or business of providing investment advisory services for a regulated investment company as defined in section eight hundred fifty-one of the Internal Revenue Code, or lending, loan arrangement or loan origination services to customers in connection with the purchase or sale (which shall include but not be limited to the issuance, entering into, assumption, offset, assignment, termination, or transfer) of securities as defined in section four hundred seventy-five (c)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code. For purposes of subparagraphs (A) and (B) of this paragraph, property purchased by a taxpayer affiliated with a regulated broker, dealer or registered investment adviser is allowed a credit under this subdivision if the property is used by its affiliated regulated broker, dealer or registered investment adviser in accordance with this subdivision. For purposes of determining if the property is principally used in qualifying uses, the uses by the taxpayer described in subparagraphs (A) and (B) of this paragraph may be aggregated. In addition, the uses by the taxpayer, its affiliated regulated broker, dealer and registered investment adviser under either or both of such subparagraphs may be aggregated.

(3) A taxpayer shall not be allowed a credit under this subdivision with respect to tangible personal property and other tangible property, including buildings and structural components of buildings, which it leases to any other person or corporation except where a taxpayer leases property to an affiliated broker, dealer, or registered investment adviser that uses such property in accordance with subparagraph (A) or (B) of paragraph two of this subdivision. For purposes of the preceding sentence, any contract or agreement to lease or rent or for a license to use such property shall be considered a lease.

(4) Except as otherwise provided in this paragraph, the credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall not reduce the tax due for such year to less than the amount fixed as a minimum tax by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two of this article or by section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, whichever is applicable. However, if the amount of credit allowable under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the tax to such amount, any amount of credit allowed for a taxable year may be carried over to the fifteen taxable years next following such taxable year and may be deducted from the taxpayer's tax for such year or years. In lieu of such carryover, any such taxpayer which qualifies as a new business under paragraph seven of this subdivision may elect to treat the amount of such carryover as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded in accordance with the provisions of section one thousand eighty-six of this chapter, provided, however, the provisions of subsection (c) of section one thousand eighty-eight of this chapter notwithstanding no interest shall be paid thereon.

(5) At the option of the taxpayer an eligible business facility for which a credit is allowed under subdivision (d) of this section may be treated as property (A) principally used in the ordinary course of the taxpayer's trade or business as a broker or dealer in connection with the purchase or sale (which shall include but not be limited to the issuance, entering into, assumption, offset, assignment, termination, or transfer) of stocks, bonds or other securities as defined in section four hundred seventy-five (c)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code, or of commodities as defined in section four hundred seventy-five (e) of the Internal Revenue Code, or (B) principally used in the ordinary course of the taxpayer's trade or business of providing investment advisory services for a regulated investment company as defined in section eight hundred fifty-one of the Internal Revenue Code, or lending, loan arrangement or loan origination services to customers in connection with the purchase or sale (which shall include but not be limited to the issuance, entering into, assumption, offset, assignment, termination, or transfer) of securities as defined in section four hundred seventy-five (c)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code provided the property otherwise qualifies under paragraph two of this subdivision, in which event a credit shall not be allowed under subdivision (d) of this section.

(6) (A) With respect to property which is depreciable pursuant to section one hundred sixty-seven of the Internal Revenue Code but is not subject to the provisions of section one hundred sixty-eight of such code and which is disposed of or ceases to be in qualified use prior to the end of the taxable year in which the credit is to be taken, the amount of the credit shall be that portion of the credit provided for in this subdivision which represents the ratio which the months of qualified use bear to the months of useful life. If property on which credit has been taken is disposed of or ceases to be in qualified use prior to the end of its useful life, the difference between the credit taken and the credit allowed for actual use must be added back in the year of disposition. Provided, however, if such property is disposed of or ceases to be in qualified use after it has been in qualified use for more than twelve consecutive years, it shall not be necessary to add back the credit as provided in this subparagraph. The amount of credit allowed for actual use shall be determined by multiplying the original credit by the ratio which the months of qualified use bear to the months of useful life. For purposes of this subparagraph, useful life of property shall be the same as the taxpayer uses for depreciation purposes when computing his federal income tax liability.

(B) Except with respect to that property to which subparagraph (D) of this paragraph applies, with respect to three-year property, as defined in subsection (e) of section one hundred sixty-eight of the Internal Revenue Code, which is disposed of or ceases to be in qualified use prior to the end of the taxable year in which the credit is to be taken, the amount of the credit shall be that portion of the credit provided for in this subdivision which represents the ratio which the months of qualified use bear to thirty-six. If property on which credit has been taken is disposed of or ceases to be in qualified use prior to the end of thirty-six months, the difference between the credit taken and the credit allowed for actual use must be added back in the year of disposition. The amount of credit allowed for actual use shall be determined by multiplying the original credit by the ratio which the months of qualified use bear to thirty-six.

(C) Except with respect to that property to which subparagraph (D) of this paragraph applies, with respect to property subject to the provisions of section one hundred sixty-eight of the Internal Revenue Code, other than three-year property as defined in subsection (e) of such section one hundred sixty-eight which is disposed of or ceases to be in qualified use prior to the end of the taxable year in which the credit is to be taken, the amount of the credit shall be that portion of the credit provided for in this subdivision which represents the ratio which the months of qualified use bear to sixty. If property on which credit has been taken is disposed of or ceases to be in qualified use prior to the end of sixty months, the difference between the credit taken and the credit allowed for actual use must be added back in the year of disposition. The amount of credit allowed for actual use shall be determined by multiplying the original credit by the ratio which the months of qualified use bear to sixty.

(D) With respect to any property to which section one hundred sixty-eight of the Internal Revenue Code applies, which is a building or a structural component of a building and which is disposed of or ceases to be in a qualified use prior to the end of the taxable year in which the credit is to be taken, the amount of the credit shall be that portion of the credit provided for in this subdivision which represents the ratio which the months of qualified use bear to the total number of months over which the taxpayer chooses to deduct the property under the Internal Revenue Code. If property on which credit has been taken is disposed of or ceases to be in qualified use prior to the end of the period over which the taxpayer chooses to deduct the property under the Internal Revenue Code, the difference between the credit taken and the credit allowed for actual use must be added back in the year of disposition. Provided, however, if such property is disposed of or ceases to be in qualified use after it has been in qualified use for more than twelve consecutive years, it shall not be necessary to add back the credit as provided in this subparagraph. The amount of credit allowed for actual use shall be determined by multiplying the original credit by the ratio which the months of qualified use bear to the total number of months over which the taxpayer chooses to deduct the property under the Internal Revenue Code.

(E) The amount required to be added back pursuant to this paragraph shall be augmented by an amount equal to the product of such amount and the underpayment rate of interest (without regard to compounding), set by the commissioner pursuant to subsection (e) of section one thousand ninety-six of this chapter, in effect on the last day of the taxable

(F) If, as of the close of the taxable year, there is a net increase with respect to the taxpayer in the amount of nonqualified nonrecourse financing (within the meaning of section 46(c)(8) of the Internal Revenue Code) with respect to any property with respect to which the credit under this subdivision was limited based on attributable nonqualified nonrecourse financing, then an amount equal to the decrease in such credit which would have resulted from reducing, by the amount of such net increase, the cost or other basis taken into account with respect to such property must be added back in such taxable year. The amount of nonqualified nonrecourse financing shall not be treated as increased by reason of a transfer of (or agreement to transfer) any evidence of an indebtedness if such transfer occurs (or such agreement is entered into) more than one year after the date such indebtedness was incurred.

(7) For purposes of paragraph four of this subdivision, a new business shall include any corporation, except a corporation which:

(A) over fifty percent of the number of shares of stock entitling the holders thereof to vote for the election of directors or trustees is owned or controlled, either directly or indirectly, by a taxpayer subject to tax under this article; section one hundred eighty-three, one hundred eighty-four, former section one hundred eighty-five or former section one hundred eighty-six of article nine; article nine-A or article thirty-two of this chapter; or

(B) is substantially similar in operation and in ownership to a business entity (or entities) taxable, or previously taxable, under this article; section one hundred eighty-three, one hundred eighty-four, one hundred eighty-five or one hundred eighty-six of article nine; article nine-A or article thirty-two of this chapter; article twenty-three of this chapter or which would have been subject to tax under such article twenty-three (as such article was in effect of January first, nineteen hundred eighty) or the income (or losses) of which is (or was) includable under article twenty-two of this chapter whereby the intent and purpose of this paragraph and paragraph four of this subdivision with respect to refunding of credit to new business would be evaded; or

(C) has been subject to tax under this article for more than five taxable years (excluding short taxable years).

(8)(A)(i) If a taxpayer is required by paragraph six of this subdivision to add back a portion of the credit taken because property was destroyed or ceased to be in qualified use as a direct result of the September eleventh, two thousand one terrorist attacks, such taxpayer may elect to defer the amount to be recaptured for all such property to the taxable year next succeeding the taxable year in which the destruction or cessation of qualified use occurred. The taxable year in which the destruction or cessation of qualified use occurred shall be hereinafter referred to as the "recapture event taxable year". If the taxpayer's total employment number in the state on the last day of taxable year next succeeding the recapture event taxable year is a significant percentage of the taxpayer's average total employment number in the state for the taxpayer's recapture event taxable year and the two taxable years immediately preceding the recapture event taxable year, then the taxpayer shall not be required to recapture any credit with respect to such property. If the taxpayer's total employment number in the state on the last day of the taxable year next succeeding the recapture event taxable year is not a significant percentage of the taxpayer's average total employment number in the state for the taxpayer's recapture event taxable year and the two taxable years immediately preceding the recapture event taxable year, the taxpayer shall be required to recapture the portion of the credit taken under this subdivision, as required by paragraph six of this subdivision, for all of its property destroyed or which ceased to be in qualified use as a direct result of the September eleventh, two thousand one terrorist attacks. The amount required to be recaptured shall be augmented as required pursuant to subparagraph (E) of paragraph six of this subdivision by using an interest rate equal to two times the rate of interest specified in such subparagraph (E) applicable for the taxable year in which the recapture occurs.

(ii) The taxpayer's total employment number shall include all employees of the taxpayer employed full-time by the taxpayer in the state. The average total employment number for the taxpayer's recapture event taxable year and the two taxable years immediately preceding the recapture event taxable year shall be computed by determining the taxpayer's total employment number on the thirty-first day of March, the thirtieth day of June, the thirtieth day of September and the thirty-first day of December during the applicable taxable years, adding together the number of such individuals determined to be so employed on each of such dates and dividing the sum so obtained by the number of such dates occurring within such applicable taxable years. However, in the case of the taxable year which included September eleventh, two thousand one, the average total employment number for such taxable year shall be determined by using the total employment number on September first, two thousand one in lieu of September thirtieth, two thousand one and, if such taxable year included December thirty-first, two thousand one, by excluding the total employment number on December thirty-first, two thousand one.

(B) In lieu of subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, a taxpayer may elect to recapture the portion of the credit taken under this subdivision, as required by paragraph six of this subdivision, for all of its property destroyed or which ceased to be in qualified use as a direct result of the September eleventh, two thousand one terrorist attacks, in the taxable year in which the destruction or cessation of qualified use occurred. If the taxpayer makes such election and acquires property (hereinafter referred to as "replacement property") to replace any property destroyed as a direct result of the September eleventh, two thousand one terrorist attacks (regardless of when such property was placed in service and whether a credit was claimed on that property pursuant to this subdivision), and such replacement property is similar or related in service or use to such destroyed property, the investment credit base of the replacement property shall be determined without regard to any basis reduction required pursuant to section 1033 of the internal revenue code.

(C) The election made by the taxpayer under subparagraph (A) or (B) of this paragraph shall be made in the manner and form prescribed by the commissioner.

(D) A taxpayer, over fifty percent of whose employees died as a direct result of the September eleventh, two thousand one terrorist attacks, may make the election provided for in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, and shall not be required to recapture any credit with respect to property which was destroyed or which ceased to be in qualified use as a direct result of such attacks, whether or not it meets the employment test specified in clause (i) of subparagraph (A) of this paragraph.

(r) QEZE credit for real property taxes. (1) Allowance of credit. A taxpayer which is a qualified empire zone enterprise shall be allowed a credit for eligible real property taxes, to be computed as provided in section fifteen of this chapter, against the tax imposed by this article.

(2) Application of credit. The credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall not reduce the tax due for such year to less than the minimum tax fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two of this article or by section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, whichever is applicable. However, if the amount of credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the tax to such amount, then any amount of credit thus not deductible in such taxable year shall be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded in accordance with the provisions of section ten hundred eighty-six of this chapter. Provided, however, the provisions of subsection (c) of section ten hundred eighty-eight of this chapter notwithstanding, no interest shall be paid thereon.

(s) QEZE tax reduction credit. (1) Allowance of credit. A taxpayer which is a qualified empire zone enterprise shall be allowed a QEZE tax reduction credit, to be computed as provided in section sixteen of this chapter, against the tax imposed by this article.

(2) Application of credit. The credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall not reduce the tax due for such year to less than the minimum tax fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two of this article or by section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, whichever is applicable.

(t) Order of credits. Notwithstanding the succeeding sentences of this subdivision, the credits provided for in subdivisions (g) and (h) of this section shall be deducted before any other credits allowable under this article, and the credit provided for in such subdivision (g) shall be deducted after the credit provided for in such subdivision (h). After application of the first sentence of this subdivision, the credits allowable under this article which cannot be carried over and which are not refundable shall be deducted first. Credits allowable under this article which can be carried over, and carryovers of such credits, shall be deducted next, and among such credits, those whose carryover is of limited duration shall be deducted before those whose carryover is of unlimited duration. Credits allowable under this article which are refundable shall be deducted last. Credits under subdivisions (g) and (h) of this section may not be deducted from the limitation on tax computed pursuant to subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred five of this article.

(u) Brownfield redevelopment tax credit. (1) Allowance of credit. A taxpayer shall be allowed a credit, to be computed as provided in section twenty-one of this chapter, against the taxes imposed by this article.

(2) Application of credit. The credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall not reduce the tax due for such year to less than the minimum fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two of this article. However, if the amount of credits allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the tax to such amount, any amount of credit thus not deductible in such taxable year shall be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded in accordance with the provisions of section ten hundred eighty-six of this chapter. Provided, however, the provisions of subsection (c) of section ten hundred eighty-eight of this chapter notwithstanding, no interest shall be paid thereon.

(v) Remediated brownfield credit for real property taxes for qualified sites. (1) Allowance of credit. A taxpayer which is a developer of a qualified site shall be allowed a credit for eligible real property taxes, to be computed as provided in subdivision (b) of section twenty-two of this chapter, against the tax imposed by this article. For purposes of this subdivision, the terms "qualified site" and "developer" shall have the same meaning as set forth in paragraphs two and three, respectively, of subdivision (a) of section twenty-two of this chapter.

(2) Application of credit. The credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall not reduce the tax due for such year to less than the minimum tax fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two of this article. However, if the amount of credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the tax to such amount, any amount of credit thus not deductible in such taxable year shall be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded in accordance with the provisions of section ten hundred eighty-six of this chapter. Provided, however, the provisions of subsection (c) of section ten hundred eighty-eight of this chapter notwithstanding, no interest shall be paid thereon.

(w) Environmental remediation insurance credit. (1) Allowance of credit. A taxpayer shall be allowed a credit, to be computed as provided in section twenty-three of this chapter, against the taxes imposed by this article.

(2) Application of credit. The credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall not reduce the tax due for such year to less than the minimum fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two or section fifteen hundred two-a of this article. However, if the amount of credits allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the tax to such amount, any amount of credit thus not deductible in such taxable year shall be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded in accordance with the provisions of section one thousand eighty-six of this chapter. Provided, however, the provisions of subsection (c) of section one thousand eighty-eight of this chapter notwithstanding, no interest shall be paid thereon.

* (x) Security training tax credit. (1) Allowance of credit. A taxpayer shall be allowed a credit, to be computed as provided in section twenty-six of this chapter, against the tax imposed by this article.

(2) Application of credit. The credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall not reduce the tax due for such year to less than the minimum fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two or section fifteen hundred two-a of this article. However, if the amount of credits allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the tax to such amount, any amount of credit thus not deductible in such taxable year shall be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded in accordance with the provisions of section one thousand eighty-six of this chapter. Provided, however, the provisions of subsection (c) of section one thousand eighty-eight of this chapter notwithstanding, no interest shall be paid thereon.

* (x) Credit for fuel cell electric generating equipment expenditures. (1) Allowance of credit. For taxable years beginning before January first, two thousand nine, a taxpayer shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this article, equal to its qualified fuel cell electric generating equipment expenditures. This credit shall not exceed one thousand five hundred dollars per generating unit with respect to any taxable year. The credit provided for in this subdivision shall be allowed with respect to the taxable year in which the fuel cell electric generating equipment is placed in service.

(2) Qualified fuel cell electric generating equipment expenditures.

(A) Qualified fuel cell electric generating equipment expenditures are the costs, incurred on or after July first, two thousand five, associated with the purchase of on-site electricity generation units utilizing proton exchange membrane fuel cells, providing a rated baseload capacity of no less than one kilowatt and no more than one hundred kilowatts of electricity, which are located in this state at the time the qualified fuel cell electric generating equipment is placed in service.

(B) Qualified fuel cell electric generating equipment expenditures shall also include costs, incurred on or after July first, two thousand five, for materials, labor for on-site preparation, assembly and original installation, engineering services, designs and plans directly related to construction or installation and utility compliance costs.

(C) Such qualified expenditures shall not include interest or other finance charges.

(D) The amount of any federal, state or local grant received by the taxpayer, which was used for the purchase and/or installation of such equipment and which was not included in the federal gross income of the taxpayer, shall not be included in the amount of such qualified expenditures.

(3) Application of credit. The credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall not reduce the tax due for such year to less than the minimum tax fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two of this article or by section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, whichever is applicable. However, if the amount of credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the tax to such amount, any amount of credit thus not deductible in such taxable year may be carried over to the following year or years and may be deducted from the taxpayer's tax for such year or years.

* (y) Credit for rehabilitation of historic properties. (1) (A) For taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand ten and before January first, two thousand thirty, a taxpayer, or a transferee of such a taxpayer as described in paragraph seven of this subdivision, shall be allowed a credit as hereinafter provided, against the tax imposed by this article, in an amount equal to one hundred percent of the amount of credit allowed the taxpayer with respect to a certified historic structure, and one hundred fifty percent of the amount of credit allowed the taxpayer with respect to a certified historic structure that is a small project, under internal revenue code section 47(c)(3), determined without regard to ratably allocating the credit over a five year period as required by subsection (a) of such section 47, with respect to a certified historic structure located within the state. Provided, however, the credit shall not exceed five million dollars. For taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand thirty, a taxpayer, or a transferee of such a taxpayer as described in paragraph seven of this subdivision, shall be allowed a credit as hereinafter provided, against the tax imposed by this article, in an amount equal to thirty percent of the amount of credit allowed the taxpayer with respect to a certified historic structure under internal revenue code section 47(c)(3), determined without regard to ratably allocating the credit over a five year period as required by subsection (a) of such section 47 with respect to a certified historic structure located within the state. Provided, however, the credit shall not exceed one hundred thousand dollars.

(B) If the taxpayer or transferee is a partner in a partnership, then the cap imposed in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph shall be applied at the entity level, so that the aggregate credit allowed to all the partners of such partnership in the taxable year does not exceed the credit cap that is applicable in that taxable year.

(2) Tax credits allowed pursuant to this subsection shall be allowed in the taxable year that the qualified rehabilitation is placed in service under section 167 of the federal internal revenue code.

(3) If the taxpayer is allowed a credit pursuant to section 47 of the internal revenue code with respect to a qualified rehabilitation that is also the subject of the credit allowed by this subdivision and that credit pursuant to such section 47 is recaptured pursuant to subsection (a) of section 50 of the internal revenue code, a portion of the credit allowed under this subdivision in the taxable year the credit was claimed must be added back by the taxpayer or transferee in the same taxable year and in the same proportion as the federal recapture.

(4) The credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall not reduce the tax due for such year to less than the minimum fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two or section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, whichever is applicable. However, if the amount of credits allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the tax to such amount, any amount of credit thus not deductible in such taxable year shall be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded in accordance with the provisions of section one thousand eighty-six of this chapter. Provided, however, the provisions of subsection (c) of section one thousand eighty-eight of this chapter notwithstanding, no interest shall be paid thereon.

(5) To be eligible for the credit allowable under this subdivision, the rehabilitation project shall be in whole or in part located within a census tract which is identified as being at or below one hundred percent of the state median family income as calculated as of April first of each year using the most recent five year estimate from the American community survey published by the United States Census bureau. If there is a change in the most recent five year estimate, a census tract that qualified for eligibility under this program before information about the change was released will remain eligible for a credit under this subdivision for an additional two calendar years. The eligibility restrictions set forth in this paragraph shall not be applicable if:

(A) a qualified rehabilitation project is undertaken within a state park, state historic site, or other land owned by the state, that is under the jurisdiction of the office of parks, recreation and historic preservation; or

(B) a qualified rehabilitation project is undertaken for the provision of affordable housing and the taxpayer has entered into a regulatory agreement with any state or federal agency or authority, or any other government entity that is authorized to engage in the financing, construction or oversight of affordable housing within such entity's jurisdiction, and where such regulatory agreement sets forth affordability requirements applicable for a period of not less than thirty years and that is binding on all successors of the taxpayer.

(6) For purposes of this subdivision "small project" means qualified rehabilitation expenditures totaling two million five hundred thousand dollars or less.

(7)(A) A taxpayer allowed a credit pursuant to this subdivision may transfer the credit, in whole or in part, to another person or entity, who shall be referred to as the transferee, without regard to how any tax credit authorized pursuant to section forty-seven of the internal revenue code with respect to a qualified rehabilitation project may be allocated and notwithstanding that such other person or entity owns no interest in the qualified rehabilitation project or in an entity with an ownership interest in the qualified rehabilitation project. A transferee may not transfer any credit, or portion thereof, acquired by transfer.

(B) A taxpayer seeking to transfer a credit allowed pursuant to this subdivision must enter into a transfer contract with the transferee. The transfer contract must specify:

(i) the building identification numbers for all buildings in the project;

(ii) the date each building was placed into service;

(iii) the schedule of years for which the transfer credit may be claimed and the amount of credit previously claimed;

(iv) the amount of consideration received by the taxpayer for the transfer credit; and

(v) the amount of credit being transferred.

(C) No transfer shall be effective unless the taxpayer allowed a credit pursuant to this subdivision and seeking to transfer the credit files a transfer application with the commissioner of parks, recreation and historic preservation prior to the transfer and such transfer application is approved. The transfer application shall include the name and federal identification numbers of the taxpayer and each proposed transferee, the amount of credit proposed to be transferred to each proposed transferee, a copy of the transfer contract, and such other information as the commissioner or the commissioner of parks, recreation and historic preservation may require. The commissioner of parks, recreation and historic preservation shall approve or deny each transfer application and, if an application is denied, shall issue a written determination to the taxpayer. If the transfer is approved, the commissioner of parks, recreation and historic preservation shall issue a transfer approval certificate that provides the name of the transferor and all transferees, the amount of credit being transferred and such other information as the commissioner of parks, recreation and historic preservation and the commissioner deem necessary. A copy of the transfer approval certificate must be attached to each transferee's tax return. The commissioner of parks, recreation and historic preservation, in consultation with the commissioner, may establish such other procedures and standards deemed necessary for the transferability of credits allowed under this subdivision.

(D) The commissioner of parks, recreation and historic preservation shall forward copies of all transfer applications and attachments thereto and approval certificates to the commissioner within thirty days after the transfer is approved.

(E) A taxpayer allowed a credit pursuant to section forty-seven of the internal revenue code with respect to a qualified rehabilitation that is also the subject of the credit allowed by this subdivision shall remain solely liable for all obligations and liabilities imposed on the taxpayer with respect to the credit allowed by this subdivision, none of which shall apply to a party to whom the credit has been subsequently transferred.

* (dd) Recovery tax credit. (1) Allowance of credit. A taxpayer that is a qualified employer pursuant to section 32.38 of the mental hygiene law that has received a certificate of tax credit from the commissioner of the office of alcoholism and substance abuse services shall be allowed a credit against the tax imposed by this article equal to the amount shown on such certificate of tax credit. A taxpayer that is a partner in a partnership or member of a limited liability company that has been certified by the commissioner of the office of alcoholism and substance abuse services as a qualified employer pursuant to section 32.38 of the mental hygiene law shall be allowed its pro rata share of the credit earned by the partnership or limited liability company.

(2) Application of credit. The credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year shall not reduce the tax due for such year to less than the minimum tax fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two of this article or by section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, whichever is applicable. However, if the amount of credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the tax to such amount, then any amount of credit thus not deductible in such taxable year shall be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded in accordance with the provisions of section one thousand eighty-six of this chapter. Provided, however, the provisions of subsection (c) of section one thousand eighty-eight of this chapter notwithstanding, no interest shall be paid thereon.

(3) Tax return requirement. The taxpayer shall be required to attach to its tax return in the form prescribed by the commissioner, proof of receipt of its certificate of tax credit issued by the commissioner of the office of alcoholism and substance abuse services pursuant to section 32.38 of the mental hygiene law.

(ee) Child care creation and expansion tax credit. (1) Allowance of credit. A taxpayer shall be allowed a credit, to be computed as provided in section forty-eight of this chapter, against the tax imposed by this article.

(2) Application of credit. The credit allowed under this subdivision shall not reduce the tax due for such year to be less than the minimum fixed by paragraph four of subdivision (a) of section fifteen hundred two or section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, whichever is applicable. However, if the amount of the credit allowed under this subdivision for any taxable year reduces the taxpayer's tax to such amount, any amount of credit thus not deductible will be treated as an overpayment of tax to be credited or refunded in accordance with the provisions of section one thousand eighty-six of this chapter. Provided, however, the provisions of subsection (c) of one thousand eighty-eight of this chapter notwithstanding, no interest shall be paid thereon.

§ 1512. Exemptions. (a) This article shall not apply to:

(1) the government of the United States, or of any state or municipality thereof, or any instrumentality of any such government;

(2) any charitable, religious, missionary, educational or philanthropic non-stock corporation that would have been excepted from the classification of the business of insurance by section nine of the insurance law in effect immediately prior to January first, nineteen hundred forty, or any person, firm, corporation or association that would have been exempted from the provisions of article six of such insurance law by section two hundred fourteen thereof, or exempted from the provisions of article seven of such insurance law by section two hundred forty-five thereof;

(3) any retirement system or pension fund which does exclusively an annuity business;

(4) any non-profit medical expense indemnity or hospital service corporation organized under article forty-three of the insurance law;

(5) any incorporated or unincorporated fraternal benefit society, or in the event of (i) the conversion of any such society into a mutual life insurance company or (ii) the reinsurance of the business of such society by the superintendent of financial services pursuant to an order of liquidation, the premiums payable under insurance benefit certificates issued by such society prior to the conversion or reinsurance;

(6) any corporation for the insurance of domestic animals on the cooperative or assessment plan, organized under the laws of this state; and

(7) a town or county cooperative insurance corporation as heretofore contemplated by section one hundred eighty-seven of this chapter in effect immediately prior to January first, nineteen hundred seventy-four.

(8) any not-for-profit voluntary employees' beneficiary association which is exempt from federal income tax pursuant to section 501 (c) (9) of the United States internal revenue code, the members of which are employees or the beneficiaries or dependents of the employees of a single employer or an affiliated group of employers. For purposes of this paragraph, an affiliated group shall mean one or more chains of corporations connected through stock ownership with a common parent if (i) eighty percent or more of the voting stock of each corporation other than the common parent is owned directly by one or more of the other corporations and (ii) eighty percent or more of the voting stock of at least one of the corporations other than the common parent is owned directly by the common parent.

(9) any nonprofit property/casualty insurance company organized pursuant to section six thousand seven hundred three of the insurance law.

(10) any nonprofit health maintenance organization required to obtain a certificate of authority under article forty-four of the public health law.

(b) The tax imposed by section fifteen hundred ten shall not apply to:

(1) any insurance on property or risks located or resident outside the state of New York written by a fire or life insurance company organized and operated, without profit to any private shareholder or individual, exclusively for the purpose of aiding and strengthening charitable, religious, missionary, educational or philanthropic institutions, by issuing insurance and annuity contracts only to or for the benefit of such institutions, to individuals engaged in the services of such institutions, and to members of the immediate families of such individuals;

(2) any insurance on risks resident outside of the state of New York written by a life insurance company which has been organized for the purpose of establishing a non-profit voluntary employees beneficiary association to provide life, sick, accident or other benefits to eligible employees or their beneficiaries, is operated exclusively for said purposes and without profit, direct or indirect, to any private shareholder or individual, and is duly exempt from income taxation pursuant to the United States internal revenue code; or

(3) except in the case of foreign and alien title insurance corporations, premiums, other than those for accident and health insurance, written, procured or received in this state for insurance on property or risks located or resident outside the United States.

(c) The taxes imposed by sections fifteen hundred one, fifteen hundred two-a, and fifteen hundred ten of this article shall not apply to any corporation, association, joint stock company or association, person, society, aggregation or partnership doing an insurance business as a member of the New York insurance exchange described in section six thousand two hundred one of the insurance law. However, such corporations, associations, joint stock companies or associations, persons, societies, aggregations or partnerships must compute an allocated entire net income pursuant to sections fifteen hundred three and fifteen hundred four of this article and transmit a return to the tax commission pursuant to section fifteen hundred fifteen of this article.

§ 1513. Declarations of estimated tax. (a) Requirements of declaration.--Every taxpayer subject to the taxes imposed under this article shall make a declaration of its estimated tax for the current taxable year, containing such information as the commissioner of taxation and finance may prescribe by regulations or instructions, if such estimated tax can reasonably be expected to exceed one thousand dollars. If a taxpayer is subject to the tax surcharge imposed by section fifteen hundred five-a and such taxpayer's estimated tax under this article can (without regard to section fifteen hundred five-a thereof) reasonably be expected to exceed one thousand dollars, such taxpayer shall also make a declaration of its estimated tax surcharge for the current taxable year.

(b) Definition of estimated tax and estimated tax surcharge. The terms "estimated tax" and "estimated tax surcharge" mean the amounts which the taxpayer estimates to be the taxes imposed by sections fifteen hundred one, fifteen hundred two-a and fifteen hundred ten of this article or the tax surcharge imposed by section fifteen hundred five-a of this article, respectively, for the current taxable year, less the sum of any credits which it estimates to be allowable against such taxes or tax surcharge, respectively.

(c) Time of filing declaration.--A declaration of estimated tax and a declaration of estimated tax surcharge shall be filed on or before June fifteenth of the current taxable year in the case of a taxpayer which reports on the basis of a calendar year, except that if the requirements of subdivision (a) of this section are first met:

(1) after May thirty-first and before September first of such current taxable year the declaration shall be filed on or before September fifteenth, or

(2) after August thirty-first and before December first of such current taxable year, the declaration shall be filed on or before December fifteenth.

(d) Amendments of declaration.--A taxpayer may amend a declaration of estimated tax or a declaration of estimated tax surcharge under regulations prescribed by the commissioner of taxation and finance.

(e) Return as declaration. If, on or before February fifteenth of the succeeding year in the case of a taxpayer whose taxable year is a calendar year, a taxpayer files its return for the year for which the declaration is required, and pays therewith the balance, if any, of the full amount of the tax or tax surcharge shown to be due on the return

(1) such return shall be considered as its declaration if no declaration was required to be filed during the taxable year for which the tax or tax surcharge was imposed, but is otherwise required to be filed on or before December fifteenth pursuant to paragraph two of subdivision (c) of this section, and

(2) such return shall be considered as the amendment permitted by subdivision (d) of this section to be filed on or before December fifteenth if the tax or tax surcharge shown on the return is greater than the estimated tax or estimated tax surcharge, as the case may be, shown on a declaration previously made.

(f) Short taxable period. If the taxable period for which a tax or tax surcharge is imposed under this article is less than twelve months, every taxpayer required to make a declaration of estimated tax or a declaration of estimated tax surcharge for such taxable period shall make such declaration in accordance with rules of the commissioner of taxation and finance.

(g) Fiscal year. The provisions of this section shall apply to taxable years of twelve months other than a calendar year by the substitution of the months of such fiscal year for the corresponding months specified in such provisions.

(h) Extension of time. The tax commission may grant a reasonable extension of time, not to exceed three months, for the filing of any declaration required pursuant to this section, on such terms and conditions as it may require.

§ 1514. Payments of estimated tax. (a) First installment of estimated tax. (1) Except as otherwise provided in paragraph two of this subdivision, for taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred seventy-six, every taxpayer subject to tax under this article must pay in each year an amount equal to (i) twenty-five percent of the tax imposed under this article for the second preceding taxable year if the second preceding year's tax exceeded one thousand dollars but was equal to or less than one hundred thousand dollars, or (ii) forty percent of the tax imposed under this article for the second preceding taxable year if the second preceding year's tax exceeded one hundred thousand dollars. If the second preceding year's tax exceeded one thousand dollars and the taxpayer is subject to the tax surcharge imposed by section fifteen hundred five-a of this article, the taxpayer must also pay an amount equal to (i) twenty-five percent of the tax surcharge imposed under section fifteen hundred five-a of this article for the second preceding taxable year if the second preceding year's tax was equal to or less than one hundred thousand dollars, or (ii) forty percent of the tax surcharge imposed for the second preceding taxable year if the second preceding year's tax exceeded one hundred thousand dollars.

(2) For taxable years beginning on or after January first, nineteen hundred ninety-nine, every taxpayer subject to tax under paragraph one of subdivision (b) of section fifteen hundred ten of this article shall pay in each such year an amount equal to forty percent of the tax imposed under such article for the second preceding taxable year, if such second preceding year's tax exceeded one thousand dollars. If such second preceding year's tax exceeded one thousand dollars and such taxpayer is subject to the tax surcharge imposed by section fifteen hundred five-a of this article, such taxpayer shall also pay an amount equal to forty percent of the tax surcharge imposed under section fifteen hundred five-a of this article for the second preceding taxable year.

(3) Such amount or amounts described in paragraphs one and two of this subdivision shall be paid with the return required to be filed with respect to such tax or tax surcharge for the preceding taxable year or with an application for extension of the time for filing such return, for taxable years beginning before January first, two thousand sixteen, and shall be paid on or before the fifteenth day of the third month of each taxable year, for taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand sixteen.

(b) Other installments. The estimated tax or estimated tax surcharge for each taxable year with respect to which a declaration of estimated tax or a declaration of estimated tax surcharge, respectively, is required to be filed under this article shall be paid, in the case of a taxpayer which reports on the basis of a calendar year, as follows:

(1) If the declaration is filed on or before June fifteenth, the estimated tax or estimated tax surcharge shown thereon, after applying thereto the amount, if any, paid during the same taxable year pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section, shall be paid in three equal installments. One of such installments shall be paid at the time of the filing of the declaration, one shall be paid on the following September fifteenth, and one on the following December fifteenth.

(2) If the declaration is filed after June fifteenth and not after September fifteenth of such taxable year, and is not required to be filed on or before June fifteenth of such year the estimated tax or estimated tax surcharge shown on such declaration, after applying thereto the amounts, if any, paid during the same taxable year pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section, shall be paid in two equal installments. One of such installments shall be paid at the time of the filing of the declaration and one shall be paid on the following December fifteenth.

(3) If the declaration is filed after September fifteenth of such taxable year, and is not required to be filed on or before September fifteenth of such year, the estimated tax or estimated tax surcharge shown on such declaration, after applying thereto the amount, if any, paid in respect of such year pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section shall be paid in full at the time of the filing of the declaration.

(4) If the declaration is filed after the time prescribed therefor, or after the expiration of any extension of time therefor, paragraphs two and three of this subdivision shall not apply and there shall be paid at the time of such filing all installments of estimated tax or estimated tax surcharge payable at or before such time, and the remaining installments shall be paid at the times at which, and in the amounts in which, they would have been payable if the declaration had been filed when due.

(c) Payments after amendment of declaration. If any amendment of a declaration is filed, the remaining installments, if any, shall be ratably increased or decreased (as the case may be) to reflect any increase or decrease in the estimated tax or estimated tax surcharge by reason of such amendment, and if any amendment is made after September fifteenth of the taxable year, any increase in the estimated tax or estimated tax surcharge by reason thereof shall be paid at the time of making such amendment.

(d) (1) Application of first installments based on second preceding year's tax. Any amount paid pursuant to subdivision (a) shall be applied as a first installment against the estimated tax or estimated tax surcharge, respectively, of the taxpayer for the taxable year shown on the declaration required to be filed pursuant to section fifteen hundred thirteen, or if no declaration is filed pursuant to such section, any such amount shall be considered a payment on account of the tax or tax surcharge shown on the return required to be filed by the taxpayer for such taxable year.

(2) Any amount paid pursuant to paragraph four of subsection (c) of section six hundred fifty-eight of this chapter on behalf of a taxpayer subject to tax under this article shall be applied against the estimated tax of the taxpayer for the taxable year shown on the declaration required to be filed pursuant to section fifteen hundred thirteen of this article, or if no declaration is filed pursuant to such section, any such amount shall be considered a payment on account of the tax shown on the return required to be filed by the taxpayer for such taxable year.

(e) Interest on certain installments based on the second preceding year's tax. Notwithstanding the provisions of section one thousand eighty-eight of this chapter or section sixteen of the state finance law, if an amount paid pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section exceeds the tax or tax surcharge, respectively, shown on the return required to be filed by the taxpayer for the taxable year during which such amount was paid, interest shall be allowed and paid on the amount by which the amount so paid pursuant to subdivision (a) exceeds such tax or tax surcharge, at the overpayment rate set by the commissioner of taxation and finance pursuant to subdivision (e) of section one thousand ninety-six or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum, from the date of payment of the amount so paid pursuant to such subdivision (a) to the fifteenth day of the third month following the close of the taxable year, provided, however, that no interest shall be allowed or paid under this subdivision if the amount thereof is less than one dollar or if such interest becomes payable solely because of a loss described in paragraph four of subdivision (b) of section fifteen hundred three.

(f) The second preceding year's tax defined. As used in this section,

"the second preceding year's tax" means, for taxpayers subject to tax under subdivision (b) of section fifteen hundred ten of this article, the taxes imposed upon the taxpayer by sections fifteen hundred one and fifteen hundred ten of this article from the second preceding taxable year or as otherwise determined by subdivision (b) of section fifteen hundred five of this article, and for taxpayers subject to tax under section fifteen hundred two-a of this article, the tax imposed upon the taxpayer by such section fifteen hundred two-a of this article from the second preceding year.

(g) Fiscal year. The provisions of this section shall apply to taxable years of twelve months other than a calendar year by the substitution of the months of such fiscal year for the corresponding months specified in such provisions.

(h) Application to short taxable period. This section shall apply to a taxable period of less than twelve months in accordance with regulations of the tax commission.

(i) Extension of time. The commissioner of taxation and finance may grant a reasonable extension of time, not to exceed six months, for the payment of any installment of estimated tax or estimated tax surcharge required pursuant to this section, on such terms and conditions as he may require, including the furnishing of a bond or other security by the taxpayer in an amount not exceeding twice the amount for which any extension of time for payment is granted, provided, however, that interest at the underpayment rate set by the commissioner pursuant to subdivision (e) of section one thousand ninety-six or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum for the period of the extension, shall be charged and collected on the amount for which any extension of time for payment is granted under this subdivision.

(j) Payment of installments in advance. A taxpayer may elect to pay any installment of estimated tax or estimated tax surcharge prior to the date prescribed in this section for the payment thereof.

§ 1515. Returns. (a) Every taxpayer and every other foreign and alien insurance corporation having an employee, including any officer, in this state or having an agent or representative in this state, shall annually, on or before the fifteenth day of the third month following the close of its taxable year, for taxable years beginning before January first, two thousand sixteen, and on or before the fifteenth day of the fourth month following the close of its taxable year, for taxable years beginning on or after January first, two thousand sixteen, transmit to the commissioner a return in a form prescribed by the commissioner setting forth such information as the commissioner may prescribe and every taxpayer which ceases to exercise its franchise or to be subject to the tax imposed by this article shall transmit to the commissioner a return on the date of such cessation or at such other time as the commissioner may require covering each year or period for which no return was theretofore filed. A copy of each return required under this subdivision shall also be transmitted to the superintendent of financial services at or before the times specified for filing such returns with the commissioner.

(b) Every taxpayer shall also transmit such other returns and such facts and information as the tax commission may require in the administration of this article.

(c) The tax commission may grant a reasonable extension of time for filing returns whenever good cause exists. An automatic extension of six months for the filing of its annual return shall be allowed any taxpayer, if within the time prescribed by subdivision (a), such taxpayer files with the tax commission an application for extension in such form as said commission may prescribe and pays on or before the date of such filing the amount properly estimated as its tax.

(d) Every return shall have annexed thereto a certification by the president, vice president, treasurer, assistant treasurer, chief accounting officer or any other officer of the taxpayer duly authorized so to act to the effect that the statements contained therein are true. The fact that an individual's name is signed on a certification of the return shall be prima facie evidence that such individual is authorized to sign and certify the return on behalf of the corporation.

(e) Report of changed or corrected federal income or final determination of refund or credit of retaliatory taxes or other charges.-- (1) If the amount of the life insurance company taxable income (which shall include, in the case of a stock life insurance company which has an existing policyholders surplus account, the amount of direct and indirect distributions during the taxable year to shareholders from such account), taxable income of a partnership or taxable income, as the case may be, or alternative minimum taxable income for any year of any taxpayer as returned to the United States treasury department is changed or corrected by the commissioner of internal revenue or other officer of the United States or other competent authority, such taxpayer shall report such change or corrected taxable income or alternative minimum taxable income within ninety days (or one hundred twenty days, in the case of a taxpayer making a combined return under this article for such year) after the final determination of such change or correction or as required by the commissioner, and shall concede the accuracy of such determination or state wherein it is erroneous. Provided, however, if the taxpayer is a direct or indirect partner of a partnership required to report adjustments in accordance with section six hundred fifty-nine-a of this chapter, such taxpayer shall also report such adjustments in accordance with section six hundred fifty-nine-a of this chapter. Any taxpayer filing an amended return with such department shall also file within ninety days (or one hundred twenty days, in the case of a taxpayer making a combined return under this article for such year) thereafter an amended return with the commissioner which shall contain such information as the commissioner shall require. The allowance of a tentative carryback adjustment based upon a net operating loss carryback or net capital loss carryback pursuant to section sixty-four hundred eleven of the internal revenue code or upon an operations loss carryback pursuant to section eight hundred ten of the internal revenue code, shall be treated as a final determination for purposes of this subdivision.

(2) If a taxpayer has paid taxes to another state pursuant to a statute similar to section one thousand one hundred twelve of the insurance law or any other statute or regulation of another state under which retaliatory taxes or other charges were imposed or assessed, for which taxes or charges paid the taxpayer has been allowed a credit pursuant to subdivision (c) of section fifteen hundred eleven of this article, and thereafter such taxes or charges are adjudged by a court of competent jurisdiction or other competent authority to have been erroneously paid or illegally or unconstitutionally imposed and, after exhaustion of all further judicial review there is a final determination that a refund or credit is due the taxpayer, such taxpayer shall report such final determination, along with the amount refunded or credited or to be refunded or credited, within ninety days of its issuance or as required by the tax commission.

(f) (1) Any taxpayer, which owns or controls either directly or indirectly substantially all the capital stock of one or more other corporations, or substantially all the capital stock of which is owned or controlled either directly or indirectly by one or more other corporations or by interests which own or control either directly or indirectly substantially all the capital stock of one or more other corporations, (hereinafter referred to in this paragraph as "related corporations"), shall make a combined return with any related corporations if there are substantial intercorporate transactions among the related corporations, regardless of the transfer price for such intercorporate transactions. It is not necessary that there be substantial intercorporate transactions between any one corporation and every other related corporation. It is necessary, however, that there be substantial intercorporate transactions between the taxpayer and a related corporation or collectively, a group of such related corporations. The return shall set forth such information as the commissioner may require.

(2) In determining whether there are substantial intercorporate transactions, the commissioner shall consider and evaluate all activities and transactions of the taxpayer and its related corporations. Activities and transactions that will be considered include, but are not limited to: (i) manufacturing, acquiring goods or property, or performing services, for related corporations; (ii) selling goods acquired from related corporations; (iii) financing sales of related corporations; (iv) performing related customer services using common facilities and employees for related corporations; (v) selling policies or contracts of insurance for related corporations; (vi) reinsuring risks for related corporations; (vii) collecting premiums or other consideration for any policy or contract of insurance for related corporations; (viii) incurring expenses that benefit, directly or indirectly, one or more related corporations and (ix) transferring assets, including such assets as accounts receivable, patents or trademarks from one or more related corporations.

(3) Except as provided in paragraph one of this subdivision, no combined return covering any corporation shall be required unless the commissioner deems such return necessary because of intercompany transactions or some agreement, understanding, arrangement or transaction referred to in subdivision (g) of this section, in order properly to reflect the tax liability under this article.

(4)(i) For purposes of this paragraph, the term "closest controlling stockholder" means the corporation that indirectly owns or controls over fifty percent of the voting stock of a captive REIT or captive RIC, is subject to tax under section fifteen hundred one of this article or article nine-A of this chapter or required to be included in a combined return or report under this article or article nine-A of this chapter, and is the fewest tiers of corporations away in the ownership structure from the captive REIT or captive RIC. The commissioner is authorized to prescribe by regulation or published guidance the criteria for determining the closest controlling stockholder.

(ii) A captive REIT or a captive RIC must be included in a combined return with the corporation that directly owns or controls over fifty percent of the voting stock of the captive REIT or captive RIC if that corporation is a life insurance corporation and is subject to tax or required to be included in a combined return under this article.

(iii) If over fifty percent of the voting stock of a captive REIT or captive RIC is not directly owned or controlled by a life insurance corporation that is subject to tax or required to be included in a combined return under this article, and the closest controlling stockholder of the captive REIT or captive RIC is a life insurance corporation that is subject to tax or required to be included in a combined return under this article, then the captive REIT or captive RIC must be included in a combined return with the closest controlling stockholder under this article.

(iv) If a captive REIT owns the stock of a qualified REIT subsidiary (as defined in paragraph two of subsection (i) of section eight hundred fifty-six of the internal revenue code) and the captive REIT is required to be included in a combined return under subparagraphs (ii) or (iii) of this paragraph, then the qualified REIT subsidiary must be included in any combined return required to be made by the captive REIT that owns the stock of the qualified REIT subsidiary.

(v) If a captive REIT or a captive RIC is required under this paragraph to be included in a combined return with another corporation, and that other corporation is required to be included in a combined return with another corporation under this subdivision, then the captive REIT or the captive RIC must be included in that combined return with the other corporation.

(5)(i) In the case of a combined return, the tax shall be measured by the combined entire net income or combined capital of all the corporations included in the return, including any captive REIT or captive RIC. In computing combined entire net income intercorporate dividends shall be eliminated, in computing combined business and investment capital intercorporate stockholdings and intercorporate bills, notes and accounts receivable and payable and other intercorporate indebtedness shall be eliminated and in computing combined subsidiary capital intercorporate stockholdings shall be eliminated. No taxpayer subject to the tax imposed by section fifteen hundred two-a or section fifteen hundred two-b of this article may be required or permitted to be included in a combined return.

(ii) In the case of a captive REIT required under this subdivision to be included in a combined return, "entire net income" means "real estate investment trust taxable income" as defined in paragraph two of subdivision (b) of section eight hundred fifty-seven (as modified by section eight hundred fifty-eight) of the internal revenue code, plus the amount taxable under paragraph three of subdivision (b) of section eight hundred fifty-seven of that code, subject to the modifications required by section fifteen hundred three of this article. In the case of a captive RIC required under this subdivision to be included in a combined return, "entire net income" means "investment company taxable income" as defined in paragraph two of subdivision (b) of section eight hundred fifty-two (as modified by section eight hundred fifty-five) of the internal revenue code, plus the amount taxable under paragraph three of subdivision (b) of section eight hundred fifty-two of that code, subject to the modifications required by section fifteen hundred three of this article. However, the deduction under the internal revenue code for dividends paid by the captive REIT or captive RIC to any member of the affiliated group that includes the corporation that directly or indirectly owns over fifty percent of the voting stock of the captive REIT or captive RIC shall not be allowed. The term "affiliated group" means "affiliated group" as defined in section fifteen hundred four of the internal revenue code, but without regard to the exceptions provided for in subsection (b) of that section.

(g) In case it shall appear to the tax commission that any agreement, understanding or arrangement exists between the taxpayer and any other corporation, or any person or firm whereby the activity, business, income or capital of the taxpayer within the state is improperly or inaccurately reflected, the tax commission is authorized and empowered in its discretion and in such manner as it may determine, to adjust items of income, deductions and capital and to eliminate items entering into the computing of any allocation percentage, provided only that income directly traceable thereto be also excluded from entire net income, so as equitably to determine the tax. Where (a) any taxpayer conducts its activity or business under any agreement, arrangement or understanding in such manner as either directly or indirectly to benefit its members or stockholders, or any of them, or any person or persons directly or indirectly interested in such activity or business, by entering into any transaction at more or less than a fair price which, but for such agreement, arrangement or understanding, might have been paid or received therefor, or (b) any taxpayer, a substantial portion of whose capital stock is owned either directly or indirectly by another corporation, enters into any transaction with such other corporation on such terms as to create an improper loss or net income, the tax commission may include in entire net income the fair profits, which, but for such agreement, arrangement or understanding, the taxpayer might have derived from such transaction.

§ 1516. Payment of tax. (a) To the extent the tax imposed by this article shall not have been previously paid pursuant to section fifteen hundred fourteen,

(1) each such tax, or the balance thereof, shall be payable to the tax commission in full at the time the taxpayer's return is required to be filed, and

(2) each such tax, or the balance thereof, imposed on any taxpayer which ceased to exercise its franchise or to be subject to the tax imposed by this article shall be payable to the tax commission at the time the return is required to be filed, provided each such tax of a domestic corporation which continues to possess its franchise shall be subject to adjustment as the circumstances may require; all other taxes of any such taxpayer, which pursuant to the foregoing provisions of this subdivision would otherwise be payable subsequent to the time such return is required to be filed, shall nevertheless be payable at such time.

(b) If the taxpayer, within the time prescribed by subdivision (c) of section fifteen hundred fifteen, shall have applied for an automatic extension of time to file its annual return and shall have paid to the commissioner of taxation and finance on or before the date such application is filed an amount properly estimated as provided by said subdivision, the only amount payable in addition to the tax shall be interest at the underpayment rate set by the commissioner pursuant to subsection (e) of section one thousand ninety-six or, if no rate is set, at the rate of six percent per annum upon the amount by which the tax, or portion thereof payable on or before the date the return was required to be filed, exceeds the amount so paid. For the purposes of the preceding sentence,

(1) an amount so paid shall be deemed properly estimated if it is either (i) not less than ninety percent of the tax as finally determined, or (ii) not less than the tax shown on the taxpayer's return for the preceding taxable year, if such preceding year was a taxable year of twelve months; and

(2) the time when a return is required to be filed shall be determined without regard to any extension of time for filing such return.

(c) The tax commission may grant a reasonable extension of time for payment of any tax imposed by this article under such conditions as it deems just and proper.

§ 1517. Deposit and disposition of revenue. All taxes, interest and penalties collected or received by the tax commission under this article shall be deposited and disposed of pursuant to the provisions of section one hundred seventy-one-a of this chapter.

§ 1518. Secrecy required of officials; penalty for violation. (a)

Except in accordance with the proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the commissioner of taxation and finance, the superintendent of financial services, any officer or employee of the department of taxation and finance, or the department of financial services or any person who, pursuant to this section, is permitted to inspect any return, or any person engaged or retained by such department on an independent contract basis, or any person who in any manner may acquire knowledge of the contents of a return filed pursuant to this article, to divulge or make known in any manner the amount of income or any particulars set forth or disclosed in any return required under this article. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the state or the commissioner of taxation and finance in any action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter or in any other action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under this chapter to which the state or the commissioner of taxation and finance is a party or a claimant or on behalf of any party in an action or proceeding under the provisions of this article when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of and may admit in evidence so much of said returns or the fact shown thereby as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more. The commissioner of taxation and finance may, nevertheless, publish a copy or a summary of any determination or decision rendered after the hearing provided for in section one thousand eighty-nine of this chapter. Notwithstanding any provisions of this section, the commissioner of taxation and finance may permit the superintendent of financial services or his authorized representative to inspect the returns filed with the commissioner of taxation and finance under this article, or may furnish to such superintendent or his authorized representative an abstract of any return or supply him with information concerning an item contained in any return, or disclosed by an investigation of tax liability under this article. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a taxpayer or its duly authorized representative of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with its tax nor to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the attorney-general or other legal representatives of the state of the return of any taxpayer which shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon, or against which an action or proceeding under this chapter has been recommended by the commissioner of taxation and finance or the attorney-general or has been instituted; or the inspection of the returns of any taxpayer by the comptroller or duly designated officer or employee of the state department of audit and control for purposes of the audit of a refund of any tax paid by such taxpayer under this article, or the disclosing to a state agency, pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one-f of this chapter, of the amount of an overpayment and interest thereon certified to the comptroller to be credited against a past-due legally enforceable debt owed to such agency and of the name and identification number of the taxpayer who made such overpayment, or the disclosing to the commissioner of finance of the city of New York, pursuant to section one hundred seventy-one-1 of this chapter, of the amount of an overpayment and interest thereon certified to the comptroller to be credited against a city of New York tax warrant judgment debt and of the name and identification number of the taxpayer who made such overpayment. The provisions of this section shall not be construed to prohibit or limit the superintendent of financial services from divulging or making known any information pursuant to the authority of the insurance law. Returns shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until the commissioner of taxation and finance orders them to be destroyed.

(b) (1) Any officer or employee of the state who willfully violates the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this state for a period of five years thereafter.

(2) Cross reference: For criminal penalties, see article thirty-seven of this chapter.

(c) Notwithstanding any provisions of this section, the tax commission may permit the secretary of the treasury of the United States or his delegates, or the proper officer of any other state charged with tax administration, or the authorized representative of either of such officers, to inspect the returns filed under this article, or may furnish to such officer or his authorized representative an abstract of any return or supply him with information concerning an item contained in any return, or disclosed by an investigation of tax liability under this article but such permission shall be granted or such information furnished to such officer or his representative only if the laws of the United States or of such other state, as the case may be, grant substantially similar privileges to the commission or officer of this state charged with the administration of the tax imposed by this article and such information is to be used for tax purposes only; and provided further the commissioner of taxation and finance may furnish to the secretary of the treasury of the United States or his delegates such returns filed under this article and other tax information, as he may consider proper, for use in court actions or proceedings under the internal revenue code, whether civil or criminal, where a written request therefor has been made to the commissioner of taxation and finance by the secretary of the treasury or his delegates provided the laws of the United States grant substantially similar powers to the secretary of the treasury or his delegates. Where the commissioner of taxation and finance has so authorized use of returns or other information in such actions or proceedings, officers and employees of the department of taxation and finance may testify in such actions or proceedings in respect to such returns or other tax information.

(d) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, the tax commission may permit the officer charged with the administration of a tax on or measured by income imposed by any city of the state of New York, or the authorized representative of such officer, to inspect the returns filed under this article, or may furnish to such officer or his authorized representative an abstract of any such return or supply information concerning an item contained in any such return, or disclosed by an investigation of tax liability under this article, but such permission shall be granted or such information furnished to such officer or his representative only if the local laws of such city grant substantially similar privileges to the commission or officer of this state charged with the administration of the tax imposed by this article and such information is to be used for tax purposes only; and provided further the commissioner of taxation and finance may furnish to such city officer or his delegates and the legal representative of such city such returns filed under this article and other tax information, as he may consider proper, for use in court actions or proceedings under such local law, whether civil or criminal, where a written request therefor has been made to the commissioner of taxation and finance by such city officer or his delegates or by such legal representative of such city, provided the local law of such city grants substantially similar powers to the city officer charged with the administration of the city income tax or his delegates. Where the commissioner of taxation and finance has so authorized use of returns or other tax information in such actions or proceedings, officers and employees of the department of taxation and finance may testify in such actions or proceedings in respect to such returns or other tax information.

(e) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, the tax commission, in its discretion, may require or permit any or all persons liable for any tax imposed by this article, to make payments on account of estimated tax and payment of any tax, penalty or interest imposed by this article to banks, banking houses or trust companies designated by the tax commission and to file declarations of estimated tax, applications for automatic extensions of time to file returns, and returns with such banks, banking houses or trust companies as agents of the tax commission, in lieu of making any such payment directly to the tax commission. However, the tax commission shall designate only such banks, banking houses or trust companies as are or shall be designated by the comptroller as depositories pursuant to section fifteen hundred seventeen.

(f) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, in the case where a taxpayer which is an attorney-in-fact has claimed a deduction pursuant to subparagraph fifteen of paragraph (a) of subdivision nine of section two hundred eight of this chapter, the commissioner shall have the authority to release to such attorney-in-fact any information with respect to the entire net income or income allocation percentage of the interinsurer or reciprocal insurer, or any member of a combined group that includes the interinsurer or reciprocal insurer, which is the basis for the denial in whole or in part of the deduction claimed by such attorney-in-fact.

(g) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, the commissioner may disclose to a taxpayer or a taxpayer's related member, as defined in paragraph fourteen of subdivision (b) of section fifteen hundred three of this article, information relating to any royalty paid, incurred or received by such taxpayer or related member to or from the other, including the treatment of such payments by the taxpayer or the related member in any report or return transmitted to the commissioner under this chapter.

(h) (1) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, upon written request from the chairperson of the committee on ways and means of the United States House of Representatives, the chairperson of the committee on finance of the United States Senate, or the chairperson of the joint committee on taxation of the United States Congress, the commissioner shall furnish such committee with any current or prior year returns filed specified in such request that were under this article by the president of the United States, vice-president of the United States, member of the United States Congress representing New York state, or any person who served in or was employed by the executive branch of the government of the United States on the executive staff of the president, in the executive office of the president, or in an acting or confirmed capacity in a position subject to confirmation by the United States senate; or, in New York state: a statewide elected official, as defined in paragraph (a) of subdivision one of section seventy-three-a of the public officers law; a state officer or employee, as defined in subparagraph (i) of paragraph (c) of subdivision one of such section seventy-three-a; a political party chairperson, as defined in paragraph (h) of subdivision one of such section seventy-three-a; a local elected official, as defined in subdivisions one and two of section eight hundred ten of the general municipal law; a person appointed, pursuant to law, to serve due to vacancy or otherwise in the position of a local elected official, as defined in subdivisions one and two of section eight hundred ten of the general municipal law; a member of the state legislature; or a judge or justice of the unified court system, or filed by a partnership, firm, association, corporation, joint-stock company, trust or similar entity directly or indirectly controlled by any individual listed in this paragraph, whether by contract, through ownership or control of a majority interest in such entity, or otherwise, or filed by a partnership, firm, association, corporation, joint-stock company, trust or similar entity of which any individual listed in this paragraph holds ten percent or more of the voting securities of such entity; provided however that, prior to furnishing any return, the commissioner shall redact any copy of a federal return (or portion thereof) attached to, or any information on a federal return that is reflected on, such return, and any social security numbers, account numbers and residential address information.

(2) No returns shall be furnished pursuant to this subdivision unless the chairperson of the requesting committee certifies in writing that such returns have been requested related to, and in furtherance of, a legitimate task of the Congress, that the requesting committee has made a written request to the United States secretary of the treasury for related federal returns or return information, pursuant to 26 U.S.C. Section 6103(f), and that if such requested returns are inspected by and/or submitted to another committee, to the United States House of Representatives, or to the United States Senate, then such inspection and/or submission shall occur in a manner consistent with federal law as informed by the requirements and procedures established in 26 U.S.C. Section 6103(f).

§ 1519. Procedural provisions. The provisions of article twenty-seven of this chapter shall apply to the provisions of this article in the same manner and with the same force and effect as if the language of such article twenty-seven had been incorporated in full into this article and had expressly referred to the tax under this article, except to the extent that any such provision is either inconsistent with a provision of this article or is not relevant to this article.

§ 1520. Tax surcharge. (a) In addition to the tax imposed under sections fifteen hundred one and fifteen hundred ten of this article, there is hereby imposed, (1) for taxable years ending after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred eighty-nine and before July first, nineteen hundred ninety a tax surcharge at the rate of two and one-half percent of the tax imposed pursuant to such sections fifteen hundred one and fifteen hundred ten of this article, as limited by section fifteen hundred five of this article, before deduction of any credits against tax otherwise allowable under this article for all or any part of such taxable years, (2) for taxable years ending after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety and before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-four, and until such rate is superseded, a tax surcharge at the rate of fifteen percent of the tax imposed pursuant to such sections fifteen hundred one and fifteen hundred ten of this article, as limited by section fifteen hundred five of this article, after deduction of any credits against tax otherwise allowable under this article, (3) for taxable years ending after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-four and before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, and until such rate is superseded, a tax surcharge at the rate of ten percent of the tax imposed pursuant to such sections fifteen hundred one and fifteen hundred ten of this article, as limited by section fifteen hundred five of this article, after deduction of any credits against tax otherwise allowable under this article, (4) for taxable years ending after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-five and before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-six, and until such rate is superseded, a tax surcharge at the rate of five percent of the tax imposed pursuant to such sections fifteen hundred one and fifteen hundred ten of this article, as limited by section fifteen hundred five of this article, after deduction of any credits against tax otherwise allowable under this article, and (5) for taxable years ending after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-six and before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-seven, a tax surcharge at the rate of zero percent of the tax imposed pursuant to such sections fifteen hundred one and fifteen hundred ten of this article, as limited by section fifteen hundred five of this article, after deduction of any credits against tax otherwise allowable under this article. However, the tax surcharge imposed by this section at the rate of two and one-half percent shall not be imposed upon any taxpayer for more than twelve months, the tax surcharge imposed under this section at the rate of fifteen percent shall not be imposed on any taxpayer for more than forty-eight months, and the tax surcharges imposed by this section at the rates of ten percent, five percent and zero percent shall not, respectively, be imposed upon any taxpayer for more than twelve months, and the commissioner shall prescribe by regulation or instructions a method of proration designed to effectuate such result. The limitation on tax provided for in section fifteen hundred five of this article shall not be applicable to the tax surcharge imposed by this section. The credits against tax otherwise allowable under section fifteen hundred eleven of this article shall not be allowed as a credit against the tax surcharge imposed by this section. A taxpayer which has made the election provided for in section fifteen hundred two-a of this article shall nevertheless compute its tax under this section as if it computed its taxes pursuant to the provisions of sections fifteen hundred two and fifteen hundred ten of this article.

(b) (1) The provisions concerning returns under section fifteen hundred fifteen of this article shall be applicable to this section, except that for purposes of an automatic extension for six months for filing a return covering the taxes imposed by this article, such automatic extension shall be allowed, for taxable years to which the tax surcharge imposed by this section apply, only if a taxpayer files with the commissioner an application for extension in such form as the commissioner may prescribe and pays on or before the date of such filing in addition to any other amounts required under this article, two and one-half percent, fifteen percent, ten percent, five percent or zero percent, whichever is the rate applicable to the taxable year pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section, of the amount properly estimated as provided in subdivision (b) of section fifteen hundred sixteen of this article as its taxes payable under sections fifteen hundred one and fifteen hundred ten of this article, before deduction of any credits against tax otherwise allowable under section fifteen hundred eleven of this article in the case of the tax surcharge imposed at the rate of two and one-half percent, and after deduction of any credits against tax otherwise allowable under section fifteen hundred eleven of this article in the case of the tax surcharge imposed at the rate of fifteen, ten, five or zero percent. The tax surcharge imposed by this section shall be payable to the commissioner in full at the time the return is required to be filed.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in this section, all of the provisions of this article, except for sections fifteen hundred five, fifteen hundred five-A and fifteen hundred eleven, presently applicable are applicable to the tax surcharge imposed by this section with such modifications as may be necessary to adapt such language to the tax surcharge imposed by this section. Such provisions shall apply with the same force and effect as if those provisions had been set forth in full in this section except to the extent that any provision is either inconsistent with a provision of this section or not relevant to the tax surcharge imposed by this section and to that end a reference in this article to the tax imposed by sections fifteen hundred one and fifteen hundred ten of this article shall be read as a reference to the tax surcharge imposed by this section, and to the sum of such tax and such tax surcharge in the case of sections fifteen hundred thirteen and fifteen hundred fourteen of this article and such other provisions requiring such reading in order to effectuate the purposes of this provision, unless a different meaning is clearly required.

(c) Coordination with section fifteen hundred five-A of this article. The amount of tax surcharge imposed pursuant to this section shall not be included in any calculation of a tax surcharge imposed pursuant to section fifteen hundred five-A of this article.

(d) Insofar as subdivision (a) of this section establishes a rate of fifteen percent in the case of taxable years ending after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety and before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-four and until such rate is superseded, a rate of ten percent in the case of taxable years ending after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-four and before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-five and until such rate is superseded, a rate of five percent in the case of taxable years ending after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-five and before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-six and until such rate is superseded, and a rate of zero percent in the case of taxable years ending after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-six and before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-seven, the transition from such rate of fifteen percent to such rate of ten percent, from such rate of ten percent to such rate of five percent, and from such rate of five percent to such rate of zero percent, shall be deemed to occur, respectively, on the first day of the seventh month of each of such taxable years, with the result that for purposes of implementation of such changes in rates, and notwithstanding such subdivision (a), there is hereby imposed with respect to all taxable years ending after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-four and before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-five, including taxable years of fewer than twelve months, a tax surcharge at the rate of twelve and one-half percent;

there is hereby imposed with respect to all taxable years ending after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-five and before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-six, including taxable years of fewer than twelve months, a tax surcharge at the rate of seven and one-half percent; and there is hereby imposed with respect to all taxable years ending after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred ninety-six and before July first, nineteen hundred ninety-seven, including taxable years of fewer than twelve months, a tax surcharge at the rate of two and one-half percent. In addition, for purposes of implementation of all the provisions of this section references to ten percent shall be read as references to twelve and one-half percent, references to five percent shall be read as references to seven and one-half percent and references to zero percent shall be read as references to two and one-half percent.

ARTICLE 33-A

TAX ON INDEPENDENTLY PROCURED INSURANCE

Section 1550. General definitions.

1551. Imposition of tax.

1552. Allocation.

1553. Exemptions.

1554. Returns and payment.

1555. Secrecy required of officials; penalty for violation.

1556. Procedural provisions.

1557. Deposit and disposition of revenue.

§ 1550. General definitions. The following words, as used in this article, shall have the meanings hereinafter set forth:

(a) The term "person" means an individual, corporation, partnership, limited liability company, society, association, joint stock company, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee and any other person acting in a fiduciary capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, and any combination of the foregoing.

(b) The term "premium" includes all amounts paid as consideration for insurance contracts and shall include premium deposits, assessments, policy fees, membership fees, and every other compensation for such contract. The term "premium" includes all such amounts paid irrespective of whether such amounts are deductible for federal income tax purposes.

(c) The term "taxable insurance contract" means a contract of insurance of the kind described in subsection (a) of section two thousand one hundred five of the insurance law.

(d) The term "home state" means:

(1) In general. Except as provided in paragraphs two and three of this subdivision, the term "home state" means, with respect to an insured:

(A) the state in which an insured maintains its principal place of business or, in the case of an individual, the individual's principal residence;

(B) if one hundred percent of the insured risk is located out of the state referred to in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, the state to which the greatest percentage of the insured's taxable premium for that insurance contract is allocated;

(C) if more than one insured from an affiliated group, as defined in section two thousand one hundred one of the insurance law, are named insureds on a single insurance contract, the home state of the member of the affiliated group that has the largest percentage of premium attributed to it under such insurance contract; or

(D) in the case of a group policy:

(i) if the group policyholder pays one hundred percent of the premium from its own funds, the home state, as determined pursuant to subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, of the group policyholder; or

(ii) if the group policyholder does not pay one hundred percent of the premium from its own funds, the home state, as determined pursuant to subparagraph (A) of this paragraph, of the group member;

(2) "Principal place of business" means, with respect to determining the home state of the insured, the state where:

(A) the insured maintains its headquarters and where the insured's high-level officers direct, control and coordinate the business activities; or

(B) if the insured's high-level officers direct, control and coordinate the business activities in more than one state, or if the insured's principal place of business is located outside any state, the state to which the greatest percentage of the insured's taxable premium for that insurance contract is allocated.

(3) "Principal residence" means, with respect to determining the home state of the insured, the state where:

(a) the insured resides for the greatest number of days during a calendar year; or

(b) if the insured's principal residence is located outside any state, the state to which the greatest percentage of the insured's taxable premium for that insurance contract is allocated.

§ 1551. Imposition of tax. There is hereby imposed on any person whose home state is New York and who purchases or renews a taxable insurance contract from an insurer not authorized to transact business in this state under a certificate of authority from the superintendent of financial services a tax at the rate of three and six-tenths percent of the premiums paid or to be paid, less returns thereon, for such insurance. Nothing in this article modifies or abrogates any provision of the insurance law.

§ 1552. Allocation. Where the taxable insurance contract covers risks located or resident both within and without this state and the taxpayer's home state is New York, one hundred percent of premiums shall be allocable to this state.

§ 1553. Exemptions. This article shall not apply to:

(a) the government of the United States or any instrumentality thereof;

(b) the state of New York or any political subdivision, as such term is defined for purposes of section one hundred three of the internal revenue code, thereof;

(c) the United Nations or any other international organization of which the United States is a member;

(d) any foreign government;

(e) any taxable insurance contract procured through a New York licensed excess line broker in accordance with section two thousand one hundred eighteen of the insurance law; and

(f) any taxable insurance contract of the type described in subsections (b), (c) and (d) of section two thousand one hundred seventeen of the insurance law.

§ 1554. Returns and payment. (a) Every person shall file a return with the commissioner of taxation and finance, in a form prescribed by the commissioner of taxation and finance, within sixty days of the end of the calendar quarter during which a taxable insurance contract took effect or was renewed. Such return shall set forth such information as the commissioner of taxation and finance may prescribe. The commissioner of taxation and finance may grant a reasonable extension of time for filing such returns.

(b) Every return filed by a corporation, partnership, limited liability company or association shall have annexed thereto a certification made by any person duly authorized so to act on behalf of such corporation, partnership, limited liability company or association that the statements contained therein are true. The fact that an individual's name is signed on a certification of the return shall be prima facie evidence that such individual is authorized to sign and certify the return on behalf of the corporation, partnership, limited liability company or association. Blank forms of returns shall be furnished by the commissioner of taxation and finance, on application, but failure to secure such a form shall not release any person from the obligation of making any return required by this article.

(c) An action may be brought at any time by the attorney general at the instance of the commissioner of taxation and finance, in the name of the state, to compel the filing of returns due under this article.

(d) The tax shall be payable to the commissioner of taxation and finance in full at the time that the return is required to be filed. The commissioner of taxation and finance may grant a reasonable extension of time for payment of tax under such terms and conditions as he deems just and proper.

§ 1555. Secrecy required of officials; penalty for violation. (a) Except in accordance with the proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the commissioner of taxation and finance, the superintendent of financial services, any officer or employee of the department of taxation and finance, or the department of financial services or any person who, pursuant to this section, is permitted to inspect any return, or any person engaged or retained by such department on an independent contract basis, or any person who in any manner may acquire knowledge of the contents of a return filed pursuant to this article, to divulge or make known in any manner any particulars set forth or disclosed in any return required under this article. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the state or the commissioner of taxation and finance in any action or proceeding under the provisions of this chapter or in any other action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under this chapter to which the state or the commissioner of taxation and finance is a party or a claimant or on behalf of any party in an action or proceeding under the provisions of this article when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of and may admit in evidence so much of said returns or the facts shown thereby as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more. The commissioner of taxation and finance may, nevertheless, publish a copy or a summary of any determination or decision rendered after the hearing provided for in section one thousand eighty-nine of this chapter. Notwithstanding any provisions of this section, the commissioner of taxation and finance may permit the superintendent of financial services or his authorized representative to inspect the returns filed with such commissioner under this article, or may furnish to such superintendent or his authorized representative an abstract of any return or supply him with information concerning an item contained in any return, or disclosed by an investigation of tax liability under this article. Nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a taxpayer or its duly authorized representative of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with its tax nor to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the attorney general or other legal representatives of the state of the return of any taxpayer which shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon, or against which an action or proceeding under this chapter has been recommended by the commissioner of taxation and finance or the attorney general or has been instituted; or the inspection of the returns of any taxpayer by the comptroller or duly designated officer or employee of the state department of audit and control for purposes of the audit of a refund of any tax paid by such taxpayer under this article. The provisions of this section shall not be construed to prohibit or limit the superintendent of financial services from divulging or making known any information pursuant to the authority of the insurance law and shall not be construed to prohibit the attorney general or superintendent of financial services or any officer or employee of the department of law or the department of financial services from using information derived independently of any return filed under this article in any action or proceeding under the insurance law. Returns shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until the commissioner of taxation and finance orders them to be destroyed.

(b) (1) Any officer or employee of the state who willfully violates the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section shall be dismissed from office and be incapable of holding any public office in this state for a period of five years thereafter.

(2) Cross reference: For criminal penalties, see article thirty-seven of this chapter.

(c) Notwithstanding any provisions of this section, the commissioner of taxation and finance may permit the secretary of the treasury of the United States or his delegates, or the proper officer of any other state charged with tax administration, or the authorized representative of either of such officers, to inspect the returns filed under this article, or may furnish to such officer or his authorized representative an abstract of any return or supply him with information concerning an item contained in any return, or disclosed by an investigation of tax liability under this article but such permission shall be granted or such information furnished to such officer or his representative only if the laws of the United States or of such other state, as the case may be, grant substantially similar privileges to the commissioner of taxation and finance or officer of this state charged with the administration of the tax imposed by this article and such information is to be used for tax purposes only; and provided further the commissioner of taxation and finance may furnish to the secretary of the treasury of the United States or his delegates such returns filed under this article and other tax information, as he may consider proper, for use in court actions or proceedings under the internal revenue code, whether civil or criminal, where a written request therefor has been made to the commissioner of taxation and finance by the secretary of the treasury or his delegates provided the laws of the United States grant substantially similar powers to the secretary of the treasury or his delegates. Where the commissioner of taxation and finance has so authorized use of returns or other information in such actions or proceedings, officers and employees of the department of taxation and finance may testify in such actions or proceedings in respect to such returns or other tax information.

(d) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, the commissioner of taxation and finance may permit the officer charged with the administration of a tax on or measured by income imposed by any city of the state of New York, or the authorized representative of such officer, to inspect the returns filed under this article, or may furnish to such officer or his authorized representative an abstract of any such return or supply information concerning an item contained in any such return, or disclosed by an investigation of tax liability under this article, but such permission shall be granted or such information furnished to such officer or his representative only if the local laws of such city grant substantially similar privileges to the commissioner of taxation and finance or officer of this state charged with the administration of the tax imposed by this article and such information is to be used for tax purposes only; and provided further the commissioner of taxation and finance may furnish to such city officer or his delegates and the legal representative of such city such returns filed under this article and other tax information, as he may consider proper, for use in court actions or proceedings under such local law, whether civil or criminal, where a written request therefor has been made to the commissioner of taxation and finance by such city officer or his delegates or by such legal representative of such city, provided the local law of such city grants substantially similar powers to the city officer charged with the administration of the city income tax or his delegates. Where the commissioner of taxation and finance has so authorized use of returns or other tax information in such actions or proceedings, officers and employees of the department of taxation and finance may testify in such actions or proceedings in respect to such returns or other tax information.

(e) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, the commissioner of taxation and finance, in his discretion, may require or permit any or all persons liable for any tax imposed by this article, to make payment of any tax, penalty or interest imposed by this article to banks, banking houses or trust companies designated by the commissioner of taxation and finance and to file applications for extensions of time to file returns, and returns with such banks, banking houses or trust companies as agents of the commissioner of taxation and finance, in lieu of making any such payment directly to the commissioner of taxation and finance. However, the commissioner of taxation and finance shall designate only such banks, banking houses or trust companies as are or shall be designated by the comptroller as depositories pursuant to section fifteen hundred fifty-seven of this article.

(f) (1) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, upon written request from the chairperson of the committee on ways and means of the United States House of Representatives, the chairperson of the committee on finance of the United States Senate, or the chairperson of the joint committee on taxation of the United States Congress, the commissioner shall furnish such committee with any current or prior year returns filed specified in such request that were under this article by the president of the United States, vice-president of the United States, member of the United States Congress representing New York state, or any person who served in or was employed by the executive branch of the government of the United States on the executive staff of the president, in the executive office of the president, or in an acting or confirmed capacity in a position subject to confirmation by the United States senate; or, in New York state: a statewide elected official, as defined in paragraph (a) of subdivision one of section seventy-three-a of the public officers law; a state officer or employee, as defined in subparagraph (i) of paragraph (c) of subdivision one of such section seventy-three-a; a political party chairperson, as defined in paragraph (h) of subdivision one of such section seventy-three-a; a local elected official, as defined in subdivisions one and two of section eight hundred ten of the general municipal law; a person appointed, pursuant to law, to serve due to vacancy or otherwise in the position of a local elected official, as defined in subdivisions one and two of section eight hundred ten of the general municipal law; a member of the state legislature; or a judge or justice of the unified court system; or filed by a partnership, firm, association, corporation, joint-stock company, trust or similar entity directly or indirectly controlled by any individual listed in this paragraph, whether by contract, through ownership or control of a majority interest in such entity, or otherwise, or filed by a partnership, firm, association, corporation, joint-stock company, trust or similar entity of which any individual listed in this paragraph holds ten percent or more of the voting securities of such entity; provided however that, prior to furnishing any return, the commissioner shall redact any copy of a federal return (or portion thereof) attached to, or any information on a federal return that is reflected on, such return, and any social security numbers, account numbers and residential address information.

(2) No returns shall be furnished pursuant to this subdivision unless the chairperson of the requesting committee certifies in writing that such returns have been requested related to, and in furtherance of, a legitimate task of the Congress, that the requesting committee has made a written request to the United States secretary of the treasury for related federal returns or return information, pursuant to 26 U.S.C. Section 6103(f), and that if such requested returns are inspected by and/or submitted to another committee, to the United States House of Representatives, or to the United States Senate, then such inspection and/or submission shall occur in a manner consistent with the requirements and procedures established in 26 U.S.C. Section 6103(f).

§ 1556. Procedural provisions. The provisions of article twenty-seven of this chapter shall apply to the provisions of this article in the same manner and with the same force and effect as if the language of such article twenty-seven had been incorporated in full into this article and had expressly referred to the tax under this article, except to the extent that any such provision is either inconsistent with a provision of this article or is not relevant to this article.

§ 1557. Deposit and disposition of revenue. All taxes, interest and penalties collected or received by the commissioner of taxation and finance under this article shall be deposited and disposed of pursuant to the provisions of section one hundred seventy-one-a of this chapter.

§ 1560. Definitions. When used in this article, unless otherwise expressly stated, the following words and terms shall have the following meanings:

1. "Person" means an individual, partnership, limited liability company, society, association, joint stock company, corporation, estate, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, any combination of individuals, and any other form of unincorporated enterprise owned or conducted by two or more persons.

2. "Controlling interest" means (a) in the case of a corporation, either fifty percent or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock of such corporation, or fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such voting stock of such corporation, and (b) in the case of a partnership, association, trust or other entity, fifty percent or more of the capital, profits or beneficial interest in such partnership, association, trust or other entity.

3. "Real property" means every estate or right, legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, in lands, tenements or hereditaments, including buildings, structures and other improvements thereon, which are located in whole or in part within any designated community. It shall not include rights to sepulture.

4. "Consideration" means the price actually paid or required to be paid for the real property or interest therein, including payment for an option or contract to purchase real property, whether or not expressed in the deed and whether paid or required to be paid by money, property, or any other thing of value. It shall include the cancellation or discharge of an indebtedness or obligation. It shall also include the amount of any mortgage, purchase money mortgage, lien or other encumbrance, whether or not the underlying indebtedness is assumed or taken subject to.

(b) In the case of a creation of a subleasehold interest, consideration shall include, but not be limited to, the value of the sublease rental payments attributable to the use and occupancy of the real property, the value of any amount paid for an option to renew and the value of rental or other payments attributable to the exercise of any option to renew less the value of the remaining prime lease rental payments required to be made.

(d) In the case of an assignment or surrender of a leasehold interest or the assignment or surrender of an option or contract to purchase real property, consideration shall not include the value of the remaining rental payments required to be made pursuant to the terms of such lease or the amount to be paid for the real property pursuant to the terms of the option or contract being assigned or surrendered.

5. "Conveyance" means the transfer or transfers of any interest in real property by any method, including but not limited to, sale, exchange, assignment, surrender, mortgage foreclosure, transfer in lieu of foreclosure, option, trust indenture, taking by eminent domain, conveyance upon liquidation or by a receiver, or transfer or acquisition of a controlling interest in any entity with an interest in real property. Transfer of an interest in real property shall include the creation of a leasehold or sublease only where (a) the sum of the term of the lease or sublease and any options for renewal exceeds forty-nine years, (b) substantial capital improvements are or may be made by or for the benefit of the lessee or sublessee, and (c) the lease or sublease is for substantially all of the premises constituting the real property. Notwithstanding the foregoing, conveyance of real property shall not include a conveyance made pursuant to devise, bequest or inheritance; the creation, modification, extension, spreading, severance, consolidation, assignment, transfer, release or satisfaction of a mortgage; a mortgage subordination agreement, a mortgage severance agreement, an instrument given to perfect or correct a recorded mortgage; or a release of lien of tax pursuant to this chapter or the internal revenue code.

6. "Interest in the real property" includes title in fee, a leasehold interest, a beneficial interest, an encumbrance, development rights, air space and air rights, or any other interest with the right to use or occupancy of real property or the right to receive rents, profits or other income derived from real property. It shall also include an option or contract to purchase real property. It shall not include a right of first refusal to purchase real property.

7. "Seller" means the person making the conveyance of real property or interest therein. Where the conveyance consists of a transfer or an acquisition of a controlling interest in an entity with an interest in real property, "seller" means the entity with an interest in real property or a shareholder or partner transferring stock or partnership interest, respectively.

8. "Buyer" means the person who obtains real property or interest therein as a result of a conveyance.

9. "Fund" means a community preservation fund created pursuant to section six-s of the general municipal law.

10. "Recording officer" means the county clerk where the real property is located except in a county having a register, where it means the register of the county.

11. "Designated community" means any town or city within the Hudson Valley counties of Putnam, Ulster, or Westchester.

12. "Treasurer" means the county treasurer.

13. "Governing body" means the town board of a town; or the board of aldermen, common council, council, or commission of a city.

14. "Residential real property" means property which satisfies at least one of the following conditions:

(a) the property classification code assigned to the property on the latest final assessment roll, as reported on the transfer report form, indicates that the property is a one, two or three family home or a rural residence; or

(b) the transfer report form indicates that the property is one, two or three family residential property that has been newly constructed on vacant land; or

(c) the transfer report form indicates that the property is a residential condominium.

15. "Tax" means the real estate transfer tax payable on a real property conveyance pursuant to section fifteen hundred sixty-one of this article, but shall have a different meaning if the context clearly indicates such as the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to article thirty-one of this chapter.

§ 1561. Imposition of tax. Notwithstanding any other provisions of law to the contrary, any designated community, acting through its governing body, is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt a local law imposing in such designated community a tax on each conveyance of real property or interest therein where the consideration exceeds five hundred dollars, at a rate of up to two percent of the consideration for such conveyance; any such local law shall fix the rate of such tax. Provided, however, any such local law imposing, repealing or reimposing such tax shall be subject to a mandatory referendum pursuant to section twenty-three of the municipal home rule law. Such local law shall only be submitted for the approval of the electors at a November general election. In addition to the filings required pursuant to article three of the municipal home rule law, the local law shall be filed with the commissioner within twenty days of its approval by the electors. Notwithstanding the foregoing, prior to adoption of such local law, the designated community must establish a community preservation fund pursuant to section six-s of the general municipal law. Revenues from such tax shall be deposited in such fund and may be used solely for the purposes of such fund. Such local law shall apply to any conveyance occurring on or after the first day of a month to be designated by such governing body, which is not less than sixty days after the enactment of such local law, but shall not apply to conveyances made on or after such date pursuant to binding written contracts entered into prior to such date, provided that the date of execution of such contract is confirmed by independent evidence such as the recording of the contract, payment of a deposit or other facts and circumstances as determined by the treasurer.

§ 1562. Payment of tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article shall be paid to the treasurer or the recording officer acting as the agent of the treasurer upon designation as such agent by the treasurer. Such tax shall be paid at the same time as the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter is required to be paid. Such treasurer or recording officer shall endorse upon each deed or instrument effecting a conveyance a receipt for the amount of the tax so paid.

2. A return shall be required to be filed with such treasurer or recording officer for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed pursuant to this article at the same time as a return is required to be filed for purposes of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter. The treasurer shall prescribe the form of return, the information which it shall contain, and the documentation that shall accompany the return. Such form shall be identical to the real estate transfer tax return required to be filed pursuant to section fourteen hundred nine of this chapter, except that the treasurer shall adapt said form to reflect the provisions in this chapter that are inconsistent, different, or in addition to the provisions of article thirty-one of this chapter. The real estate transfer tax returns required to be filed pursuant to this section shall be preserved for three years and thereafter until such treasurer or recording officer orders them to be destroyed.

§ 1563. Liability for tax. 1. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid by the buyer.

2. For the purpose of the proper administration of this article and to prevent evasion of the tax hereby imposed, it shall be presumed that all conveyances are taxable. Where the consideration includes property other than money, it shall be presumed that the consideration is the fair market value of the real property or interest therein. These presumptions shall prevail until the contrary is proven, and the burden of proving the contrary shall be on the person liable for payment of the tax.

§ 1564. Exemptions. 1. The following shall be exempt from the payment of the tax:

(a) The state of New York, or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, political subdivisions, or public corporations (including a public corporation created pursuant to an agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada); and

(b) The United Nations, the United States of America or any of its agencies or instrumentalities.

2. The tax shall not apply to any of the following conveyances:

(a) Conveyances to the United Nations, the United States of America, the state of New York, or any of their instrumentalities, agencies or political subdivisions or any public corporation (including a public corporation created pursuant to agreement or compact with another state or the Dominion of Canada);

(b) Conveyances which are or were used to secure a debt or other obligation;

(c) Conveyances which, without additional consideration, confirm, correct, modify or supplement a deed previously recorded;

(d) Conveyances of real property without consideration and otherwise than in connection with a sale, including deeds conveying realty as bona fide gifts;

(e) Conveyances given in connection with a tax sale;

(f) Conveyances to effectuate a mere change of identity or form of ownership or organization where there is no change in beneficial ownership, other than conveyances to a cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings;

(g) Conveyances which consist of a deed of partition;

(h) Conveyances given pursuant to the federal bankruptcy act;

(i) Conveyances of real property which consist of the execution of a contract to sell real property without the use or occupancy of such property or the granting of an option to purchase real property without the use or occupancy of such property;

(j) Conveyances of real property, where the entire parcel of real property to be conveyed is the subject of one or more of the following development restrictions:

(1) agricultural, conservation, scenic, or open space easement,

(2) covenants or restrictions prohibiting development where the property being conveyed has had its development rights permanently removed,

(3) a purchase of development rights agreement where the property being conveyed has had its development rights permanently removed,

(4) a transfer of development rights agreement, where the property being conveyed has had its development rights permanently removed, or

(5) real property subject to any locally adopted land preservation agreement; provided that the municipal legislative body exempts from the tax those conveyances subject to such development restriction in the local law adopted pursuant to this article;

(k) Conveyances of real property, where the property is viable agricultural land as defined in subdivision seven of section three hundred one of the agriculture and markets law, and the entire property to be conveyed is to be made subject to one of the development restrictions provided for in paragraph (j) of this subdivision; provided that such development restriction precludes the conversion of the property to a non-agricultural use for at least eight years from the date of transfer, and that said development restriction is evidenced by an easement, agreement, or other suitable instrument which is to be conveyed to the municipality simultaneously with the conveyance of the real property; or

(l) Conveyances of real property for open space, parks, or historic preservation purposes to any not-for-profit tax exempt corporation operated for conservation, environmental, parks or historic preservation purposes.

3. An exemption from the tax which is equal to the median sales price of residential real property within the applicable town or city, as determined by the commissioner, shall be allowed on the consideration of the conveyance of improved or unimproved real property or an interest therein.

§ 1565. Credit. A buyer shall be allowed a credit against the tax due on a conveyance of real property to the extent tax was paid by such buyer on a prior creation of a leasehold of all or a portion of the same real property or on the granting of an option or contract to purchase all or a portion of the same real property by such buyer. Such credit shall be computed by multiplying the tax paid on the creation of the leasehold or on the granting of the option or contract by a fraction, the numerator of which is the value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid which is not yet due to such seller on the date of the subsequent conveyance (and which such seller will not be entitled to receive after such date), and the denominator of which is the total value of the consideration used to compute such tax paid.

§ 1566. Cooperative housing corporation transfers. 1. Notwithstanding the definition of "controlling interest" contained in subdivision two of section fifteen hundred sixty of this article or anything to the contrary contained in subdivision five of section fifteen hundred sixty of this article, the tax imposed pursuant to this article shall apply to (a) the original conveyance of shares of stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the cooperative corporation or cooperative plan sponsor, and (b) the subsequent conveyance of such stock in a cooperative housing corporation in connection with the grant or transfer of a proprietary leasehold by the owner thereof. With respect to any such subsequent conveyance where the property is an individual residential unit, the consideration for the interest conveyed shall exclude the value of any liens on certificates of stock or other evidences of an ownership interest in and a proprietary lease from a corporation or partnership formed for the purpose of cooperative ownership of residential interest in real estate remaining thereon at the time of conveyance. In determining the tax on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, a credit shall be allowed for a proportionate part of the amount of any tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation of the real property comprising the cooperative dwelling or dwellings to the extent that such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership of such property and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property. The amount of the credit shall be determined by multiplying the amount of tax paid upon the conveyance to the cooperative housing corporation by a percentage representing the extent to which such conveyance effectuated a mere change of identity or form of ownership and not a change in the beneficial ownership of such property, and then multiplying the resulting product by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of stock conveyed in a transaction described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, and the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of stock of the cooperative housing corporation (including any stock held by the corporation). In no event, however, shall such credit reduce the tax, on a conveyance described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision, below zero, nor shall any such credit be allowed for a tax paid more than twenty-four months prior to the date on which occurs the first in a series of conveyances of shares of stock in an offering of cooperative housing corporation shares described in paragraph (a) of this subdivision.

§ 1567. Designation of agents. The treasurer is authorized to designate the recording officer to act as his or her agent for purposes of collecting the tax authorized by this article. The treasurer shall provide for the manner in which such person may be designated as his or her agent subject to such terms and conditions as the treasurer shall prescribe. The real estate transfer tax shall be paid to such agent as provided in section fifteen hundred sixty-two of this article.

§ 1568. Liability of recording officer. A recording officer shall not be liable for any inaccuracy in the amount of tax imposed pursuant to this article that he or she shall collect so long as he or she shall compute and collect such tax on the amount of consideration or the value of the interest conveyed as such amounts are provided to him or her by the person paying the tax.

§ 1568-a. Refunds. Whenever the treasurer shall determine that any moneys received under the provisions of the local law enacted pursuant to this article were paid in error, he or she may cause such moneys to be refunded pursuant to such requirements he or she may prescribe, provided that any application for such refund is filed with the treasurer within two years from the date the erroneous payment was made.

§ 1569. Deposit and disposition of revenue. 1. All taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the designated community under the authority of section fifteen hundred sixty-one of this article, which are collected by the treasurer or his or her agents, shall be deposited in a single trust fund for the designated community and shall be kept in trust and separate and apart from all other monies in possession of the treasurer. Moneys in such fund shall be deposited and secured in the manner provided by section ten of the general municipal law. Pending expenditure from such fund, moneys therein may be invested in the manner provided in section eleven of the general municipal law. Any interest earned or capital gain realized on the moneys so deposited or invested shall accrue to and become part of such fund.

2. The treasurer shall retain such amount as he or she may determine to be necessary for refunds with respect to the tax imposed by the designated community, under the authority of section fifteen hundred sixty-one of this article, out of which the treasurer shall pay any refunds of such taxes to those taxpayers entitled to a refund pursuant to the provisions of this article.

3. The treasurer, after reserving such refunds, shall on or before the twelfth day of each month pay to the designated community the taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the designated community under the authority of section fifteen hundred sixty-one of this article, collected by the treasurer, pursuant to this article during the next preceding calendar month. The amount so payable shall be certified to the designated community by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. Provided, however, any such certification may be based on such information as may be available to the treasurer at the time such certification must be made under this section. Where the amount so paid over to the designated community in any such distribution is more or less than the amount due to the designated community, the amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be certified to the designated community by the treasurer, who shall not be held liable for any inaccuracy in such certification. The amount of the overpayment or underpayment shall be so certified to the designated community as soon after the discovery of the overpayment or underpayment as reasonably possible and subsequent payments and distributions by the treasurer to such designated community shall be adjusted by subtracting the amount of any such overpayment from or by adding the amount of any such underpayment to such number of subsequent payments and distributions as the treasurer and designated community shall consider reasonable in view of the overpayment or underpayment and all other facts and circumstances.

4. All monies received from the treasurer shall be deposited in the fund of the designated community, pursuant to section six-s of the general municipal law.

§ 1570. Judicial review. 1. Any final determination of the amount of any tax payable under section fifteen hundred sixty-two of this article shall be reviewable for error, illegality or unconstitutionality or any other reason whatsoever by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules if application therefor is made to the supreme court within four months after the giving of the notice of such final determination, provided, however, that any such proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall not be instituted unless (a) the amount of any tax sought to be reviewed, with such interest and penalties thereon as may be provided for by local law shall be first deposited and there is filed an undertaking, issued by a surety company authorized to transact business in this state and approved by the state superintendent of financial services as to solvency and responsibility, in such amount as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding or (b) at the option of the petitioner, such undertaking may be in a sum sufficient to cover the taxes, interest and penalties stated in such determination, plus the costs and charges which may accrue against it in the prosecution of the proceeding, in which event the petitioner shall not be required to pay such taxes, interest or penalties as a condition precedent to the application.

2. Where any tax imposed hereunder shall have been erroneously, illegally or unconstitutionally assessed or collected and application for the refund or revision thereof duly made to the proper fiscal officer or officers, and such officer or officers shall have made a determination denying such refund or revision, such determination shall be reviewable by a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules; provided, however, that (a) such proceeding is instituted within four months after the giving of the notice of such denial, (b) a final determination of tax due was not previously made, and (c) an undertaking is filed with the proper fiscal officer or officers in such amount and with such sureties as a justice of the supreme court shall approve to the effect that if such proceeding be dismissed or the tax confirmed, the petitioner will pay all costs and charges which may accrue in the prosecution of such proceeding.

§ 1571. Apportionment. A local law adopted by any designated community, pursuant to this article, shall provide for a method of apportionment for determining the amount of tax due whenever the real property or interest therein is situated within and without the designated community.

§ 1572. Miscellaneous. A local law adopted by any designated community, pursuant to this article, may contain such other provisions as the designated community deems necessary for the proper administration of the tax imposed pursuant to this article, including provisions concerning the determination of tax, the imposition of interest on underpayments and overpayments and the imposition of civil penalties. Such provisions shall be identical to the corresponding provisions of the real estate transfer tax imposed by article thirty-one of this chapter, so far as such provisions can be made applicable to the tax imposed pursuant to this article.

§ 1573. Returns to be confidential. 1. Except in accordance with proper judicial order or as otherwise provided by law, it shall be unlawful for the treasurer or any officer or employee of the county or designated community, including any person engaged or retained on an independent contract basis, to divulge or make known in any manner the particulars set forth or disclosed in any return required under a local law enacted pursuant to this article. Provided, however, that nothing in this section shall prohibit the recording officer from making a notation on an instrument effecting a conveyance indicating the amount of tax paid. No recorded instrument effecting a conveyance shall be considered a return for purposes of this section.

2. The officers charged with the custody of such returns shall not be required to produce any of them or evidence of anything contained in them in any action or proceeding in any court, except on behalf of the county or designated community in any action or proceeding involving the collection of a tax due under a local law enacted pursuant to this article to which such county or designated community is a party, or a claimant, or on behalf of any party to any action or proceeding under the provisions of a local law enacted pursuant to this article when the returns or facts shown thereby are directly involved in such action or proceeding, in any of which events the court may require the production of, and may admit in evidence, so much of said returns or of the facts shown thereby, as are pertinent to the action or proceeding and no more.

3. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the delivery to a seller or buyer of an instrument effecting a conveyance or the duly authorized representative of a seller or buyer of a certified copy of any return filed in connection with such instrument or to prohibit the publication of statistics so classified as to prevent the identification of particular returns and the items thereof, or the inspection by the legal representatives of such county or designated community of the return of any taxpayer who shall bring action to set aside or review the tax based thereon.

§ 1600. Short title. This article shall be known and may be cited as the "New York state lottery for education law."

§ 1601. Statement of purpose. This article is enacted to implement the amendment of section nine of article one of the state constitution, as approved by the vote of the people in the general election of November, nineteen hundred sixty-six, and to carry out the mandate thereof by establishing a lottery to be operated by the state, the net proceeds of which, for the fiscal year commencing April first, nineteen hundred seventy-six only, are to be applied exclusively for the purpose of providing aid to pupils with special educational needs and pupils with handicapping conditions. Thereafter, such net proceeds shall be applied for the purpose of providing supplemental aid to all school children pursuant to subdivision four of section ninety-two-c of the state finance law so as to hold harmless those programs from any reduction during the next fiscal year and so as to ensure that thereafter, subject to the provisions of paragraph (v) of subdivision three and subdivision five of section ninety-two-c of the state finance law and section four hundred ninety-five-a of article ten-C of the education law, all increases from the proceeds of the lottery shall be dedicated as increases in the funds available for the purpose of this act.

§ 1602. Definitions. As used in this article:

1. "Lottery" means the lottery operated by the state pursuant to this article.

2. "Division": (a) means the division of the lottery, as established within the New York state gaming commission; and (b) for the purposes of section sixteen hundred seventeen-a of this article, the term "division of the lottery" or "division" means the "division of gaming" as created pursuant to section one hundred two of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law.

3. "Commissioner" means the commissioner of taxation and finance or his or her duly appointed delegate.

4. "Commission" means the New York state gaming commission.

5. "Director" means the director of the division of the lottery, except for purposes of paragraph four of subsection c of section one thousand six hundred thirteen and sections one thousand six hundred fourteen and one thousand six hundred fifteen of this chapter the term "director" shall mean the "commission".

6. "Video lottery gaming" means any lottery game played on a video lottery terminal that issues electronic tickets, allows multiple players to participate in the same game and determines winners to a material degree upon the element of chance, notwithstanding that the skill of a player may influence such player's chance of winning a game. Video lottery gaming may include elements of player interaction after a player receives an initial chance.

§ 1603. Division of the lottery. There is hereby created within the commission the division of the lottery.

§ 1604. Powers and duties of the division. a. In addition to the powers and duties provided in other sections of this article, the division shall have the power and it shall be its duty to operate and administer the lottery within the state including any joint, multi-jurisdiction, and out-of-state lottery in cooperation with a government-authorized lottery of one or more other jurisdictions, and to promulgate rules and regulations governing the establishment and operation thereof, including but not limited to the following:

1. The type of lottery to be conducted.

2. The price or prices of a ticket or tickets in the lottery.

3. The numbers and sizes of the prizes on the winning tickets.
 4. The manner of selecting the winning tickets.
 5. The frequency of the drawings or selections of winning tickets.
 6. Without limit as to number, the type or types of locations at which tickets may be sold.
 7. The method to be used in selling tickets.
 8. The use of vending machines or mechanical devices of any kind.
 9. The compensation in such manner and amounts and subject to such limitations as the division may determine to licensed sellers of lottery tickets, but only where the division finds that such compensation is necessary to assure adequate availability of lottery tickets, and that the public convenience will be served thereby.
 10. The development of an internal security plan.
- b. The division is authorized to license agents to sell tickets for the state lottery. The division may require a bond from any licensed agent, in an amount to be determined by the division. Every licensed agent shall prominently display his license, or a copy thereof, as may be determined by rules and regulations of the division, in each place of business or activity where lottery tickets are sold.
- c. (1) The commission shall make regular reports to the commissioner, which reports shall include a full and complete statement of lottery revenues, prize disbursements and other expenses, and any other information the commissioner may require. (2) The commission shall make an annual report to the governor and the legislature, which shall include a summary of lottery revenues, prize disbursements and other expenses for the year preceding such report. (3) The commission shall, by January thirty-first of each year, provide the commissioner with a list of the lottery prize amounts, names and social security numbers of the winners of New York state lottery and video lottery gaming individual prizes in excess of one million dollars in the previous calendar year.

§ 1604-a. Posting of signs to assist compulsive gamblers. The division shall cooperate with the commissioner of alcoholism and substance abuse services to ensure the posting of signs designed to assist compulsive gamblers pursuant to the provisions of subdivision (h) of section 19.09 of the mental hygiene law.

§ 1605. Lottery sales agents and other licensees. a. The division may license as agents to sell lottery tickets such persons as in its opinion will best serve public convenience, except that no license shall be issued to any person to engage in business exclusively as a lottery sales agent. The division may license such persons as in its opinion are suitable to participate in video lottery gaming pursuant to section sixteen hundred seventeen-a of this article.

b. For purposes of this article the term "person" shall be construed to mean and include an individual, partnership, limited liability company, association, organization, club, company, corporation, trust, estate, society, joint stock company, receiver, trustee, assignee, referee, or any other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, and any combination of individuals. "Person" shall also be construed to mean and include agencies and instrumentalities of the state, and counties, cities, towns and villages.

c. The division may, upon application approved by a local school district board or by the governing board of a non-public school, license as agents persons to sell lottery tickets for one lottery drawing with the compensation to be paid to the designated local school district or non-public school, provided however, that in no event may either such person be licensed, or any such local school district or non-public school receive the compensation from such a special license more than once in any calendar year.

d. Before issuing a license to any person, the division shall consider, with respect to such person:

1. Financial responsibility and security of the business or activity in which such person is engaged.

2. Accessibility of the place of business or activity to the public.

3. Sufficiency of existing licenses to serve public convenience.

4. Whether place of business or activity is predominantly frequented by persons under the age of eighteen years.

5. Volumes of expected sales.

e. The division is hereby authorized to obtain criminal background information on any applicant for, or holder of, a lottery license for the purpose of determining whether a license should be granted, suspended, or revoked. The sources of such information include the license applicant or holder, the division of criminal justice services, and any licensing agency which is currently considering a licensing application or which has been granted a presently-held license to the same license applicant or holder. The division shall require each license applicant to submit identifying information which shall include fingerprints unless they are already on file with the division or other state agencies. The fingerprints so obtained shall be forthwith forwarded, and the applicable fee transmitted, to the division of criminal justice services or any other state or federal government agency having facilities for checking fingerprints for the purpose of determining whether or not criminal charges are pending against the applicant or whether or not the applicant had previously been convicted of a crime, and such agency shall promptly report a finding of such pending charges and previous convictions, if any, to the division in writing or by electronic means or any other method agreed upon by the division and such agency. Prior to or upon making a determination not to approve an application for a lottery license based upon an applicant's criminal history record, the division shall provide such applicant with a copy of article twenty-three-A of the correction law, and inform such applicant of his or her right to seek correction of any incorrect information contained in such record pursuant to regulations and procedures established by the division of criminal justice services. In its discretion, the division may decline to act on any application pending the disposition of any pending charges against the applicant. The division may, after providing notice and an opportunity for a hearing pursuant to the state administrative procedure act, deny a license to any person found to have committed a felony under the laws of the United States or under the laws of the state of New York or any other state or foreign jurisdiction or any crime relating to gaming activities or that is otherwise found to have engaged in conduct which would be prejudicial to public confidence in the state lottery. All determinations to grant or deny a license pursuant to this section shall be in accordance with subdivision sixteen of section two hundred ninety-six of the executive law and article twenty-three-A of the correction law. Notwithstanding the provisions of article six of the public officers law or any other law to the contrary, the division may withhold from public disclosure any criminal history information except that criminal convictions may not be withheld under this provision.

For purposes of this article, a licensee may include: a lottery sales agent; a video lottery gaming agent; a vendor; a vendor's subcontractor; an employee of an agent, vendor or vendor's subcontractor; or an officer, director, partner, trustee or owner of an agent, vendor or vendor's subcontractor.

f. No employee of a lottery sales agent shall be required as a condition of employment to sell lottery tickets if his or her religious beliefs militate against such activity.

g. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section to the contrary, in considering the issuance of a license to a benevolent order or any other association, organization or club that is distinctly private in its nature under section forty of the civil rights law, the division is not required to consider paragraph two of subdivision d of this section. In conducting activities pursuant to the license, such benevolent order, association, organization or club shall comply with section forty-c of the civil rights law to the extent that such section applies.

§ 1606. Authorization of lottery sales agents. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, any agent licensed pursuant to this article is hereby authorized and empowered to act as a lottery sales agent.

§ 1607. Suspension and revocation of licenses. The division may suspend or revoke, after notice and an opportunity for a hearing pursuant to the state administrative procedure act, any license issued pursuant to this article. Such license may, however, be temporarily suspended by the division without prior notice, pending any prosecution, investigation or hearing. A license may be suspended or revoked by the division for one or more of the following reasons:

a. Failure to account for lottery tickets received or the proceeds of the sale of lottery tickets or to file a bond if required by the division or to comply with instructions of the division concerning the licensed activity;

b. Conviction of any offense as defined in the penal law, or any felony under the laws of the United States or under the laws of the state of New York or any other state or foreign jurisdiction or any crime relating to gaming activities;

c. Failure to file any return or report, to keep records or to pay any tax required by any article of this chapter;

d. Fraud, deceit, misrepresentation or conduct prejudicial to public confidence in the state lottery;

e. With respect to a lottery sales agent, the number of lottery tickets sold by the lottery sales agent is insufficient to meet administrative costs and public convenience is adequately served by other licensees;

f. A material change, since issuance of the license, with respect to any matters required to be considered by the division under subdivision d or e of section sixteen hundred five of this article.

g. Conviction for misuse of food stamps pursuant to section one hundred forty-seven of the social services law.

h. A violation of article thirteen-F of the public health law as provided in this subdivision:

1. A license shall be suspended for a period of one year upon notification to the division by the commissioner of health of a lottery sales agent's accumulation of three or more points pursuant to subdivision three of section thirteen hundred ninety-nine-ee of the public health law.

2. A license shall be revoked for one year upon notification to the division by the commissioner of health of a lottery sales agent's fourth violation of article thirteen-F of the public health law within a three year period.

§ 1608. Other statutes not applicable. No other law providing any penalty or disability for the sale of lottery tickets or any acts done in connection with a lottery shall apply to the sale of tickets or acts performed pursuant to this article.

§ 1609. Lottery tickets. a. Lottery tickets shall be in such form as the division may prescribe. No ticket shall be sold at a price greater than that fixed by the division nor shall a sale be made by any person other than a licensed lottery sales agent, and a violation of these provisions shall be a misdemeanor, but this shall not be deemed to prevent any person from giving lottery tickets as premiums to customers, employees or other dealing with him.

b. 1. Notwithstanding any inconsistent provision of any other law, rule or regulation, any contract for the printing or purchase of tickets shall only be awarded after bids made on specifications compiled and advertised in the manner provided by law for the advertisement of contracts for the purchase of materials and supplies, by the commissioner of general services and only to the lowest responsible bidder as that term is herein defined.

2. For purposes of this section the term "lowest responsible bidder" shall mean and only include a responsible bidder who

(a) submits a bid which is lower than any other bid and whose production facilities for such tickets are located in this state; or

(b) submits a bid which is the lowest of any bid submitted by a responsible bidder whose production facilities for such tickets are located in this state and which bid does not exceed by more than ten percent the bid of any responsible bidder whose production facilities are located outside the state; or

(c) has located his production facilities for tickets outside the state and submits a bid of which one hundred ten percent of the amount thereof is lower than any bid submitted by any responsible bidder whose production facilities are located in this state and is lower than the bid of any other responsible bidder whose production facilities are not located in this state.

§ 1610. Sales to certain persons prohibited. a. No ticket shall be sold to any person under the age of eighteen years, but this shall not be deemed to prohibit the purchase of a ticket for the purpose of making a gift by a person eighteen years of age or older to a person less than that age. Any licensee or the employee or agent of any licensee who sells or offers to sell a lottery ticket to any person under the age of eighteen shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

b. No ticket shall be sold to and no prize shall be paid to any of the following persons:

- (i) any member, officer or employee of the division; or
- (ii) any member, officer or employee of the department of taxation and finance whose duties directly relate to the operation of the state lottery; or
- (iii) any spouse, child, brother, sister or parent residing as a member of the same household in the principal place of abode of any of the foregoing persons.

§ 1611. Delivery of funds; designation of banks. a. Except as otherwise provided in this section, all moneys received by any and all lottery sales agents from the sales of lottery tickets, including any lottery tickets, for the support of winter sports physical education in commemoration of the XIII olympic winter games if any, less the amount, if any, retained pursuant to paragraph nine of subdivision a of section sixteen hundred four of this article shall be delivered to the division. The division shall immediately deposit to its credit all such moneys received in banks, banking houses or trust companies designated by the commissioner and the comptroller. The division in its discretion, may require any or all lottery sales agents to deposit such moneys to the division's credit in banks, banking houses or trust companies designated by it, with the approval of the commissioner and the comptroller and to file with the division reports of their receipts and transactions in the sale of lottery tickets in such form and containing such information as the division may require. The withdrawal, pursuant to section sixteen hundred twelve of this article, of moneys so deposited by the division or lottery sales agents shall be subject to a check signed by the director or such officers or employees of the division as the director may designate.

b. The division may make arrangements for any person, including a bank, banking house or trust company, to perform such functions, activities or services in connection with the operation of the lottery as the division may prescribe and such functions, activities and services shall constitute lawful functions, activities and services of such person.

§ 1612. Disposition of revenues. a. The division shall pay into an account, to be known as the lottery prize account, under the joint custody of the comptroller and the commissioner, within one week after collection of sales receipts from a lottery game, such moneys necessary for the payment of lottery prizes but not to exceed the following percentages, plus interest earned thereon:

(1) sixty percent of the total amount for which tickets have been sold for a lawful lottery game introduced on or after the effective date of this paragraph, subject to the following provisions:

(A) such game shall be available only on premises occupied by licensed lottery sales agents, subject to the following provisions:

(i) if the licensee does not hold a license issued pursuant to the alcoholic beverage control law to sell alcoholic beverages for consumption on the premises, then the premises must have a minimum square footage greater than two thousand five hundred square feet;

(ii) notwithstanding the foregoing provisions, television equipment that automatically displays the results of such drawings may be installed and used without regard to the square footage if such premises are used as:

(I) a commercial bowling establishment, or

(II) a facility authorized under the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law to accept pari-mutuel wagers;

(B) the rules for the operation of such game shall be as prescribed by regulations promulgated and adopted by the division, provided however, that such rules shall provide that no person under the age of twenty-one may participate in such games on the premises of a licensee who holds a license issued pursuant to the alcoholic beverage control law to sell alcoholic beverages for consumption on the premises; and, provided, further, that such regulations may be revised on an emergency basis not later than ninety days after the enactment of this paragraph in order to conform such regulations to the requirements of this paragraph; or

(2) sixty-four and one-fourth percent of the total amount for which tickets have been sold for the "Instant Cash" game in which the participant purchases a preprinted ticket on which dollar amounts or symbols are concealed on the face or the back of such ticket, provided

however up to five new games may be offered during the fiscal year, seventy-four and one-fourth percent of the total amount for which tickets have been sold for such five games in which the participant purchases a preprinted ticket on which dollar amounts or symbols are concealed on the face or the back of such ticket; or

(3) fifty-five percent of the total amount for which tickets have been sold for any joint, multi-jurisdiction, and out-of-state lottery except as otherwise provided in paragraph one of subdivision b of this section for any joint, multi-jurisdiction, out-of-state video lottery gaming; or

(4) fifty percent of the total amount for which tickets have been sold for games known as: (A) the "Daily Numbers Game" or "Win 4", discrete games in which the participants select no more than three or four of their own numbers to match with three or four numbers drawn by the commission for purposes of determining winners of such games, (B) "Pick 10", offered no more than twice daily, in which participants select from a specified field of numbers a subset of ten numbers to match against a subset of numbers to be drawn by the commission from such field of numbers for the purpose of determining winners of such game, (C) "Take 5", offered no more than twice daily, in which participants select from a specified field of numbers a subset of five numbers to match against a subset of five numbers to be drawn by the commission from such field of numbers for purposes of determining winners of such game; or

(5) forty percent of the total amount for which tickets have been sold for: (A) "Lotto", offered no more than twice daily, a discrete game in which all participants select a specific subset of numbers to match a specific subset of numbers, as prescribed by rules and regulations promulgated and adopted by the commission, from a larger specific field of numbers, as also prescribed by such rules and regulations and (B) with the exception of the game described in paragraph one of this subdivision, such other state-operated lottery games that the commission may introduce, offered no more than twice daily, commencing on or after forty-five days following the official publication of the rules and regulations for such game.

(6) the commission shall make a report on the revenues derived from the additional lottery drawings pursuant to paragraphs four and five of this subdivision and shall submit such report to the governor, the speaker of the assembly, and the temporary president of the senate by the first day of March two thousand twenty-two.

The moneys in the lottery prize account shall be paid out of such account on the audit and warrant of the comptroller on vouchers certified or approved by the director or his or her duly designated official.

Prize money derived from ticket sales receipts of a particular game and deposited in the lottery prize account in accordance with the percentages set forth above may be used to pay prizes in such game. Balances in the lottery prize account identified by individual games may be carried over from one fiscal year to the next to ensure proper payout of games.

b. 1. Notwithstanding section one hundred twenty-one of the state finance law, on or before the twentieth day of each month, the commission shall pay into the state treasury, to the credit of the state lottery fund created by section ninety-two-c of the state finance law, not less than forty-five percent of the total amount for which tickets have been sold for games defined in paragraph five of subdivision a of this section during the preceding month, not less than forty-five percent of the total amount for which tickets have been sold for games defined in paragraph four of subdivision a of this section during the preceding month, not less than thirty-five percent of the total amount for which tickets have been sold for games defined in paragraph three of subdivision a of this section during the preceding month, not less than twenty and three-fourths percent of the total amount for which tickets have been sold for games defined in paragraph two of subdivision a of this section during the preceding month, provided however that for games with a prize payout of seventy-four and one-fourth percent of the total amount for which tickets have been sold, the commission shall pay not less than ten and three-fourths percent of sales into the state treasury and not less than twenty-five percent of the total amount for which tickets have been sold for games defined in paragraph one of subdivision a of this section during the preceding month; and the balance of the total revenue after payout for prizes for games known as "video lottery gaming," including any joint, multi-jurisdiction, and out-of-state video lottery gaming, (i) less ten percent of the total revenue wagered after payout for prizes to be retained by the division for operation, administration, and procurement purposes;

(ii) less a vendor's fee the amount of which is to be paid for serving as a lottery agent to the track operator of a vendor track or the operator of any other video lottery gaming facility authorized pursuant to section sixteen hundred seventeen-a of this article. The amount of the vendor's fee shall be calculated as follows:

(A) when a vendor track is located within development zone one as defined by section thirteen hundred ten of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law, at a rate of thirty-nine and one-half percent of the total revenue wagered at the vendor track after payout for prizes pursuant to this chapter;

(B) when a vendor track is located within zone two as defined by section thirteen hundred ten of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law, the rate of the total revenue wagered at the vendor track after payout for prizes pursuant to this chapter shall be as follows:

(1) forty-three and one-half percent for a vendor track located more than fifteen miles but less than fifty miles from a destination resort gaming facility authorized pursuant to article thirteen of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law;

(2) forty-nine percent for a vendor track located within fifteen miles of a destination resort gaming facility authorized pursuant to article thirteen of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law;

(3) fifty-one percent for vendor track located more than fifteen miles but less than fifty miles from a Native American class III gaming facility as defined in 25 U.S.C. §2703(8);

(4) fifty-six percent for a vendor track located within fifteen miles of a Native American class III gaming facility as defined in 25 U.S.C §2703(8);

(5) forty-nine percent for a video lottery gaming facility authorized pursuant to paragraph five of subdivision a of section sixteen hundred seventeen-a of this article;

(B-1) Notwithstanding subparagraph (B) of this paragraph, for the period commencing on April first, two thousand nineteen and ending on March thirty-first, two thousand twenty, for a vendor track that is located within Ontario County, such vendor fee shall be thirty-seven and one-half percent of the total revenue wagered at the vendor track after payout for prizes pursuant to this chapter;

(B-2) Notwithstanding subparagraph (B) of this paragraph, for the period commencing on April first, two thousand nineteen and ending on March thirty-first two thousand twenty, for a vendor track that is located within Saratoga County, such vendor fee shall be thirty-nine and one-half percent of the total revenue wagered at the vendor track after payout for prizes pursuant to this chapter;

(C) when a video lottery facility is located at Aqueduct racetrack, at a rate of fifty percent of the total revenue wagered at the video lottery gaming facility after payout for prizes pursuant to this chapter;

(D) when a video lottery gaming facility is located in either Nassau or Suffolk counties and is operated by a corporation established pursuant to section five hundred two of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law, at a rate of forty-five percent of the total revenue wagered at the video lottery gaming facility after payout for prizes pursuant to this chapter.

* (E) notwithstanding clause (B) of this subparagraph, beginning on June first, two thousand twenty-five, when the vendor track is located in the county of Genesee and within forty miles of a Native American class III gaming facility as defined in 25 U.S.C. §2703(8), at a rate of fifty-six percent of the total revenue wagered at the vendor track after payout for prizes pursuant to this chapter; provided, however, that the following additional provisions shall apply to such vendor track:

(1) From the vendor fee amount equivalent to fifty-six percent of the total revenue wagered at the vendor track after payout for prizes pursuant to this clause, a portion equivalent to five percent of the total revenue wagered at the vendor track after payout for prizes shall be defined as and hereinafter be referred to as the "additional vendor fee".

(2) Such additional vendor fee shall be accounted for separately by the vendor track and shall be used exclusively for the following purposes, in proportions determined annually by such vendor track in accordance with a plan submitted to the gaming commission pursuant to subclause four of this clause:

(A) reducing the costs paid by non-executive and non-managerial employees of such vendor track for healthcare coverage offered by such vendor track;

(B) increasing salaries, hourly wages, or benefits paid to non-executive and non-managerial employees of such vendor track, or funding increases in the number of full-time equivalent non-executive and non-managerial employees; and

(C) supplementing distributions payable to participating counties or municipalities as required under existing law.

(3) Additional vendor fee revenue utilized pursuant to this clause shall not be included in any calculation used to determine amounts payable pursuant to subclause two of this clause or payments required under subclause two of this clause to the appropriate breeding fund established pursuant to article three of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law.

(4) (A) Such vendor track shall annually submit a plan to the commission, no later than sixty days prior to the beginning of its fiscal year, detailing the allocation and use of the additional vendor fee revenue among the purposes specified in subclause two of this clause for the upcoming fiscal year. Such plan shall include specific projections for cost reductions in employee healthcare, increases in employee compensation specifying the job titles or categories benefiting therefrom, and supplemental amounts for local distributions.

(B) Such vendor track shall submit a plan to the commission, no later than sixty days after the effective date of this clause, detailing the allocation and use of such additional vendor fee among the purposes specified in subclause two of this clause for the remainder of fiscal year two thousand twenty-five. Such plan shall include specific projections for cost reductions in employee healthcare, increases in employee compensation specifying the job titles or categories benefiting therefrom, and projections of supplemental amounts of local distributions. Such plan shall also detail allocations already made between this act going into effect and the date such plan has been submitted to the commission.

(5) Such vendor track shall also submit an annual report to the gaming commission, the governor, the temporary president of the senate, and the speaker of the assembly, no later than ninety days after the end of each fiscal year, detailing the actual allocation and use of such additional vendor fee during the preceding fiscal year. Such report shall specify the amounts applied to each purpose outlined in subclause two of this clause, provide data demonstrating the impact on employee healthcare costs and compensation including the specific job titles or categories that received increased compensation pursuant to item (B) of subclause two of this clause, detail the supplemental distributions made to localities, compare actual use to the plan, and provide justification for any significant variances.

(6) (A) The additional vendor fee shall only be used to supplement amounts previously allocated or appropriated by the corporation for the purposes stated in subclause two of this clause and may not be used to replace or backfill such amounts.

(B) The gaming commission shall have the authority to audit the use of such additional vendor fee by such vendor track. If the gaming commission determines, after notice and an opportunity for a hearing, that such funds have been used for purposes other than those authorized in subclause two of this clause or inconsistent with the plan, including a failure to benefit non-executive and non-managerial employees as required by item (B) of subclause two of this clause, the gaming commission may impose monetary penalties pursuant to its authority under the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law and may require that an amount equivalent to any funds used in a manner inconsistent with the provisions of this clause shall be expended for authorized purposes pursuant to an amended plan.

(7) Nothing contained in this clause shall affect any existing collective bargaining agreement or the obligation of such vendor track to negotiate terms and conditions of employment with any certified employee representative.

* NB Repealed April 1, 2030

* (iii) less any additional vendor's fees. Additional vendor's fees shall be calculated as follows:

(A) when a vendor track is located within region one and is located within Orange county or region two of development zone two, as such zone is defined in section thirteen hundred ten of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law, or is located within region six of such development zone two and is located within Ontario county, the additional vendor fee received by the vendor track shall be calculated pursuant to subclause one of this clause; provided, however, such additional vendor fee shall not exceed ten percent.

(1) The additional vendor fee is a percentage of the total revenue wagered at the vendor track after payout for prizes pursuant to this chapter. That percentage is calculated by subtracting the effective tax rate on all taxable gross gaming revenue paid by a gaming facility within the same region as the vendor track from the percentage that is ninety percent less the vendor track's vendor fee percentage and less the additional vendor fee percentage authorized pursuant to clause (D) of this subparagraph. For purposes of this clause, Seneca and Wayne counties shall be deemed to be located within region six of development zone two.

(2) The additional vendor fee paid pursuant to this clause shall commence with the state fiscal year beginning on April first, two thousand nineteen and shall be paid to a vendor track no later than ninety days after the close of the fiscal year. The additional vendor fee authorized by this clause shall only be applied to revenue wagered at a vendor track while a gaming facility in the same region as that vendor track is open and operating pursuant to an operation certificate issued pursuant to section thirteen hundred thirty-one of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law.

 (B) for a vendor track that is located within Oneida county, within fifteen miles of a Native American class III gaming facility, such additional vendor fee shall be six and four-tenths percent of the total revenue wagered at the vendor after payout for prizes pursuant to this chapter. The vendor track shall forfeit this additional vendor fee for any time period that the vendor track does not maintain at least seventy percent of full-time equivalent employees as they employed in the year two thousand sixteen.

(C) (1) for a vendor track that is located within development zone one as defined by section thirteen hundred ten of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law, such additional vendor fee shall be six and five-tenths percent of the total revenue wagered at the vendor track after payout for prizes pursuant to this chapter. At the conclusion of each fiscal year, if the effective tax rate on all taxable gross gaming revenue paid by a gaming facility that is licensed under title two-A of article thirteen of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law, and located within New York city is below forty-four percent, the vendor track shall receive an additional calculated amount no later than ninety days after the close of the fiscal year. For the purposes of this clause, an additional calculated amount shall be the differential between forty-four percent and the effective tax rate on all taxable gross gaming revenue paid by the applicable gaming facility applied to revenue wagered at such vendor track after payout for prizes pursuant to this chapter. The vendor track must maintain at least ninety percent of full-time equivalent gaming employees as they employed in the year two thousand twenty-five to receive the additional vendor fee and additional calculated amount. The additional vendor fee and additional calculated amount authorized by this clause shall only be applied to revenue wagered at a vendor track while the applicable gaming facility referenced pursuant to this clause is open and operating pursuant to an operation certificate issued pursuant to section thirteen hundred thirty-one of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law.

(2) To be eligible to receive the additional vendor fee authorized pursuant to this clause, a vendor track must submit an application to the gaming commission. Such application shall identify the number of full-time equivalent gaming employees employed at the facility in calendar year two thousand twenty-five.

(3) The additional vendor fee authorized by this clause shall be applicable commencing on the date that an eligible facility submits their application under subclause two of this clause to the gaming commission.

(D) (1) five percent for the following:

(I) any video lottery gaming facility located in either Nassau or Suffolk county that is operated by a corporation established pursuant to section five hundred two of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law;

(II) a vendor track located within region one and located within Orange county;

(III) any vendor track located within fifteen miles of a Native American class III gaming facility as defined in 25 U.S.C §2703(8); and

(IV) a vendor track located more than fifteen miles but less than fifty miles from a destination resort gaming facility authorized pursuant to article thirteen of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law.

(2) To be eligible to receive the additional vendor fee authorized pursuant to this clause, a vendor track or video lottery gaming facility must submit an application to the gaming commission. Such application shall identify the number of full-time equivalent gaming employees employed at the facility in calendar year two thousand twenty-five.

(3) On July first of each year beginning on July first, two thousand twenty-seven, each track or facility shall certify to the gaming commission the number of full-time equivalent gaming employees employed by the facility for the preceding calendar year. If the number of full-time equivalent gaming employees certified to the gaming commission is less than the number of full-time equivalent gaming employees employed by the facility in the year two thousand twenty-five, the gaming commission may reduce the additional vendor fee received by such track or facility pursuant to this clause by the following amount:

(I) if the number of certified full-time equivalent gaming employees is less than one hundred percent but more than or equal to ninety-five percent of the original amount, one percent;

(II) if the number of certified full-time equivalent gaming employees is less than ninety-five percent but more than or equal to ninety percent of the original amount, two percent;

(III) if the number of certified full-time equivalent gaming employees is less than ninety percent but more than or equal to eighty-five percent of the original amount, three percent;

(IV) if the number of certified full-time equivalent gaming employees is less than eighty-five percent but more than or equal to eighty percent of the original amount, four percent; and

(V) if the number of certified full-time equivalent gaming employees is less than eighty percent of the original amount, the full five percent.

(4) The additional vendor fee authorized by this clause shall be applicable commencing on the date that an eligible facility submits its application under subclause two of this clause to the gaming commission.

* NB Effective until May 28, 2029

* (iii) less any additional vendor's fees. Additional vendor's fees shall be calculated as follows:

(A) when a vendor track is located within region one and is located within Orange county or region two of development zone two, as such zone is defined in section thirteen hundred ten of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law, or is located within region six of such development zone two and is located within Ontario county, the additional vendor fee received by the vendor track shall be calculated pursuant to subclause one of this clause; provided, however, such additional vendor fee shall not exceed ten percent.

(1) The additional vendor fee is a percentage of the total revenue wagered at the vendor track after payout for prizes pursuant to this chapter. That percentage is calculated by subtracting the effective tax rate on all taxable gross gaming revenue paid by a gaming facility within the same region as the vendor track from the percentage that is ninety percent less than the percentage of the vendor track's vendor fee. For purposes of this clause, Seneca and Wayne counties shall be deemed to be located within region six of development zone two.

(2) The additional vendor fee paid pursuant to this clause shall commence with the state fiscal year beginning on April first, two thousand nineteen and shall be paid to a vendor track no later than ninety days after the close of the fiscal year. The additional vendor fee authorized by this clause shall only be applied to revenue wagered at a vendor track while a gaming facility in the same region as that vendor track is open and operating pursuant to an operation certificate issued pursuant to section thirteen hundred thirty-one of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law.

 (B) for a vendor track that is located within Oneida county, within fifteen miles of a Native American class III gaming facility, such additional vendor fee shall be six and four-tenths percent of the total revenue wagered at the vendor after payout for prizes pursuant to this chapter. The vendor track shall forfeit this additional vendor fee for any time period that the vendor track does not maintain at least seventy percent of full-time equivalent employees as they employed in the year two thousand sixteen.

* NB Effective May 28, 2029

1-a. (i) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, any operators of a vendor track or the operators of any other video lottery gaming facility eligible to receive a capital award as of December thirty-first, two thousand eighteen shall deposit from their vendor fee into a segregated account an amount equal to four percent of the first sixty-two million five hundred thousand dollars of revenue wagered at the vendor track after payout for prizes pursuant to this chapter to be used exclusively for capital investments, except for Aqueduct, which shall deposit an amount equal to four percent of all revenue wagered at the video lottery gaming facility after payout for prizes pursuant to this chapter into a segregated account for capital investments.

(ii) Vendor tracks and video lottery gaming facilities shall be permitted to withdraw funds for projects approved by the commission to improve the facilities of the vendor track or video lottery gaming facility which enhance or maintain the video lottery gaming facility including, but not limited to hotels, other lodging facilities, entertainment facilities, retail facilities, dining facilities, events arenas, parking garages and other improvements and amenities customary to a gaming facility, provided, however, the vendor tracks and video lottery gaming facilities shall be permitted to withdraw funds for unreimbursed capital awards approved prior to the effective date of this subparagraph.

(iii) Any proceeds from the divestiture of any assets acquired through these capital funds or any prior capital award must be deposited into this segregated account, provided that if the vendor track or video lottery gaming facility ceases use of such asset for gaming purposes or transfers the asset to a related party, such vendor track or video lottery gaming facility shall deposit an amount equal to the fair market value of that asset into the account.

(iv) In the event a vendor track or video lottery gaming facility ceases gaming operations, any balance in the account along with an amount equal to the value of all remaining assets acquired through this fund or prior capital awards shall be returned to the state for deposit into the state lottery fund for education aid, except for Aqueduct, which shall return to the state for deposit into the state lottery fund for education aid all amounts in excess of the amount needed to fund a project pursuant to an agreement with the operator to construct an expansion of the facility, hotel, and convention and exhibition space requiring a minimum capital investment of three hundred million dollars and any subsequent amendments to such agreement.

(v) The comptroller or his legally authorized representative is authorized to audit any and all expenditures made out of these segregated capital accounts.

(vi) Notwithstanding subparagraphs (i) through (v) of this paragraph, a vendor track located in Ontario county may withdraw up to two million dollars from this account for the purpose of constructing a turf course at the vendor track and may withdraw up to six million dollars in calendar year two thousand nineteen for the purpose of covering ongoing operating expenses.

(vii) Notwithstanding subparagraphs (i) through (vi) of this paragraph, a vendor track located within Saratoga county may withdraw up to three million dollars in calendar year two thousand nineteen for the purpose of covering ongoing operating expenses.

(viii) Any balance remaining in the capital award account of a vendor track or operator or any other video lottery gaming facility as of March thirty-first, two thousand nineteen shall be transferred for deposit into a segregated account established by this subparagraph.

1-b. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, free play allowance credits authorized by the division pursuant to subdivision i of section sixteen hundred seventeen-a of this article shall not be included in the calculation of the total amount wagered on video lottery games, the total amount wagered after payout of prizes, the vendor fees payable to the operators of video lottery gaming facilities, fees payable to the division's video lottery gaming equipment contractors, or racing support payments.

1-c. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, the operator of a vendor track or the operator of any other video lottery gaming facility shall fund a marketing and promotion program out of the vendor's fee. Each operator shall submit an annual marketing plan for the review and approval of the commission and any other required documents detailing promotional activities as prescribed by the commission. The commission shall have the right to reject any advertisement or promotion that does not properly represent the mission or interests of the lottery or its programs.

2. As consideration for the operation of a video lottery gaming facility, the division, shall cause the investment in the racing industry of a portion of the vendor fee received pursuant to paragraph one of this subdivision in the manner set forth in this subdivision. With the exception of Aqueduct racetrack, a video lottery gaming facility authorized pursuant to paragraph five of subdivision a of section sixteen hundred seventeen-a of this article or a facility in the county of Nassau or Suffolk operated by a corporation established pursuant to section five hundred two of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law, each such track shall dedicate a portion of its vendor fees, received pursuant to clause (A), (B), (B-1), (B-2), (C), or (D) of subparagraph (ii) of paragraph one of this subdivision, for the purpose of enhancing purses at such track, in an amount equal to eight and three-quarters percent of the total revenue wagered at the vendor track after pay out for prizes. One percent of the gross purse enhancement amount, as required by this subdivision, shall be paid to the gaming commission to be used exclusively to promote and ensure equine health and safety in New York. Any portion of such funding to the gaming commission unused during a fiscal year shall be returned to the video lottery gaming operators on a pro rata basis in accordance with the amounts originally contributed by each operator and shall be used for the purpose of enhancing purses at such track. One and one-half percent of the gross purse enhancement amount at a thoroughbred track, as required by this subdivision, shall be paid to an account established pursuant to section two hundred twenty-one-a of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law to be used exclusively to provide health insurance for jockeys. In addition, with the exception of Aqueduct racetrack, a video lottery gaming facility authorized pursuant to paragraph five of subdivision a of section sixteen hundred seventeen-a of this article or a facility in the county of Nassau or Suffolk operated by a corporation established pursuant to section five hundred two of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law, one and one-quarter percent of total revenue wagered at the vendor track after pay out for prizes, received pursuant to clause (A), (B), (B-1), (B-2), (C), or (D) of subparagraph (ii) of paragraph one of this subdivision, shall be distributed to the appropriate breeding fund for the manner of racing conducted by such track.

Provided, further, that nothing in this paragraph shall prevent each track from entering into an agreement, not to exceed five years, with the organization authorized to represent its horsemen to increase or decrease the portion of its vendor fee dedicated to enhancing purses at such track during the years of participation by such track, or to race fewer dates than required herein.

3. Nothing in paragraph two of this subdivision shall affect any agreement in effect on or before the effective date of this paragraph, except that the obligation to pay funds to the gaming commission to promote and ensure equine health and safety and the obligation to pay funds to an account established pursuant to section two hundred twenty-one-a of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law to be used exclusively to provide health insurance for jockeys shall supersede any provision to the contrary in any such agreement.

c. 1. The specifications for video lottery gaming, including any joint, multi-jurisdiction, and out-of-state video lottery gaming, shall be designed in such a manner as to pay prizes that average no less than ninety percent of sales.

2. Of the ten percent retained by the division for administrative purposes, any amounts beyond that which are necessary for the operation and administration of this pilot program shall be deposited in the lottery education account.

d. Notwithstanding any law, rule or regulation to the contrary, any successor to the New York Racing Association, Inc. with respect to the operation and maintenance of video lottery gaming at Aqueduct racetrack shall be deemed the successor to the New York Racing Association, Inc. for purposes of being subject to existing contracts and loan agreements, if any, entered into by the New York Racing Association, Inc. directly related to the construction, operation, management and distribution of revenues of the video lottery gaming facility at Aqueduct racetrack.

e. The video lottery gaming operator selected to operate a video lottery terminal facility at Aqueduct will be subject to a memorandum of understanding between the governor, temporary president of the senate and the speaker of the assembly. Notwithstanding subparagraph (i) of paragraph a of subdivision eight of section two hundred twelve of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law, the state, pursuant to an agreement with the video lottery gaming operator to operate a video lottery terminal facility at Aqueduct, may authorize, as part of such agreement or in conjunction with such agreement at the time it is executed, additional development at the Aqueduct racing facility. The selection will be made in consultation with the franchised corporation, but is not subject to such corporation's approval. The franchised corporation shall not be eligible to compete to operate or to operate a video lottery terminal facility at Aqueduct. The state will use its best efforts to ensure that the video lottery terminal facility at Aqueduct is opened as soon as is practicable and will, if practicable, pursue the construction of a temporary video lottery terminal facility at Aqueduct subject to staying within an agreed budget for such video lottery terminal facility and subject to such temporary facility not having an adverse impact on opening of the permanent facility at Aqueduct. To facilitate the opening of the video lottery gaming facility at Aqueduct as soon as is practicable, the division of the lottery may extend the term of any existing contract related to the video lottery system.

f. As consideration for the operation of the video lottery gaming facility at Aqueduct racetrack, the division shall cause the investment in the racing industry of the following percentages of the vendor fee to be deposited or paid, as follows:

1. Six and one-half percent of the total wagered after payout of prizes for the first year of operation of video lottery gaming at Aqueduct racetrack, seven percent of the total wagered after payout of prizes for the second year of operation, and seven and one-half percent of the total wagered after payout of prizes for the third year of operation and thereafter, for the purpose of enhancing purses at Aqueduct racetrack, Belmont Park racetrack and Saratoga race course. One percent of the gross purse enhancement amount, as required by this subdivision, shall be paid to the gaming commission to be used exclusively to promote and ensure equine health and safety in New York. Any portion of such funding to the gaming commission unused during a fiscal year shall be returned on a pro rata basis in accordance with the amounts originally contributed and shall be used for the purpose of enhancing purses at such tracks. One and one-half percent of the gross purse enhancement amount, as required by this subdivision, shall be paid to an account established pursuant to section two hundred twenty-one-a of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law to be used exclusively to provide health insurance for jockeys.

2. One percent of the total wagered after payout of prizes for the first year of operation of video lottery gaming at Aqueduct racetrack, one and one-quarter percent of the total wagered after payout of prizes for the second year of operation, and one and one-half percent of the total wagered after payout of prizes for the third year of operation and thereafter, for an appropriate breeding fund for the manner of racing conducted at Aqueduct racetrack, Belmont Park racetrack and Saratoga race course.

3. (i) Four percent of the total revenue wagered after payout of prizes to be deposited into an account of the franchised corporation established pursuant to section two hundred six of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law to be used for capital expenditures in maintaining and upgrading Aqueduct racetrack, Belmont Park racetrack and Saratoga race course. Capital expenditures may include funding the construction of and initially equipping a state-based equine drug testing and research laboratory to be used pursuant to subdivision seven of section nine hundred two of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law.

(ii) Notwithstanding subparagraph (i) of this paragraph, in the event the state provides funds to the franchised corporation for the renovation of Belmont Park racetrack, out of the amount payable to the franchised corporation for capital expenditures pursuant to subparagraph (i) of this paragraph during any state fiscal year, an amount pursuant to the repayment agreement between the state and the franchised corporation shall instead be deposited into the miscellaneous capital projects fund, New York racing capital improvement fund as required to repay the state for funds provided for the renovation of Belmont Park racetrack. Any amount payable to the franchised corporation in any state fiscal year for capital expenditures pursuant to subparagraph (i) of this paragraph in excess of the amount pursuant to the repayment agreement between the state and the franchised corporation shall be deposited pursuant to subparagraph (i) of this paragraph. Once the state has been fully reimbursed for the costs related to the renovation of Belmont Park racetrack, this subparagraph shall no longer apply and subparagraph (i) of this paragraph shall apply.

4. Three percent of the total revenue wagered after payout for prizes to be deposited into an account of the franchised corporation established pursuant to section two hundred six of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law to be used for general thoroughbred racing operations at Aqueduct racetrack, Belmont Park racetrack and Saratoga race course.

5. Paragraphs one, two, three and four of this subdivision shall be known collectively as the "racing support payments".

f-1. As consideration for operation of video lottery gaming facility located in the county of Nassau or Suffolk and operated by a corporation established pursuant to section five hundred two of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law, the division shall cause the investment in the racing industry of the following percentages of the vendor fee to be deposited or paid as follows:

1. Two and three tenths percent of the total wagered after payout of prizes for the purpose of enhancing purses at Aqueduct racetrack, Belmont Park racetrack and Saratoga race course, provided, however, that any amount that is in excess of the amount necessary to maintain purse support from video lottery gaming at Aqueduct racetrack, Belmont Park racetrack and Saratoga race course at the same level realized in two thousand thirteen, to be adjusted by the consumer price index for all urban consumers, as published annually by the United States department of labor, bureau of labor statistics, shall instead be returned to the commission.

2. five tenths percent of the total wagered after payout of prizes for the appropriate breeding fund for the manner of racing at Aqueduct racetrack, Belmont Park racetrack and Saratoga race course, provided, however, that any amount that is in excess of the amount necessary to maintain payments from video lottery gaming at Aqueduct racetrack at the same level realized in two thousand thirteen, to be adjusted by the consumer price index for all urban consumers, as published annually by the United States department of labor, bureau of labor statistics, shall instead be returned to the commission.

3. (i) one and three tenths percent of the total revenue wagered after payout of prizes to be deposited into an account of the franchised corporation established pursuant to section two hundred six of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law to be used for capital expenditures in maintaining and upgrading Aqueduct racetrack, Belmont Park racetrack and Saratoga race course, provided, however, that any amount that is in excess of the amount necessary to maintain payments for capital expenditures from video lottery gaming at Aqueduct racetrack at the same level realized in two thousand thirteen, to be adjusted by the consumer price index for all urban consumers, as published annually by the United States department of labor, bureau of labor statistics, shall instead be returned to the commission.

(ii) Notwithstanding subparagraph (i) of this paragraph, in the event the state provides funds to the franchised corporation for the renovation of Belmont Park racetrack, and in the event the amount deposited pursuant to subparagraph (ii) of paragraph three of subdivision f of this section is insufficient to make the required repayment pursuant to such subparagraph during any state fiscal year, an amount payable to the franchised corporation for capital expenditures pursuant to subparagraph (i) of this paragraph shall instead be deposited into the miscellaneous capital projects fund, New York racing capital improvement fund to the extent necessary, when combined with the amount set forth in subparagraph (ii) of paragraph three of subdivision f of this section, to make any required repayment of funds provided by the state related to the renovation of Belmont Park racetrack during such fiscal year. Any amount payable to the franchised corporation in any state fiscal year for capital expenditures pursuant to subparagraph (i) of this paragraph in excess of the amount pursuant to the repayment agreement between the state and the franchised corporation shall be deposited pursuant to subparagraph (i) of this paragraph. Once the state has been fully reimbursed for such costs related to the renovation of Belmont Park racetrack, this subparagraph shall no longer apply and subparagraph (i) of this paragraph shall apply.

4. Nine tenths percent of the total revenue wagered after payout for prizes to be deposited into an account of the franchised corporation established pursuant to section two hundred six of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law to be used for general thoroughbred racing operations at Aqueduct racetrack, Belmont Park racetrack and Saratoga race course, provided, however, that any amount that is in excess of the amount necessary to maintain payments for general thoroughbred racing operations from video lottery gaming at Aqueduct racetrack at the same level realized in two thousand thirteen, to be adjusted by the consumer price index for all urban consumers, as published annually by the United States department of labor, bureau of labor statistics, shall instead be returned to the commission.

g. In the event the state elects to construct a video lottery terminal facility at the Aqueduct racetrack, all video lottery terminal revenues payable to the video lottery gaming operator at the Aqueduct racetrack remaining after payment of the racing support payments shall first be used to repay the state's advances for (i) confirmation of the chapter eleven plan of reorganization and cash advances for the franchised corporation's operations following confirmation of the chapter eleven plan of reorganization and (ii) the amount expended by the state to construct such video lottery terminal facility at Aqueduct racetrack pursuant to an agreement with the state. Subparagraphs (i) and (ii) of this paragraph shall be defined as the state advance amount and the amounts payable to the division of the lottery.

h. As consideration for the operation of a video lottery gaming facility located in Orange county, the division shall cause the investment in the racing industry at the following amount from the vendor fee to be paid as follows:

As amount to the horsemen for purses at a licensed racetrack in Sullivan county in an amount equal to eight and three-quarters percent of the total revenue wagered at the video lottery gaming facility, after pay out for prizes. The facility located in Orange county, as defined in paragraph five of subdivision a of section sixteen hundred seventeen-a of this article shall pay to the horsemen at a licensed racetrack at Yonkers racetrack an amount to maintain purses for such horsemen at the same dollar levels realized in two thousand eighteen, to be adjusted by the consumer price index for all urban consumers, as published annually by the United States department of labor bureau of labor statistics. In addition, one and one-quarter percent of total revenue wagered at the video lottery gaming facility after pay out for prizes, received pursuant to clause (B) of subparagraph (ii) of paragraph one of subdivision b of this section, shall be distributed to the appropriate breeding fund for the manner of racing conducted by such track. In no circumstance shall net proceeds of the lottery, including the proceeds from video lottery gaming, be used for the payment of non-lottery expenses of the gaming commission, administrative or otherwise.

for the payment of prize winners shall be subject to a check signed by the director or such officers or employees of the division as the director may designate. The division shall each month provide the comptroller with a record of all such withdrawals from the director's accounts. Payment of prizes shall be made by the division to holders of the tickets to which prizes are awarded, except that payment of any prize drawn may be paid to the estate of a deceased prize winner, may be paid pursuant to a court order granted as a result of a proceeding as provided in subdivision d of this section, and except that any person pursuant to an appropriate judicial order may be paid the prize to which the winner is entitled. The division shall be discharged of all further liability upon payment of a prize pursuant to this subdivision.

b. If the person entitled to a prize on any winning ticket is under the age of eighteen years, and such prize is less than five thousand dollars, the division may make payment by delivery to an adult member of the minor's family or a guardian of the minor of a check or draft payable to the order of such minor. If the person entitled to a prize on any winning ticket is under the age of eighteen years and if such prize is five thousand dollars or more, the division may make payment to such minor by depositing the amount of the prize in any financial institution to the credit of an adult member of the minor's family or a guardian of the minor as custodian for such minor. The person so named as custodian shall have the same duties and powers as a person designated as a custodian in a manner prescribed by part six of article seven of the estates, powers and trusts law, and for purposes of this section the terms "adult", "member of a minor's family", and "guardian" and "financial institution" shall have the same meaning as in said part of said law. The division shall be discharged of all further liability upon payment of a prize to a minor pursuant to this subdivision.

c. 1. Notwithstanding any inconsistent provision of law, the director may award and pay a "Lotto" prize to a claimant without a winning ticket, if:

- (i) the claimant has filed a perfected claim therefor;
- (ii) the perfected claim is for a first prize in excess of five million dollars;

- (iii) at least one year has elapsed since the date of the drawing for which the prize is claimed;
- (iv) no other perfected claim has been filed therefor; and
- (v) the perfected claim has been authenticated by the division.

2. For purposes of this section, a "perfected claim" shall consist of a written request that the prize be awarded and paid to the claimant, accompanied by:

- (i) a "Players Copy" of a claim validation report showing that the original winning lottery ticket was produced by the on-line lottery computer system at the same time and place as the validation of a previous first-prize claim in the "Daily Numbers" game;
- (ii) "Lotto" play cards bearing the same number combinations as were played at such time and place immediately before or immediately following the validation of such "Daily Numbers" first prize claim;
- (iii) a written statement from the licensed lottery sales agent stating that the agent believes the missing ticket was sold to the claimant;
- (iv) a verified written statement explaining the circumstances under which the winning ticket was lost; and
- (v) a filing fee of one hundred dollars.

3. Within thirty days of the receipt of a perfected claim, the division shall attempt to authenticate it by comparing it to the records of the division, including electronic information provided by its on-line service provider. A perfected claim may be deemed "authenticated" if:

- (i) the "Players Copy" and "Lotto" play cards included therewith correspond to the records of the division; and
- (ii) none of the information included in the perfected claim is contradicted by the records of the division.

4. The director may promulgate rules and regulations to implement the provisions of this subdivision.

d. 1. The right of any person to receive payments under a prize that is paid in installments over time by the division may be voluntarily assigned, in whole or in part, if the assignment is made to a person or entity designated pursuant to an order of the supreme court of the county where the assigning prize winner resides or where the headquarters of the division is located. A court may issue an order approving a voluntary assignment and directing the division to make prize payments in whole or in part to the designated assignee, if the court finds that all of the following conditions have been met:

(i) The assignment is in writing, is executed by the assignor, and is, by its terms, subject to the laws of this state.

(ii) The purchase price being paid for the payments being assigned represents a present value of the payments being assigned, discounted at an annual rate that does not exceed ten percentage points over the Wall Street Journal prime rate published on the business day prior to the date of execution of the contract.

(iii) The contract of assignment expressly states that the assignor has three business days after the contract was signed to cancel the assignment.

(iv) The assignor provides a sworn affidavit attesting that he or she:

(A) Is of sound mind, is in full command of his or her faculties, and is not acting under duress;

(B) Has been advised regarding the assignment by his or her own independent legal counsel, who is unrelated to and is not being compensated by the assignee or any of the assignee's affiliates, and has received independent financial or tax advice concerning the effects of the assignment from a lawyer or other professional who is unrelated to and is not being compensated by the assignee or any of the assignee's affiliates;

(C) Understands that he or she will not receive the prize payments or portions thereof for the years assigned;

(D) Understands and agrees that, with regard to the assigned payments, the division and its officials and employees will have no further liability or responsibility to make the assigned payments to him or her;

(E) Has been provided with a one-page written disclosure statement setting forth, in bold type of not less than fourteen points, the payments being assigned, by amounts and payment dates; the purchase price being paid; the rate of discount to present value, assuming daily compounding and funding on the contract date; and the amount, if any, of any origination or closing fees that will be charged to him or her; and

(F) Was advised in writing, at the time he or she signed the assignment contract, that he or she had the right to cancel the contract, without any further obligation, within three business days following the date on which the contract was signed.

(v) Written notice of the proposed assignment and any court hearing concerning the proposed assignment is provided to the division's counsel at least thirty days prior to any court hearing. The division is not required to appear in or be named as a party to any such action seeking judicial confirmation of an assignment under this subdivision, but may intervene as of right in any such proceeding.

2. A certified copy of a court order approving a voluntary assignment must be provided to the division no later than thirty days before the date on which the payment is to be made.

3. A court order obtained pursuant to this section, together with all such prior orders, shall not require the division to divide any single prize payment among more than three different persons. Nothing in this section shall prohibit substituting assignees as long as there are no more than three assignees at any one time for any one-prize payment.

4. If a husband and wife are co-owners of a prize, any assignment of the prize must be made jointly.

5. A voluntary assignment may not include portions of payments that are subject to offset on account of a defaulted or delinquent child support obligation, non-wage garnishment, or criminal restitution obligation or on account of a debt owed to a state agency. Each court order issued under paragraph one of this subdivision shall provide that any delinquent child support or criminal restitution obligations of the assigning prize winner and any debts owed to a state agency by the assigning prize winner, as of the date of the court order, shall be set off by the division first against remaining payments or portions thereof due the prize winner and then against payments due the assignee.

6. The division and its respective officials and employees shall be discharged of all liability upon payment of an assigned prize under this subdivision. The assignor and assignee shall hold harmless and indemnify the division, the state of New York, and its employees and agents from all claims, actions, suits, complaints, and liabilities related to the assignment.

7. The division may establish a reasonable fee to defray any administrative expenses associated with assignments made under this subdivision, including the cost to the division of any processing fee that may be imposed by a private annuity provider. The fee amount shall reflect the direct and indirect costs associated with processing assignments.

8. If at any time the Internal Revenue Service or a court of competent jurisdiction issues a determination letter, revenue ruling, other public ruling of the Internal Revenue Service, or published decision to the division or to any lottery prize winners declaring that the voluntary assignment of prizes will affect the federal income tax treatment of prize winners who do not assign their prizes, the division shall immediately file a copy of that letter, ruling, or published decision with the attorney general, the secretary of state, and the administrative office of court administration. A court may not issue an order authorizing a voluntary assignment under this subdivision after the date any such ruling, letter, or published decision is filed.

9. A contract of assignment in which the assignor is a lottery winner shall include a sworn affidavit from the assignee. The form of the affidavit shall include:

- (i) A summary of assignee contacts with the winner;
 - (ii) A summary of any law suits, claims, and other legal actions from lottery winners regarding conduct of the assignee or its agents;
 - (iii) A statement that the assignee is in good standing in its state of domicile and with any other licensing or regulatory agency as may be required in the conduct of its business;
 - (iv) A brief business history of the assignee;
 - (v) A statement describing the nature of the business of the assignee;
- and

(vi) A statement of the assignee's privacy and non-harassment policies and express affirmation that the assignee has followed those policies in New York.

10. The assignee shall notify the division of its business location and mailing address for payment purposes during the entire course of the assignment. The division shall be discharged of all further liability upon payment of a prize pursuant to this subdivision.

§ 1613-a. Crediting of lottery prizes against past-due support. (1)

The director of the lottery, on behalf of the division of the lottery, shall enter into a written agreement with the commissioner of the office of temporary and disability assistance, on behalf of the state office of temporary and disability assistance, which shall set forth the procedures for crediting any lottery prize of six hundred dollars or more awarded to an individual, estate or trust against past-due support owed by such individual, estate or trust of which the director of the lottery has been notified by the commissioner of the office of temporary and disability assistance pursuant to the provisions of such agreement.

(2) Such agreement shall apply to past-due support which is owed to persons or entities entitled to enforce an order of support with respect to persons receiving services pursuant to title six-A of article three of the social services law. For purposes of this section, an "order of support" means any final order, decree or judgment in a matrimonial action or family court proceeding, or any foreign support order, decree or judgment which is registered pursuant to article five-B of the family court act, which requires the payment of alimony, maintenance, support or child support. For purposes of this section, "past-due support" means the amount of a delinquency determined from an order of support no longer subject to appellate judicial review.

(3) Such agreement shall include:

(a) the procedure under which the state office of temporary and disability assistance shall notify the division of the lottery of liability for past-due support, such procedure to specify when the division of the lottery shall be notified and the content of such notification;

(b) the minimum period of delinquency in payment of past-due support and the minimum amount of past-due support with respect to which the division of the lottery shall, pursuant to this section, credit any lottery prize of six hundred dollars or more against past-due support;

(c) the procedure for reimbursement of the division of the lottery by the state office of temporary and disability assistance for the full cost of carrying out the procedures authorized by this section; and

(d) such other matters as the parties to such agreement shall deem necessary to carry out the provisions of this section.

(4) Prior to awarding any lottery prize of six hundred dollars or more, the division of the lottery shall review the notice of liability of past-due support provided by the state office of temporary and disability assistance. For each lottery prize winner identified on such notice as an individual, estate or trust owing past-due support, the lottery division shall credit to the state office of temporary and disability assistance such amount of the prize to satisfy the past-due support, and any remainder shall be awarded to the prize winner. In cases where the prize winner owes past-due support to more than one person or entity, and the total amount of past-due support provided in the notice of liability of past-due support to the division of the lottery by the state office of temporary and disability assistance exceeds the balance remaining, each such person or entity shall receive a pro rata share of the balance remaining, such share to be based on the amount of past-due support owed to such person or entity as provided to the division of the lottery by such office pursuant to this section. The state office of temporary and disability assistance shall be responsible for determining and distributing each person's or entity's pro rata share of past-due support pursuant to regulations of such office.

(5) The division of the lottery shall certify to the comptroller the total amount of the lottery prize winning to be credited against past-due support and the remainder of such prize winning to be awarded to the prize winner.

(6) The division of the lottery shall notify the prize winner in writing of the total amount of the lottery prize winning to be credited against past-due support and the remainder of such prize winning to be awarded to the prize winner. Such notice shall further advise the prize winner that the office of temporary and disability assistance shall provide separate notice, in writing, to the prize winner of the procedure for and time frame by which the prize winner may contest such crediting.

(7) The office of temporary and disability assistance shall notify the prize winner in writing, of the amount of such prize winning to be credited against past-due support and the procedure and time frame by which the prize winner may contest such crediting based on defenses that are not subject to family court jurisdiction. Such procedure shall include the address and telephone number of the local department of social services' support collection unit which may be contacted with respect to correction of any error in such crediting concerning such individual's, estate's or trust's liability for past-due support or with respect to payment of such liability.

(8) (a) For purposes of this section, past-due support owed to persons who are receiving services pursuant to title six-A of article three of the social services law may include:

(i) amounts representing delinquencies which have accrued under a court order of support; or

(ii) with respect to any court order of support made which establishes an arrears amount, the entire amount of such arrears.

(b) For the purpose of the state child support enforcement program, any payment made by a respondent which is insufficient to fully satisfy both the current support obligations and a periodic payment toward the balance of any arrears amount established by court order shall be first applied toward the current support obligation or any delinquency thereon and then toward the periodic payment on any arrears amount established by court order unless otherwise required by federal regulation.

(9) From the time the division of the lottery is notified by the state office of temporary and disability assistance of an individual's, estate's or trust's liability for past-due support under the agreement provided for in this section, the division of the lottery and the department shall be relieved from all liability to such individual, estate or trust, their assigns, successors, heirs or representatives for the amount of any lottery prize winning of six hundred dollars or more certified to the comptroller to be credited against past-due support and such individual, estate or trust shall have no right to commence a court action or proceeding or to any other legal recourse against the division of the lottery or the department to recover such overpayment or such interest certified to the comptroller to be credited against past-due support. Provided, however, nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit such individual, estate or trust from proceeding against the state office of temporary and disability assistance or the appropriate local social services district to recover that part of such overpayment or interest thereon so certified to the comptroller to be credited against past-due support which is greater than the amount of past-due support owed by such individual, estate or trust on the date of such certification.

(10) The division of the lottery shall promulgate such rules and regulations as it deems necessary to carry out the provisions of this section.

§ 1613-b. Crediting of lottery prizes against public assistance benefits. (1) Notwithstanding any limitations in section one hundred four of the social services law, the director of the lottery, on behalf of the division of the lottery, shall enter into a written agreement with the commissioner of the office of temporary and disability assistance, on behalf of the office of temporary and disability assistance, which shall set forth the procedures for crediting any lottery prize of six hundred dollars or more awarded to an individual against any and all public assistance benefits which were given to or on behalf of such individual within a period of up to ten years prior to the issuance of such prize of which the director of the lottery has been notified by the commissioner of the office of temporary and disability assistance pursuant to the provisions of such agreement; provided, however, that in no event shall such credit to the office of temporary and disability assistance exceed fifty percent of any such lottery prize and provided further that, unless otherwise determined cost effective by the commissioner of the office of temporary and disability assistance and the director of the lottery such procedure shall be required only to the extent that and with respect to periods for which it can be effected through automated type match.

(2) Such agreement shall include: (a) the procedure under which the office of temporary and disability assistance and the division of the lottery shall exchange information concerning lottery winnings and persons liable for receipt of public assistance within the previous ten years;

(b) subject to the approval of the director of the budget the procedure for reimbursement of the division of the lottery by the office of temporary and disability assistance for the additional cost of carrying out the procedures authorized by this section;

(c) provision for crediting lottery prizes to past-due support in accordance with subdivisions ten and eleven of section one hundred eleven-b of the social services law prior to effecting any such credit against public assistance; and

(d) such other matters as the parties to such agreement shall deem necessary to carry out the provisions of this section.

(3) Prior to awarding any lottery prize of six hundred dollars or more, the division of the lottery shall review the notice of liability of public assistance benefits paid provided by the office of temporary and disability assistance. For each lottery prize winner identified on such notice as an individual, who is receiving or has received, within the last ten years, public assistance benefits, the lottery division shall credit to the office of temporary and disability assistance such amount of the prize to satisfy the amount of public assistance benefits indicated as received within the previous ten years, and any remainder shall be awarded to the prize winner; provided, however, that in no event shall such credit to the office of temporary and disability assistance exceed fifty percent of any such lottery prize.

(4) The division of the lottery shall certify to the comptroller the total amount of the lottery prize winning to be credited against public assistance benefits owed to the state and the remainder of such prize winning to be awarded to the prize winner.

(5) The division of the lottery shall notify the prize winner in writing of the total amount of the lottery prize winning to be credited against public assistance benefits and the remainder of such prize winning to be awarded to the prize winner. Such notice shall further advise the prize winner that the office of temporary and disability assistance shall provide separate notice, in writing, to the prize winner of the procedure for and time frame by which the prize winner may contest such crediting.

(6) The office of temporary and disability assistance shall notify the prize winner in writing, of the amount of such prize winning to be credited against public assistance benefits and the procedure and time frame by which the prize winner may contest such crediting. Such procedure shall include the address and telephone number of the office of temporary and disability assistance and who the prize winner may contact with respect to correction of any error in such crediting concerning such individual's liability for public assistance benefits or with respect to payment of such liability.

(7) From the time the division of the lottery is notified by the office of temporary and disability assistance of an individual's liability for public assistance benefits under the agreement provided for in this section, the division of the lottery shall be relieved from all liability to such individual, their assigns, successors, heirs or representatives for the amount of any lottery prize winning of six hundred dollars or more certified to the comptroller to be credited against public assistance benefits and such individual shall have no right to commence a court action or proceeding or to any other legal recourse against the division of the lottery to recover such lottery winnings certified to the comptroller to be credited against public assistance benefits. Provided, however, nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit such individual from proceeding against the office of temporary and disability assistance to recover that part of such lottery winnings thereon so certified to the comptroller to be credited against public assistance benefits which is greater than the amount of public assistance benefits paid to such individual within ten years of the date of such certification.

(8) The division of the lottery shall promulgate such rules and regulations as it deems necessary to carry out the provisions of this section.

§ 1613-c. Crediting of lottery prizes against liabilities for taxes administered by the commissioner. (1) The director, on behalf of the division, shall enter into a written agreement with the commissioner, on behalf of the department, within sixty days of the effective date of this section, which will set forth procedures for crediting lottery prizes of more than six hundred dollars awarded to holders of winning lottery tickets, whether individuals, corporations, associations, companies, partnerships, limited liability partnerships or companies, partners, members, managers, estates, trust fiduciaries or entities, against past due tax liabilities owed by such holders for any tax administered by the commissioner, about which the director has been notified by the commissioner pursuant to the provisions of such agreement.

(2) Such agreement shall apply to any past due tax liability which arises from (i) an enforceable warrant or judgment, (ii) an enforceable determination of an administrative body which is no longer subject to administrative or judicial review, or (iii) an assessment or determination (including self-assessment or self-assessed determination) which has become final or finally and irrevocably fixed and no longer subject to administrative or judicial review.

(3) Such agreement shall include:

(a) the procedure under which the department will notify the division of tax liabilities, including when the division will be notified and the content of that notification;

(b) the procedure for reimbursement of the division by the department for the cost of carrying out the procedures authorized by this section; and

(c) any other matters the parties to the agreement deem necessary to carry out the provisions of this section.

(4) Prior to awarding lottery prizes of more than six hundred dollars, the division shall review the most recent notice of tax liabilities provided by the commissioner. For holders of winning lottery tickets identified on that notice, the division shall credit to the department the amount of each holder's prize necessary to satisfy that holder's tax liability, and the remainder of the prize shall be awarded to the holder of the winning ticket.

(5) If the division has also received a notice of liability of a prize winner for past-due support or public assistance benefits pursuant to section sixteen hundred thirteen-a or sixteen hundred thirteen-b of this article, then the amount of any prize shall be first credited or applied to the income tax required to be withheld by law, then as required by section sixteen hundred thirteen-a or sixteen hundred thirteen-b of this article, then to the past due tax liability as required by this section. The balance will then be paid to the holder of the winning lottery ticket.

(6) The division shall certify to the comptroller the total amount of the lottery prize to be credited against past due tax liabilities and the remainder of the prize to be awarded to the holder of the winning lottery ticket.

(7) The division shall notify the holder of the winning lottery ticket, in writing, of the total amount of the lottery prize credited against past due tax liabilities and the remainder of the prize to be awarded to the holder. That notice must also advise the holder that the department will provide separate notice, in writing, of the procedure for and time frame by which the holder may contest such crediting.

(8) The department shall notify the holder of the winning lottery ticket, in writing, of the amount of a prize to be credited against past due tax liabilities and the procedure for and time frame by which the holder may contest the crediting of the prize.

(9) From the time the division is notified by the department of a past due tax liability of a holder of a winning lottery ticket, the division shall be relieved from all liability to the holder, and the holder's heirs, representatives, estate, successors or assigns for the amount of a prize certified to the comptroller to be credited against past due tax liabilities and the holder and the holder's heirs, representatives, estate, successor or assigns shall have no right to commence a court action or proceeding or to any other legal recourse against the division to recover any amount certified to the comptroller to be credited against past due tax liabilities. Provided however, nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit a holder of a winning lottery ticket and the holder's heirs, representatives, estate, successors or assigns from proceeding against the department to recover the part of the prize certified to the comptroller and credited to past due tax liabilities which is greater than the amount of past due tax liabilities owed by that holder on the date of certification.

(10) Notwithstanding any law to the contrary, the department and its officers and employees may furnish to the division any abstract of any tax return or report, or any information concerning an item contained in any such return or report or disclosed by any investigation of tax liability under this chapter, but only for the purpose of crediting lottery prizes against past due tax liabilities described in subdivision two of this section.

§ 1614. Unclaimed and abandoned prize money. a. No prize claim shall be valid if submitted to the commission following the expiration of a one-year time period from the date of the drawing or from the close of the game in which a prize was won, and the person otherwise entitled to such prize shall forfeit any claim or entitlement to such prize moneys. Unclaimed prize money, plus interest earned thereon, shall be retained in the lottery prize account to be used for payment of special lotto or supplemental lotto prizes offered pursuant to the plan or plans specified in this article, or for promotional purposes to supplement other games on an occasional basis not to exceed sixteen weeks within any twelve month period pursuant to the plan or plans specified in this article.

Furthermore, the commission shall not use funds from such lottery prize account for such payments, as provided herein, in excess of sixty million dollars in any fiscal year. All unclaimed prize money in excess of the sixty million dollars spending limitation shall, at the end of the fiscal year, be paid into the state treasury to the credit of the state lottery fund created by section ninety-two-c of the state finance law.

In the event that the director proposes to change any plan for the use of unclaimed prize funds or in the event the director intends to use funds in a game other than the game from which such unclaimed prize funds were derived, the director of the budget, the chairperson of the senate finance committee, and the chairperson of the assembly ways and means committee shall be notified in writing separately detailing the proposed changes to any plan prior to the implementation of the changes.

b. The division may determine that a prize has been abandoned whenever more than eighteen months have elapsed since a prize payment check was mailed to the last known address of the claimant and either such check has been returned undelivered by the United States postal service and the claimant cannot be located or such check has not been returned undelivered and has not been presented for payment. Any prize so determined to have been abandoned shall be paid to the state comptroller pursuant to section thirteen hundred fifteen of the abandoned property law.

§ 1615. Fiscal year of lottery, reporting requirements and fiscal planning. a. All books, accounts and records of the division, relating to the state lottery, shall be kept by fiscal years beginning on the first day of April and ending on the thirty-first day of March next following. The division shall separately identify the actual sales receipts, prizes, appropriations and expenditures for advertising and promotions, reserves and the interest thereon by type by game, and the source and use of unclaimed prize funds by type by game on an accrual and cash basis where both are available and on an accrual or cash basis where both are not available.

b. The director shall submit to the director of the budget, the chairperson of the senate finance committee and the chairperson of the assembly ways and means committee, an annual plan detailing the projected use of appropriations for advertising and promotions, reserves and the interest thereon by type by game, and the source and use of unclaimed prize funds by type by game. Such plan shall be submitted not later than submission of the executive budget to the legislature each year and shall be updated quarterly on or before May fifteenth, August fifteenth and November fifteenth of any given calendar year. Such plan shall be considered the financial plan to be followed by the division in the subsequent fiscal year unless modified during legislative deliberations on the state budget. Such plan or update thereto shall include any plans for the introduction of a new game prior to its introduction and shall be subject to subdivision a of section sixteen hundred fourteen of this article.

c. Such plan and any update thereto shall describe the specific amount of funds to be used to implement each element of the plan by type by game on an accrual and cash basis where both are available and on an accrual or cash basis where both are not available. They shall include the intended duration of such use, the revenues expected to be generated by such use, the actual sales, prize awards, appropriations and expenditures for advertising and promotions, reserves and the interest thereon, and the source and use of unclaimed prize funds by type by game, and such other information as the director deems appropriate. Such plan and any update thereto shall also describe an evaluation of the previous quarterly and fiscal year-to-date losses or gains therefrom. Such updates shall report estimated year-end balances pursuant to the plan and adjusted estimated year-end balances based on updates to the plan by type by game.

d. Such plan and any update thereto shall include information on the implementation and ongoing operation of a lottery game established pursuant to paragraph one of subdivision a of section sixteen hundred twelve of this article. Such information shall include, but not be limited to, a statewide and a county by county breakdown of premises with television equipment that automatically displays the results of such game including:

- (1) the total number of such premises;
- (2) the total sales of such premises;
- (3) the average sales per hour of operation of such game;
- (4) the average and median square footage of such premises as defined by item (i) of subparagraph (A) of paragraph one of subdivision a of section sixteen hundred twelve of this article;
- (5) the total number of such premises and total sales by type as defined by item (i) or (ii) of subparagraph (A) of paragraph one of subdivision a of section sixteen hundred twelve of this article.

In addition, the nineteen hundred ninety-eight--ninety-nine annual plan shall include an evaluation, done in conjunction with the commissioner of mental health, of the impact of a lottery game, established pursuant to paragraph one of subdivision a of section sixteen hundred twelve of this article, on compulsive gambling.

§ 1616. Continuation of licenses. All licenses issued by the commissioner to lottery sales agents prior to the effective date of this act shall continue in effect by their terms and subject to the general jurisdiction of the division.

§ 1617. Joint, multi-jurisdiction, and out-of-state lottery. The director may enter into an agreement with a government-authorized group of one or more other jurisdictions providing for the operation and administration of a joint, multi-jurisdiction, and out-of-state lottery. Such a joint, multi-jurisdiction, and out-of-state lottery game or games may include a combined drawing, a combined prize pool, the transfer of sales and prize monies to other jurisdictions as may be necessary, and such other cooperative arrangements as the director deems necessary or desirable.

§ 1617-a. Video lottery gaming. a. The gaming commission is hereby authorized to license, pursuant to rules and regulations to be promulgated by the gaming commission, the operation of video lottery gaming at;

(1) Aqueduct, Monticello, Yonkers, Finger Lakes, and Vernon Downs racetracks;

(2) any other racetrack licensed pursuant to article three of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law located in a county or counties in which video lottery gaming has been authorized pursuant to local law, excluding the licensed racetrack commonly referred to in article three of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law as the "New York state exposition" held in Onondaga county and the racetracks of the non-profit racing association known as Belmont Park racetrack and the Saratoga thoroughbred racetrack;

(3) a maximum of two facilities, which shall be vendors for all purposes under this article established within region three of zone one as defined by section one thousand three hundred ten of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law, one each operated by a corporation established pursuant to section five hundred two of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law in the Suffolk region and the Nassau region to be located within a facility authorized pursuant to sections one thousand eight or one thousand nine of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law, provided however, that in the Nassau region such facility shall not exceed one thousand video lottery gaming devices and in the Suffolk region such facility shall not exceed two thousand video lottery gaming devices; and

(4) Aqueduct racetrack, within the lottery terminal facility, pursuant to an agreement between the corporation established pursuant to section five hundred two of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law in the Nassau region and the operator of video lottery gaming at Aqueduct racetrack, when such agreement is approved by the gaming commission and as long as such agreement is in place, and when such agreement is accompanied by a detailed spending plan for the corporation established pursuant to section five hundred two of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law in the Nassau region, which includes a plan for the timely payment of liabilities due to the franchised corporation, and when such video lottery devices are hosted by the operator of video lottery gaming at Aqueduct racetrack on behalf of the corporation established pursuant to section five hundred two of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law in the Nassau region in lieu of the development of a facility in Nassau county as authorized by paragraph three of subdivision a of this section. Such agreement reached by the parties shall identify the agency principally responsible for funding, approving or undertaking any actions of such agreement. Provided, however, nothing in this paragraph shall infringe upon the rights of the corporation established pursuant to section five hundred two of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law in the Nassau region to develop a facility pursuant to paragraph three of this subdivision upon the expiration, termination, or withdrawal of such agreement.

(5) At a facility located in Orange county to be operated by the entity otherwise licensed to operate video lottery gaming at Monticello racetrack, provided that: (i) such licensed entity is no longer operating video lottery gaming at Monticello racetrack and provided that Monticello racetrack is conducting racing operations; (ii) such facility in Orange county is not sited within a thirty mile radius of the video lottery gaming facility at Yonkers racetrack; and (iii) the licensed entity, its subsidiaries and affiliates, including the entity licensed to operate a commercial gaming facility in Sullivan county, and the entity licensed to operate video lottery gaming at Yonkers racetrack enter into a mitigation agreement, to be approved by the gaming commission, which shall include, but not be limited to, terms that require: (A) the operator of the facility in Orange county to make an annual payment to the entity licensed to operate video lottery gaming or commercial gaming at Yonkers racetrack to account for the effects that siting such facility in Orange county would likely have on the gross gaming revenue of the entity licensed to operate at Yonkers racetrack; (B) employment levels at the affected facilities; and (C) that upon expiration or termination of the agreement, the authority to operate video lottery gaming in Orange county shall cease. Notwithstanding any other provision of this subdivision, at no time shall an entity operating video lottery gaming in Orange county be permitted to apply for or receive a license to operate a commercial gaming facility in that county.

(6) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, as a condition of the license to operate a video lottery gaming facility located in Orange county, such operator shall provide an annual certification to the New York state gaming commission that the staffing levels at a commercial gaming facility located in zone two, region one pursuant to section thirteen hundred ten of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law (or any successor commercial gaming facility located in said region) are no less than one thousand four hundred seventy-three full-time, permanent employees. In furtherance of and without limiting the foregoing, the licensee for the commercial gaming facility located in zone two, region one pursuant to section thirteen hundred ten of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law (or any successor commercial gaming facility located in such region) shall not conduct any mass, involuntary layoff events that would trigger worker adjustment and retraining notification (WARN) act notifications pursuant to article twenty-five-A of the labor law or otherwise result in the employment levels at such facility dropping below levels mandated by this section. For purposes of this section, "full-time, permanent employee" shall mean an employee who has worked at the facility for a minimum of thirty-five hours per week for not less than four consecutive weeks and who is entitled to receive the usual and customary fringe benefits extended to other employees with comparable rank and duties; or two part-time employees who have worked at the facility for a combined minimum of thirty-five hours per week for not less than four consecutive weeks and who are entitled to receive the usual and customary fringe benefits extended to other employees with comparable rank and duties.

(7) The village of Monticello, Sullivan county, the town of Thompson, Sullivan county, and Sullivan county shall continue to receive assistance payments made pursuant to section fifty-four-1 of the state finance law.

b. Such rules and regulations shall provide, as a condition of licensure, that racetracks to be licensed are certified to be in compliance with all state and local fire and safety codes, that the gaming commission is afforded adequate space, infrastructure, and amenities consistent with industry standards for such video lottery gaming operations as found at racetracks in other states, that racetrack employees involved in the operation of video lottery gaming pursuant to this section are licensed by the gaming commission and such other terms and conditions of licensure as the gaming commission may establish. Notwithstanding any inconsistent provision of law, video lottery gaming at a racetrack pursuant to this section shall be deemed an approved activity for such racetrack under the relevant city, county, town, or village land use or zoning ordinances, rules, or regulations. No entity licensed by the gaming commission operating video lottery gaming pursuant to this section may house such gaming activity in a structure deemed or approved by the division as "temporary" for a duration of longer than eighteen-months. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the gaming commission from licensing an entity to operate video lottery gaming at an existing racetrack as authorized in this subdivision whether or not a different entity is licensed to conduct horse racing and pari-mutuel wagering at such racetrack pursuant to article two or three of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law.

The gaming commission shall establish standards for approval of the temporary and permanent physical layout and construction of any facility or building devoted to a video lottery gaming operation. In reviewing such application for the construction or reconstruction of facilities related or devoted to the operation or housing of video lottery gaming operations, the gaming commission shall ensure that such facility:

(1) possesses superior consumer amenities and conveniences to encourage and attract the patronage of tourists and other visitors from across the region, state, and nation.

(2) has adequate motor vehicle parking facilities to satisfy patron requirements.

(3) has a physical layout and location that facilitates access to and from the horse racing track portion of such facility to encourage patronage of live horse racing events that are conducted at such track.

c. The terminals authorized pursuant to paragraph four of subdivision a of this section shall:

(i) be deemed as operated by the corporation established pursuant to section five hundred two of the racing, pari-mutuel wagering and breeding law in the Nassau region for the purposes of section sixteen hundred twelve of this chapter and the distributions therefrom made as if the video lottery devices were located in Nassau county;

(ii) consist exclusively of electronic table games, unless otherwise approved by the gaming commission and the director of the division of the budget; and

(iii) be individually designated as hosted.

d. Notwithstanding any law, rule or regulation to the contrary, absent the enactment of sufficient alternative revenue sources for the franchised corporation in a chapter of law providing a statutory plan for the prospective not-for-profit governing structure of The New York Racing Association, Inc., any agreement for the operation of terminals authorized pursuant to paragraph four of subdivision a of this section shall require the operator of video lottery gaming at Aqueduct racetrack to maintain racing support for general thoroughbred racing operations and capital expenditures from video lottery gaming at Aqueduct racetrack, at the same level realized in two thousand thirteen, to be adjusted by the consumer price index for all urban consumers, as published annually by the United States department of labor, bureau of labor statistics.

e. Video lottery gaming shall only be permitted for no more than twenty consecutive hours per day and on no day shall such operation be conducted past 6:00 a.m.

f. The gaming commission shall promulgate such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the implementation of video lottery gaming in accordance with the provisions of this section and paragraph five of subdivision a of section sixteen hundred twelve of this article.

g. All workers engaged in the construction, reconstruction, development, rehabilitation, or maintenance of any area for the purpose of the installation, maintenance, or removal of video lottery gaming terminals shall be subject to the provisions of articles eight and nine of the labor law to the extent provided in such articles.

h. The gaming commission shall not approve the construction or alteration of any facility or building devoted to the operation or housing of video lottery gaming until the person or entity selected to operate such video lottery gaming shall have submitted to the gaming commission a statement of the location of the proposed facility or building, together with a plan of such racetrack, and plans of all existing buildings, seating stands and other structures on the grounds of such racetrack, in such form as the gaming commission may prescribe, and such plans shall have been approved by the gaming commission. The gaming commission, at the expense of the applicant, may order such engineering examination thereof as the gaming commission may deem necessary. Such construction or alteration may be made only with the approval of the gaming commission and after examination and inspection of the plans thereof and the issuance of a permit by the gaming commission.

i. (1) The gaming commission may administer a free play allowance program to offer players or prospective players of video lottery games free play credits for the purpose of increasing revenues earned by the video lottery gaming program for the support of education. For the purposes of this subdivision, "free play allowance credit" means a specified dollar amount that (i) may be used by a player to play a video lottery game without paying any other consideration, and (ii) is not used in the calculation of total revenue wagered after payout of prizes.

(2) For each video lottery gaming facility, the gaming commission shall authorize the use of free play allowance credits if the operator of such facility submits a written plan for the use of the free play allowance that the gaming commission determines is designed to increase the amount of revenue earned by video lottery gaming at such facility for the support of education.

(3) For each video lottery facility, the annual value of the free play allowance credits authorized for use by the operator pursuant to this subdivision shall not exceed an amount equal to fifteen percent of the total amount wagered on video lottery games after payout of prizes. The gaming commission shall establish procedures to assure that free play allowance credits do not exceed such amount.

(4) The gaming commission, in conjunction with the director of the budget, may suspend the use of free play allowance credits authorized pursuant to this subdivision whenever they jointly determine that the use of free play allowance credits are not effective in increasing the amount of revenue earned for the support of education, and such use may not be resumed unless the operator of such facility submits a new or revised written plan for the use of the free play allowance that the gaming commission determines is designed more effectively to produce an increase in the amount of revenue earned by video lottery gaming at such facility for the support of education.

(5) Nothing in this subdivision shall be deemed to prohibit the operator of a video lottery facility from offering free play credits to players or prospective players of video lottery games when the value of such free play credits is included in the calculation of the total amount wagered on video lottery games and the total amount wagered after payout of prizes, and the operator of such facility pays the gaming commission the full amount due as the result of such calculations.

(6) The gaming commission may amend the contract with the provider of the central computer system that controls the video lottery network during the term of such contract in effect on the effective date of this subdivision to provide additional consideration to such provider in an amount determined by the gaming commission to be necessary to compensate for (i) processing free play allowance transactions and (ii) system updates and modifications otherwise needed as of such effective date.

j. Every video lottery gaming license, and every renewal license, shall be valid for a period of five years, except that video lottery gaming licenses issued before the effective date of this subdivision shall be for a term expiring on the applicant's next birthday following June thirtieth, two thousand fourteen.

The gaming commission may decline to renew any license after notice and an opportunity for hearing if it determines that:

(1) the licensee has violated section one thousand six hundred seven of this article;

(2) the licensee has violated any rule, regulation or order of the gaming commission;

(3) the applicant or its officers, directors or significant stockholders, as determined by the gaming commission, have been convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude; or

(4) that the character or fitness of the licensee and its officers, directors, and significant stockholders, as determined by the gaming commission is such that the participation of the applicant in video lottery gaming or related activities would be inconsistent with the public interest, convenience or necessity or with the best interests of video lottery gaming generally.

k. The gaming commission, subject to notice and an opportunity for hearing, may revoke, suspend, and condition the license of the video lottery gaming licensee, order the video lottery gaming licensee to terminate the continued appointment, position or employment of officers and directors, or order the video lottery gaming licensee to require significant stockholders to divest themselves of all interests in the video lottery gaming licensee.

§ 1618. Special drawings. a. General. The division may hold special prize drawings each of which shall guarantee as a first prize to the winner or winners an amount of not less than fifty million dollars, including interest, such prize to be paid in a manner which the director shall determine.

b. Reports. The division shall produce and issue a report, in such format as the director may prescribe, no more than sixty days after a prize drawing is held pursuant to subdivision a of this section. Such report shall include at a minimum the following information pertaining to such drawing: (1) sales revenue and prize distributions to include amounts available for future special drawings, (2) administrative costs paid or otherwise payable or distributed to agents, vendors and contractors, (3) an analysis of the effect on sales of other game drawings held during the period of time that tickets for a special prize drawing were available to the public. A copy of such report will be provided to the director of the budget, the chairman of the senate finance committee and the chairman of the assembly ways and means committee.

§ 1620. Request for proposals required. a. In the event that the division determines to implement any on-line lottery game whether known as "Quick Draw" or by any other name, the division shall not acquire, whether by purchase, lease or otherwise, any equipment or services for the purpose of such game, except pursuant to a request for proposals. No contract existing prior to the effective date of this section, or any amendment of such contract during the initial term thereof, or during any extension of such term permitted by an option existing as of the effective date of this section, shall be subject to the provisions of this section.

b. Requests for proposals issued pursuant to this section shall be widely distributed to all responsible firms identified by the division as capable of providing similar equipment and services.

c. The division is hereby authorized to obtain criminal background information on any proposer for the purpose of determining whether such proposer has engaged in conduct which would be prejudicial to public confidence in the state lottery. In connection therewith, the division shall require in its request for proposals each proposer to submit identifying information which may include fingerprints. Such information shall be required from each officer, director, principal, investor, owner, subcontractor, or employee of the proposer as the division deems appropriate unless the division makes a written finding that such information is not required to protect public confidence in the state lottery.

d. The division may, after providing notice and an opportunity for a hearing pursuant to the state administrative procedure act, disqualify any proposer which itself, or any officer, director, principal, investor, owner, subcontractor, or employee is found to have committed a felony under the laws of the United States or under the laws of the state of New York or any other state or foreign jurisdiction or any crime relating to gaming activities or public contracting, or which is otherwise found to have engaged in conduct which would be prejudicial to public confidence in the state lottery. If the division awards a contract to a person who has committed such a crime or engaged in such conduct the division shall submit to the comptroller a written finding explaining such award.

e. This section shall not apply to any equipment or services acquired through a governmental agency or instrumentality.

f. Prior to extending the initial term of contracts existing prior to the effective date of this section, the division shall update the criminal background information of the holders of such contracts; provided, however a contract existing as of the effective date of this section shall not be extended beyond the year two thousand two.

ARTICLE 36

COMPLIANCE AND ENFORCEMENT INITIATIVES

Section 1700. Voluntary disclosure and compliance program.

1701. Financial institution data match system for state tax collection purposes.

1703. Information returns relating to payments made in settlement of payment card and third party network transactions.

§ 1700. Voluntary disclosure and compliance program. 1.

Notwithstanding the provisions of any other law to the contrary, there is hereby established a voluntary disclosure and compliance program, as described in this section, to be administered by the commissioner, for all eligible taxpayers as described in this section, owing any tax imposed or previously imposed under this chapter or administered by the commissioner.

2. For purposes of the voluntary disclosure and compliance program established under this section, an eligible taxpayer is an individual, partnership, estate, trust, corporation, limited liability company, joint stock company, or any other company, trustee, receiver, assignee, referee, society, association, business or any other person subject to a tax imposed by or pursuant to the authority of this chapter or any other law imposing administrative tax responsibilities on the commissioner and who meets the following criteria: (1) the taxpayer is not currently under audit by the department; (2) the taxpayer is one who is voluntarily disclosing a New York tax liability that the department has not determined, calculated, researched or identified at the time of the disclosure; (3) the taxpayer is not currently a party to any criminal investigation being conducted by an agency of the state or any political subdivision thereof; and (4) the taxpayer is not seeking to disclose participation in a tax avoidance transaction that is a federal or New York state reportable or listed transaction.

3. Under the voluntary disclosure and compliance program, upon execution of a voluntary disclosure and compliance agreement by the eligible taxpayer and the commissioner, the commissioner shall waive any applicable penalties (including the additional rate of interest prescribed under section eleven hundred forty-five of this chapter) for the following: (1) failure to pay any such tax liability; (2) failure to file a return or report with respect to any such tax liability; and (3) failure to pay estimated tax. In addition, no criminal action or proceeding shall be brought against an eligible taxpayer relating to the tax liability covered by the agreement. This agreement shall not preclude the auditing of the returns filed to determine if those returns were completed in accordance with existing law and regulation. Intentional failure to pay all the taxes, plus related interest, pursuant to the voluntary disclosure and compliance agreement entered into between the taxpayer and the commissioner, shall invalidate any waiver of penalty, invalidate the forbearance of any administrative or criminal action or proceeding.

4. To participate in the voluntary disclosure and compliance program, an eligible taxpayer must apply by submitting a disclosure statement in the form and manner prescribed by the commissioner. The disclosure statement shall contain all the information the commissioner reasonably deems necessary to effectively administer the program. As long as all the requirements of the voluntary disclosure and compliance program are met, no application shall be denied solely because the taxpayer has admitted that the delinquency was the result of willful or fraudulent conduct. Except in instances where the taxpayer has failed to comply with the terms of a voluntary disclosure and compliance agreement, the commissioner shall not use the taxpayer's disclosure as evidence in any proceeding brought against the taxpayer or reveal the contents of the disclosure to any law enforcement or other agency. However, the disclosure of any returns or reports filed under this program with the secretary of the treasury of the United States, his or her delegates, or the proper tax officer of any state or city is permitted as otherwise provided for in this chapter.

5. (a) If the taxpayer and the tax liability are eligible under the voluntary disclosure and compliance program, the commissioner is authorized to enter into a voluntary disclosure and compliance agreement with the taxpayer. A voluntary disclosure and compliance agreement will be in a form to be established by the commissioner and include such terms as the commissioner may reasonably require to satisfy the taxpayer's disclosed tax obligations and enable and require the taxpayer to comply with the tax law in the future. The taxpayer must pay the tax and the related interest that are the subject of the voluntary disclosure and compliance agreement when the agreement is executed or within the time stated on a bill issued to the taxpayer by the commissioner. In the event the commissioner is satisfied that the taxpayer cannot make immediate full payment of the disclosed tax liability, the commissioner may enter into an installment payment program with the taxpayer for the payment of the tax and interest due. The commissioner may require a financial disclosure statement setting forth information concerning the taxpayer's current assets, liabilities, earnings, and other financial information before entering into an installment payment plan with the taxpayer. In addition to any other information and terms that the commissioner determines are appropriate, the voluntary disclosure and compliance agreement shall provide that, if the taxpayer complies with the terms of the compliance agreement, the taxpayer will not be subject to any criminal tax prosecution in New York state for the conduct disclosed by the taxpayer.

(b) If the taxpayer intentionally provides false material information or omits material information in his or her submissions to the commissioner, or attempts to intentionally defeat or evade a tax due pursuant to the agreement executed under this article, or intentionally fails to comply with the terms of the compliance agreement, such agreement shall be deemed rescinded.

6. Unless the commissioner on his or her own motion redetermines the amount of tax due, including applicable interest, no refund shall be granted or credit allowed with respect to any taxes, including applicable interest, paid under this program.

7. The commissioner may promulgate regulations, issue forms and instructions, and take any and all other actions necessary to implement the provisions of the program established under this section. The commissioner shall publicize the program provided for in this section so as to maximize public awareness of and participation in such program.

8. For purposes of this section, the term "taxpayer" includes any person required to collect any of the taxes specified in subdivision one of this section.

9. The voluntary disclosure and compliance application, the disclosure statement, the voluntary disclosure and compliance agreement, and other documents filed by an eligible taxpayer pursuant to the program established by this section are deemed to be reports and returns:

(a) subject to the secrecy provisions of this chapter in the same manner and to the same extent as if such documents were referred to in any of the secrecy provisions of this chapter; and

(b) for purposes of the criminal provisions of article thirty-seven of this chapter.

§ 1701. Financial institution data match system for state tax collection purposes. 1. Definitions. As used in this section:

* (a) "Debt" means past-due tax liabilities, including unpaid tax, interest, and penalty, that the commissioner is required by law to collect and that have become fixed and final such that the taxpayer no longer has any right to administrative or judicial review.

* NB Effective until April 1, 2030

* (a) "Debt" means all liabilities, including unpaid tax, interest, and penalty, that the commissioner is required by law to collect and that have been reduced to judgment by the docketing of a New York state tax warrant in the office of a county clerk located in the state of New York or by the filing of a copy of the warrant in the office of the department of state.

* NB Effective April 1, 2030

(b) "Tax debtor" means a natural person or any entity other than a natural person named on a New York state tax warrant and identified thereon as a judgment debtor.

(c) "Financial institution" means (i) any financial institution authorized or required to participate in a financial institution data match system or program for child support enforcement purposes under federal or state law, and (ii) any virtual currency business licensed by the superintendent of financial services.

2. Financial institution data match system for state tax collection purposes. * (a) To assist the commissioner in the collection of debts, the department must develop and operate a financial institution data match system for the purpose of identifying and seizing the non-exempt assets of tax debtors as identified by the commissioner. The commissioner is authorized to designate a third party to develop and operate this system. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this chapter, the commissioner is authorized to disclose the debt and the debtor information to such third party and to financial institutions for purposes of this system. Any third party designated by the commissioner to develop and operate a financial data match system must keep all information it obtains from both the department and the financial institution confidential, and any employee, agent or representative of that third party is prohibited from disclosing that information to anyone other than the department or the financial institution.

* NB Effective until April 1, 2030

* (a) To assist the commissioner in the collection of debts, the department must develop and operate a financial institution data match system for the purpose of identifying and seizing the non-exempt assets of tax debtors as identified by the commissioner. The commissioner is authorized to designate a third party to develop and operate this system. Any third party designated by the commissioner to develop and operate a financial data match system must keep all information it obtains from both the department and the financial institution confidential, and any employee, agent or representative of that third party is prohibited from disclosing that information to anyone other than the department or the financial institution.

* NB Effective April 1, 2030

(b) Each financial institution doing business in the state must, in conjunction with the commissioner or the commissioner's authorized designee, develop and operate a data match system to facilitate the identification and seizure of non-exempt financial assets of tax debtors identified by the commissioner or the commissioner's authorized designee. If a financial institution has a data match system developed or used to administer the child support enforcement programs of this state, and if that system is approved by the commissioner or the commissioner's authorized designee, the financial institution may use that system to comply with the provisions of this section.

3. Each financial institution must provide identifying information each calendar quarter to the department for each tax debtor identified by the department who or that maintains an account at the institution. The identifying information must include the tax debtor's name, address, and social security number or other taxpayer identification number, and all account numbers and balances in each account.

4. A financial institution that complies with this section will not be liable under state law to any person for the disclosure of information to the commissioner or the commissioner's authorized designee, or any other action taken in good faith to comply with this section.

5. Both the financial institution furnishing a report to the commissioner under this section and the commissioner's authorized designee are prohibited from disclosing to the tax debtor that the name of the tax debtor has been received from or furnished to the commissioner, unless authorized in writing by the commissioner to do so. A violation of this subdivision will result in the imposition of a civil penalty equal to the greater of one thousand dollars or the amount in the account of the person to whom the disclosure was made for each instance of unauthorized disclosure by the financial institution. That civil penalty can be assessed and collected under this chapter as if that penalty were tax.

6. A financial institution may disclose to its depositors or account holders that the department has the authority to request certain identifying information on certain depositors or account holders under the financial institution data match system for state tax collection purposes.

§ 1703. Information returns relating to payments made in settlement of payment card and third party network transactions. 1. (a) Every payment settlement entity, third party settlement organization, electronic payment facilitator or other third party acting on behalf of a payment settlement entity, all as defined in section 6050W of the internal revenue code and referred to herein as "a reporting entity," required to file information returns pursuant to that section shall, within thirty days of the filing thereof, file with the department in such form and manner as prescribed by the commissioner either (i) a duplicate of all such information returns or (ii) a duplicate of such information returns related to participating payees, as defined in section 6050W of the internal revenue code, with a New York state address or New York state taxpayers. The commissioner may require that such returns be filed electronically.

(b) To facilitate accurate reporting by the entities required to file information returns pursuant to this section, the department shall provide a list or database of New York state taxpayers no later than forty-five days prior to the information reporting deadline, in such form and manner as prescribed by the commissioner. The information included in such list or database shall not be used by a reporting entity for any purpose other than producing and filing information returns pursuant to this section.

(c) Any information received by the department on an information return filed pursuant to this section, concerning a person who is not subject to tax in New York, or is not subject to any requirement imposed by or pursuant to the authority of this chapter, may not be used by the department. The department shall not redisclose any information received on an information return filed pursuant to this section, except that it may disclose to the commissioner of finance of the city of New York, for the purpose of the administration of laws relating to taxes or charges collected by the commissioner of finance of the city of New York, information received on such returns concerning any person or entity with a New York city address or that is a New York city taxpayer or that is required to pay New York city taxes and/or charges or that is subject to any reporting requirement pursuant to New York city tax laws.

2. (a) Any reporting entity failing to file an information return required pursuant to subdivision one of this section within the time prescribed will be subject to a penalty of fifty dollars for each failure, if failure is for not more than one month, with an additional fifty dollars for each month or fraction thereof during which each failure continues. However, the total amount of penalty imposed on a reporting entity may not exceed two hundred fifty thousand dollars annually.

(b) The commissioner may waive all or any portion of any penalty imposed by this subdivision with respect to any violation if (i) the commissioner determines that the failure to timely file a return, was due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect, or (ii) rescinding the penalty would promote compliance with the requirements of this chapter and effective tax administration.

PART I - DEFINITIONS

Section 1800. Definitions.

§ 1800. Definitions.--(a) As used in this article, the term "person" shall include, but shall not be limited to, an individual, corporation (including a dissolved corporation), partnership, limited liability company, association, trust or estate.

(b) As used in this article, the term "person" shall also include an officer, employee or agent of a corporation; a member, manager, employee or agent of a partnership, limited liability company or association; an employee or agent of an individual proprietorship; an employee or agent of an estate or trust; or a fiduciary.

(c) As used in this article, the term "felony" and the term "misdemeanor" shall have the same meaning as they have in the penal law, and the disposition of such offenses and the sentences imposed therefor shall be as provided in such law except; (1) notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph a of subdivision one of section 80.00 and paragraph (a) of subdivision one of section 80.10 of the penal law relating to the fine for a felony, the court may impose a fine not to exceed the greater of double the amount of the underpaid tax liability resulting from the commission of the crime or fifty thousand dollars, or, in the case of a corporation the fine may not exceed the greater of double the amount of the underpaid tax liability resulting from the commission of the crime or two hundred fifty thousand dollars and (2) notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision one of section 80.05 and paragraph (b) of subdivision one of section 80.10 of the penal law relating to the fine for a class A misdemeanor, the court may impose a fine not to exceed ten thousand dollars, except that in the case of a corporation the fine may not exceed twenty thousand dollars.

(d) As used in this article, the term "related statute" means any tax imposed by any law, ordinance or resolution enacted pursuant to the authority of this chapter or article two-E of the general city law, while such article two-E shall remain in full force and effect, and administered by the tax commission.

(e) As used in this article, the term "related income or earnings tax statute" means any law, ordinance or resolution imposed pursuant to the authority of article thirty, thirty-a or thirty-b of this chapter or article two-E of the general city law, while such article two-E shall remain in full force and effect.

PART II-TAX FRAUD ACTS AND PENALTIES

Section 1801. Tax fraud acts.

1802. Criminal tax fraud in the fifth degree.

1803. Criminal tax fraud in the fourth degree.

1804. Criminal tax fraud in the third degree.

1805. Criminal tax fraud in the second degree.

1806. Criminal tax fraud in the first degree.

1807. Aggregation.

1808. Personal income and earnings taxes; repeated failure to file.

1809. Corporate taxes; repeated failure to file.

§ 1801. Tax fraud acts. (a) As used in this article, "tax fraud act" means willfully engaging in an act or acts or willfully causing another to engage in an act or acts pursuant to which a person:

(1) fails to make, render, sign, certify, or file any return or report required under this chapter or any regulation promulgated under this chapter within the time required by or under the provisions of this chapter or such regulation;

(2) knowing that a return, report, statement or other document under this chapter contains any materially false or fraudulent information, or omits any material information, files or submits that return, report, statement or document with the state or any political subdivision of the state, or with any public office or public officer of the state or any political subdivision of the state;

(3) knowingly supplies or submits materially false or fraudulent information in connection with any return, audit, investigation, or proceeding or fails to supply information within the time required by or under the provisions of this chapter or any regulation promulgated under this chapter;

(4) engages in any scheme to defraud the state or a political subdivision of the state or a government instrumentality within the state by false or fraudulent pretenses, representations or promises as to any material matter, in connection with any tax imposed under this chapter or any matter under this chapter;

(5) fails to remit any tax collected in the name of the state or on behalf of the state or any political subdivision of the state when such collection is required under this chapter;

(6) fails to collect any tax required to be collected under articles twelve-A, eighteen, twenty, twenty-two, twenty-eight or twenty-eight-A of this chapter, or pursuant to the authority of article twenty-nine of this chapter;

(7) with intent to evade any tax fails to pay that tax; or

(8) issues an exemption certificate, interdistributor sales certificate, resale certificate, or any other document capable of evidencing a claim that taxes do not apply to a transaction, which he or she does not believe to be true and correct as to any material matter, which omits any material information, or which is false, fraudulent, or counterfeit; or

(9) (a) knowingly fails to collect or remit any taxes imposed by section four hundred ninety-three of this chapter on the sale of any adult-use cannabis product; or (b) knowingly possesses for sale, as such term is defined in section four hundred ninety-two of this chapter, any such product on which the tax required to be paid under subdivision (a) of such section has not been paid.

(b) For purposes of this subdivision, "this chapter" includes any "related statute" or any "related income or earnings tax statute", as defined in section eighteen hundred of this article.

(c) For purposes of this subdivision, the term "willfully" shall be defined to mean acting with either intent to defraud, intent to evade the payment of taxes or intent to avoid a requirement of this chapter, a lawful requirement of the commissioner or a known legal duty.

§ 1802. Criminal tax fraud in the fifth degree. A person commits criminal tax fraud in the fifth degree when he or she commits a tax fraud act. Criminal tax fraud in the fifth degree is a class A misdemeanor.

§ 1803. Criminal tax fraud in the fourth degree. A person commits criminal tax fraud in the fourth degree when he or she commits a tax fraud act or acts and, with the intent to evade any tax due under this chapter, or to defraud the state or any subdivision thereof, the person pays the state and/or a political subdivision of the state (whether by means of underpayment or receipt of refund or both), in a period of not more than one year in excess of three thousand dollars less than the tax liability that is due. Criminal tax fraud in the fourth degree is a class E felony.

§ 1804. Criminal tax fraud in the third degree. A person commits criminal tax fraud in the third degree when he or she commits a tax fraud act or acts and, with the intent to evade any tax due under this chapter, or to defraud the state or any political subdivision of the state, the person pays the state and/or a political subdivision of the state (whether by means of underpayment or receipt of refund or both), in a period of not more than one year in excess of ten thousand dollars less than the tax liability that is due. Criminal tax fraud in the third degree is a class D felony.

§ 1805. Criminal tax fraud in the second degree. A person commits criminal tax fraud in the second degree when he or she commits a tax fraud act or acts and, with the intent to evade any tax due under this chapter, or to defraud the state or any subdivision of the state, the person pays the state and/or a political subdivision of the state (whether by means of underpayment or receipt of refund or both), in a period of not more than one year in excess of fifty thousand dollars less than the tax liability that is due. Criminal tax fraud in the second degree is a class C felony.

§ 1806. Criminal tax fraud in the first degree. A person commits criminal tax fraud in the first degree when he or she commits a tax fraud act or acts and, with the intent to evade any tax due under this chapter, or to defraud the state or any subdivision of the state, the person pays the state and/or a political subdivision of the state (whether by means of underpayment or receipt of refund or both), in a period of not more than one year in excess of one million dollars less than the tax liability that is due. Criminal tax fraud in the first degree is a class B felony.

§ 1807. Aggregation. For purposes of this article, the payments due and not paid under a single article of this chapter pursuant to a common scheme or plan or due and not paid, within one year, may be charged in a single count, and the amount of underpaid tax liability incurred, within one year, may be aggregated in a single count.

§ 1808. Personal income and earnings taxes; repeated failure to file.
(a) Any person who, with intent to evade payment of any tax imposed under article twenty-two of this chapter or any related income or earnings tax statute, fails to file a return for three consecutive taxable years shall be guilty of a class E felony, provided that such person had an unpaid tax liability with respect to each of the three consecutive taxable years.

(b) In any prosecution for a violation of subdivision (a) of this section, it shall be a defense that the defendant had no unpaid tax liability for any of the three consecutive taxable years.

(c) As used in this subdivision, the term "return" shall mean a return required under section six hundred fifty-one of this chapter, section 11-1751 of the administrative code of the city of New York or section 92-85 or 92-105 of the codes and ordinances of the city of Yonkers. It shall not include any information return referred to in subsection (i) of section six hundred fifty-one of this chapter, or subdivision (i) of section 11-1751 of such code, or subdivision (g) of section 92-105 of such codes and ordinances, or section six hundred fifty-eight of this chapter or section 11-1758 of such code or section 92-111 of such codes and ordinances, or any employer's return required by section six hundred seventy-four of this chapter or section 11-1774 of such code.

§ 1809. Corporate taxes; repeated failure to file. (a) Any person who, with intent to evade payment of any tax imposed under article nine, nine-A, thirteen, thirty-three or thirty-three-A of this chapter, fails to file a return or report for three consecutive taxable years shall be guilty of a class E felony, provided that such person had an unpaid tax liability, in excess of the threshold amount with respect to each of the three consecutive taxable years. The threshold amount in the case of a taxable year under article nine-A of this chapter ending after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred eighty-nine is the applicable fixed dollar minimum prescribed under paragraph (d) of subdivision one of section two hundred ten of this chapter. In the event such fixed dollar minimum is less than two hundred fifty dollars, the threshold amount in the case of such taxable year is two hundred fifty dollars. In all other cases the threshold amount is two hundred fifty dollars.

(b) In any prosecution for a violation of subdivision (a) of this section, it shall be a defense that the defendant had no unpaid tax liability for any of the three consecutive taxable years.

(c) As used in this section, the terms "return" and "report" shall mean a return or report required under section one hundred ninety-two, two hundred eleven, two hundred ninety-four, fifteen hundred fifteen or fifteen hundred fifty-four of this chapter. It shall not include any return or report referred to in section one hundred ninety-seven-a, two hundred thirteen-a, or fifteen hundred thirteen of this chapter.

PART III - OTHER TAXES

Section 1811. Estate, gift and transfer taxes.

1812. Motor fuel taxes.

1812-a. Person not registered as distributor of Diesel motor fuel.

1812-b. Person not registered as distributor.

1812-c. Person not licensed as terminal operator.

1812-d. Person not licensed as transporter.

1812-e. Person not registered as a residual petroleum product business.

1812-f. Article thirteen-A tax.

- 1812-g. Person not registered as a wholesaler of motor fuel.
- 1813. Alcoholic beverage tax.
- 1814. Cigarette and tobacco products tax.
- 1814-a. Person not appointed as a tobacco products distributor.
- 1815. Highway use and fuel use taxes.
- 1817. Sales and compensating use taxes.
- 1818. Real estate transfer tax.
- 1820. Authorized combative sports tax.
- 1821. Medallion taxicab owners tax in the metropolitan commuter transportation district.
- 1822. Violation of the state assessment fee on transportation network company prearranged trips.

§ 1811. Estate, gift and transfer taxes. Wrongful entry into safe deposit box.--Any person who enters a safe deposit box of a decedent, or a box standing in the joint names of such a decedent and one or more persons, with knowledge of the death of the lessee of such box, which entry results in an evasion of the tax imposed by article twenty-six of this chapter shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

§ 1812. Motor fuel taxes.--(a) Attempt to evade or defeat tax.--Any person who willfully attempts in any manner to evade or defeat any tax imposed by article twelve-A of this chapter or the payment thereof shall, in addition to other penalties provided by law, be guilty of a class E felony.

(b) Any person who willfully accepts an exempt transaction certificate (or similar document which has been prescribed by the commissioner) or interdistributor sale certificate with respect to claiming exemption from the taxes imposed on Diesel motor fuel by article twelve-A of this chapter which he does not believe to be true and correct as to any material matter shall, in addition to any other penalty provided by law, be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(c) Any owner of a filling station who shall willfully and knowingly have in his or her custody, possession or under his or her control any motor fuel or Diesel motor fuel (1) on which the taxes imposed by or pursuant to the authority of such article have not been assumed or paid by a distributor registered as such under such article, (2) on which the taxes imposed by or pursuant to the authority of such article have not been included in the cost to him or her of such fuel where such taxes were required to have been passed through to him or her and included in the cost to him or her of such fuel, or (3) which is dyed diesel motor fuel as defined by subdivision eighteen-a of section two hundred eighty-two of this chapter (except for water-white kerosene), shall be guilty of a class E felony. For purposes of this subdivision, such owner shall willfully and knowingly have in his or her custody, possession or under his or her control any motor fuel or Diesel motor fuel on which such taxes have not been assumed or paid by a distributor registered as such where such owner has knowledge of the requirement that such taxes be paid and where, to his or her knowledge, such taxes have not been assumed or paid by a registered distributor on such motor fuel or Diesel motor fuel. Such owner shall willfully and knowingly have in his or her custody, possession or under his or her control any motor fuel or Diesel motor fuel on which such taxes are required to have been passed through to him or her and have not been included in his or her cost where such owner has knowledge of the requirement that such taxes be passed through and where to his knowledge such taxes have not been so included. Such owner shall willfully and knowingly have in his or her custody, possession or under his or her control any dyed diesel motor fuel (except water-white kerosene) where such owner has knowledge of the requirement that dyed diesel motor fuel (except water-white kerosene) may not be in his or her custody, possession or under his or her control.

(d) Any willful act or omission, other than those described in subdivision (a), (b), or (c) of this section, by any person which constitutes a violation of any provision of article twelve-A of this chapter shall constitute a misdemeanor.

(e) Any person who willfully makes a manifest required by section two hundred eighty-six-b of this chapter which he does not believe to be true and correct as to every material matter or who willfully produces any manifest for inspection as required under section two hundred eighty-six-b of this chapter which is known to be fraudulent or to be false as to any material matter shall be guilty of a class E felony.

§ 1812-a. Person not registered as distributor of Diesel motor fuel.

(a) Any person who, while not registered as a distributor of Diesel motor fuel pursuant to the provisions of article twelve-A of this chapter, makes a sale or use within the state of Diesel motor fuel (other than a retail sale not in bulk or the self-use of Diesel motor fuel which has been the subject of a retail sale), imports or causes Diesel motor fuel to be imported into the state or produces, refines, manufactures or compounds Diesel motor fuel within the state shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. If, within any ninety day period, two thousand nine hundred gallons or more of Diesel motor fuel are subjected to sale or use (other than a retail sale not in bulk or the self-use of Diesel motor fuel which has been the subject of a retail sale) within the state or are imported or caused to be imported by any person while not so registered as a distributor of Diesel motor fuel, such person shall be guilty of a class E felony.

(b) Any person whose registration under article twelve-A of this chapter applies only to the importation, sale and distribution of Diesel motor fuel for use other than on a public highway as described in subparagraph (i) of paragraph (b) of subdivision three of section two hundred eighty-two-a of this chapter who delivers non-highway Diesel motor fuel at a filling station or into a repository equipped with a hose or other apparatus by which non-highway Diesel motor fuel can be dispensed into the fuel tank of a motor vehicle, other than such a repository which is located on the premises of such registrant where the Diesel motor fuel delivered therein is used exclusively for the purpose of fueling motor vehicles operated by registrant for the purpose of distributing Diesel motor fuel for the purposes described in such subparagraph (i), shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. If, within any ninety day period, any such person whose registration under article twelve-A of this chapter applies only to the importation, sale and distribution of non-highway Diesel motor fuel for the purposes described in subparagraph (i) of paragraph (b) of subdivision three of section two hundred eighty-two-a of this chapter so unlawfully delivers a total of one thousand gallons or more of Diesel motor fuel at such filling station or stations or into such repository or repositories (or a combination of both such filling stations and repositories), then, such person shall be guilty of a class E felony.

(c) Any person who has twice been convicted under this section shall be guilty of a class E felony for any subsequent violation of this section, regardless of the amount of Diesel motor fuel involved in such violation. For purposes of this section, the terms "non-highway Diesel motor fuel" and "retail sale not in bulk" shall have the same meaning they have for purposes of article twelve-A of this chapter.

§ 1812-b. Person not registered as distributor. Any person who, while not registered as a distributor of motor fuel pursuant to the provisions of article twelve-A of this chapter, imports or causes to be imported any motor fuel into the state, for use, distribution, storage or sale within the state, except motor fuel delivered into the ordinary fuel tank connected to the engine of a means of conveyance in order to propel it or in a small drum or similar container, or produces, refines, manufactures or compounds motor fuel within the state shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. If, within any ninety day period, two thousand nine hundred gallons or more of motor fuel are imported or caused to be imported into the state for use, distribution, storage or sale within the state or are produced, refined, manufactured or compounded within the state by any person while not registered as a distributor of motor fuel, such person shall be guilty of a class E felony. Provided further, that any person who has twice been convicted under this section shall be guilty of a class E felony for any subsequent violation of this section, regardless of the amount of motor fuel involved in such violation.

§ 1812-c. Person not licensed as terminal operator. Any person who, while not licensed as such pursuant to the provisions of article twelve-A of this chapter, operates as a terminal operator as defined in subdivision thirteen of section two hundred eighty-two of this chapter, except where all of the motor fuel or diesel motor fuel stored in the storage facility is solely for such person's own use and consumption, shall be guilty of a class E felony.

§ 1812-d. Person not licensed as transporter. (a) Any person who, while not licensed as importing transporter pursuant to the provisions of article twelve-A of this chapter, transports motor fuel in the state which is being imported into the state for use, distribution, storage or sale in the state, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(b) Any person who, while not licensed as an importing transporter pursuant to the provisions of article twelve-A of this chapter, off-loads motor fuel into a facility located within the state where such motor fuel is being imported into the state for use, distribution, storage or sale in the state, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Provided, however, any person who, while not licensed as an importing transporter pursuant to the provisions of article twelve-A of this chapter, off-loads two thousand nine hundred gallons or more of motor fuel in a thirty day period into a facility located within the state where such motor fuel is being imported into the state for use, distribution, storage or sale in the state, shall be guilty of a class E felony.

(c) Any person who, while not licensed as an exporting transporter pursuant to the provisions of article twelve-A of this chapter, transports motor fuel in this state where such fuel is being exported from a point in this state to without the state, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

§ 1812-e. Person not registered as a residual petroleum product business. Any person who, while not registered as a residual petroleum product business pursuant to the provisions of article thirteen-A of this chapter, imports or causes any residual petroleum product to be imported into the state, or produces, refines, manufactures or compounds residual petroleum product within the state, or makes a sale or use of residual petroleum product within the state (other than a self-use of residual petroleum product which has been the subject of a retail sale to such person) shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Provided, however, if the tax liability with respect to such product under such article thirteen-A is equal to or greater than one thousand dollars, then such person shall be guilty of a class E felony. Provided, further, if, within any ninety-day period, residual petroleum product is imported or caused to be imported into this state or produced, refined, manufactured, or compounded within the state or sold or used (other than a self-use of residual petroleum product which has been the subject of a retail sale to such person) by any person while not so registered as a residual petroleum product business and the tax liability under such article thirteen-A with respect to such product so imported, caused to be imported or produced, refined, manufactured, or compounded during such ninety-day period totals one thousand dollars or more, then such person shall be guilty of a class E felony.

§ 1812-f. Article thirteen-A tax. (a) Any person who willfully accepts an exempt transaction certificate (or similar document which has been prescribed by the commissioner of taxation and finance) or interdistributor sale certificate with respect to claiming exemption from the taxes imposed with respect to diesel motor fuel or residual petroleum product by article thirteen-A of this chapter which he does not believe to be true and correct as to any material matter shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(b) Any willful act or omission, other than those described in section eighteen hundred one of this article or subdivision (a) or (c) of this section, by any person which constitutes a violation of any provision of article thirteen-A of this chapter shall constitute a misdemeanor.

(c) Any person who willfully makes a movement tracking document required pursuant to subdivision (b) of section three hundred fifteen of this chapter, which he does not believe to be true and correct as to every material matter or who willfully produces any such document for inspection as required under subdivision (b) of section three hundred fifteen of this chapter which he knows to be fraudulent or to be false as to any material matter shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; provided, however, that if the tax liability under article thirteen-A of this chapter with respect to the product being transported, is equal to or greater than one thousand dollars, such person shall be guilty of a class E felony.

§ 1812-g. Person not registered as a wholesaler of motor fuel. Any person who, while not registered as a wholesaler of motor fuel pursuant to the provisions of article twelve-A of this chapter, makes a sale of motor fuel in this state other than a retail sale not in bulk, shall be guilty of a class E felony.

§ 1813. Alcoholic beverage tax.--(a) Unlawful use of stamps.--Any person who shall counterfeit stamps prescribed by section four hundred thirty-eight of this chapter or who shall willfully remove or alter or knowingly permit to be removed or altered, the cancellation or defacing marks required to be placed upon any stamp under provisions of article eighteen of this chapter with intent to use such stamp, or who shall willfully open any container of alcoholic beverages without first destroying the stamp affixed thereto or who shall knowingly or willfully buy, prepare for use, use, have in his possession or suffer to be used any washed, restored or counterfeit stamp shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(b) Unlawful use of alcoholic beverages.--Any person who shall willfully sell or use any alcoholic beverages upon which tax has not been paid by the affixation of stamps as prescribed pursuant to section four hundred thirty-eight of this chapter shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(c) Any willful act or omission, other than those described in section eighteen hundred one of this article or subdivision (a) or (b) of this section, by any person which constitutes a violation of any provision of article eighteen of this chapter shall constitute a misdemeanor.

(d) The provisions of this section shall apply for purposes of any tax imposed pursuant to the authority of section four hundred forty-five of this chapter.

(e) Person not registered as a distributor. (1) Any person required to be registered as a distributor pursuant to the provisions of article eighteen of this chapter who, while not so registered, knowingly imports or causes to be imported into the state, for sale or use therein, any liquors or, who, except in accordance with clause (i) or (ii) of paragraph (b) of subdivision four of section four hundred twenty of this chapter, knowingly produces, distills, manufactures, compounds, mixes or ferments in this state any such liquors for sale, or who, as a purchaser of a warehouse receipt, knowingly causes liquors covered by such receipt to be removed from a warehouse in this state, shall be guilty of a class A misdemeanor. Provided, however, that any person who has twice been convicted under this section within the preceding five years, shall be guilty of a class E felony for any subsequent violation of this paragraph.

(2) Any person who, while not registered as a distributor pursuant to the provisions of article eighteen of this chapter, knowingly and intentionally imports or causes to be imported into this state, for sale or use therein, more than three hundred sixty liters of liquors into this state in a one-year period or, except in accordance with clause (i) or (ii) of paragraph (b) of subdivision four of section four hundred twenty of this chapter, knowingly and intentionally produces, distills, manufactures, compounds, mixes or ferments for sale more than three hundred sixty liters of such liquors within this state in a one-year period, or, as a purchaser of a warehouse receipt, knowingly and intentionally causes more than three hundred sixty liters of liquors in a one-year period to be removed from a warehouse in this state, shall be guilty of a class E felony.

(3) For purposes of this subdivision, it shall be presumed that the importation or the causing to be imported into this state or the production, distillation, manufacture, compounding, mixing or fermenting in this state of more than ninety liters of such liquors by any person in a one-year period is for purposes of sale. Such presumption may be rebutted by the introduction of substantial evidence to the contrary.

(f) Person not registered as a distributor for city purposes. (1) Any person required to be registered as a distributor for city purposes pursuant to the provisions of section four hundred forty-five of article eighteen of this chapter who, while not so registered, knowingly imports or causes to be imported into such city, for sale or use therein, any liquors or, who, except in accordance with clause (i) or (ii) of paragraph (b) of subdivision four of section four hundred twenty of this chapter as incorporated into such section four hundred forty-five, knowingly produces, distills, manufactures, compounds, mixes or ferments in such city any such liquors for sale, or who, as a purchaser of a warehouse receipt, causes liquors covered by such receipt to be removed from a warehouse in this state, shall be guilty of a class A misdemeanor. Provided, however, that any person who has twice been convicted under this section within the preceding five years shall be guilty of a class E felony for any subsequent violation of this paragraph.

(2) Any person who, while not registered as a distributor for city purposes pursuant to the provisions of section four hundred forty-five of article eighteen of this chapter, knowingly and intentionally imports or causes to be imported into such city, for sale or use therein, more than three hundred sixty liters of liquors into such city in a one-year period or, except in accordance with clause (i) or (ii) of paragraph (b) of subdivision four of section four hundred twenty of this chapter as incorporated into such section four hundred forty-five, knowingly and intentionally produces, distills, manufactures, compounds, mixes or ferments for sale more than three hundred sixty liters of such liquors within such city in a one-year period, or, as a purchaser of a warehouse receipt, knowingly and intentionally causes more than three hundred sixty liters of liquors in a one-year period to be removed from a warehouse in this state, shall be guilty of a class E felony.

(3) For purposes of this subdivision, it shall be presumed that the importation or the causing to be imported into such city or the production, distillation, manufacture, compounding, mixing or fermenting in such city of more than ninety liters of liquors by any person in a one-year period is for purposes of sale. Such presumption may be rebutted by the introduction of substantial evidence to the contrary.

(g) Any person, other than the distributor registered under article eighteen of this chapter which imported or caused the liquors to be imported into this state, who shall willfully and knowingly have in his custody, possession or under his control liquors with respect to which the taxes imposed by or pursuant to the authority of article eighteen of this chapter have not been assumed or paid by a distributor registered as such under such article, shall be guilty of a class B misdemeanor; if such person shall willfully and knowingly have more than ninety liters of such liquors in his custody or possession or under his control, such person shall be guilty of a class A misdemeanor; or if such person shall knowingly and intentionally have more than three hundred sixty liters of such liquors in his custody or possession or under his control, such person shall be guilty of a class E felony. For purposes of this subdivision, such person shall willfully and knowingly have in his custody, possession or under his control any liquors with respect to which such taxes have not been assumed or paid by a distributor registered as such where such person has knowledge of the requirement of such taxes and where, to his knowledge, such taxes have not been assumed or paid by a registered distributor with respect to such liquors.

§ 1814. Cigarette and tobacco products tax.--(a) Any person who willfully attempts in any manner to evade or defeat the taxes imposed by article twenty of this chapter or payment thereof on (i) ten thousand cigarettes or more, (ii) twenty-two thousand cigars or more, (iii) four hundred forty pounds of tobacco or more, or (iv) six thousand six hundred units of alternative nicotine products or more, or has previously been convicted two or more times of a violation of paragraph one of this subdivision shall be guilty of a class E felony.

(b) Any person, other than an agent licensed by the commissioner, who possesses or transports for the purpose of sale any unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages of cigarettes subject to tax imposed by section four hundred seventy-one of this chapter, or who sells or offers for sale unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages of cigarettes in violation of the provisions of article twenty of this chapter shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Any person who violates the provisions of this subdivision after having previously been convicted of a violation of this subdivision within the preceding five years shall be guilty of a class E felony.

(c) (1) Any person, other than an agent licensed by the commissioner, who willfully possesses or transports for the purpose of sale ten thousand or more cigarettes subject to the tax imposed by section four hundred seventy-one of this chapter in any unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages or who willfully sells or offers for sale ten thousand or more cigarettes in any unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages in violation of article twenty of this chapter shall be guilty of a class E felony.

(2) Any person, other than an agent licensed by the commissioner, who willfully possesses or transports for the purpose of sale thirty thousand or more cigarettes subject to the tax imposed by section four hundred seventy-one of this chapter in any unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages or who willfully sells or offers for sale thirty thousand or more cigarettes in any unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages in violation of article twenty of this chapter shall be guilty of a class D felony.

(d) For the purposes of this section, the possession or transportation within this state by any person, other than an agent, at any one time of five thousand or more cigarettes in unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages shall be presumptive evidence that such cigarettes are possessed or transported for the purpose of sale and are subject to the tax imposed by section four hundred seventy-one of this chapter. With respect to such possession or transportation any provisions of article twenty of this chapter providing for a time period during which a use tax imposed by such article may be paid on unstamped cigarettes or unlawfully or improperly stamped cigarettes or during which such cigarettes may be returned to an agent shall not apply. The possession within this state of more than four hundred cigarettes in unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages by any person other than an agent at any one time shall be presumptive evidence that such cigarettes are subject to tax as provided by article twenty of this chapter.

(e) Nothing in this section shall apply to common or contract carriers or warehousemen while engaged in lawfully transporting or storing unstamped packages of cigarettes as merchandise, or lawfully transporting or storing tobacco products, nor to any employee of such carrier or warehouseman acting within the scope of his employment, nor to public officers or employees in the performance of their official duties requiring possession or control of unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages of cigarettes or possession or control of tobacco products, nor to temporary incidental possession by employees or agents of persons lawfully entitled to possession, nor to persons whose possession is for the purpose of aiding police officers in performing their duties.

(f) Any willful act or omission, other than those described in section eighteen hundred one of this article or subdivision (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (g), (h) or (i) of this section, by any person which constitutes a violation of any provision of article twenty of this chapter shall constitute a misdemeanor.

(g) Any person who falsely or fraudulently makes, alters or counterfeits any stamp prescribed by the tax commission under the provisions of article twenty of this chapter, or causes or procures to be falsely or fraudulently made, altered or counterfeited any such stamp, or knowingly and willfully utters, purchases, passes or tenders as true any such false, altered or counterfeited stamp, or knowingly and willfully possesses any cigarettes in packages bearing any such false, altered or counterfeited stamp, and any person who knowingly and willfully makes, causes to be made, purchases or receives any device for forging or counterfeiting any stamp, prescribed by the tax commission under the provisions of article twenty of this chapter, or who knowingly and willfully possesses any such device, shall be guilty of a class E felony. For the purposes of this subdivision, the words "stamp prescribed by the tax commission" shall include a stamp, impression or imprint made by a metering machine, the design of which has been approved by such commission.

(h) (1) Any dealer, other than a distributor appointed by the commissioner of taxation and finance under article twenty of this chapter, who shall knowingly transport or have in their custody, possession or under their control more than ten pounds of tobacco, more than five hundred cigars, or more than one hundred fifty units of alternative nicotine products, upon which the taxes imposed by article twenty of this chapter have not been assumed or paid by a distributor appointed by the commissioner of taxation and finance under article twenty of this chapter, or other person treated as a distributor pursuant to section four hundred seventy-one-d of this chapter, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars or by a term of imprisonment not to exceed thirty days.

(2) Any person, other than a dealer or a distributor appointed by the commissioner under article twenty of this chapter, who shall knowingly transport or have in their custody, possession or under their control more than fifteen pounds of tobacco, more than seven hundred fifty cigars, or more than two hundred twenty-five units of alternative nicotine products, upon which the taxes imposed by article twenty of this chapter have not been assumed or paid by a distributor appointed by the commissioner under article twenty of this chapter, or other person treated as a distributor pursuant to section four hundred seventy-one-d of this chapter shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars or by a term of imprisonment not to exceed thirty days.

(3) Any person, other than a distributor appointed by the commissioner under article twenty of this chapter, who shall knowingly transport or have in their custody, possession or under their control twenty-five hundred or more cigars, fifty or more pounds of tobacco, or seven hundred fifty units or more of alternative nicotine products, upon which the taxes imposed by article twenty of this chapter have not been assumed or paid by a distributor appointed by the commissioner under article twenty of this chapter, or other person treated as a distributor pursuant to section four hundred seventy-one-d of this chapter shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Provided further, that any person who has twice been convicted under this subdivision shall be guilty of a class E felony for any subsequent violation of this section, regardless of the amount of tobacco products involved in such violation.

(4) For purposes of this subdivision, such person shall knowingly transport or have in their custody, possession or under their control tobacco, cigars, or alternative nicotine products, on which such taxes have not been assumed or paid by a distributor appointed by the commissioner where such person has knowledge of the requirement of the tax on tobacco products and, where to their knowledge, such taxes have not been assumed or paid on such tobacco products by a distributor appointed by the commissioner of taxation and finance.

(i) Any person who falsely or fraudulently makes, alters or counterfeits a registration certificate or sticker required under the provisions of section four hundred eighty-a of this chapter, or causes or procures to be falsely or fraudulently made, altered or counterfeited any such registration certificate or sticker, or knowingly and willfully utters, purchases, passes or tenders as true any such false, altered or counterfeited registration certificate or sticker, and any person who knowingly and willfully makes, causes to be made, purchases or receives any device for forging or counterfeiting any registration certificate or sticker required under the provisions of such section, or who knowingly and willfully possesses any such device, shall be guilty of a class B misdemeanor.

§ 1814-a. Person not appointed as a tobacco products distributor. (a)

Any person who, while not appointed as a distributor of tobacco products pursuant to the provisions of article twenty of this chapter, imports or causes to be imported into the state more than fifty cigars, more than one pound of tobacco, or more than fifteen units of alternative nicotine products, for sale within the state, or produces, manufactures or compounds tobacco products within the state shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars or by a term of imprisonment not to exceed thirty days. If, within any ninety day period, one thousand or more cigars, or five hundred pounds or more of tobacco, or seven thousand five hundred units or more of alternative nicotine products, are imported or caused to be imported into the state for sale within the state or are produced, manufactured or compounded within the state by any person while not appointed as a distributor of tobacco products, such person shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Provided further, that any person who has twice been convicted under this section shall be guilty of a class E felony for any subsequent violation of this section, regardless of the amount of tobacco products involved in such violation.

(b) For purposes of this section, the possession or transportation within this state by any person, other than a tobacco products distributor appointed by the commissioner of taxation and finance, at any one time of seven hundred fifty or more cigars, fifteen pounds or more of tobacco, or two hundred twenty-five units or more of alternative nicotine products, shall be presumptive evidence that such tobacco products are possessed or transported for the purpose of sale and are subject to the tax imposed by section four hundred seventy-one-b of this chapter. With respect to such possession or transportation, any provisions of article twenty of this chapter providing for a time period during which the tax imposed by such article may be paid shall not apply.

§ 1815. Highway use and fuel use taxes. - (a) Violations. (1) It shall be unlawful for any person to:

(A) (i) Use or cause or permit to be used, any public highway in this state for the operation of a motor vehicle subject to the provisions of article twenty-one of this chapter without first applying for and obtaining the certificate of registration required under such article or a decal that has been suspended or revoked or that was issued for a motor vehicle other than the one on which affixed. The operation of any motor vehicle on any public highway of this state without a decal required under such article shall be presumptive evidence that a certificate of registration or decal has not been obtained for such motor vehicle;

(ii) Use or cause or permit to be used, any public highway in this state for the operation of a qualified motor vehicle subject to the provisions of article twenty-one-A of this chapter without first obtaining the license and decal required pursuant to such article or to carry or cause or permit to be carried upon any qualified motor vehicle a license or decal which has been suspended or revoked or which was issued for a qualified motor vehicle other than the one on which carried. The operation of any qualified motor vehicle on any public highway of this state without carrying thereon the license or decal required under such article shall be presumptive evidence that a license or decal has not been obtained for such qualified motor vehicle;

(B) Operate, or cause or permit to be operated, on any public highway any motor vehicle subject to the provisions of article twenty-one of this chapter having an actual gross or unloaded weight in excess of the gross or unloaded weight set forth on the certificate of registration issued for such motor vehicle;

(C) Fail to deliver or surrender, pursuant to the provisions of article twenty-one or twenty-one-A of this chapter or any rule or regulation promulgated by the commissioner, a certificate of registration or license or decal to such commissioner, or any person directed by such commissioner to take possession thereof;

(D) Fail to keep records of operations of motor vehicles or qualified motor vehicles as the commissioner shall prescribe;

(E) Violate any other provision of article twenty-one or twenty-one-A of this chapter or any rule or regulation promulgated thereunder.

(2) Any person who violates any provision of this subdivision, upon a first conviction shall be subject to a fine of not less than one hundred dollars or more than two hundred fifty dollars; and upon a second or subsequent conviction to a fine of not less than two hundred fifty dollars or more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than ten days. Except as otherwise provided by law such a violation shall not be a crime and the penalty or punishment imposed therefor shall not be deemed for any purpose a penal or criminal penalty or punishment and shall not impose any disability upon or affect or impair the credibility as a witness, or otherwise, of any person convicted thereof.

(3) For the purposes of conferring jurisdiction upon courts and police officers, and on the officers specified in subdivision four of section 2.10 of the criminal procedure law and on judicial officers generally, such violations shall be deemed traffic infractions and for such purpose only all provisions of law relating to traffic infractions shall apply to such violations; provided, however, that the commissioner of motor vehicles, any hearing officer appointed by him, or any administrative tribunal authorized to hear and determine any charges or offenses which are traffic infractions shall not have jurisdiction of such infractions.

(4) Upon the conviction of any person for a violation of any of the provisions of this subdivision, the trial court or the clerk thereof shall within forty-eight hours certify the facts of the case to the commissioner and such certificate shall be presumptive evidence of the facts recited therein. If any such conviction shall be reversed upon appeal therefrom, the person whose conviction has been so reversed may serve upon the commissioner a certified copy of the order of reversal and the commissioner shall thereupon record the same.

(b) An official weigh slip or ticket issued and certified by any truck weigher in the employ of the department of transportation or by any duly licensed weight master shall constitute prima facie evidence of the information therein set forth and of the operation of the vehicle therein described upon a public highway and shall be admissible before any court in any violation proceeding or criminal proceeding.

§ 1817. Sales and compensating use taxes.-- (a) Any person required to obtain a certificate of authority under section eleven hundred thirty-four of this chapter who, without possessing a valid certificate of authority, willfully (1) sells tangible personal property or services subject to tax, receives amusement charges or operates a hotel or short term rental unit, (2) purchases or sells tangible personal property for resale, or (3) sells petroleum products; and any person who fails to surrender a certificate of authority as required by such article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(b) Any person required to obtain a certificate of authority under section eleven hundred thirty-four of this chapter who within five years after a determination by the commissioner, pursuant to such section, to suspend, revoke or refuse to issue a certificate of authority has become final, and without possession of a valid certificate of authority (1) sells tangible personal property or services subject to tax, receives amusement charges or operates a hotel or short term rental unit, (2) purchases or sells tangible personal property for resale, or (3) sells petroleum products, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. It shall be an affirmative defense that such person performed the acts described in this subdivision without knowledge of such determination. Any person who violates a provision of this subdivision, upon conviction, shall be subject to a fine in any amount authorized by this article, but not less than five hundred dollars, in addition to any other penalty provided by law.

(c) Any person who willfully fails to file a notice of a show as required by article twenty-eight of this chapter or who willfully rents, leases or grants a license to use space for a show or operates a show without obtaining a permit pursuant to paragraph two of subdivision (b) of section eleven hundred thirty-four of this chapter shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(d) Any person (1) who willfully fails to charge separately the tax imposed under article twenty-eight of this chapter or to state such tax separately on any bill, statement, memorandum, receipt or other statement issued or employed by him or her upon which the tax is required to be stated separately as provided in subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred thirty-two of this chapter; or (2) who shall refer or cause reference to be made to such tax in a form or manner other than that required by such article twenty-eight, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Provided however, that a person who has paid the tax on behalf of a retail purchaser as provided in subdivision (d) of section eleven hundred thirty-three of this chapter shall not be guilty of a misdemeanor for failure to separately charge the tax imposed by such article twenty-eight.

(e) Any person willfully failing to file a bond or other security or deposit taxes in any banking institution where such filing or deposit is required pursuant to the provisions of paragraph two or three of subdivision (e) of section eleven hundred thirty-seven of this chapter shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(f) Any owner of a filling station who shall willfully and knowingly have in his custody, possession or under his control any motor fuel or diesel motor fuel on which (1) the prepaid tax imposed by section eleven hundred two of this chapter has not been assumed or paid by a distributor registered as such under article twelve-A of this chapter or (2) the prepaid tax imposed by section eleven hundred two of this chapter was required to have been passed through to him and has not been included in the cost of such fuel to him, shall in either case, be guilty of a class E felony. For purposes of this subdivision, such owner shall willfully and knowingly have in his custody, possession or under his control any motor fuel or diesel motor fuel on which such tax has not been assumed or paid by a distributor registered as such where such owner has knowledge of the requirement that such tax be paid and where, to his knowledge, such tax has not been assumed or paid by such registered distributor on such motor fuel or diesel motor fuel. Such owner shall willfully and knowingly have in his custody, possession or under his control motor fuel or diesel motor fuel on which such tax is required to have been passed through to him and has not been included in the cost to him where such owner has knowledge of the requirement that such tax be passed through and where to his knowledge such tax has not been so included.

(g) Any person who willfully fails to keep any records required by article twenty-eight of this chapter shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(h) The penalties provided for in this section shall not preclude prosecution pursuant to the penal law with respect to the willful failure of any person to pay over to the state any sales tax imposed by section eleven hundred four, eleven hundred five, eleven hundred seven, eleven hundred eight or eleven hundred nine of this chapter or by any local law adopted by any city or county pursuant to article twenty-nine of this chapter, whenever such person has been required to collect and has collected any such sales tax. In any such prosecution under the penal law, a person who has been required to collect and has collected any such tax shall be deemed to have acted in a fiduciary character with respect to the state or a political subdivision thereof, and the tax collected shall be deemed to have been entrusted to such person by the state or a political subdivision thereof.

(i) Any entertainment promoter who willfully authorizes an entertainment vendor, to whom such promoter has either directly or indirectly rented, leased, granted a license to use or under any other arrangement made space available in order for such vendor to make taxable sales of tangible personal property at an entertainment event, without first requiring such vendor to obtain a certificate of authority or who willfully fails to obtain an entertainment promoter certificate as required under article twenty-eight of this chapter shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(j) Any person described in subdivision (a) of section eleven hundred forty-two-A of this chapter who willfully fails to include all information required under such section on a ticket or other memorandum as described in such section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(k) Any owner of a place of business selling cigarettes at retail who shall willfully and knowingly have in such owner's custody or possession or under such owner's control any cigarettes on which (1) the prepaid tax imposed by section eleven hundred three of this chapter has not been assumed or paid by an agent licensed as such under article twenty of this chapter or (2) the prepaid tax imposed by section eleven hundred three of this chapter was required to have been passed through to such owner and has not been included in the cost of such cigarettes to such owner shall, in either case, be guilty of a misdemeanor. Provided, however, if the amount of cigarettes is twenty thousand or more, such owner shall be guilty of a class E felony. For purposes of this subdivision, such owner shall willfully and knowingly have in such owner's custody or possession or under such owner's control any cigarettes on which such tax has not been assumed or paid by an agent licensed as such under such article twenty where such owner has knowledge of the requirement that such tax be assumed or paid and where, to such owner's knowledge, such tax has not been assumed or paid by such an agent on such cigarettes. Such owner shall willfully and knowingly have in such owner's custody or possession or under such owner's control cigarettes on which such tax is required to have been passed through to such owner and has not been included in the cost to such owner where such owner has knowledge of the requirement that such tax be passed through and where to such owner's knowledge such tax has not been so included.

(l) Any person who falsely or fraudulently makes, alters or counterfeits any stamp prescribed by the commissioner under the provisions of article twenty-eight or pursuant to the authority of article twenty-nine of this chapter, or causes or procures to be falsely or fraudulently made, altered or counterfeited any such stamp, or knowingly and willfully utters, purchases, passes or tenders as true any such false, altered or counterfeited stamp, or knowingly and willfully possesses any cigarettes in packages bearing any such false, altered or counterfeited stamp, and any person who knowingly and willfully makes, causes to be made, purchases or receives any device for forging or counterfeiting any stamp prescribed by the commissioner under the provisions of article twenty-eight or pursuant to the authority of article twenty-nine of this chapter, or who knowingly and willfully possesses any such device, shall be guilty of a class E felony. For the purposes of this subdivision, the words "stamp prescribed by the commissioner" shall include a stamp, impression or imprint made by a metering machine, the design of which has been approved by the commissioner.

(m) All of the provisions of this section shall apply for purposes of any taxes administered by the commissioner and imposed pursuant to the authority of article twenty-nine of this chapter and for the purposes of any taxes imposed by article twenty-eight-A of this chapter. References in subdivisions (f), (k), and (l) of this section to taxes imposed by or pursuant to the authority of article twenty-eight or twenty-nine of this chapter include the taxes required to be prepaid pursuant to section eleven hundred two or eleven hundred three of this chapter.

(n) (1) Every person engaged in the retail sale of motor fuel and/or diesel motor fuel or a distributor of such fuels, as defined in article twelve-A of this chapter, shall comply with the provisions of section three hundred ninety-two-i of the general business law by reducing the prices charged for motor fuel and diesel motor fuel in an amount equal to any reduction in taxes prepaid by the distributor or imposed on retail customers resulting from computing sales and compensating use taxes at a cents per gallon rate pursuant to the provisions of paragraph two of subdivision (e) and subdivision (m) of section one thousand one hundred eleven of this chapter.

(2) The commissioner shall monitor the prices charged by persons engaged in the retail sale or distribution of motor fuel and diesel motor fuel.

(3) Upon a finding by the commissioner that a person engaged in the retail sale of motor fuel and/or diesel motor fuel or in the distribution of such fuels has violated the provisions of section three hundred ninety-two-i of the general business law, the commissioner shall provide notice of such violation to such person and hold a hearing on such violation, with an opportunity for the accused to be heard, not less than ten days after notice is provided. A violation of section three hundred ninety-two-i of the general business law shall subject the person violating such section to a civil penalty of up to five thousand dollars for each day such violation occurs.

§ 1818. Real estate transfer tax.--Any willful act or omission, by any person which constitutes a violation of any provision of article thirty-one of this chapter shall constitute a misdemeanor.

§ 1820. Authorized combative sports tax. Any willful act or omission by any person which constitutes a violation of any provision of article nineteen of this chapter shall constitute a misdemeanor.

§ 1821. Medallion taxicab owners tax in the metropolitan commuter transportation district. Any willful act or omission by any person which constitutes a violation of any provision of article twenty-nine-A of this chapter shall constitute a misdemeanor.

§ 1822. Violation of the state assessment fee on transportation network company prearranged trips. Any willful act or omission by any person that constitutes a violation of any provision of article twenty-nine-B of this chapter shall constitute a misdemeanor.

§ 1825. Violation of secrecy provisions of the tax law.--Any person who violates the secrecy provisions of this chapter or subdivision (e) of section 11-1797 of the administrative code of the city of New York shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

§ 1826. Use of tax or other notices to distribute advertising and propaganda material.--(a) Any person, firm, corporation, or association, or agent or employee thereof, who mails or delivers or causes to be mailed or delivered, any notice, circular, pamphlet, card, hand-bill, printed or written notice of any kind other than that which is authorized or required by law with a statement of moneys due the state of New York or any political subdivision thereof, or with a tax bill or notification of a tax to be assessed or levied by the state of New York or any political subdivision thereof, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

(b) Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this section, it shall be lawful for the governing body of any political subdivision, by resolution unanimously passed to designate a particular written or printed notice relating to water rates, sewer rentals, permit fees and other fees and charges payable to the political subdivision to be included with said tax bill or notification of a tax to be assessed or levied.

§ 1827. Commissioner not to be interested in tax sale.--The commissioner, or any person employed in such commissioner's office, who shall be directly or indirectly interested in any tax sale made by such commissioner, or in the title acquired by such sale, or in any money paid or to be paid for the redemption of any lands sold for taxes by the commissioner or on the cancellation of any such tax sale; or any person who shall pay or give to the commissioner, or to any employee of such commissioner's office, any compensation, reward or promise thereof for any service or services performed in regard to such sale, redemption, cancellation or such tax title, is guilty of a misdemeanor. A sale in violation of this section is void.

§ 1829. Violation of article twenty-A. Any wholesale dealer or retail dealer who violates any of the provisions of article twenty-A of this chapter may be prosecuted and upon conviction shall be guilty of a class B misdemeanor.

§ 1830. Other references.--For criminal penalties for violations of article thirty-four of this chapter relating to the New York state lottery for education, see sections sixteen hundred nine and sixteen hundred ten of this chapter.

§ 1831. Failure to obey subpoenas. Any person who is duly subpoenaed, pursuant to section one hundred seventy-four of this chapter or the provisions of the civil practice law and rules, in connection with any matter arising under this chapter, or any related income or earnings tax statute, to attend as a witness or to produce books, accounts, records, memoranda, documents or other papers, and who (1) fails or refuses to attend without lawful excuse, (2) refuses to be sworn, (3) without asserting a valid legal privilege refuses to answer any material and proper question, or (4) without asserting a valid legal privilege refuses, after reasonable notice, to produce books, accounts, records, memoranda, documents or other papers that constitute material and proper evidence in his or her possession or under his or her control, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

§ 1832. Non-preemption; penal law anticipatory offenses and accessorial liability apply. (a) Unless expressly stated otherwise, the penalties provided in this chapter shall not preclude prosecution for any offense under the penal law or any other criminal statute.

(b) The offenses specified in title G of the penal law and the provisions of article twenty of the penal law are applicable to all offenses defined in this chapter.

§ 1833. Tax preparer registration. A commercial tax return preparer, as defined by paragraph three of subdivision (a) of section thirty-two of this chapter, who willfully and with the intent to evade the requirements of section thirty-two of this chapter, fails to sign his or her name to any tax return that requires a signature or fails to register as required by such section thirty-two, will be guilty of a class A misdemeanor.

PART V - PROCEDURAL PROVISIONS

Section 1838. Filing of documents.

1839. Disposition of fines.

§ 1838. Filing of documents.--For purposes of the prosecution of offenses under the provisions of this chapter, reports, returns, statements, lists, accounts, other documents or other information required to be filed with or delivered to the tax commission shall include such items which under the provisions of this chapter or any related statute are required to be recorded or filed with, served upon or delivered to another person including, but not limited to, a court, appraiser, recording officer of any county within the state, county clerk, surrogate's assistant, surrogate's clerk, county treasurer, any other governmental agency or entity, securities exchange, clearing corporation or other entity in its capacity as an agent of the tax commission.

§ 1839. Disposition of fines.--All fines levied under this article shall be paid into the state treasury to the credit of the general fund.

PART VI - SEIZURES AND FORFEITURES

- Section 1845. Forfeiture action with respect to alcoholic beverages and vehicles carrying such beverages.
1846. Seizure and forfeiture of cigarettes.
- 1846-a. Forfeiture action with respect to tobacco products.
1847. Seizure and forfeiture of vehicles or other means of transportation used to transport or for deposit or concealment of cigarettes or used to import tobacco products.
1848. Forfeiture action with respect to motor fuel and diesel motor fuel and vehicle carrying such fuel.

§ 1845. Forfeiture action with respect to alcoholic beverages and vehicles carrying such beverages. (a) Temporary seizure. Whenever a police officer designated in section 1.20 of the criminal procedure law or a peace officer designated in subdivision four of section 2.10 of such law, acting pursuant to his special duties, shall discover more than ninety liters of liquors which are being imported for sale or use in the state, where the person importing or causing such liquors to be imported is not registered as a distributor under section four hundred twenty-one of this chapter, such police officer or peace officer is hereby authorized to seize and take possession of such liquors, and to seize and take possession of the vehicle or other means of transportation used to transport such liquors.

(b) Retention of property. The department shall hold and safely keep such liquors, vehicle or other means of transportation seized pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section. Seized liquors may be deposited to the credit of the department at a storage facility within the state or may be sold by the department.

(c) Confirmation of temporary seizure. Within five business days after the temporary seizure of liquors, vehicle or other means of transportation pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section, the department shall move in supreme court in the county where the temporary seizure occurred, on such notice as the court shall direct to the owners of the property, to confirm the temporary seizure. If the department fails to make such motion within the required period, such seized property shall be restored to the owners thereof as provided in subdivision (e) of this section. On a motion for an order confirming the seizure, the department shall show, by affidavit and such other written evidence as may be submitted, that there is a cause of action for forfeiture under subdivision (d) of this section and that there are grounds for confirmation of the seizure. The department shall include, in its motion papers, an inventory of all seized property. The court shall grant an application for an order confirming the seizure when it determines that there is a substantial probability that the department will prevail on the issue of forfeiture.

(d) Forfeiture action. (1) A forfeiture action shall be commenced within forty-five days from the date of the seizure. Such action shall be commenced and service shall be made in accordance with the methods authorized by the civil practice law and rules or the business corporation law. Upon such terms as may be just and upon good cause shown, the court may extend the time, not exceeding thirty days, within which the summons must be served, provided that the application for extensions made before the expiration of the time fixed. If the department fails to commence the forfeiture action within the required period, such seized property shall be restored to the owners thereof as provided in subdivision (e) of this section.

(2) A forfeiture action under this subdivision shall be commenced in supreme court. The proper venue for trial of an action for forfeiture is the county in which the temporary seizure authorized by subdivision (a) of this section occurred.

(3) Forfeiture of liquors together with the vehicle or other means of transportation used to transport such liquors shall be adjudged where the department proves, by clear and convincing evidence, that the person importing or causing such liquors to be imported was not registered as a distributor under section four hundred twenty-one of this chapter. All defendants in a forfeiture action brought pursuant to this article shall have the right to trial by jury on any issue of fact.

(4) The court in which a forfeiture action is pending may dismiss said action in the interests of justice upon an application as provided for herein.

(A) At any time during the pendency of a forfeiture action, the department or a defendant may apply for an order dismissing the complaint and terminating the forfeiture action in the interest of justice.

(B) Such application for relief provided in subparagraph (a) hereof must be made in writing and upon notice to all parties. The court, in its discretion, may direct that notice be given to any other person having an interest in the property.

(C) An application for the relief provided for in subparagraph (A) hereof must be brought exclusively in the supreme court in the county in which the forfeiture action is pending.

(D) The court may grant the relief provided in subparagraph (A) hereof if it finds that such relief is warranted by the existence of some compelling factor, consideration or circumstance demonstrating that forfeiture of the property or any part thereof, would not serve the ends of justice. Reporting and payment of the tax imposed by or pursuant to article eighteen of this chapter with respect to such liquors subsequent to the seizure of such liquors shall not constitute a compelling factor, consideration or circumstance warranting the granting of the relief provided for in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph. In determining whether such relief is warranted by the existence of some compelling factor, consideration or circumstances pursuant to this paragraph, the court may, however, take into account the fact that such taxes with respect to the seized liquors have been reported and remitted to the state prior to the temporary seizure of such liquors if such unregistered importation into the state was effected in good faith and without knowledge of the requirement of registration and without intent to evade tax. The court must issue a written decision, stating the basis for an order issued pursuant to this paragraph.

(5) An action under this subdivision shall be stayed during the pendency of a criminal action which is related to it; provided, that upon motion of a defendant in the forfeiture action or the department, a court may, in the interest of justice and for good cause, and with the consent of all parties, order that the forfeiture action proceed despite the pending criminal action; and provided that such stay shall not prevent the granting or continuance of an order confirming the seizure provided under this section.

(6) The total that may be recovered shall not exceed the value of the liquors seized and, in addition, either the value of the vehicle or other means of transportation used to transport such liquors or three times the amount of the tax, interest and penalty under article eighteen of this chapter with respect to the liquors, whichever is less.

(e) Return of property. If (1) the department fails to move for confirmation of the seizure pursuant to subdivision (c) of this section or (2) a court denies an application for an order confirming the seizure or (3) judgment is entered against the department in the forfeiture action and that judgment is affirmed after all appeals are exhausted or the time within which to appeal has expired, then the department shall restore such seized liquors, or liquors of a like quantity and type, or such seized vehicle or other means of transportation to the owners thereof. Alternatively, if such seized liquors have been sold as provided in subdivision (b) of this section, the department shall pay to the owners of such liquors the proceeds of such sale or, if greater, an amount of money representing the fair market value of the liquors at the time of the seizure.

(f) Release of property. A person whose property has been seized may move, upon notice to the commissioner, in the supreme court in the county in which the temporary seizure occurred, for an order releasing all or part of the property seized upon payment of the department's reasonable fees and expenses, if any. On such a motion, the defendant shall give an undertaking in accordance with article twenty-five of the civil practice law and rules, in an amount equal to the value of the property sought to be released, that defendant will pay the department the value of such property which may be adjudged forfeited (but in the case of the owner of a vehicle or other means of transportation, the amount of the undertaking required shall not exceed three times the amount of all taxes, interest and penalties due under article eighteen of this chapter).

(g) Disposal of property. The department, after a judicial determination of forfeiture, shall, in its discretion, either retain such seized property for its official use or sell such forfeited property at public sale. The net proceeds of any such sale, or of any sale of seized liquors as provided in subdivision (b) of this section, after deduction of the lawful expenses incurred, shall be deposited and disposed of pursuant to the provisions of section one hundred seventy-one-a of this chapter with respect to deposit and disposition of revenue.

(h) Wrongful seizure. A defendant in a forfeiture action may recover in an action for wrongful seizure all costs and damages, including reasonable attorneys' fees, which may be sustained by reason of the seizure if the defendant recovers judgment in the forfeiture action, or if it is finally decided that there was no justification for the seizure. In order to establish a claim for wrongful seizure, the defendant must establish by a preponderance of the evidence that the seizure was made without reasonable cause and not in good faith. An action for wrongful seizure under this subdivision shall be the defendant's exclusive remedy in connection with seizures made under this section. No suit or action for wrongful seizure under this section shall be instituted unless such suit or action is commenced within two years after the time when the property was seized.

(i) The remedies provided to the department by this section shall be in addition to any other remedies provided by law.

(j) An action under this section is civil and remedial and shall not be deemed to be a penalty or criminal forfeiture for any purpose. Except as otherwise provided by statute, the proceedings under this section shall be governed by the civil practice law and rules. An action under this section is not a criminal proceeding and shall not be deemed to be a previous prosecution under article forty of the criminal procedure law.

(k) An additional ground for seizure and forfeiture under this section shall be where such police officer or peace officer shall discover more than ninety liters of liquors in this state, with respect to which the taxes imposed by or pursuant to article eighteen of this chapter have not been paid or assumed by a person registered as a distributor pursuant to such article, which are in the course of distribution in this state or which are being sold in this state. All the foregoing subdivisions of this section shall apply to the seizure and forfeiture of liquors referred to in this subdivision and the vehicle transporting the same as if such foregoing subdivisions specifically referred to such grounds and as if such grounds set forth in this subdivision were set forth as grounds for seizure in subdivision (a) hereof. Provided that in the forfeiture action with respect to the liquors or vehicle referred to in this subdivision, the department shall be required to show that such liquors were found within the state and that they were in the course of distribution in this state or were being sold in this state.

(l) This section shall also apply to a forfeiture action with respect to the importation of more than ninety liters of liquors into a city imposing a tax pursuant to the authority of section four hundred forty-five of this chapter by a person not registered as a distributor for purposes of such tax or, in addition, with respect to the distribution or sale of untaxed liquors in such city.

§ 1846. Seizure and forfeiture of cigarettes.--(a) Whenever a police officer designated in section 1.20 of the criminal procedure law or a peace officer designated in subdivision four of section 2.10 of such law, acting pursuant to his or her special duties, shall discover any cigarettes subject to tax provided by article twenty of this chapter or by chapter thirteen of title eleven of the administrative code of the city of New York, and upon which the tax has not been paid or the stamps not affixed as required by such article or such chapter thirteen, they are hereby authorized and empowered forthwith to seize and take possession of such cigarettes, together with any vending machine or receptacle in which they are held for sale. Such cigarettes, vending machine or receptacle seized by a police officer or such peace officer shall be turned over to the commissioner. Such seized cigarettes, vending machine or receptacle, not including money contained in such vending machine or receptacle, shall be forfeited to the state. The commissioner may, within a reasonable time thereafter, upon publication of a notice to such effect for at least five successive days, before the day of sale, in a newspaper published or circulated in the county where the seizure was made, sell such forfeited vending machines or receptacles at public sale and pay the proceeds into the state treasury to the credit of the general fund. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, the commissioner may enter into an agreement with any city of this state which is authorized to impose a tax similar to that imposed by article twenty of this chapter to provide for the disposition between the state and any such city of the proceeds from any such sale. All cigarettes forfeited to the state shall be destroyed or used for law enforcement purposes, except that cigarettes that violate, or are suspected of violating, federal trademark laws or import laws shall not be used for law enforcement purposes. If the commissioner determines the cigarettes may not be used for law enforcement purposes, the commissioner must, within a reasonable time after the forfeiture of such cigarettes, upon publication in the state registry, destroy such forfeited cigarettes. The commissioner may, prior to any destruction of cigarettes, permit the true holder of the trademark rights in the cigarettes to inspect such forfeited cigarettes in order to assist in any investigation regarding such cigarettes.

(a-1) Whenever a police officer designated in section 1.20 of the criminal procedure law or a peace officer designated in subdivision four of section 2.10 of such law, acting pursuant to his or her special duties, shall discover any cigarettes which have been stamped in violation of section four hundred eighty-b of this chapter, such officer is hereby authorized and empowered forthwith to seize and take possession of such cigarettes, and such cigarettes shall be subject to a forfeiture action pursuant to the procedures provided for in article thirteen-A of the civil practice law and rules, as if such article specifically provided for forfeiture of cigarettes seized pursuant to this section as a preconviction forfeiture crime. Subdivisions (b), (c) and (d) of this section shall not apply to cigarettes seized pursuant to this subdivision.

(b) In the alternative, the tax commission, on reasonable notice by mail or otherwise, may permit the person from whom said cigarettes were seized to redeem the said cigarettes, and any vending machine or receptacle seized therewith, by the payment of the tax due, plus a penalty of fifty per centum thereof, plus interest on the amount of tax due for each month or fraction thereof after such tax became due (determined without regard to any extension of time for filing or paying) at the rate applicable under subparagraph (ii) of paragraph (a) of subdivision one of section four hundred eighty-one of this chapter and the costs incurred in such proceeding, which total payment shall not be less than five dollars; provided, however, that such seizure and sale or redemption shall not be deemed to relieve any person from fine or imprisonment provided for in this article for violation of any provision of article twenty of this chapter.

(c) In the alternative, the tax commission may dispose of any cigarettes seized pursuant to this section, except those that violate, or are suspected of violating, federal trademark laws or import laws, by transferring them to the department of corrections and community supervision for sale to or use by incarcerated individuals in such institutions.

(d) Cigarettes seized pursuant to a violation of section four hundred seventy-three-b of this chapter shall be destroyed. The department may also seize and destroy any vending machine or receptacle in which cigarettes stamped in violation of section four hundred seventy-three-b of this chapter are held for sale.

§ 1846-a. Forfeiture action with respect to tobacco products. (a) Whenever a police officer designated in section 1.20 of the criminal procedure law or a peace officer designated in subdivision four of section 2.10 of such law, acting pursuant to their special duties, shall discover any tobacco products in excess of five hundred cigars, ten pounds of tobacco, or one hundred fifty units of alternative nicotine products, which are possessed for the purpose of sale in the state when the excise taxes on such tobacco products have not been assumed or paid by a distributor appointed pursuant to section four hundred seventy-two of this chapter, such police officer or peace officer is hereby authorized and empowered forthwith to seize and take possession of such tobacco products. Such tobacco products seized by a police officer or peace officer shall be turned over to the commissioner. Such seized tobacco products shall be forfeited to the state. All tobacco products forfeited to the state shall be destroyed or used for law enforcement purposes, except that tobacco products that violate, or are suspected of violating, federal trademark laws or import laws shall not be used for law enforcement purposes. If the commissioner determines the tobacco products may not be used for law enforcement purposes, the commissioner must, within a reasonable time thereafter, upon publication in the state registry of a notice to such effect before the day of destruction, destroy such forfeited tobacco products. The commissioner may, prior to any destruction of tobacco products, permit the true holder of the trademark rights in the tobacco products to inspect such forfeited products in order to assist in any investigation regarding such tobacco products.

(a-1) Whenever a police officer designated in section 1.20 of the criminal procedure law or a peace officer designated in subdivision four of section 2.10 of the criminal procedure law, acting pursuant to his or her special duties, discovers any roll-your-own tobacco that is in violation of section four hundred eighty-c of this chapter, the officer is authorized and empowered to seize and take possession of the roll-your-own tobacco, and the roll-your-own tobacco is subject to a forfeiture action under the procedures provided for in article thirteen-A of the civil practice law and rules, as if that article specifically provided for forfeiture of roll-your-own tobacco seized under this section as a preconviction forfeiture crime. Subdivisions (b) and (c) of this section do not apply to roll-your-own tobacco seized pursuant to this subdivision.

(b) In the alternative, the commissioner, on reasonable notice by mail or otherwise, may permit the person from whom said tobacco products were seized to redeem the said tobacco products by the payment of the tax due, plus a penalty of fifty per centum thereof, plus interest on the amount of tax due for each month or fraction thereof after such tax became due (determined without regard to any extension of time for filing or paying) at the rate applicable under subparagraph (ii) of paragraph (a) of subdivision one of section four hundred eighty-one of this chapter and the costs incurred in such proceeding, which total payment shall not be less than five dollars; provided, however, that such seizure and sale or redemption shall not be deemed to relieve any person from fine or imprisonment provided for in this article for violation of any provision of article twenty of this chapter.

(c) In the alternative, the commissioner may dispose of any tobacco products seized pursuant to this section, except those that violate, or are suspected of violating, federal trademark or import laws, by transferring them to the department of corrections and community supervision for sale to or use by incarcerated individuals in such institutions.

§ 1847. Seizure and forfeiture of vehicles or other means of transportation used to transport or for deposit or concealment of cigarettes or used to import tobacco products. (a) Any peace officer designated in subdivision four or five of section 2.10 of the criminal procedure law, acting pursuant to his or her special duties, or any police officer designated in section 1.20 of the criminal procedure law may seize any vehicle or other means of transportation used to transport or for the deposit or concealment of more than one hundred unstamped or unlawfully stamped packages of cigarettes subject to tax under article twenty of this chapter or by chapter thirteen of title eleven of the administrative code of the city of New York, other than a vehicle or other means of transportation used by any person as a common carrier in transaction of business as such common carrier, and such vehicle or other means of transportation shall be subject to forfeiture as hereinafter in this section provided.

(b) Any peace officer designated in subdivision four of section 2.10 of the criminal procedure law, acting pursuant to their special duties, or any police officer designated in section 1.20 of the criminal procedure law may seize any vehicle or other means of transportation used to import tobacco products in excess of five hundred cigars, ten pounds of tobacco, or one hundred fifty units of alternative nicotine products, for sale where the person importing or causing such tobacco products to be imported has not been appointed a distributor pursuant to section four hundred seventy-two of this chapter, other than a vehicle or other means of transportation used by any person as a common carrier in transaction of business as such common carrier, and such vehicle or other means of transportation shall be subject to forfeiture as hereinafter in this section provided.

(c) The seized property shall be delivered by the officer having made the seizure to the custody of the district attorney of the county wherein the seizure was made, except that in the city of New York, Yonkers or Buffalo, the seized property shall be delivered to the custody of the police department of such city, together with a report of all the facts and circumstances of the seizure.

(d) It shall be the duty of the district attorney of the county wherein the seizure was made, if elsewhere than in the city of New York, Yonkers or Buffalo, and where the seizure is made in any of such cities it shall be the duty of the corporation counsel of the city, to inquire into the facts of the seizure so reported to him and if it appears probable that a forfeiture has been incurred, for the determination of which the institution of proceedings in the supreme court is necessary, to cause the proper proceedings to be commenced and prosecuted, at any time after thirty days from the date of seizure, to declare such forfeiture, unless, upon inquiry and examination such district attorney or corporation counsel decides that such proceedings cannot probably be sustained or that the ends of public justice do not require that they should be instituted or prosecuted, in which case, the district attorney or corporation counsel shall cause such seized property to be returned to the owner thereof.

(e) Notice of the institution of the forfeiture proceeding shall be served either (i) personally on the owners of the seized property or (ii) by registered mail to the owners' last known address and by publication of the notice once a week for two successive weeks in a newspaper published or circulated in the county wherein the seizure was made.

(f) Forfeiture shall not be adjudged where the owners establish by a preponderance of the evidence that (i) the use of such seized property was not intentional on the part of any owner, (ii) said seized property was used by any person other than an owner thereof, while such seized property was unlawfully in the possession of a person who acquired possession thereof in violation of the criminal laws of the United States, or of any state, or (iii) forfeiture is not warranted or would not serve the ends of justice, taking into consideration the factors specified in paragraph (d) of subdivision four of section thirteen hundred eleven of the civil practice law and rules.

(g) The district attorney or the police department having custody of the seized property, after such judicial determination of forfeiture, shall, at its discretion, either retain such seized property for the official use of its office or department, transfer such property to the department of taxation and finance of the state of New York for its official use, or, upon publication of a notice to such effect for at least five successive days, before the day of sale, in a newspaper published or circulated in the county where the seizure was made, sell such forfeited property at public sale. The net proceeds of any such sale, after deduction of the lawful expenses incurred, shall be paid into the general fund of the county wherein the seizure was made except that the net proceeds of the sale of property seized in the city of New York, Yonkers or Buffalo shall be paid into the general fund of such city.

(h) Whenever any property is seized and declared forfeited, any person interested in any such property may apply to a justice of the supreme court, on serving a notice of petition and petition on the appropriate district attorney, police department or corporation counsel, for the recovery of such forfeited property. The justice of the supreme court to whom such application is made may restore said forfeited property upon such terms as he deems reasonable and just, if the petitioner establishes either of the affirmative defenses set forth in subdivision (f) of this section and that the petitioner was without personal or actual knowledge of the forfeiture proceeding. If the petition is filed after the sale of the forfeited property, any judgment in favor of the petitioner shall be limited to the net proceeds of such sale, after deduction of the lawful expenses and costs incurred by the district attorney, police department or corporation counsel.

(i) No suit or action under this section for wrongful seizure shall be instituted unless such suit or action is commenced within two years after the time when the property was seized.

(a) Temporary seizure. Whenever a police officer designated in section 1.20 of the criminal procedure law or a peace officer designated in subdivision four of section 2.10 of such law, acting pursuant to his special duties, shall discover any motor fuel or diesel motor fuel which is being imported for use, distribution, storage or sale in the state where the person importing or causing such motor fuel or diesel motor fuel to be imported is not registered as a distributor under section two hundred eighty-three or section two hundred eighty-two-a, of this chapter, as the case may be, such police officer or peace officer is hereby authorized to seize and take possession of such motor fuel or diesel motor fuel, together with the vehicle or other means of transportation used to transport such motor fuel.

(b) Retention of property. The department shall hold and safely keep such motor fuel, diesel motor fuel, vehicle or other means of transportation seized pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section. Seized motor fuel or diesel motor fuel may be deposited to the credit of the department at a terminal or other storage facility within the state or may be sold by the department on the open market.

(c) Confirmation of temporary seizure. Within five business days after the temporary seizure of motor fuel, diesel motor fuel, vehicle or other means of transportation pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section, the department shall move in supreme court in any county, on such notice as the court shall direct to the owners of the property, to confirm the temporary seizure. If the department fails to make such motion within the required period, such seized property shall be restored to the owners thereof as provided in subdivision (e) of this section. On a motion for an order confirming the seizure, the department shall show, by affidavit and such other written evidence as may be submitted, that there is a cause of action for forfeiture under subdivision (d) of this section and that there are grounds for confirmation of the seizure. The department shall include, in its motion papers, an inventory of all seized property. The court shall grant an application for an order confirming the seizure when it determines that there is a substantial probability that the department will prevail on the issue of forfeiture.

(d) Forfeiture action. (1) A forfeiture action shall be commenced within forty-five days from the date of the seizure. Such action shall be commenced by service of a summons with notice or summons and complaint in accordance with the methods authorized by the civil practice law and rules or the business corporation law with respect to personal service of a summons. Upon such terms as may be just and upon good cause shown the court may extend the time, not exceeding thirty days, within which the summons must be served, provided that the application for extensions made before the expiration of the time fixed. If the department fails to commence the forfeiture action within the required period, such seized property shall be restored to the owners thereof as provided in subdivision (e) of this section.

(2) A forfeiture action under this subdivision shall be commenced in supreme court. The proper venue for trial of an action for forfeiture is the county in which the temporary seizure authorized by subdivision (a) of this section occurred.

(3) Forfeiture of motor fuel or diesel motor fuel together with the vehicle or other means of transportation used to transport such motor fuel or diesel motor fuel shall be adjudged where the department proves, by clear and convincing evidence, that the person importing or causing such motor fuel or diesel motor fuel to be imported was not registered as a distributor under section two hundred eighty-three or section two hundred eighty-two-a of this chapter, as the case may be. All defendants in a forfeiture action brought pursuant to this article shall have the right to trial by jury on any issue of fact.

(4) The court in which a forfeiture action is pending may dismiss said action in the interests of justice upon an application as provided for herein.

(A) At any time during the pendency of a forfeiture action, the department of taxation and finance or a defendant may apply for an order dismissing the complaint and terminating the forfeiture action in the interest of justice.

(B) Such application for the relief provided in subparagraph (A) hereof must be made in writing and upon notice to all parties. The court may, in its discretion, direct that notice be given to any other person having an interest in the property.

(C) An application for the relief provided for in subparagraph (A) hereof must be brought exclusively in the supreme court in the county in which the forfeiture action is pending.

(D) The court may grant the relief provided in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph if it finds that such relief is warranted by the existence of some compelling factor, consideration or circumstance demonstrating that forfeiture of the property or any part thereof, would not serve the ends of justice. Reporting and payment of the tax imposed pursuant to article twelve-A or article twenty-eight of this chapter with respect to such motor fuel or diesel motor fuel subsequent to the seizure of such fuel shall not constitute a compelling factor, consideration or circumstance warranting the granting of the relief provided for in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph. In determining whether such relief is warranted by the existence of some compelling factor, consideration or circumstances pursuant to this paragraph, the court may, however, take into account the fact that such taxes with respect to the seized fuel have been reported and remitted to the state prior to the temporary seizure of such fuel if the unregistered importation into the state was effected in good faith and without knowledge of the requirement of registration and without intent to evade tax. The court must issue a written decision, stating the basis for an order issued pursuant to this paragraph.

(5) An action under this subdivision shall be stayed during the pendency of a criminal action which is related to it; provided, that upon motion of a defendant in the forfeiture action or the department of taxation and finance, a court may, in the interest of justice and for good cause, and with the consent of all parties, order that the forfeiture action proceed despite the pending criminal action; and provided that such stay shall not prevent the granting or continuance of an order confirming the seizure provided under this section.

(6) The total that may be recovered shall not exceed the value of the motor fuel or diesel motor fuel seized and, in addition, either the value of the vehicle or other means of transportation used to transport such fuel or three times the amount of the tax and penalty under articles twelve-A, thirteen-A and twenty-eight and pursuant to the authority of article twenty-nine of this chapter with respect to the motor fuel or diesel motor fuel, whichever is less.

(e) Return of property. If (1) the department fails to move for confirmation of the seizure pursuant to subdivision (c) of this section or (2) a court denies an application for an order confirming the seizure or (3) judgment is entered against the department in the forfeiture action and that judgment is affirmed after all appeals are exhausted, then the department shall restore such seized motor fuel or diesel motor fuel, or motor fuel or diesel motor fuel of a like quantity and type, or such seized vehicle or other means of transportation to the owners thereof. Alternatively, if such seized motor fuel or diesel motor fuel has been sold as provided in subdivision (b) of this section, the department shall pay to the owners of such motor fuel or diesel motor fuel the proceeds of such sale or, if greater, an amount of money representing the fair market value of the motor fuel or diesel motor fuel at the time of the seizure.

(f) Release of property. A person whose property has been seized may move, upon notice to the department of taxation and finance, in the supreme court in any county, provided that if the department shall have moved to confirm the temporary seizure of such property, in the supreme court of such county for an order releasing all or part of the property seized upon payment of the department's fees and expenses, if any. On such a motion, the defendant shall give an undertaking in accordance with article twenty-five of the civil practice law and rules, in an amount equal to the value of the property sought to be released, that he will pay the department the value of such property which may be adjudged forfeited (but in the case of the owner of a vehicle or other means of transportation, the amount of the undertaking required shall not exceed three times the amount of all taxes and penalties due under articles twelve-A, thirteen-A and twenty-eight and pursuant to the authority of article twenty-nine of this chapter).

(g) Disposal of property. The department, after a judicial determination of forfeiture, shall, in its discretion, either retain such seized property for its official use or sell such forfeited property at public sale. The net proceeds of any such sale, or of any sale of seized motor fuel or diesel motor fuel as provided in subdivision (b) of this section, after deduction of the lawful expenses incurred, shall be deposited and disposed of pursuant to the provisions of section one hundred seventy-one-a of this chapter with respect to deposit and disposition of revenue.

(h) Wrongful seizure. A defendant in a forfeiture action may recover in an action for wrongful seizure all costs and damages, including reasonable attorneys' fees, which may be sustained by reason of the seizure if the defendant recovers judgment in the forfeiture action, or if it is finally decided that there was no justification for the seizure. In order to establish a claim for wrongful seizure, the defendant must establish by a preponderance of the evidence that the seizure was made without reasonable cause and not in good faith. An action for wrongful seizure under this subdivision shall be the defendant's exclusive remedy in connection with seizures made under this section. No suit or action for wrongful seizure under this section shall be instituted unless such suit or action is commenced within two years after the time when the property was seized.

(i) The remedies provided to the department of taxation and finance by this section shall be in addition to any other remedies provided by law.

(j) An action under this section is civil and remedial and shall not be deemed to be a penalty or criminal forfeiture for any purpose. Except as otherwise provided by statute, the proceedings under this section shall be governed by the civil practice law and rules. An action under this section is not a criminal proceeding and shall not be deemed to be a previous prosecution under article forty of the criminal procedure law.

DIVISION OF TAX APPEALS

Section 2000. Statement of purpose.

2002. Division of tax appeals; organization.

2004. Tax appeals tribunal; organization and appointment.

2006. Tax appeals tribunal; functions, powers and duties.

2008. Commencement of proceedings.

2012. Small claims unit.

2014. Representation of petitioners.

2016. Judicial review.

2018. Frivolous petitions.

2020. Official seal.

2022. Manner of execution of instruments by the tax appeals tribunal.

2024. Traveling expenses.

§ 2000. Statement of purpose. This article is enacted to establish an independent division of tax appeals within the department of taxation and finance which shall be responsible for providing the public with a just system of resolving controversies with such department of taxation and finance and to ensure that the elements of due process are present with regard to such resolution of controversies. The division shall be responsible for processing and reviewing petitions, providing hearings as prescribed pursuant to this chapter or as a matter of right where the right to a hearing is not specifically provided for, modified or denied by another provision of this chapter, rendering determinations and decisions and all other matters relating to the administration of the administrative hearing process. The administrative hearing process is the process commenced by the filing of a petition protesting a notice issued by the commissioner of taxation and finance of a determination of tax due, a tax deficiency, a denial of a refund or credit application, a cancellation, revocation or suspension of a license, permit or registration, a denial of an application for a license, permit or registration or any other notice which gives a person the right to a hearing under this chapter.

§ 2002. Division of tax appeals; organization. There shall be in the department of taxation and finance a separate and independent division of tax appeals to be operated and administered by a tax appeals tribunal. The powers, functions, duties and obligations of the division shall be separate from and independent of the authority of the commissioner of taxation and finance.

§ 2004. Tax appeals tribunal; organization and appointment. The tax appeals tribunal shall consist of three commissioners who shall be appointed by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate. The governor shall designate one of the members of the tribunal to be president of the tax appeals tribunal, who shall be the executive of the division of tax appeals and have sole charge of the administration of such division and who shall serve in the capacity of president during the pleasure of the governor. The two other members of the tribunal shall join with the president in exercising the powers and performing the duties specifically imposed by law on the tribunal as a body. The tribunal may determine the rules of its procedure and may prescribe specific powers and duties of the president not inconsistent with any provision of law. A majority of the tribunal shall constitute a quorum for the purposes of exercising such powers and performing such duties, including the issuing of decisions. No person shall be appointed as a member of the tax appeals tribunal unless at the time of his appointment he is a resident of the state and is knowledgeable on the subject of taxation and is skillful in matters pertaining thereto, and furthermore, at least two members of the tribunal shall each have been admitted to practice as attorneys at law in this state for a total of ten years preceding their appointments. Once appointed and confirmed, each commissioner shall continue in office until his term expires and until his successor has been appointed and has qualified. The term of office of each commissioner shall be nine years. Vacancies in the tribunal occurring otherwise than by expiration of term shall be filled for the unexpired term in the same manner as original appointments. Any commissioner may after notice and an opportunity to be heard, be removed by the governor for neglect of duty or misfeasance in office, and a commissioner may be removed for other cause by the senate on the recommendation of the governor. Each commissioner shall devote his entire time to the duties of his office. Each commissioner shall receive annual salaries within the amounts appropriated therefor.

§ 2006. Tax appeals tribunal; functions, powers and duties. The tribunal shall have the following functions, powers and duties:

1. To establish, consolidate, alter or abolish any unit in the division; to appoint the heads of such units and fix their duties; and to establish, consolidate or alter any positions in the division.

2. To appoint, remove or transfer officers, assistants, administrative law judges, and other employees as it may deem necessary for the exercise of the powers and performance of the duties of the division of tax appeals, all of whom shall be in the classified civil service unless otherwise provided by law; to appoint a secretary to the tax appeals tribunal, which position shall be in the exempt class of the classified service; and to prescribe their duties, and fix their compensation within the amounts appropriated therefor.

3. To prepare and submit to the commissioner of taxation and finance itemized estimates of the financial needs of the division of tax appeals, in such form and at such times as may be required, for inclusion as part of the financial needs of the department of taxation and finance furnished to the governor. The itemized estimates prepared by the tax appeals tribunal shall not be revised or altered in any manner by the commissioner of taxation and finance prior to their submission to the governor.

4. To provide a hearing as a matter of right, to any petitioner upon such petitioner's request, pursuant to such rules, regulations, forms and instructions as the tribunal may prescribe, unless a right to such a hearing is specifically provided for, modified or denied by another provision of this chapter. Where such a request is made by a person seeking review of taxes determined or claimed to be due under this chapter, the liability of such person shall become finally and irrevocably fixed, unless such person, within ninety days from the time such liability is assessed, shall petition the division of tax appeals for a hearing to review such liability except that, as provided in subdivision (a) of section five hundred twenty-eight of this chapter, a determination relating to the tax imposed by article twenty-one-A of this chapter shall finally and irrevocably fix such tax unless the person against whom it is assessed shall petition the division of tax appeals for a hearing within thirty days after the giving of notice of such determination.

5. To provide that any party, pursuant to such rules and regulations as the tribunal may prescribe, after a petition requesting a hearing has been filed with the division, may file a motion with the tribunal to dismiss the petition on the following grounds:

- (i) a defense is founded upon documentary evidence; or
- (ii) the tribunal lacks jurisdiction of the subject matter of the petition; or
- (iii) the petitioner lacks legal capacity to petition; or
- (iv) there is an action pending between the same parties on the same controversy in a court of any state or the United States; an administrative law judge need not dismiss upon this ground but may make such determination as justice requires; or
- (v) the petition may not be maintained because of discharge in bankruptcy, infancy or other disability of the moving party, payment, release, or statute of limitation; or
- (vi) the pleading fails to state a cause for relief; or
- (vii) the tribunal lacks jurisdiction over the taxpayer; or
- (viii) the tribunal should not proceed in the absence of a person who should be a party.

Such motion to dismiss and all supporting documents shall be reviewed by an administrative law judge who shall issue a determination granting or denying the motion. Such a determination denying the motion shall not be subject to review by the tribunal. The tribunal of its own motion may, upon notice to the parties, issue a decision dismissing the petition on the grounds set forth in paragraphs (ii) and (vii) of this subdivision. Where not otherwise inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter, a motion filed pursuant to this subdivision shall be subject to the same provisions as motions filed pursuant to section three thousand two hundred eleven of the civil practice law and rules.

6. To provide that any party, pursuant to such rules and regulations as the tribunal may prescribe, after a petition requesting a hearing has been filed with the division and after issue is joined, may file a motion with the tribunal for summary determination. Such motion shall be supported by an affidavit, by a copy of the pleadings and by other available proof. The affidavit, made by a person having knowledge of the facts, shall recite all the material facts and show that there is no material issue of fact, and that the facts mandate judgment in the moving party's favor. The motion and all supporting documents shall be reviewed by an administrative law judge. The motion shall be granted if, upon all the papers and proof submitted, the administrative law judge finds that it has been established sufficiently that no material and triable issue of fact is presented and that the administrative law judge can, therefore, as a matter of law, issue a determination in favor of a party. The motion shall be denied if any party shows facts sufficient to require a hearing of any issue of fact. Where it appears that a party, other than the moving party, is entitled to a summary determination, the administrative law judge may grant such determination without the necessity of a cross-motion. Should it appear from affidavits submitted in opposition to the motion that facts essential to justify opposition may exist but cannot be stated, the administrative law judge may deny the motion or may order a continuance to permit affidavits or admissions to be obtained and may make such other order as may be just. Where not otherwise inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter, a motion filed pursuant to this subdivision shall be subject to the same provisions as motions filed pursuant to section three thousand two hundred twelve of the civil practice law and rules.

7. To provide for a review of the determination of an administrative law judge if any party to a proceeding conducted before such administrative law judge, within thirty days after the giving of notice of such determination, takes exception to the determination. A determination by an administrative law judge denying a motion filed pursuant to subdivision six of this section shall not be subject to review by the tribunal. The tribunal in its discretion may grant oral argument. The tribunal may also grant an extension of time for filing an exception provided an application for such extension is filed within the time period for taking exception to a determination under this subdivision, and if good cause is shown. The tribunal shall promulgate rules and regulations as to what constitutes good cause. After such review the tribunal shall issue a decision either affirming, reversing or modifying such determination, or the tribunal may remand the case for additional proceedings before the administrative law judge. Such decision shall include a statement setting forth the facts which formed the basis of the decision on the issues raised before the tribunal. The tribunal shall have the authority to rule on the validity of the regulations of the commissioner of taxation and finance where such regulations are at issue. Such decision shall be issued within six months from the date of notice to the tribunal that exception is being taken to an administrative law judge's determination, except that where oral argument is granted or written arguments are submitted such six month period will commence to run on the date that such oral argument was concluded or written argument received by the tribunal, whichever was later.

8. To provide that hearings, other than hearings provided for by section two thousand twelve of this article, conducted before an administrative law judge and any oral proceedings conducted before the tax appeals tribunal shall be stenographically reported.

9. To publish and make available to the public all determinations rendered by an administrative law judge and all decisions rendered by the tribunal after a review of an administrative law judge's determination. The tribunal may charge a reasonable fee for a copy of such determination or decision.

10. To take testimony and proofs, administer oaths, take affidavits and certify acknowledgements in relation to any proceeding conducted pursuant to the authority of the division of tax appeals. The tribunal shall have power to subpoena and require the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers and documents pertinent to the proceedings which it is authorized to conduct, and to examine them in relation to any matter which it has power to investigate and to issue commissions for the examination of witnesses who are out of the state or unable to attend proceedings conducted pursuant to the authority of the division or excused from attendance of such proceedings. The tribunal may designate and authorize by resolution, duly entered upon its minutes, officers, administrative law judges and other employees of the division to exercise any of the powers or perform any of the functions provided for in this subdivision. A subpoena issued under this subdivision shall be regulated by the civil practice law and rules. Any person who shall testify falsely in any proceeding conducted pursuant to the authority of the division shall be guilty of and punishable for perjury.

Cross reference: For criminal penalties, see article thirty-seven of this chapter.

11. To provide that an attorney for any party at a hearing conducted before an administrative law judge may issue a subpoena as provided in the civil practice law and rules.

12. To have the same power and authority as the commissioner of taxation and finance in any instance where such commissioner is authorized to impose, modify or waive interest, additions to tax or civil penalties under this chapter, the environmental conservation law, the general city law, or in any local law, ordinance or resolution imposing taxes pursuant to the authority thereof, and to designate and authorize by resolution of the tax appeals tribunal, duly entered upon its minutes, officers, administrative law judges, and other employees of the division to perform any of such functions.

13. To collect, compile and prepare for publication statistics and other data with respect to the operations of the division of tax appeals, and to submit annually to the governor, the temporary president of the senate and the speaker of the assembly a report on such operations including but not limited to, the number of proceedings initiated, the types of dispositions made and the number of proceedings pending.

14. To make, adopt and amend such rules and regulations appropriate for the exercise of its powers and the performance of its duties, including rules of practice and procedure.

15. To have all other powers and perform such other duties as are necessary and proper to operate and administer the division of tax appeals consistent with the purposes of such division described in this article.

§ 2008. Commencement of proceedings. 1. All proceedings in the division of tax appeals shall be commenced by the filing of a petition with the division of tax appeals protesting any written notice of the division of taxation, including any electronic notice provided in accordance with section thirty-five of this chapter, which has advised the petitioner of a tax deficiency, a determination of tax due, a denial of a refund or credit application, a cancellation, revocation or suspension of a license, permit or registration, a denial of an application for a license, permit or registration or any other notice which expressly gives a person the right to a hearing in the division of tax appeals under this chapter or other law. Provided, however, that any written communications of the division of taxation that advise a taxpayer of a past-due tax liability, as defined in section one hundred seventy-one-v of this chapter, shall not give a person the right to a hearing in the division of tax appeals.

2. Expedited hearings. (a) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, any person who receives a written notice that advises that person of (i) the proposed cancellation, revocation, or suspension of a license, permit, registration, or other credential issued under the authority of this chapter excluding a certificate of registration of a retail dealer under section four hundred eighty-a of this chapter, (ii) the denial of an application for a license, permit, registration, or other credential issued under the authority of this chapter excluding an application for registration as a retail dealer under section four hundred eighty-a of this chapter and an application to renew a certificate of authority filed pursuant to paragraph five of subdivision (a) of section one thousand one hundred thirty-four of this chapter and any other law, or, (iii) the imposition of a fraud penalty under this chapter, must file a petition with the division of tax appeals within thirty days of the mailing of that notice (unless that person has requested a conciliation conference as provided in subdivision three-a of section one hundred seventy of this chapter), or the cancellation, revocation, suspension, denial, or penalty will be permanently and irrevocably fixed. An expedited hearing must be scheduled within ten business days of receipt of the petition.

(b) In the case of any expedited hearing provided for under this subdivision, the administrative law judge must render a decision within thirty days from receipt of the petition. When exception is taken to an administrative law judge's determination, the tax appeals tribunal must issue its decision within three months from receipt of the petition. Any request by a party that delays the expedited hearing process will extend the time limitations imposed on the tribunal or the administrative law judge to issue a decision or determination. The tribunal or administrative law judge may not approve any postponement or other delay without a showing of good cause by the moving party and must render a default determination or decision against the dilatory party for any unwarranted delay.

(c) In any case where an expedited hearing is required under this subdivision, if the commissioner believes that the collection of any tax or the public safety will be jeopardized by delay, he or she may immediately cancel, revoke, or suspend a license, permit, registration, or other credential issued under the authority of this chapter before the commencement of those proceedings. Written notice of the cancellation, revocation, or suspension must be given to the licensee, permittee, registrant, or otherwise credentialed person by registered or certified mail or personal service as provided by the civil practice law and rules. The license, permit, registration, or other credential will be permanently and irrevocably cancelled, revoked, or suspended, unless the licensee, permittee, registrant, or otherwise credentialed person, within thirty days of receipt of the written notice, files a petition with the division of tax appeals to review the cancellation, revocation, or suspension. An expedited hearing must be scheduled within ten business days of receipt of the petition.

§ 2010. Administrative law judges. 1. The tax appeals tribunal shall appoint administrative law judges who shall be authorized to conduct any hearing or motion procedure authorized to be held within the division of tax appeals. Administrative law judges shall be in the classified civil service.

2. The tax appeals tribunal acting in cooperation with the state civil service commission shall establish standards to govern the selection and appointment of administrative law judges. These standards shall be designed to assure that persons appointed as administrative law judges have the ability to conduct administrative adjudicatory proceedings fairly and impartially. These standards shall not require prior experience in the department of taxation and finance.

3. An administrative law judge shall render a determination after a hearing, within six months after submission of briefs subsequent to completion of such a hearing or, if such briefs are not submitted, then within six months after completion of such a hearing. Such six month period may be extended by the administrative law judge, for good cause shown, to no more than three additional months. If the administrative law judge fails to render a determination within such six month period (or such period as extended pursuant to this subdivision), the petitioner for such hearing may institute a proceeding under article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules to compel the issuance of such determination.

4. A determination issued by an administrative law judge shall finally decide the matters in controversy unless any party to the hearing takes exception by timely requesting a review by the tax appeals tribunal as provided for in section two thousand six of this article.

5. Determinations issued by administrative law judges shall not be cited, shall not be considered as precedent nor be given any force or effect in any other proceedings conducted pursuant to the authority of the division or in any judicial proceedings conducted in this state.

§ 2012. Small claims unit. There shall be established in the division of tax appeals a small claims unit. Such unit may hear any case where the amount in controversy is not in excess of an amount to be prescribed by regulations of the tax appeals tribunal. However, the amount so prescribed may not be less than twelve thousand dollars, excluding penalty and interest, except that with respect to controversies arising out of taxes imposed by article twenty-eight or pursuant to the authority of article twenty-nine of this chapter, the amount so prescribed shall not be less than twenty-five thousand dollars, excluding penalty and interest. The option to proceed in the small claims unit shall be determined by the petitioner. At any time prior to the conclusion of a hearing in the small claims unit, a petitioner may by written notice to the secretary to the tax appeals tribunal discontinue such small claims proceeding and request that it be transferred to a proceeding conducted before an administrative law judge. Such transfer shall be effectuated by such written notice and such discontinuance shall be without prejudice to any subsequent proceeding before an administrative law judge. The hearing in the small claims part shall be informal and such evidence and testimony that the presiding officer of the small claims proceeding deems necessary or desirable for a just and equitable determination shall be heard or received. All testimony shall be given under oath or affirmation. The final determination of the presiding officer in the small claims unit shall be conclusive upon all parties and shall not be subject to review by any other unit in the division of tax appeals, by the tax appeals tribunal or by any court of the state. However, the tax appeals tribunal may order a rehearing upon proof or allegation of misconduct by the presiding officer of the small claims proceeding. The division shall not be required to publish determinations issued by the small claims unit and such determinations of the small claims unit shall not be cited, shall not be considered as precedent nor be given any force or effect in any other proceeding conducted pursuant to the authority of the division or in any other judicial proceedings conducted in this state.

§ 2014. Representation of petitioners. 1. Appearances in proceedings conducted by an administrative law judge or before the tax appeals tribunal may be by the petitioner or a representative of the petitioner who is at least eighteen years of age, of the petitioner's choosing, including, but not limited to, the petitioner's spouse or other family member, by an attorney admitted to practice in the courts of record of this state, by a certified public accountant licensed in this state, by an enrolled agent enrolled to practice before the internal revenue service, by a public accountant licensed in this state or by a tax return preparer registered in this state. The tribunal may allow any attorney, certified public accountant, or licensed public accountant authorized to practice or licensed in any other jurisdiction of the United States to appear and represent a petitioner in proceedings before the tribunal for a particular matter. In addition, the tax appeals tribunal may promulgate rules and regulations to permit a corporation to be represented by one of its officers or employees.

2. In proceedings conducted in the small claims unit, the representatives authorized in subdivision one of this section may appear and represent a petitioner.

3. The division of taxation shall be represented in all proceedings conducted pursuant to the authority of the division of tax appeals by the chief counsel of the division of taxation or their representatives.

§ 2016. Judicial review. 1. A decision of the tax appeals tribunal, which is not subject to any further administrative review, shall finally and irrevocably decide all the issues which were raised in proceedings before the division of tax appeals upon which such decision is based unless the petitioner or the commissioner, or both, petitions for judicial review in the manner provided by article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules, except as otherwise provided in this section, within four months after notice of such decision is served by the tax appeals tribunal upon every party to the proceeding before such tribunal by certified mail or personal service. Such service by certified mail shall be complete upon deposit of such notice, enclosed in a post-paid properly addressed wrapper, in a post office or official depository under the exclusive care and custody of the United States postal service.

2. When the petitioner who commenced the proceeding before the division of tax appeals files a petition for judicial review, such petition shall designate the tax appeals tribunal and the commissioner as respondents in the proceeding for judicial review.

3. The commissioner, in consultation with the attorney general, may petition for judicial review of a decision of the tax appeals tribunal that is premised on interpretation of the state or federal constitution, international law, federal law, the law of other states, or other legal matters that are beyond the purview of the state legislature. When the commissioner files a petition for judicial review, such petition shall designate the tax appeals tribunal and the petitioner who commenced the proceeding before the division of tax appeals as respondents.

4. The tax appeals tribunal shall not participate in proceedings for judicial review of its decisions and such proceedings for judicial review shall be commenced in the appellate division of the supreme court, third department. In all other respects the provisions and standards of article seventy-eight of the civil practice law and rules shall apply. The record to be reviewed in such proceedings for judicial review shall include the determination of the administrative law judge, the decision of the tax appeals tribunal, the stenographic transcript of the hearing before the administrative law judge, the transcript of any oral proceedings before the tax appeals tribunal and any exhibit or document submitted into evidence at any proceeding in the division of tax appeals upon which such decision is based.

5. Whenever the commissioner petitions for judicial review as provided in subdivision three of this section, any interest and penalty that, under the provisions of this chapter, would otherwise continue to accrue on the underlying tax liability that is the subject of the decision shall be stayed until fifteen days after the issuance of a judicial decision where no further appeals of such decision are allowed. For provisions regarding the awarding of costs, see section three thousand thirty of this chapter.

§ 2018. Frivolous petitions. If any petitioner commences or maintains a proceeding in the division of tax appeals primarily for delay, or if the petitioner's position in such proceeding is frivolous, then the tax appeals tribunal may impose a penalty against such petitioner of not more than five hundred dollars. The tax appeals tribunal shall promulgate rules and regulations as to what constitutes a frivolous position. This penalty shall be in addition to any other penalty provided by law and shall be collected and distributed in the same manner as the tax to which the penalty relates.

§ 2020. Official seal. The tax appeals tribunal shall have and use an official seal; and the records, its proceedings and copies of all papers and documents in its possession and custody may be authenticated in the usual form under such seal and the signature of any one of the commissioners or the secretary, and shall be received in evidence in the same manner and with like effect as deeds regularly acknowledged or proven.

§ 2022. Manner of execution of instruments by the tax appeals tribunal. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, whenever a statute authorizes or requires the tax appeals tribunal to execute an instrument, such instrument shall be executed by affixing the name of such tribunal and, underneath such name, it shall be signed by one or more of the members of such tribunal or by the secretary to such tribunal, and the seal of such tribunal shall be affixed. No acknowledgment of the execution of any such instrument shall be necessary for the purpose of the recordation thereof or for any other purpose.

§ 2024. Traveling expenses. The reasonable and necessary traveling and other expenses of the commissioners, officers, assistants, administrative law judges and other employees of the division of tax appeals, while actually engaged in the performance of their duties, outside of the city of Albany, or if such officer, assistant, administrative law judge or employee be in charge of or actually employed at a branch office of the division of tax appeals, the reasonable and necessary traveling and other expenses outside of the place in which such branch office is located, and the necessary traveling expenses incurred in the performance of their duties in the place in which their duties are performed of such officers, assistants, administrative law judges and employees as are specifically authorized by order of the president of the tax appeals tribunal, shall be paid upon the order of the comptroller upon vouchers approved by the president of the tax appeals tribunal.

§ 2026. Construction. Whenever the terms "state tax commission", "state tax commissioners" or "tax commissioner" occur in this chapter or in any law where reference is made to such commission, commissioner or commissioners in relation to the administration of the administrative hearing process, as such process is described in this article, such terms shall be deemed to refer to the division of tax appeals or the tax appeals tribunal and in all other instances shall be deemed to refer to the division of taxation or the commissioner of taxation and finance.

PART I

TAXPAYERS' RIGHTS

§ 3000. Short title. This article may be cited as the taxpayers' bill of rights.

§ 3002. Application. For the purposes of this article:

(a) Except as otherwise provided, the provisions of this article shall apply to any tax which is administered by the commissioner of taxation and finance (hereinafter the commissioner) and which is imposed by or authorized to be imposed pursuant to this chapter, article two-E of the general city law or section 27-0923 of the environmental conservation law. Any reference to tax or taxes in such sections shall include special assessments, fees and other impositions which are administered by the commissioner.

(b) The term "taxpayer" includes an individual, partnership, limited liability company, association, society, company, corporation, estate, trust, trustee, receiver, liquidator, fiduciary or other entity, whether appointed by a court or otherwise, liable for any tax imposed under or pursuant to the authority of the laws described in subdivision (a) of this section or under a duty to perform an act for itself or for another under or pursuant to the authority of such laws.

(c) Except to the extent explicitly provided by any such sections, the failure of the commissioner or an officer or employee of the department to comply with a provision of such sections shall neither excuse any taxpayer from payment of any taxes shown to be owed by the taxpayer or excuse any taxpayer from compliance with any other duty imposed under or pursuant to the authority of the laws described in subdivision (a) of this section, nor cure any procedural defect in an administrative or judicial proceeding or case involving such taxpayer with respect to such taxes shown to be owed or compliance with any such duty.

(d) The provisions of this article shall also apply to all private contractors, subcontractors, and employees thereof, under contract with the department for collection of outstanding tax liability.

§ 3003. Content of tax due, deficiency, and other notices. Any first letter of proposed deficiency or determination (commonly called a thirty day letter) issued by the commissioner, and any notice and demand, notice of deficiency or notice of determination which is issued by the commissioner, which is manually initiated and which is the first such letter or notice issued to the taxpayer with respect to the subject matter of such notice, shall describe the basis for (such as the statutory or regulatory law, or judicial or tax appeals tribunal decision), and identify the amounts (if any) of the tax due. An inadequate description under this section shall not invalidate such letter or notice.

§ 3004. Disclosure of rights of taxpayers. (a) The commissioner shall, as soon as practicable, but not later than one hundred eighty days after the effective date of this article, prepare a statement which sets forth in simple and nontechnical terms:

(1) the rights of a taxpayer and the obligations of the division of taxation of the department of taxation and finance during an audit;

(2) the procedures by which a taxpayer may appeal or seek review of any adverse decision of the department, including administrative and judicial appeals;

(3) the procedure for filing and processing refund claims and filing of taxpayer complaints;

(4) the procedures which the department may use in enforcing taxes.

(b) The commissioner shall transmit drafts of the statement required under subdivision (a) of this section, or proposed revision of any such statement, to the chairpersons of the senate finance committee and the assembly ways and means committee and to the director of the division of the budget on the same day.

(c) The statements prepared in accordance with this section shall be distributed by the commissioner to all taxpayers the commissioner contacts (other than by providing tax forms) with respect to the determination or collection of any tax, the cancellation, revocation or suspension of a license, permit or registration or the denial of an application for a license, permit or registration. The commissioner shall take such actions as the commissioner deems necessary to assure that such distribution does not result in multiple statements being sent to any one taxpayer.

§ 3004-a. Disclosure of overpayment to taxpayer. (a) The department shall disclose to a taxpayer all instances of overpayment of tax by such taxpayer discovered by the department during the course of an audit, assessment, collection or enforcement proceeding.

(b) The time within which a taxpayer may apply for a refund or claim a credit for an overpayment of tax disclosed pursuant to this section shall be one hundred twenty days from the date that notice of disclosure is given to such taxpayer by the department. Failure to apply for a refund or credit within the one hundred twenty days shall result in the loss of the right to apply for a refund or credit. Provided, that this subdivision shall not reduce the time within which a taxpayer may claim a credit or refund of an overpayment of tax pursuant to any other provision of this chapter or any other applicable law.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be construed as requiring or permitting the giving of notice or the payment of a refund or granting of a credit with respect to a period which, at the time such overpayment is discovered by the department, is not open for assessment or refund by virtue of any period of limitations provided for in any tax.

§ 3005. Requirements of certain department letters, notices and documents. The division of taxation or the division of tax appeals, as the case may be, shall include a return address in every (a) letter to a taxpayer regarding the taxpayer's liability for tax, (b) notice which gives a person the right to a hearing under any tax, (c) billing or collection document and (d) administrative law judge determination and tribunal decision, to which the taxpayer may write with questions regarding the letter, notice, document, determination or decision. Such notices and documents described in subdivisions (b) and (c) of this section shall also include a telephone number which the taxpayer may call with questions regarding the notice or document. Such address or telephone number may be within the division of taxation or the division of tax appeals, or within another appropriate state or other agency, and may be included in the letter, notice, document, determination or decision, or on a separate, accompanying document. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent either such division from including an address or telephone number in other letters, notices or documents sent to taxpayers or other persons.

§ 3006. Procedures involving taxpayer interviews. (a) Recording of interviews.

(1) Recording by taxpayer. Any officer or employee of the division of taxation in connection with any in-person interview with any taxpayer relating to the determination or collection of any tax, the cancellation, revocation or suspension of a license, permit or registration or the denial of an application for a license, permit or registration shall, upon advance request of such taxpayer, allow the taxpayer to make an audio recording of such interview at the taxpayer's own expense and with the taxpayer's own equipment.

(2) Recording by division of taxation officer or employee. An officer or employee of the division of taxation may record any interview described in paragraph one of this subdivision if such officer or employee:

(A) provides advance notice of such recording to the taxpayer, and
(B) upon request of the taxpayer, provides the taxpayer with a transcript or copy of such recording, but only if the taxpayer provides reimbursement for the actual cost of the transcription and reproduction of such transcript or copy.

(b) Safeguards. (1) Explanation of processes. An officer or employee of the division of taxation shall before or at an initial interview provide to the taxpayer:

(A) in the case of an in-person interview with the taxpayer relating to the determination of any tax, an explanation of the audit process and the taxpayer's rights under such process, or

(B) in the case of an in-person interview with the taxpayer relating to the collection of any tax, an explanation of the collection process and the taxpayer's rights under such process,

(C) in the case of an in-person interview with the taxpayer relating to the cancellation, revocation or suspension of a license, permit or registration or the denial of an application for a license, permit or registration, an explanation of the administrative hearing and judicial review processes and the taxpayer's rights under such processes.

(2) Right of consultation. If the taxpayer clearly states to an officer or employee of the division of taxation at any time during the interview (other than an interview initiated by a subpoena to examine and inspect witnesses or books, records or other papers) that the taxpayer wishes to consult with an attorney, certified public accountant, enrolled agent, or any other person permitted to represent the taxpayer, such officer or employee shall suspend such interview regardless of whether the taxpayer may have answered one or more questions.

(c) Representatives holding power of attorney. Any attorney, certified public accountant, an enrolled agent, or any other person permitted to represent the taxpayer who is not disbarred or suspended from practice and who has a written power of attorney executed by the taxpayer, may be authorized by such taxpayer to represent the taxpayer in any interview described in subdivision (a) of this section. An officer or employee of the division may not require a taxpayer to accompany the representative in the absence of a subpoena to examine and inspect the taxpayer or the taxpayer's books, records or other papers. Such an officer or employee, with the consent of the immediate supervisor of such officer or employee, may notify the taxpayer directly that such officer or employee believes such representative is responsible for unreasonable delay or hindrance of a division of taxation examination or investigation of the taxpayer.

(d) Section not to apply to certain investigations. This section shall not apply to criminal investigations or investigations relating to the integrity of any officer or employee of the division of taxation.

(e) For purposes of this section, any reference to tax shall also include any associated penalty, addition to tax or interest imposed under or pursuant to the authority of any tax.

§ 3008. Abatement of certain interest, penalties and additions to tax.

(a) Interest attributable to unreasonable errors and delays by the department. (1) In the case of any assessment or final determination of interest on:

(A) any deficiency or any tax finally determined to be due attributable in whole or in part to any unreasonable error or delay by an officer or employee of the department (acting in his or her official capacity) in performing a ministerial or managerial act, or

(B) any payment of any tax to the extent that any unreasonable error or delay in such payment is attributable to such officer or employee being erroneous or dilatory in performing a ministerial or managerial act, the commissioner may abate the assessment or final determination of all or any part of such interest for any period.

(2) For purposes of paragraph one of this subdivision, an unreasonable error or delay shall be taken into account only if no significant aspect of such unreasonable error or delay can be attributed to the taxpayer involved, and after the department has contacted the taxpayer in writing with respect to such deficiency, tax finally determined to be due or payment. The commissioner shall determine what constitutes timely performance of various ministerial or managerial acts performed under or pursuant to the authority of this chapter, the general city law and section 27-0923 of the environmental conservation law. Any regulations adopted with respect to other provisions of this subdivision shall conform, to the extent practicable, with corresponding federal regulations under the comparable provisions of the laws of the United States. Administrative and judicial review of abatements under this subdivision shall be limited to review of whether failure to abate would be widely perceived as grossly unfair.

(b) Abatement of any penalty or addition to tax or excess interest attributable to erroneous written advice by the department of taxation and finance.

(1) The commissioner shall abate any portion of any penalty or addition to tax or excess interest attributable to erroneous advice furnished to the taxpayer in writing by an officer or employee of the department of taxation and finance, acting in such officer's or employee's official capacity.

(2) Paragraph one of this subdivision shall apply only if:

(A) the written advice was reasonably relied upon by the taxpayer and was in response to specific written request of the taxpayer, and

(B) the portion of the penalty or addition to tax or excess interest did not result from a failure by the taxpayer to provide adequate or accurate information.

(3) This subdivision shall not be construed to require the department to provide written advice to taxpayers or other persons or entities.

(c) Assessments attributable to certain mathematical errors by the department. In the case of an assessment of any tax imposed by or pursuant to the authority of article twenty-two, thirty, thirty-A or thirty-B of this chapter or article two-E of the general city law attributable in whole or in part to a mathematical error described in subparagraph (A) of paragraph two of subsection (g) of section sixty-two hundred thirteen of the federal internal revenue code, if the return was prepared by an officer or employee of the department acting in his or her official capacity to provide assistance to taxpayers in the preparation of income tax returns, the commissioner is authorized to abate the assessment of all or any part of any interest on such deficiency for any period ending on or before the tenth day following the date of notice and demand by the commissioner for payment of the deficiency.

(d) Interest attributable to misappropriation of taxpayer payments.

(1) The commissioner shall be authorized to abate, for the period specified in paragraph two of this subdivision, any assessment or final determination of interest attributable to the misappropriation of a taxpayer's payment if:

(A) the taxpayer timely tenders payment to the department for a liability incurred under any tax, and the taxpayer's account with the department is not properly credited with such payment due to misappropriation thereof;

(B) the taxpayer does not cause, or in any way contribute to, the misappropriation of such payment; and

(C) the taxpayer tenders a replacement payment to the department in the original amount of such tax due no later than one year from the date of mailing of notice from the department of failure to pay.

(2) The commissioner shall be authorized to abate any assessment or final determination of interest pursuant to this subdivision for some or all of the period from the date of the underpayment to (A) the date which is one year from the date of mailing of the department's notice of failure to pay, (B) the date which is one year from the date the taxpayer discovers that the payment was not properly credited to the taxpayer's account or (C) thirty days from the date the taxpayer recovers use of the misappropriated funds, whichever is earliest.

(3) For purposes of this subdivision, the term "misappropriation" means circumstances in which a person wrongfully intercepts a taxpayer's payment tendered to the department prior to the department crediting the taxpayer's account, and obtains use of the taxpayer's funds.

§ 3010. Agreements for payments of tax liability in installments. (a) Authorization of agreements. The commissioner is authorized to enter into written agreements with any taxpayer under which such taxpayer is allowed to satisfy liability for payment of any tax (including any interest, penalty or addition to tax) in installment payments if the commissioner determines that such agreement will facilitate collection of such liability.

(b) Extent to which agreements remain in effect. (1) Except as otherwise provided in this subdivision, any agreement entered into by the commissioner under subdivision (a) of this section shall remain in effect for the term of the agreement.

(2) The commissioner may terminate any agreement entered into by the commissioner under subdivision (a) of this section if:

(A) information which the taxpayer provided to the commissioner prior to the date such agreement was entered into was inaccurate or incomplete, or

(B) the commissioner believes that collection of any liability to which an agreement under this section relates is in jeopardy.

(3) If the commissioner finds that the financial condition of a taxpayer with whom the commissioner has entered into an agreement under subdivision (a) of this section has significantly changed, the commissioner may alter, modify, or terminate such agreement.

(4) The commissioner may alter, modify, or terminate an agreement entered into by the commissioner under subdivision (a) of this section in the case of the failure of the taxpayer:

(A) to pay any installment at the time such installment is due under such agreement,

(B) to pay any other tax liability at the time such liability is due, or

(C) to provide a financial condition update as requested by the commissioner.

(5) The commissioner may not take any action under paragraph two, three or four of this subdivision unless:

(A) a notice of such action is provided to the taxpayer not later than thirty days prior to such action, and

(B) such notice includes an explanation why the commissioner intends to take such action.

The preceding sentence shall not apply in any case in which the commissioner believes that collection of any tax to which an agreement under this section relates is in jeopardy.

(c) Nothing in this section should be construed to prevent a taxpayer from prepaying in whole or in part any outstanding liability under any agreement the taxpayer enters into with the commissioner.

§ 3012. Basis for evaluation of department employees. (a) The department shall not use records of tax enforcement results:

(1) as the primary criterion to evaluate officers or employees directly involved in collection activities and their immediate supervisors, or

(2) to impose or suggest production quotas or goals with respect to officers or employees described in this subdivision.

(b) Provided, however, forecasts of enforcement results may be made and communicated for planning purposes; tax enforcement results may be accumulated, tabulated, published and used for management and control of tax administration resources so long as tax enforcement results tabulations are not used as the primary criterion to evaluate an officer or employee described in subdivision (a) of this section or to impose or suggest production quotas or goals; in the discharge of a manager's responsibilities, but subject to the provisions of paragraph one of subdivision (a) of this section, a manager may raise questions with an officer or employee about the number of cases the officer or employee has processed, the amount of time the officer or employee has been spending on the individual cases, or the kind of results the officer or employee has been obtaining.

 § 3013. Method of payment of personal income tax refunds; notice.

(a) Notwithstanding the adoption by the commissioner of any prepaid debit card or direct deposit program for payment of personal income tax refunds, all taxpayers are entitled:

(1) to receive personal income tax refunds by paper check; and

(2) to opt out of any prepaid debit card or direct deposit program for payment of tax refunds.

(b) The department shall provide taxpayers with a clear written statement setting forth the taxpayer's right:

(1) to receive tax refund payments by paper check; and

(2) to opt out of any prepaid debit card or direct deposit program.

(c) In the event that the commissioner elects to implement a program providing for payment of personal income tax refunds by prepaid debit card or direct deposit to a designated account of the taxpayer, the department shall amend the forms used to file personal income tax returns to reflect, in the area designated for selection of options for processing of refunds, that the taxpayer has the option of receiving his or her tax refund by personal check and shall provide a box which the taxpayer may check to select that option.

(d) In any written notice regarding a prepaid debit card program for the payment of tax refunds, the department shall describe to taxpayers all of the features of the debit card program (e.g., withdrawal at any ATM or point-of-sale use), including any fee or fees which may be charged to the taxpayer in accessing his or her tax refund.

PART II

LIENS AND LEVIES

§ 3016. Notice to person liable to pay tax. Before the commissioner collects any tax by levy, the commissioner shall give prominent written notice to the person liable to pay the same that, in like manner as a judgment creditor, the department has certain rights to enforce the warrant by levying upon real and personal property of the taxpayer. Such statement shall be made in clear and concise language readily comprehensible to the average reader and shall be set off from any other text or notice.

§ 3017. Notice to taxpayer of exempt property. In or with any notice to a taxpayer provided under subdivision (d) of section fifty-two hundred twenty-two of the civil practice law and rules, or under subdivision (c) of section fifty-two hundred thirty-two of the civil practice law and rules, at the time and in the manner such notice is provided, there shall also be provided to such taxpayer a list in summary form of substantially all property which is exempt from being applied to the satisfaction of tax warrants, including property listed in sections fifty-two hundred five and fifty-two hundred six of the civil practice law and rules. At any time subsequent to the publication of a notice of sale and prior to the sale of real property pursuant to section fifty-two hundred thirty-six of the civil practice law and rules, a sheriff or an officer or employee of the department acting in the capacity of a sheriff shall mail by first class mail, or shall personally deliver, to each taxpayer who is a natural person a copy of the notice required by this section. Where a single notice is provided to a taxpayer pursuant to this section, it shall be deemed to be sufficient notice for purposes of complying with subdivision (d) of section fifty-two hundred twenty-two and subdivision (c) of section fifty-two hundred thirty-two of the civil practice law and rules if it contains the same basic text or information contained in the notice required by such subdivisions. This section shall not apply to an income execution under section fifty-two hundred thirty-one of the civil practice law and rules.

§ 3018. Uneconomical levies. No levy may be made on any property if the amount of the expenses which the commissioner estimates (at the time of levy) would be incurred by the commissioner with respect to the levy and sale of such property exceeds the fair market value of such property at the time of levy.

§ 3020. Sales of seized property. (a) Any sale of property subject to a tax lien must be sold at the fair market value of the property at the time of the sale.

(b) The owner of any property seized by levy may request that the commissioner sell such property within sixty days after the request (or within a longer period if specified by the owner). The commissioner shall comply with the request unless the commissioner determines (and notifies the owner within such period) that such compliance would not be in the best interests of this state.

§ 3022. Authority to release levy and return property. (a) Release of levy and notice of release. (1) The commissioner shall release the levy upon all, or part of, the property or rights to property levied upon and shall promptly notify the person upon whom such levy was made (if any) that such levy has been released if:

(A) the liability for which such levy was made is satisfied or becomes unenforceable by reason of lapse of time,

(B) release of such levy will facilitate the collection of such liability,

(C) the taxpayer has entered into an agreement under section three thousand ten of this article to satisfy such liability by means of installment payments and such agreement provides for the release of levy,

(D) the fair market value of the property exceeds such liability and release of a levy on a part of such property could be made without hindering the timely collection of such liability, or

(E) the commissioner has determined that such levy is creating an economic hardship due to the financial condition of an individual taxpayer.

(2) Expedited determination of certain business property. In the case of any tangible personal property essential in carrying on the trade or business of the taxpayer, the commissioner shall provide for an expedited determination under paragraph one of this subdivision if levy upon such tangible personal property would prevent the taxpayer from carrying on such trade or business.

(3) The release of levy on any property under paragraph one or two of this subdivision shall not prevent any subsequent levy on such property.

(b) Return of property. If the commissioner determines that property has been wrongfully levied upon, it shall be lawful for the commissioner to return:

(1) the specified property levied upon,

(2) the amount of money equal to the amount of money levied upon, or

(3) an amount of money equal to the fair market value of such property.

(c) Interest. Interest shall be allowed and paid at the rate established under section six hundred eighty-eight of this chapter on the amount of money or the fair market value of the property seized.

(d) Return of property in certain cases. If the commissioner determines that with respect to any property which has been levied upon:

(1) the levy on such property was premature or otherwise not in accordance with administrative procedures of the commissioner,

(2) the taxpayer has entered into an agreement under section three thousand ten of this article to satisfy the tax liability for which the levy was imposed by means of installment payments, unless such agreement provides otherwise,

(3) the return of such property will facilitate the collection of the tax liability, or

(4) with the consent of the taxpayer or the commissioner, the return of such property would be in the best interests of the taxpayer (as determined by the commissioner) and the state of New York, the provisions of subdivision (b) of this section shall apply in the same manner as if such property had been wrongly levied upon, except that no interest shall be allowed under subdivision (c) of this section.

PART III PROCEEDINGS BY TAXPAYERS

§ 3030. Awarding of costs and certain fees. (a) In general. In any administrative or court proceeding which is brought by or against the commissioner in connection with the determination, collection, or refund of any tax, the prevailing party may be awarded a judgment or a settlement for:

(1) reasonable administrative costs incurred in connection with such administrative proceeding within the department, and

(2) reasonable litigation costs incurred in connection with such court proceeding.

(b) Limitations. (1) Exhaustion of administrative remedies. A judgment for reasonable litigation costs shall not be awarded under subdivision (a) of this section in any court proceeding unless the court determines that the prevailing party has exhausted the administrative remedies available to such party within the department. Any failure to agree to an extension of the time for the assessment of any tax shall not be taken into account for purposes of determining whether the prevailing party meets the requirements of the preceding sentence.

(2) Only costs allocable to the state. An award under subdivision (a) of this section shall be made only for reasonable litigation and administrative costs which are allocable to the state of New York and not to any other party.

(3) Costs denied where prevailing party protracts proceedings. No award for reasonable litigation and administrative costs may be made under subdivision (a) of this section with respect to any portion of the administrative or court proceeding during which the prevailing party has unreasonably protracted such proceeding.

(4) This section shall provide the exclusive means for a prevailing party to be awarded administrative and litigation costs incurred in connection with any administrative or court proceeding which is brought by or against the commissioner in connection with the determination, collection, or refund of any tax.

(c) Definitions. For purposes of this section:

(1) Reasonable litigation costs. The term "reasonable litigation costs" includes:

(A) reasonable court costs, and

(B) based upon prevailing market rates for the kind or quality of services furnished:

(i) the reasonable expenses of expert witnesses in connection with a court proceeding,

(ii) the reasonable cost of any study, analysis, engineering report, test, or project which is found by the court to be necessary for the preparation of the party's case, and

(iii) reasonable fees paid or incurred for the services of attorneys in connection with the court proceeding, except that such fees shall not be in excess of seventy-five dollars per hour unless the court determines that an increase in the cost of living or a special factor, such as the limited availability of qualified attorneys for such proceeding, justifies a higher rate.

(2) Reasonable administrative costs. The term "reasonable administrative costs" means:

(A) any administrative fees or similar charges imposed by the department, and

(B) expenses, costs, and fees described in subparagraph (B) of paragraph one of this subdivision, except that any determination made by the court under clause (ii) or (iii) of such subparagraph shall be made by the division of tax appeals in cases where the determination under subparagraph (C) of paragraph five of this subdivision of the awarding of reasonable administrative costs is made by the division of tax appeals. Such term shall only include costs incurred on or after the date of the notice of deficiency, notice of determination or other document giving rise to the taxpayer's right to a hearing.

(3) Attorney's fees. For purposes of paragraphs one and two of this subdivision, fees for the services of an individual (whether or not an attorney) who is authorized to practice before the division of tax appeals shall be treated as fees for the services of an attorney.

(4) Burden of proof. For purposes of this section, "burden of proof" means the necessity or duty of proving, by a preponderance of the evidence, a fact or facts in dispute on an issue raised between the parties to a proceeding referred to in subdivision (a) of this section.

(5) Prevailing party. (A) In general. The term "prevailing party" means any party in any proceeding to which subdivision (a) of this section applies (other than the commissioner or any creditor of the taxpayer involved):

(i) who (I) has substantially prevailed with respect to the amount in controversy, or (II) has substantially prevailed with respect to the most significant issue or set of issues presented, and

(ii) who (I) within thirty days of final judgment in the action, submits to the court an application for fees and other expenses which shows that the party is a prevailing party and is eligible to receive an award under this section, and the amount sought, including an itemized statement from an attorney or expert witness representing or appearing in behalf of the party stating the actual time expended and the rate at which fees and other expenses were computed (except to the extent differing procedures are established by rule of court), and (II) is an individual whose net worth did not exceed two million dollars at the time the civil action was filed, or is an owner of an unincorporated business, or any partnership, corporation, association, unit of local government or organization, the net worth of which did not exceed seven million dollars at the time the civil action was filed, and which had not more than five hundred employees at the time the civil action was filed; except that an organization described in section 501(c)(3) of the internal revenue code exempt from taxation under section 501(a) of such code, or a cooperative association as defined in the cooperative corporations law, may be a party regardless of the net worth of such organization or cooperative association.

(B) Exception if the commissioner establishes that the commissioner's position was substantially justified.

(i) General rule. A party shall not be treated as the prevailing party in a proceeding to which subdivision (a) of this section applies if the commissioner establishes that the position of the commissioner in the proceeding was substantially justified.

(ii) Burden of proof. The commissioner shall have the burden of proof of establishing that the commissioner's position in a proceeding referred to in subdivision (a) of this section was substantially justified, in which event, a party shall not be treated as a prevailing party.

(iii) Presumption. For purposes of clause (i) of this subparagraph, the position of the commissioner shall be presumed not to be substantially justified if the department, inter alia, did not follow its applicable published guidance in the administrative proceeding. Such presumption may be rebutted.

(iv) Applicable published guidance. For purposes of clause (ii) of this subparagraph, the term "applicable published guidance" means (I) regulations, declaratory rulings, information releases, notices, announcements, and technical services bureau memoranda, and

(II) any of the following which are issued to the taxpayer: advisory opinions and opinions of counsel.

(C) Determination as to prevailing party. Any determination under this paragraph as to whether a party is a prevailing party shall be made by agreement of the parties or (i) in the case where the final determination with respect to tax is made at the administrative level, by the division of tax appeals, or (ii) in the case where such final determination is made by a court, the court.

(6) The term "administrative proceeding" means any procedure or other action before the division of taxation (such as the bureau of conciliation and mediation services) or division of tax appeals.

(7) The term "court proceeding" means any civil action brought in a court of the state of New York (including proceedings before the surrogate's courts under section nine hundred ninety-eight of this chapter).

(8) The term "position of the commissioner" means:

(A) the position taken by the commissioner in a judicial proceeding to which subdivision (a) of this section applies, and

(B) the position taken in an administrative proceeding to which subdivision (a) of this section applies as of the date of the notice of deficiency, notice of determination or other document giving rise to the taxpayer's right to a hearing.

(d) Multiple actions. For purposes of this section, in the case of:

(1) multiple actions which could have been joined or consolidated, or
(2) a case or cases involving a return or returns of the same taxpayer (including joint returns of married individuals) which could have been joined in a single court proceeding in the same court, such actions or cases shall be treated as one court proceeding regardless of whether such joinder or consolidation actually occurs, unless the court in which such action is brought determines, in its discretion, that it would be inappropriate to treat such actions or cases as joined or consolidated.

(e) Right of appeal. (1) Court proceedings. An order granting or denying (in whole or in part) an award for reasonable litigation or administrative costs under subdivision (a) of this section in a court proceeding, may be incorporated as a part of the decision or judgment in the court proceeding and shall be subject to appeal in the same manner as the decision or judgment.

(2) Administrative proceedings. A determination or decision granting or denying (in whole or in part) an award for reasonable administrative costs under subdivision (a) of this section by the division of tax appeals or the tax appeals tribunal shall be subject to exception or review in the same manner as the determination or decision.

§ 3032. Civil damages for failure to release a lien. (a) In general. A taxpayer may bring a civil action for damages against the state in the court of claims if any officer or employee of the department knowingly, or by reason of negligence, fails to release a lien on property of such taxpayer within forty days after the day on which (1) the commissioner finds that the liability for the amount assessed or determined, together with all interest in respect thereof, has been fully satisfied or has become legally unenforceable, or (2) there is furnished to the commissioner a surety bond issued by a surety company approved by the superintendent of financial services as to solvency or responsibility and authorized to transact business in this state, or other security acceptable to the commissioner, that is conditioned upon the payment of the amount assessed or determined, together with all interest in respect thereof, within the time prescribed by law (including any extension of such time) and is in accordance with such requirements relating to terms, conditions, and form of the bond or other acceptable security, as may be specified by regulation.

(b) Damages. In any action brought under subdivision (a) of this section, upon a finding of liability on the part of the defendant, the defendant shall be liable to the plaintiff in an amount equal to the sum of (1) actual, direct economic damages sustained by the plaintiff which, but for the actions of the defendant, would not have been sustained, plus (2) the costs of the action.

(c) Limitations. (1) Exhaustion of administrative remedies. The amount of damages awarded under subdivision (b) of this section may be reduced if the court determines that the plaintiff has not exhausted the administrative remedies available to such plaintiff within the department which have been established pursuant to the commissioner's authority to compromise civil liability provided in subdivision eighteenth-a of section one hundred seventy-one of this chapter. In establishing administrative review procedures regarding claims for damages under this section, the commissioner is authorized to enter into contracts with private dispute resolution entities for the purpose of providing review of such claims and suggested compromises by independent third parties.

(2) Mitigation of damages. The amount of damages awarded under paragraph one of subdivision (b) of this section shall be reduced by the amount of such damages which could have reasonably been mitigated by the plaintiff.

(d) Notice of failure to release lien. The commissioner shall by regulation prescribe reasonable procedures for a taxpayer to notify the commissioner of the failure to release a lien on the property of the taxpayer.

§ 3034. Civil damages for certain unauthorized collection actions.

(a) General. If, in connection with any collection of any tax with respect to a taxpayer, any officer or employee of the department recklessly or intentionally disregards any provision of any tax, or any regulation promulgated under any of such taxes, such taxpayer may bring a civil action in the court of claims for damages against the state. Except as provided in section three thousand thirty-two of this article relating to civil damages for failure to release a lien, such civil action shall be the exclusive remedy for recovering damages resulting from such actions.

(b) Damages. In any action brought under subdivision (a) of this section, upon a finding of liability on the part of the defendant, the defendant shall be liable to the plaintiff in an amount equal to the lesser of one hundred thousand dollars or the sum of (1) the actual, direct economic damages sustained by the plaintiff as a proximate result of the reckless or intentional actions of the officer or employee, and (2) the costs of the action.

(c) Limitations. (1) Exhaustion of administrative remedies. The amount of damages awarded under subdivision (b) of this section may be reduced if the court determines that the plaintiff has not exhausted the administrative remedies available to such plaintiff within the department which have been established pursuant to the commissioner's authority to compromise civil liability provided in subdivision eighteenth-a of section one hundred seventy-one of this chapter. In establishing administrative review procedures regarding claims for damages under this section, the commissioner is authorized to enter into contracts with private dispute resolution entities for the purpose of providing review of such claims and suggested compromises by independent third parties.

(2) Mitigation of damages. The amount of damages awarded under paragraph one of subdivision (b) of this section shall be reduced by the amount of such damages which could have reasonably been mitigated by the plaintiff.

§ 3036. Civil actions by persons other than taxpayers. (a) Actions permitted. (1) Wrongful levy. If a levy has been made on property or property has been sold pursuant to a levy, any person (other than the person against whom is assessed the tax out of which such levy arose) who claims an interest in or lien on such property and that such property was wrongfully levied upon may bring a civil action against the state of New York in the court of claims. Such action may be brought without regard to whether such property has been surrendered to or sold by the commissioner.

(2) Surplus proceeds. If property has been sold pursuant to a levy, any person (other than the person against whom is assessed the tax out of which the levy arose) who claims an interest in or lien on such property junior to that of the state of New York and to be legally entitled to the surplus of the proceeds of such sale may bring a civil action against the state of New York in the court of claims.

(b) Adjudication. The court shall have jurisdiction to grant only such of the following forms of relief as may be appropriate in the circumstances:

(1) Injunction. If a levy or sale would irreparably injure rights in property which the court determines to be superior to rights of this state in property, the court may grant an injunction to prohibit the enforcement of such levy or to prohibit such sale.

(2) Recovery of property. If the court determines that such property has been wrongfully levied upon, the court may:

(A) order the return of specific property if this state is in possession of such property;

(B) grant a judgment for the amount of money levied upon; or

(C) if such property was sold, grant a judgment for an amount equal to the actual direct and consequential damages proven.

(3) Surplus proceeds. If the court determines that the interest or lien of any party to an action under this section was transferred to the proceeds of a sale of such property, the court may grant a judgment in an amount equal to all or any part of the amount of the surplus proceeds of such sale.

(c) Validity of assessment. For purposes of an adjudication under this section, the assessment of tax upon which the interest or lien of the department is based shall be conclusively presumed to be valid.

(d) Limitation on rights of action. No action may be maintained against any sheriff acting on behalf of the commissioner or any officer or employee of the department (or former sheriff, officer or employee) or his personal representative with respect to any acts for which an action could be maintained under this section.

(e) Substitution of the state as party. If an action, which could be brought against the state under this section, is improperly brought against any sheriff acting on behalf of the commissioner or any officer or employee of the department (or former sheriff, officer or employee) or his personal representative, the court shall order, upon such terms as are just, that the pleadings be amended to substitute the state as a party for such sheriff, officer or employee as of the time such action was commenced upon proper service of process on the state.

§ 3038. Civil damages for unauthorized disclosure of returns and return information. (a) General. (1) Disclosure by employee of the state. If any officer or employee of the state of New York knowingly, or by reason of negligence, discloses any return or report, any particulars set forth or disclosed in any return or report, or any other information with respect to a taxpayer in violation of any provision listed in section eighteen hundred twenty-five of this chapter, such taxpayer may bring a civil action for damages against the state in the court of claims.

(2) Disclosure by a person who is not an employee of the state. If a person who is not an officer or employee of the state knowingly, or by reason of negligence, discloses any return or report, any particulars set forth or disclosed in any return or report, or any other information with respect to a taxpayer in violation of any provision listed in section eighteen hundred twenty-five of this chapter, such taxpayer may bring a civil action for damages against such person.

(b) No liability for good faith but erroneous interpretation. No liability shall arise under this section with respect to any disclosure which results from a good faith, but erroneous, interpretation of any of the provisions listed in section eighteen hundred twenty-five of this chapter.

(c) Damages. In any action brought under subdivision (a) of this section, upon a finding of a liability on the part of the defendant, the defendant shall be liable to the plaintiff in an amount equal to the sum of (1) the greater of (A) one thousand dollars for each act of unauthorized disclosure with respect to which such defendant is found liable, or (B) the sum of (i) the actual damages sustained by the plaintiff as a result of such unauthorized disclosure, plus (ii) in the case of a willful disclosure or a disclosure which is the result of gross negligence, punitive damages, plus (2) the costs of the action.
