ACTING PRESIDENT MORAHAN: The Secretary will read.

THE SECRETARY: On page 34, Senator Libous moves to discharge, from the Committee on Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities, Assembly Bill Number 6078 and substitute it for the identical Senate Bill Number 1817, Third Reading Calendar 683.

And on page 35, Senator Rath moves to discharge, from the Committee on Tourism, Recreation and Sports Development, Assembly Bill Number 10167A and substitute it for the identical Senate Bill Number 7160, Third Reading Calendar 690.

ACTING PRESIDENT MORAHAN: Substitutions ordered.

Senator Skelos.

SENATOR SKELOS: Mr. President, there's a resolution at the desk by Senator Maltese that was previously adopted. If we could have the title read and then please recognize Senator Maltese.

ACTING PRESIDENT MORAHAN: The Secretary will read.

THE SECRETARY: By Senator Maltese, Legislative Resolution Number 4629, honoring the Christ the King Regional High School Girls Basketball Team upon the occasion of being ranked number one by USA Today.

ACTING PRESIDENT MORAHAN: Senator Maltese.

SENATOR MALTESE: Mr. President, I have the honor today to recognize a team that has achieved a great many victories. But more important than that, they have brought distinction and honor to a great Catholic high school in Queens County and Middle Village, Christ the King Regional High School.

While I have had the honor of serving my constituents for 18 years, I have had the honor of being chairman of Christ the King Regional High School, and before it became a regional high school, for almost 30 years. In those 30 years, we've had great teams, boys and girls, in all sports. We now have one of the greatest of the teams. That team is our girls basketball team.

All the members of this august body have joined in cosponsoring the resolution that we are discussing now.

The team, in addition to finishing the season undefeated, it won its 17th consecutive state title and city title. In addition, by winning the New York State Federation Class AA Tournament, the Christ the King Regional High School Girls Basketball Team finished on top of USA Today's Super 25 for the fifth time in the 23 years of the ratings, and of course that led to its being recognized as the number-one team in the nation by USA Today.

In addition, the girls basketball team has now won 57 consecutive games -- that's 57 consecutive games -- and finished number one in the nation in 1990, '93, '98 and 2005.

Whereas, the success of the team is due in great part to the efforts of Coach Bob Mackey, the assistant coaches, Jill Cook and Maureen McHugh, in addition assisted by our representative, our trustees liaison, Bob Normandia, and the executive secretary, Dolores St. Louis.

The loyalty and enthusiasm exhibited by the school I think is reflected in the great playing of the girls, assisted and led by their coach and assistant coaches.

It is resolved by this legislative resolution that this legislative body pause in its deliberations to congratulate the Christ the King Regional High School Girls Basketball Team and its members, Lorin Dixon, Jael Pena, Nicole Caldera, Aimee Levine, Demi Quintana, Michelle Gatti, Shannon Walsh, Melissa Wysocki, Kera Streat, Sky Lindsay, Tina Charles -- I'll pause at this moment to say she has been ranked by USA Today the number-one player in the country, and well-liked and respected by her teammates and coaches -- Kelly Barrett, and Natasha Morgan, and Athletic Trainer Anton Turkovic, Assistant Coaches Jill Cook and Maureen McHugh, Coach Bob Mackey, and Bob Normandia, the trustees' liaison, who is accompanied by his wife Irena, and Dolores St. Louis.

Ladies and gentlemen, my distinguished colleagues, Mr. President, I ask you to join me in honoring our girls basketball team from Christ the King Regional High School and recognizing them today. They are present in the chamber.

ACTING PRESIDENT MORAHAN: Thank you, Senator Maltese.

In anticipation of your arrival here today, the Senate took up this resolution and passed it unanimously yesterday. And we congratulate you, all you wonderful athletes, on this accomplishment, and we welcome you to the chamber, the Senate chamber of the State of New York.

(Applause.)

ACTING PRESIDENT MORAHAN: Senator Wright.

SENATOR WRIGHT: Thank you,

Mr. President. I'd like to follow up on Senator Maltese's comments.

We have another school visiting us today. It happens to be a school from Senator Bruno's district. We have with us the three second grades from the Bell Top Elementary School, part of the East Greenbush School District that is within Rensselaer County. With us today are Mrs. Wilkes's class, Mrs. Warren's class, and Mrs. Smart's class. So we have all of the second-graders from Bell Top Elementary here.

I also happen to have one young second-grader here with me at my desk. This is Conner Wright, familiar to some of you in this chamber as he's grown up over the years. And he is grooming to be the successor to Senator Bruno.

(Laughter.)

SENATOR WRIGHT: So we expect the Senator to be continuing to serve for a long period of time as he and his classmates prepare.

And, Mr. President, I would ask you that you welcome Bell Top Elementary to the Capitol today. Unlike their predecessors who were successful in sports endeavors, these young men and women are here to learn about government, to see us in process, and to learn about the history and the architecture of the State Capitol that they've toured today.

Thank you, Mr. President.

ACTING PRESIDENT MORAHAN: Thank you, Senator.

And we welcome Bell Top School here this morning, and welcome you to the Senate chamber. And congratulations on being in Senator Bruno's district.

And to Conner, welcome to the hunt.

(Applause.)

(Whereupon, the Senate stood at ease at 11:30 p.m.)

(Whereupon, the Senate reconvened at 11:46 a.m.)

ACTING PRESIDENT MORAHAN: The Senate will come to order.

Senator Bruno.

SENATOR BRUNO: Mr. President, colleagues, we together in this house, with the Assembly, passed the budget. The budget was on time, it was a responsible budget, it met -- as we perceived it, with 211 or 212 legislators, it met the needs of the people of this state, in records for education, educating our young people, the greatest asset that we have in this state, in healthcare restorations -- quality healthcare, critically important to everybody here in this state -- and, hugely, tax relief.

Because, even though we have set previous records in tax cuts, with the leadership of Governor Pataki and both houses, we are still the highest-taxed people in the United States per capita. We have overworked, overburdened, overtaxed taxpayers in this state.

With the good government, we have had a surplus this year. We feel that it's appropriate and we reflected in the budget a property tax cut that over two years gets close to 1 billion, 600 million. We have a child credit that is 400 to 600 million. We have denied fees that approach a half a billion dollars that were submitted.

So we're talking about the neighborhood of $3 billion, with the action that we took, stays with the overtaxed people of this state. We think this was responsible, we think it's responsive, we think it's critical that this budget becomes law.

Now, we have been deliberating with the Executive. Based on the court decision that took place three years ago -- that, by the way, was a 4-3 decision. It didn't declare, you know, any decisive mandate, any decisive winner. It basically said in certain areas the Legislature cannot change the language as submitted by the Executive. In certain areas.

Now, that has been a challenge for us to get a budget done as we would perceive the legality of what we're doing. Now, our counsels indicate to us, the Assembly counsels have indicated to us that what we did was legal, constitutionally legal. We then, dealing with the Executive, did a cleanup bill. The cleanup bill was intended to do just that, to try and meet some of the contention from the Executive to make things legal constitutionally. We didn't think it was necessary. We did it anyway. The Governor vetoed that bill.

We are certain that the Governor went above and beyond any authority the courts ever intended. Above and beyond. Now, we have learned counsels here who serve in the Senate. We have people who serve in both houses; I don't know how many of them. But they all can't be wrong. They believe that the Executive has gone way beyond what the courts ever intended.

Now, that calls for clarity. And that calls for litigating whether the Legislature in this state, all 212 elected officials, have any rights on behalf of the people in the budget process.

Now, we have tried for weeks to get this resolved with the Executive. And as of the moment, we have failed. The Executive, with their Budget Division, has been dug in in certain areas, that it's their way and very little compromise. And we, we -- I can share with you now -- we could get very close to where the Executive is. The Assembly can't. At least that's the perception.

And when you stand up under these circumstances and say anything, you potentially alienate somebody, some group. And I don't mean to do that. But I'm trying to create some clarity because there appears to be some confusion as to where we are.

We have been consistent. We are going to get relief for the taxpayers of this state. We're going to do that. And we are going to get a result, through this budget, for the taxpayers of this state. They deserve it. It's their money and no one else's that created this $4 billion-plus surplus.

So having said that, while we've been negotiating, we don't have an agreement. If we could have negotiated an agreement, the Governor's office would have resubmitted, there wouldn't be any litigation or potential litigation because we'd be three ways together: Assembly, Senate, and Executive. We are not there.

Secondly, we have the prerogative of overriding. The Assembly overrode what they passed first. It rests with the Senate to override what we passed first and what they send over. And we will send over what we pass here first.

The third part of this is potentially to litigate our differences. The problem with litigating is it takes a while to go through the courts. Can't do it in a week or a month. It will take, potentially, years.

Meaning what? It means that a benefit that we need the people of this state to have, many of them will not have. And that will be tragic. That will be unfortunate.

So that's where we are. We're starting the process of overriding. I've been on with the Governor this morning. We're going to continue to talk to the Governor. We're talking to the other leaders this morning, last night, the day before, on Sunday.

And I am going to continue to talk as we go through this process. Because it would be a lot better if we could get the Assembly, with us, to come a compromise with the Executive and not head into a process that is going to end up in the courts on some parts of this budget. And those parts are property tax rebates, healthcare that we have restored, some of the other economic development dollars, specifically. And that's very, very troublesome.

So we're starting this process because presently I don't think we have an alternative. Because I have no certainty that if we don't start now -- if we wait till Monday, if we wait till May, if we wait till June -- that we're going to be in any different place than we are right now. So it just seems, on behalf of the people of this state, prudent to continue to this process of governing.

And the process of governing in this state is the Governor prepares a budget, which he did, by January 17th; he submits it to the Legislature. By their own testimony before the courts, it is then up to the Legislature to return that budget, which we have done.

It's the prerogative of the Executive to accept or veto, which they have done. It is the prerogative, constitutionally, of the Legislature to have the last word on behalf of the 18.6 million people in this state on what happens to the money that we collect in taxes and fees.

The constitution says the Legislature is supposed to have the last word. And this should be the last word. There's 212 legislators involved in this process, the most open public process that anyone has ever experienced in getting a budget done.

And it would be comforting to think that the people will be the beneficiaries and we won't end up in the courts. But that's going to be the Executive's decision.

As we speak, we are going to continue to talk to the Executive, continue to talk to the Assembly, to see if we can reconcile whatever differences that we have to get to a comfort and comfortable place. I don't know what that outcome will be, but we feel compelled to continue the process as it's constitutionally laid out on behalf of the people of this state.

I have a feeling that Senator Paterson has something to say before we call up this first bill.

Mr. President, would you recognize my colleague in government, Senator Paterson.

ACTING PRESIDENT MORAHAN: Senator Paterson.

SENATOR PATERSON: Since I was asked, Mr. President, Senator Bruno just affirmed that this would be the most open and public process that anyone has experienced in any historical period in the Legislature. We in the Senate Minority are happy to have participated and helped Senator Bruno so he can actually say that. Because he couldn't have said it a few days ago.

But in December of 2004, the New York State Court of Appeals issued a decision relating to the budget process, to the language of the budget process and the respective powers of the executive branch and the legislative branch, by a vote of four to three. The three justices that dissented, in my opinion -- and it's just my reading of the court decision -- did not as much disagree with the finding but disagreed with the volume in which the powers should be distributed and the priority in which they should be distributed.

This has made the legislative process a little more difficult and the items in the process a little harder to negotiate. But nonetheless, we've gone forward this year in a process.

Governor Pataki, within the last two weeks, has vetoed 212 of the legislative bills that were in the budget that was voted on, on time, at the end of March. However, he is citing the constitutionality of the language for his veto and, moreover, has stated that he does not, on constitutional grounds, want to take any action even if this budget is overridden, preempting, in many respects, the legislative duty and rights.

And as Senator Bruno just defined, this seems to be outside of the court ruling even of 2004. He cites the ruling in a different case involving the mayor of the City of New York as precedent, where a fair perusal of the facts would show an extreme difference between the facts in the case involving Mayor Bloomberg and the case at hand. And therefore, on constitutional grounds, we submit that the overrides are proper and that there cannot be any preemption at this point by the Governor.

And so we go forward in this process with a budget that was negotiated, and a budget that four different conferences came together and had 10 conference committees that interacted in the process, and feel that this is the best course for the state to take.

This conference has stood for reform. Senator Bruno said that this is the most open and public process that we've experienced. We want to make sure that we can stand back at some point in the future and guarantee the public that that is the case.

In the last few days, we have made the argument that the discretionary money, the member items and other resources that we distribute to the public, have to be open and have to be available. They have to be listed and they have to be accessible. And we stand on that principle.

Those who have a cynical view of government wanted to know what it is we wanted in the process, what we were negotiating for ourselves, why the Senate Democrats are holding up the process for some type of special compensation that we think we should receive.

I'm sad that they feel that way, and I'm sorry that they have no conscience. They think everybody else is just like them.

They think in terms of what can be received personally. They think of the panoply of wealth and the arrogance of power. They don't think about the public.

We are thinking about the public. And this is why we stood on those grounds. Any negotiations that I have with the Majority Leader based on our share in discretionary money had already been held and have pretty much been arrived upon. This was an argument beyond that. This was an argument about what really is the integrity in government, just in case there's anyone out there that can hear me that still worries about it.

The reality is that there is a rising fear about the process in Albany, there is a continuing climate of distrust of government and public servants. And as I look around the room at my colleagues, I don't see that. I see a number of hardworking people who put in long hours, who represent districts all over this state, who believe in things and come here and often fight long into the evening and past the process to try to persuade their colleagues of the nature of their argument.

And unfortunately, it is misunderstood in the past couple of decades. Unfortunately, late budgets, rising inflation, increased property taxes, and certainly a challenged educational system has in many respects caused the public to become dispirited and confused about what our role is and what we are trying to do as public servants in government.

What we asked and what we have received, thanks to my conversations with the Majority Leader and the Speaker -- conversations on which I will elaborate further at another time -- is an understanding that when money leaves the door at any point there will be disclosure within 30 days of any distribution of any contracts to agencies that would relieve -- vouchers that would inevitably go to not-for-profit or other organizations that serve the public.

This is an open process that as of today, and we hope going forward, will become a new process. It is the commitment of the leadership of the legislative conferences that we will now have an openness about the items for which the -- that are paid for by taxpayer dollars.

This is the only way we can operate. This is the public's money. I actually heard one of my colleagues comment on a television station about eight years ago that the public doesn't need to know about these things. That is the type of attitude that we are curtailing as of today.

The public is going to know. It's the public's money. And frankly, my advice to public servants is the best way to view the public is to think that each taxpayer is a genius, because you are holding resources that they worked hard for.

And so I would like to thank, though he's not in the chamber, the Speaker of Assembly and the Majority Leader for their cooperation in this particular process of trying to bring transparency to government, which I think, as Judge Oliver Wendell Holmes once said, is the best disinfectant, the sunlight on a situation.

And although some are having trouble adjusting to this process, that's what wrong with the process in the first place, that it has allowed individuals to become cynical, to disbelieve, to misunderstand, to become parochial, to become pedestrian, to become antithetical to a process that was set up where we represent people here in the Legislature rather than thwart them.

And I think that it often is difficult to try to make this point. It is often intimidating to try to change a process such as this. But we are committed to actually changing it.

The discussion or the beliefs or the wonderment of why individuals would go forward to try and fix a system that has been dysfunctional for two decades often diminishes into personal and in many respects rather cynical views of why it's being done. But we here in the Senate Democratic conference, I think along with our colleagues in the Republican conference, want to assure the public that we hear the concerns, we understand the mistrust. We certainly are going to try to improve upon a system for which there is no greater.

Our country, the greatest country that's ever existed in the world, was founded on the basis of individualism and integrity, where people were encouraged to participate in government and to be represented in a way that reflects the collective view of our society. And I think that there can be nothing more evident of that as when you recognize where a government's priorities are by how it spends its money and you recognize how responsive government is to the people by informing them where the money is going.

Those are our principles. Those are our beliefs. And we respectfully stand on them.

ACTING PRESIDENT MORAHAN: Thank you, Senator Paterson.

Senator Bruno.

SENATOR BRUNO: Thank you, Senator Paterson. Thank you, Mr. President.

I've got a little concern that Senator Paterson actually talked longer than I talked.

(Laughter.)

SENATOR BRUNO: And that compels me to at least add that we totally concur, Senator Paterson, in all the good things that you have to say about governing.

But I want to remind my colleagues that since I've been leader in this house, we have had the most open Senate in the history of the Senate. And I want to remind you that expenditure, public expenditure review people tried to do for twenty years -- we got it done. So every six months, every dollar that goes out of the Senate is public.

You see TV cameras here, you see cameras -- who initiated that? We initiated that here in the Senate. What could be more public and open?

Conference committees. Who initiated that? And we always line-item. We had others who governed that we had to budget with that preferred to do it differently.

So in this business, as we learn, we negotiate, you compromise and you legislate. If you don't compromise, you don't govern. And unfortunately, that's kind of what has happened here in this whole process to this point. But let's hope that it goes on in a positive way from here.

And, Mr. President, I would respectfully move to override the Governor's line-item vetoes. But before we get there, I'm going to ask you to take from the table Vetoes 8 through 10, 12 through 16, and 18 and 19 of Senate Bill Number 6450C, Chapter 50.

ACTING PRESIDENT MORAHAN: So ordered.

SENATOR BRUNO: Mr. President, I now move to override the Governor's line-item vetoes of said bill.

THE SECRETARY: By Senator

Larkin, Legislative Resolution Number 4813, paying tribute to the life of Army Women's Basketball Coach Maggie Dixon.

ACTING PRESIDENT MORAHAN: Senator Larkin.

SENATOR LARKIN: Thank you, Mr. President.

You know, this resolution honors a 28-year-old young lady who arrived at West Point last October, 11 days before the start of the Patriot League. This young lady took Army women's basketball to its highest stature in its 20 years of existence. This young lady before that was an assistant coach at DePaul.

She was dealing with young cadets between the ages of 18 and 22. She molded them. She made them something special. The number-one player in the league came from West Point. The most improved player came from West Point. And the coach of the year was Maggie Dixon.

Maggie Dixon expressed so much confidence in the cadets, and the cadets in her. It's an awful shame that a 28-year-old dedicated individual who had so much to offer us was taken away from us at such a young life.

Open up the resolution, please, Mr. President.

ACTING PRESIDENT MORAHAN: All in favor of the resolution say aye.

(Response of "Aye.")

ACTING PRESIDENT MORAHAN: Opposed, say nay.

(No response.)

ACTING PRESIDENT MORAHAN: The resolution is carried.

ACTING PRESIDENT MORAHAN: Senator Krueger.

SENATOR LIZ KRUEGER: Thank you,

Mr. President. Briefly on the bill. Or on the motion, I suppose, technically.

Despite the fact that we've come to an agreement -- and I do believe we've made some progress by recognizing that member items will be provided to the public within X number of weeks of this process -- because I feel it is important to be consistent with the arguments I am making in my ongoing court case over the use of member items, and the fact that I believe and am challenging in the court process that our entire model for member items still remains unconstitutional and violates Article VII, Section 7 of the Constitution that requires that all appropriations within the budget shall be specifically and distinctly specified for appropriation and the object or purpose of which to be applied within the budget, I will be voting no on this override of the veto.

Thank you, Mr. President.

ACTING PRESIDENT MORAHAN: Call

(The Secretary called the roll.)

ACTING PRESIDENT MORAHAN: Senator Krueger, to explain her vote.

SENATOR LIZ KRUEGER: Thank you, Mr. President.

I will be voting against the override of this bill, but not because I support the Governor's position on tax and revenue. But I also can't support this house's position, as I couldn't when we originally passed the bill.

This bill takes, on an annualized basis in its second year, $2.5 billion out of the state budget. And if we're going to take that money out of the state budget, we have to answer the question -- and we have not yet -- how would we replace that money and who are we cutting these taxes for versus who will we be cutting services to without this state revenue.

So as I argued when we passed bill originally and I voted against the bill originally, a model of STAR property tax rebates that is inequitable both based on geography, whether you are a renter or a homeowner, and is regressive from a tax perspective based on income, is not the right model of revenue changes in the state of New York.

While there's lots of debate of over what we should or shouldn't be doing in a child credit, I don't support the model we passed and I also don't support the Governor's model, which would take $600 million out of the state budget that we might argue ought to be directly into our school system for the children of the state, since in fact we are still out of compliance with court orders about fair funding for our schools.

There are good pieces of this bill, as I talked on when we debated the bill on the floor. But overall, this is not a justifiable bill. So overriding the Governor's veto of it I also see as not justifiable.

We still have done nothing to address our debt crisis in this state. We are still moving forward even today with approving pork-barrel items where we may even borrow more money without any explanation of how the money will be spent. We have still not dealt with the over $27 billion of tax expenditures and credits exemptions and evaluating what the impact is of this entire budget book on the taxpayers of New York State.

While we would all like to reduce people's taxes -- and I would argue if we were fair and honest in our evaluation of our tax policies in New York State, we might find that we could, in fact, progressively reduce taxes for those most in need in the state of New York without ending up having to go into even greater debt. But that is not the position we are in at this point, and we have failed our assignment on the rest of the project of evaluating our revenue and our spending and our tax expenditure budgets.

So I will not vote to override the Governor's veto of this bill, as I could not vote for this bill originally.

Thank you, Mr. President.

ACTING PRESIDENT MORAHAN: Thank you, Senator Krueger.

Announce the results.

THE SECRETARY: Those recorded in
