§ 2122. Duty of lienholder. A lienholder named in a certificate of title shall, upon written request of the owner or of another lienholder named on the certificate, disclose any pertinent information as to his security agreement and the indebtedness secured by it. The office of temporary and disability assistance, or a social services district, or its authorized representative shall be deemed to have complied with this section upon disclosing the name of the obligor and the amount of the debt.